New Strike Called After Five Freed

Hanoi Retains Citadel

SAIGON (AP) — Badly mauled South Vietnamese paratroops retreated from the Quang Tri Citadel carrying their dead and wounded in rubber ponchos slung from poles, giving up the bloody fight for the 19th-century fortress, field informants reported today.

They were taking 150 casualties a day and it just wasn't worth hanging in there," one U.S. adviser told Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neeld in Quang Tri.

An official announcement from the Saigon command said the paratroops in Quang Tri were being replaced by marines, who had occupied positions east of the provincial capital.

The official announcement gave no explanation.

Other sources in Saigon confirmed that the paratroops had suffered heavy casualties and need time for refitting.

South Vietnamese military spokesmen in Saigon and Hue had sought to leave the impression that much of the 50-acre Citadel was held by the paratroops after they stormed it earlier this week. But officers at the front indicated the paratroops had never been inside the fortress for long and never held more than a small corner of it.

Talks Sought

TAIPEI (Reuter) — Canada wants to hold talks with Nationalist China on narrowing the trade gap between them, the central news agency reported today quoting an official source.

Trade between Canada and Taiwan was valued at $126.4 million last year and was heavily in Taiwan's favor. Taiwan supplied $113.4 million worth of goods, mainly textiles to Canada.

British Unions Bent On Repeal of Law

LONDON (CP) — Leaders of Britain's longshoremen union called a new country-wide dock strike starting Friday after rejecting proposals aimed at improving job security.

The strike call came as dockers had returned to work in several ports, joining the thousands of workers back on the job today after a series of protest strikes to support demands for the release of five jailed dock workers.

Threats of the country's first general strike since 1926 ended when the five dockers were released from jail where they had been since Friday for illegal picketing under the government's new labor law. Hundreds of thousands of workers returned to work today.

The 10-million-member Trades Union Congress today officially called off a one-day general strike previously set for Monday. The TUC had conditioned the strike on the release of the jailed dockers.

The jailed workers had refused to apologize to the labor court after being charged with contempt. They were allowed to go free after the House of Lords issued a ruling which, in effect, places the burden of responsibility for industrial misdemeanors on unions involved rather than individuals.

It was this ruling, issued against the Transport Workers union, in which the dockers belong, which is believed to have led to a more militant stand by previously moderate delegates at today's meeting said to the vote for a strike.

Delegates from all ports representing 41,000 British dockers voted 38 to 28 to give official union backing to the earlier wildcat walkout and approve a national strike as of Friday.

The vote came in a procedure of a labor-management committee's recommendations for dealing with dwindling port jobs.

But unions remained committed to the battle for repeal of the new labor law and the return to work was far from complete.

The unions' opposition to the industrial relations law was heightened by a decision Wednesday of the judicial committee of the House of Lords Britain's highest court, that unions are responsible for the actions of their local officials even if the local men act on their own.

The five jailed longshoremen had been put in Pentonville prison for contempt of court after refusing to heed the Industrial Relations Court's order to stop illegal picketing. In freeing them the president of the labor court, Sir John Donaldson, said the Lords' ruling had transformed the situation and "a fresh start should now be made."

The ruling, which was connected with another case, asserts that in such cases the parent union rather than the individual members can be taken to court, and the court can fine the union if it doesn't bring its members into line.

The ruling, from which there is no appeal, restored a £5,000 fine, along with £22,000 costs, in the case of the Transport and Workers Union under which the dockers operate.

Dial-a-bus Plan

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Stratford will get a dial-a-ride bus transit system Sept. 5, the public utilities commission announced Wednesday.

Under the system a customer will telephone a bus dispatcher who will send a bus to the customer's house.

Cougar Attacks Boy

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — A cougar attacked and mauled an eight-year-old boy Wednesday while he was walking near a campsite near this Vancouver Island community. He was reported in critical condition in hospital. The boy, Robert Kelly, was reported suffering from severe scalp wounds.

Floods Bring Hunger

MANILA (Reuter) — Thousands of people in isolated towns and villages are facing starvation following the Philippines' worst floods in more than a century.

Floodwaters are reported to be hampering relief and rescue attempts on the worst-hit main island of Luzon, where many communities are still cut off.

Man Dies in Well

PETAWAWA, Ont. (CP) — A 24-year-old man was killed here Wednesday when the sides of a well he was digging collapsed, Lorne Desjardins of Pembroke was buried under 15 feet of sand. Rescuers took more than four hours to recover his body.

Hospital Showdown Due Today

TORONTO (CP) — Executive director Boyd McAulay of Toronto Western Hospital said Wednesday he will consider whether or not to fire striking non-medical workers and make a decision today.

"It's a dreadful decision to make," he said in an interview. "There is a great reluctance to fire the employees."

Only 30 of the over 600 non-medical employees who walked off the job July 12 returned to work Wednesday despite letters from the hospital telling them they would be fired if they did not return.

Meanwhile Richard Purdee, executive assistant to provincial Labor Minister Fern Guindon, said the minister had no comment to make to a telegram from the Canadian Union of General Employees, representing the workers, asking him to intervene.

Patrick Murphy, president of the CUGE, asked Wednesday in the telegram that the minister arrange a meeting immediately to discuss "this grave situation."

The workers have continued to picket the hospital and remained off the job despite an Ontario Labor Relations Board statement Monday that the strike is illegal.

Girl Who Lost Interest in Men Awarded $23,000 Damages

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuter) — A 23-year-old woman who says she lost all interest in men after a car accident in 1968 was awarded more than $23,000 in damages by the Supreme Court today.

Gloria Irene Busby suffered brain damage, lacerations and abrasions when a car driven by a friend crashed on April 16, 1968.

Awarding the damages, the court said the woman had claimed in evidence: "I will never marry now."

How to Stop A Plane Flying

London's Heathrow Airport was idled, Wednesday, as three-thousand ground personnel joined the strike called by the Trade Union Congress. The strikers were protesting the imprisonment of five longshoremen, who defied a court order to stop illegal picketing. The five have since been released. (AP Photo)

Ulster Day of Mourning Ends With Three More Killings

BELFAST (CP) — A day of mourning for victims of Irish Republican Army violence ended in Northern Ireland Wednesday night with three more killings and several bombings.

A sniper killed a British soldier, two charred bodies were found in a burning car, apparently victims of a guerrilla assassination squad, and buildings were set ablaze, causing thousands of pounds of damage.

The three deaths raised the toll from three years of killings and bombings to 475 dead.

The day of mourning for the nine civilians killed in last Friday's bombings in Belfast shut down 85 per cent of Ulster's industry, costing the province an estimated $2.5 million in lost production.

Many of those who stopped work at 11 a.m. Wednesday were Roman Catholics, although the strike had been called by two hard-line Protestant organizations-the Ulster Defence Association and the Loyalist Association of Workers.

People travelling home found their way barred by a series of major fires. At least two building-a rope factory and a fashion store-were wrecked.

The main Catholic party, the Social Democratic, and Labor party, chose the day of mourning to make the eagerly-awaited announcement that they are prepared to meet British administrator William Whitelaw for talks.

The announcement paves the way for a roundtable conference of political parties on the future form of regional government in Northern Ireland.

The SDLP used to be regarded as the unofficial advocate of the outlawed IRA but the statement bitterly attacked the Provisional IRA's campaign of violence.

Until Wednesday the SDLP had maintained it never would talk to the British government while IRA sympathizers were interned without trial.

Castro Says Nixon Worse Than Hitler

HAVANA (CP) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro told thousands of cheering people in Revolution Square Wednesday that President Nixon is a worse criminal than Adolf Hitler.

The Cuban leader was delivering his traditional 26th of July speech on Cuba's National Day. Celebrations this year have been placed under the sign of solidarity with Vietnam.

Thousands of people attended the rally wearing Vietnamese-styled hats and guest speakers at the rally was Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, head of the Viet Cong delegation to the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

When the United States stops the war, removes its troops and quits supporting the Saigon government, "the Vietnamese people will be disposed to free all prisoners of war," said Mme Binh.

Thailand Rejects McGovern Scheme

BANGKOK (Reuter) — Thailand's top military leader was reported today to have said that his government would ask the United States to withdraw an estimated 49,000 troops here if Senator George McGovern is elected president.

The armed forces chief of staff, Air Chief Marshall Dawee Chullasapya, made his comment in an interview with the English-language Bangkok Post.

"Senator George McGovern will be asked to withdraw American forces from Thailand immediately if he wins the November presidential election," Dawee said.

The number of U.S. troops, mostly airmen, in Thailand has recently increased from about 32,000 to 49,000 following the North Vietnamese military offensive in South Vietnam.

McGovern has pledged to end U.S. involvement in Vietnam and to keep U.S. forces in Thailand only until Hanoi frees all U.S. prisoners of war.

Dawee said Thailand would not allow itself to be used by McGovern for his own purposes if he became president.

"We are not an American colony. The United States cannot put in forces and pull them out whenever they please."

Gas May Have Killed Caribou

FAIRBANKS, Alaska —(AP) State fish and game officials at Fairbanks say they have ruled out "readily explainable causes" for the mysterious death of 57 caribou early last month near Fort Greely.

Bob Hinman, regional game division supervisor, said Wednesday 37 animals, including seven calves, were discovered late last month or shortly after from the effects of gas vapors.

Hinman declined to say chemical agents definitely caused the deaths, but he said there is departmental speculation that nerve gas similar to that recovered from a small lake at Fort Greely in 1969 could have been the killer.

Hinman said fish and game agents, tipped by military men, found the 37 caribou in a tight circle late in June about 33 miles southeast of Delta Junction, more than 75 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

The animals had been dead for some time, and Hinman said the presence of calves indicated the sudden killer struck in early June.

"The first suggestion is always that somebody shot them, but we could find no evidence of bullet wounds or massive firepower," Hinman said. "The fact that there were no scattered animals indicates a very curious affair, and rules out things like disease.

"We determined that the animals were in relatively good condition at the time of death, and their location ruled out a snowslide," he said. "It's one of those things that leaves you scratching your head, and something that makes you begin to wonder."

Hinman said preliminary results led to speculation nerve gas had been the killer.

The Alaska command early in 1971 acknowledged that quantities of nerve gas storage cylinders sank into a small lake in the Gerstle River area of Fort Greely in 1967.

Military spokesmen at that time said the containers were recovered in 1969 and their contents destroyed.

Playgrounders Ready for Meet

Nonplussed by inclement weather conditions, the city's Recreation Department went indoors for their meet with track and field competitions Tuesday.

Wednesday, the skies brightened and the youngsters took to the fields behind the Ontario School for the Deaf, for the final heats of their two-day meet.

Each summer, the playgrounds hold two centrally located track and field meets which this year attracted approximately 350 youngsters of all ages, sizes and shapes.

There were high jumps, triple jumps, long jand short distance around the field, and a host of other events.

The end result of the outdoor competitions which began Monday at Moira Secondary, is a one-day Quinte area meet to be held at Trenton High School from 10 a.m. to 3:15 p.m., tomorrow.

Finalists from playgrounds in Trenton, Picton and Belleville, will compete for first place honors. Three top performers from the combined efforts of the east and west hill playground winners, will take part.

Mike Bradshaw, of the city's recreational Department playground staff, holds out high hopes for Belleville entries in the inter-area meet tomorrow.

"I think this year, we'll have a better chance than last year," he said, following this week's track and field events.

"The kids have advanced quite a bit in their age groups. This makes them better competitors. It's smoothed off the rough edges in the one year since the last meets."

Each of the first, second and third-place winners received ribbons, the top place winners also being awarded certificates of fitness.

Vacant House Up In Smoke

TWEED (Special) — Madoc volunteer fire fighters were unable to save a vacant two-storey frame house in Huntingdon township that burned to the ground about 5 a.m. today.

The house, located south of the Ridge Road on the east side of Highway 62, contained no furniture and had been vacant for two weeks. The house belongs to Joseph Sensetain of Picton.

In the west hill events, the winning playgrounds for the second year in a row were CNR and West Park Village, with runners up Parkdale and Wellington Crescent.

Top performers from these two playgrounds were Howie Dell, 10-and-under, first place 60 metre dash and first in standing broad jump; Janet Pope, 12-and-under, first place in standing broad jump and first in high jump; Cathy Currey, 12-and-under, first in triple jump, third in standing broad jump; Billy Curry, eight-and-under, second in long jump, third in triple jump; Darlene Alexander, eight - and-under, first in 40 metre dash and second in long jump; Laurie Fredrickson, 12-and - under, second in high jump, second in 60 - metre dash; Carol Bunnett, 12 - and - under, first in long jump; second in standing broad jump; Chris McKenna, 12-and-under, second in triple jump, third in long jump; Jeff Allen, eight - and - under, second in triple jump, second in long jump; Doug Allen, 12 - and - under, third in standing broad jump; Leslie Sagrff, 10-and-under, first in standing broad jump; Patrick Sagrff, eight-and-under, third in high jump; Rick Morrison, 12-and-under, first in 75-metre dash, first in standing broad jump; Michael Littell, 12-and-under second in 75-metre dash; Patti Scott, eight - and - under, second in high jump; Kyle Sager, 10-and-under, third in standing broad; Heather Grill, 10-and-under, third in high jump and Jeannie Bailey, eight-and-under, first in triple jump.

Liquor Vote Was Close

PICTON (Staff) — The possibility of a recount in this week's liquor vote in Athol Township was indicated today as the result of the close vote cast.

In a light turnout of voters the "yes" vote for liquor in a lounge was 59.2 per cent and for liquor with meals in a dining lounge 58.5 per cent. A vote of 60 per cent is needed in each case to carry the question.

The clerk's office in Athol said there were rumors of a recount but nothing official had been heard.

But Mrs. Walter Stelmack, wife of the owner of Cove Beach Resort on East Lake, who asked for the vote said her understanding was that in liquor votes as close as was Athol's a recount was automatic and said one would be held.

Mr. Stelmack was on his way to Belleville and could not be contacted.

If there is no recount, the vote denying the liquor outlet would stand and under present laws there could be no further vote in the township for another three years.

Car Wrecked

TWEED (Special) — A young Toronto area motorist and his passenger escaped injury early this week when his car went out of control on the Crookston Road and crashed into an elm tree.

Police said the car driven by Brian Robert Durette, 18, of Weston, left the road about one mile west of Tweed and crashed into the tree, completely wrecking the vehicle.

O-o-h, That Smarts !

Good form in the triple jump events held at the OSD track for the city's west side playgrounds yesterday, does bring certain disadvantages. At least, Cathy Curry, 11, of 23 Westmount Drive, who won the 12 years and under event, found the landing a little rough. Nothing to worry about, though. She brushed herself off and went on to other events.

Napanee Plaza Race Under Way

By BRIAN AMARON
Staff Reporter

A race is under way to see who can insert the first sheet for construction of a major shopping plaza in the Napanee area.

Mora Developments Ltd. of Toronto appears to have the inside track. A spokesman for the firm — which announced a few months ago it would build an indoor mall in Richmond Township just outside Napanee's boundaries — said today leases have been signed with more than half the tenants and construction will begin in two or three weeks.

Another developer, Omsac Ltd. of Toronto, yesterday announced plans to build a large shopping centre on Highway 41 south of Napanee within the Napanee town limits. Before construction can begin, however, four of the 11-acre site must be rezoned for countercash.

Omsac's president, Walter Dennis, said yesterday the tentative written approvals had been given by his tenants. He suggested the next move would be up to them.

"If our clients decide to back out," he said, "we'll have to as well."

A major tenant reportedly being sought by both developers is Atlantic and Pacific Food Stores but the Sloan spokesman claimed to have A and P signed. Mora's other prime outlet is Metropolitan Stores.

As the situation stands now, Mora faces no major obstacles. Richmond Township clerk Jim Kimmett said wells and holding tanks could be used to provide water and sewage facilities until Napanee votes to extend services to the new plaza.

The possibility of Napanee launching a legal protest still exists although clerk M. C. Graham cautioned Napanee's not going to get involved, I hope." Napanee stands to lose considerable tax revenue should the complex be built outside its boundaries.

Omsac, whose ownership of the land package around the Napanee Ontario Provincial Police detachment depends on completion of lease signings, will not be in position to protest since it is neither a resident of Richmond Township nor of Napanee.

The town's next council meeting is scheduled for August 8 at which time Omsac will make an official presentation of the plan — already six months in the making. Mr. Graham predicted council would amend the zoning by-law although the final decision rests with the Ontario Municipal Board.

The Richmond Township location is on Highway 2 beyond Napanee's west end. The area contains Lennox and Addington County Hospital, a 100-home subdivision, a medical centre and a school, all of which were granted services by Napanee.

An earlier request by the township to have facilities extended to the new mall was turned down by Napanee council but clerk Kimmett suggested the town might reconsider "the matter business-like down."

The Omsac design calls for food and department chain outlets at each end of an enclosed mall. Total sales area would range between 90,000 and 115,000 square feet depending on the requirements of the department store and parking would be provided for 485 cars. In addition, land would be available for construction of a service station and restaurant on the site's northeast corner.

Mora announced its mall would be built on a 10-acre site and contain 80,000 square feet of sales area and parking space for 400 cars.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. CHARLES DUNHAM
R83, Stirling

Following a six-month illness, Mrs. Margaret Dunham of RR3 Stirling, died Wednesday in Bellefeild Memorial Hospital. She was 87.

Active in church work, she was a former member of the Women's Institute of Wellman's Union Church and for years, was the recorder of the credit rink there.

She was born and educated in Burnbrae, Seymour Township, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace. Her husband, Charles Dunham, is predeceased. She had lived at RR3, Stirling, for the past 65 years.

She is survived by nine children: Reginald, Tweed; Mrs. Gordon (Hazel) Peelow, RR3, Bancroft; Mrs. Ira (Dorothy) Allhouse, Peterborough; Mrs. James (Florence) Maidment, Port Hope; Clarence, Stirling; Mrs. Charles (Leafa) Bailey and Carl Dunham, both of RR 2, Stirling; and Mrs. Byron (Bernice) Seeley and Jack Dunham of RR3, Stirling.

Where's the Phone ?

It's all very well to put up bright new telephone kiosks outside of the Bank of Montreal at the four corners but when a pretty miss is attracted to the new accessories, she expects to find all in readiness. Actually, Susan Ethier of RR 1, Belleville, made rather a welcome addition to this photograph of Finkle Elctric workmen Bruce Ferguson, left, and Harold Enright, placing the top on one of the kiosks. The phones will be ready in short order.

Printing Plant Sold to Gazette

Sale of the commercial printing division of the Napanee Beaver to the Picton Gazette Publishing Company Ltd., has been announced by Beaver publisher Earl Morrison. The sale is effective Aug. 1.

Mr. Morrison said The Beaver would continue to act as agent, for the new firm and the commercial printing plant would continue to operate at Napanee. The latter does not include The Beaver's newspaper division which will continue under publisher Morrison as in the past.

Waterbomber : Airborne Firefighter

Fire Watchers May Be Airborne

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

TWEED — The future of forest fire detection may soon be up in the air in Quinte district bushland.

Watchtowers, those years-old bush country landmarks, could be abandoned to technological progress if an experiment by forestry protection officials proves viable this year.

The pilot project is testing the feasibility of fire detection from aircraft as opposed to the traditional watchtowers.

If it proves out, the results could be a cheaper, more versatile system of policing forest fire hazards.

"So far, it seems to be working out quite well," says D. D. White, who as environmental protection supervisor for the ministry of natural resources here, is in charge of forest protection services. "But, it still is a matter of assessment and no decision has been taken yet."

The ultimate decision flies with two chartered aircraft—based at Combermere near the northeast tip of Hastings County and Fernleigh, east of Maxinaw Lake — which have been flying fire patrols since mid-June.

As yet, says Mr. White, it has not been possible to make any assessment, indicating ultimate results. For one thing, the test got under way later than expected. The spring fire hazard was past its peak and the danger rating has been low since.

Yet, there already are some known basics which might be indicators.

Precedent, cost: Northern Ontario forestry areas already has seen a switchover from the watchtower network system to swiftly mobile air patrols. Experience there has shown aircraft to be less costly detection operation.

Versatility: An aircraft can get directly over a fire, precisely pinpoint its location, accessibility and availability of natural water resources as needed to fight a blaze.

Location: Not all watchtowers are in the most strategic sites. When built years ago, locations often were chosen for altitude, not all-round visibility. As a result, many towers, although on the highest land point, have blind-spots—mountains and high rock peaks that break sighting coverage. In the Tweed district, 10 towers have been taken out of commission recently.

Public participation: It's a little-known fact, but confirmed by Mr. White, that, most forest fires now are not reported by protection services but the public. Estimates show 80 per cent of fire alarms are tipped by people in the area, 20 per cent by watchtower spotters.

"So, what it means is that you've got to know how much money you're prepared to spend to detect this 20 per cent," says the supervisor.

Most fires are caused by people and more and more and more people are on the move through the bush. But the high rate of public tipoffs also shows greater public awareness of hazards, believes Mr. White.

There are two schools of thought on how air patrols should be organized. One favors greater numbers of slow-moving aircraft. The other, fewer, faster planes. If the air system is favored for the Tweed forestry district it likely would involve faster aircraft — perhaps two to cover a fire district of 4,600 square miles.

In a sense, replacing tower spotters with aircraft detectors is akin to substituting the policeman on a local beat with one in a cruiser. Mobility is vastly increased along with the area of coverage. The observer agrees with the comparison.

But would the effectiveness of coverage be slimmed down since a plane might not be where it's wanted when fire erupts?

"No, I don't think so," says Mr. White.

Mobility has proved a viable substitute elsewhere.

"It certainly has worked out this way in northern Ontario. But it's a bit early right now to know what it's going to do right here," he adds.

Too, over the years, a pattern of fire hot points has emerged in statistics on forest fires compiled by the protection service. Troubel spots are fairly easy to predict. Flights could be scheduled over known trouble zones at times of hazard.

"The only thing we haven't been able to predict are lightning fires. In some places they do follow a pattern, But we haven't been able to find any significant pattern here," says the supervisor. "Yet, most fires are caused by people and most are reported by people."

The years also have forged firefighting into a well-organized operation.

Core of the system are six five-man fire units spotted strategically throughout the area, all highly trained and disciplined in forest fire combat techniques. Depending on location and accessibility they can be on the scene of an eruption anywhere from 10 minutes to an hour.

They're backed by a network of fire wardens — residents of local townships who are supplied with "pack pumps and other firefighting implements. They also know what neighbors they can hurriedly call on for help if needed in an emergency.

Backing up the ground fighters is a department plane stationed here — a fast-flying turboprop which can carry up to 100 gallons in its floats for waterbombing.

The plane would not be used for patrols since "it's actually a piece of firefighting equipment and we don't like to tie it up flying around looking for fires," says Mr. White.

Feasibility of the air patrol system will be assessed later this year when the fire season ends. If it is then introduced, Mr. White sees it as "technology catching up with fire detection methods."

"I think we've got to be on the lookout for better ways to do things and advance with the times," sums up the supervisor.

First Offenders Get Break Under New Code Revision

A Criminal Code amendment which gives first offenders a chance of release without establishing a criminal record is in operation in Hastings County courts.

Already, there have been two known cases where first offenders have been discharged on payment of a fine without criminal records—for first offenders. The amendment permits first offenders to be discharged either absolutely or on probationary conditions after the court has heard the facts of a case.

However, it would not necessarily apply to all first offenders.

"We would take the attitude dictated by the facts of the case before us," says Crown Deline, assistant Hastings Crown Attorney.

He described the new procedure as something akin "to "probation — only there's no record" and said prosecutors could argue for or against application of the amendment.

Belleville barrister Thomas Lally, who is an acting prosecutor, says two cases involving simple marijuana possession already have been processed under terms of the new amendment.

In Bancroft July 17, a 28-year-old man was released on payment of a fine by Provincial Judge T. Y. Wills without a conviction being registered, said the prosecutor.

Yesterday in Trenton, an 18-year-old youth also was fined and released by Judge Wills on a charge of possession of marijuana seeds, said Mr. Lally.

Recently, a directive also was sent all Crown Attorneys across Canada by Justice Minister Otto Lang asking prosecutors to urge absolute or conditional discharges in all cases of marijuana possession unless there are exceptional reasons for not doing so.

Mr. Lally said such discharges would not "necessarily apply to all first offenders "but to charges of simple possession involving "relatively small amounts."

Dundas Done, Front Is Next

After months of traffic disruptions as a result of widening and reconstruction, it's clear sailing today on Dundas Street, East, in the vicinity of Belleville General Hospital.

The street has been widened to four lanes, paving operations are completed and the traffic light system went into operation Wednesday afternoon.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said today the reconstruction job in hospital area was now virtually completed with only cleanup operations and erection of signs still to be done.

Completion of the Dundas Street project means that the Highway 2 entrance to the city is again free of traffic disruptions.

But next week North Front Street will be reduced to two lanes in the vicinity of the livestock sale barns as the roadway is cut to allow installation of the east - west Fahey Street Moira River storm sewer.

However, Mr. Purcell said the actual start of the sewer installation across North Front Street will be dependent upon completion of the sewer installation across North Park Street.

The North Park Street artery has been closed to through traffic for the past several weeks. It is expected North Park Street sewer installation will be completed this week and that work on the North Front Street installation will commence on Monday.

The city engineer expected the North Front Street installation would be completed in two weeks time.

During the installation, the roadway will be reduced to two lanes and tie-ups are expected during rush hour periods.

"Hopefully, a lot of motorists will use North Park Street," Mr. Purcell said.

Tractor Rolls, Crushes Farmer

TWEED (Special)—A Rawdon township farmer died late yesterday afternoon when the tractor on which he was riding toppled over on him.

James W. Hewitt, 55, of the 14th concession of Rawdon, was found crushed beneath his tractor at 4:40 p.m. July 26 by his 15-year-old son.

Spokesmen from the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial—Police said Mr. Hewitt was attempting to tow a half-ton truck with the tractor when the truck began rolling and upset the tractor. An autopsy was held in Belleville General Hospital this morning.

More on Vandalism

Vandalism, as we have noted on more than one occasion of late, is a serious problem these days. Reports of it, however, do not usually appear in our news pages with disturbing regularity.

Schools are a favorite target and there is no use ignoring this fact in the hope it will push it out of the public record. Weekends in particular are vulnerable to the depredations of young people given to this type of sick behavior. Not for the first time Belleville Collegiate has reported forced entry into the school, the culprits leaving a trail of thick black ink used to write obscenities on walls and splash over a television set and a tape recorder.

The manager was also reported this week to equipment of a construction firm working at Bell Boulevard. But perhaps the most despicable incident of all has been the damage caused to headstones in the graveyard of St. Mary Magdalene Church in Picton, which is now used as the county museum. As a picture the other day indicated the top half of one gravestone has been broken off, with the broken stonework lying in a heap at the base.

We are glad to see that floodlights have been installed and hope this will help stop this kind of activity. Meanwhile police forces everywhere should step up their vigilance, while the courts should deal severely with anyone who is caught. At the same time we may all examine ourselves and the society in which we live, for the root causes are to be found in part there, in part in the family environment and amid the spiritual and psychological bankruptcy under which so many find themselves laboring during their formative years.

Hellyer Joins PC's

Former Liberal cabinet minister Paul Hellyer has taken a pragmatic step in joining the Conservative party. Since he resigned as Transport Minister and left the Liberal party to establish his Action Canada political group Mr. Hellyer has been in the political wilderness. He surfaced recently to warn citizens of the danger of subversion in Canada, but the longer he remained outside the mainstream of political action — that is apart from the two main parties, not to mention the NDP — the less credible his position became.

It is clear however that opposition leader Stanfield is taking Mr. Hellyer into the fold on the understanding that, while they have differences of opinion and approach, there will be room, as Mr. Hellyer put it, "to promote implementation of policies of opportunity through the Progressive Conservative party."

In joining the Conservatives, Mr. Hellyer is urging other members of Action Canada to do likewise. It is a development which adds an interesting new dimension to the political scene, at a time when election prospects are closer than ever to reality.

Drowning Tragedies

The drowning of ten people in a boating accident on Georgian Bay drives home a bitter lesson on the need for regulations to water safety, and more all use of lifejackets.

For one thing the 14-foot boat appears to have been grossly overloaded. Moreover, the two families involved had set out at night without consideration of their plight all the more difficult. And — there were no life preservers. There were only two survivors, a woman who somehow managed to float ashore and one of her daughters who was picked up by a cruiser.

A day or two earlier two young Toronto marina employees were drowned trying to swim ashore when their boat capsized. Here with water companion — a non-swimmer, escaped with his life by donning one of eight life jackets in the boat.

Some 40 people were drowned in Canada last weekend. As many as 1,000 may die in water mishaps this year. Inexpensive, well-designed lifejackets are available, but authorities say that lack of use, or misuse keeps the toll of drownings high. This should end reading, but if it results in greater attention to water safety it will serve its purpose.

Four-Time Winner

U.S. news reports were boasting recently that Lee Trevino was only the fourth American to win the British Open golf tournament in two successive years. It is certainly a fine achievement but let us not forget that Australian Peter Thomson, who finished in 31st place this year with a 294, won it three years running from 1954 to 1956 inclusive and again in 1958.

Letters Pour In

PM's Views on Work Versus Welfare Draw Angry Response

By RICHARD JACKSON
from The Intelligencer's
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Few things Prime Minister Trudeau has said in his four years of power seem to have so offended so many people as his questioning of the work ethic.

He did not exactly fault the ago-old tradition, social custom or whatever it may be, that people should be self-supporting but merely suggested there now was a new attitude towards work.

In any event, it certainly fired up that vocal section of the public which involves itself in the issues of the day to the extent of shooting off letters to the editor.

And it seemed to startle the public-at-large sufficiently to warrant a national opinion poll taking a carefully calculated measure of the reaction.

It was last spring on a weekend speaking tour south of Montreal that the Prime Minister philosophized:

"I say the most sacred law is that a man who lives in society should be able to enjoy his maximum possibilities, and perhaps work is not the way to do it.

"For the aim of man in society is not work but realization of his full potential.

"There should be no stigma attached to those who prefer not to work."

It is all on the record.

It caused a lot of comment at the time and public discussion has continued unabated in the months since.

For despite its make-work schemes such as the Local Initiatives Program, Opportunities for Youth, and other tax-financed job-invention projects, the government is still faced with more than half a million unemployed.

Officials of the federal finance department long have had misgivings about the unemployment rate can ever be cut back to the four percent of the labor force simply because of the emergence of this changing attitude towards work and because it becomes easier to avoid or delay entry into the labor market of the work-a-day-world with the legislation.

By the time the national poll got around to taking a sounding of public opinion on the Prime Minister's rather carefully worded philosophy of work, the issue had hardened.

The poll, cutting through the Prime Minister's philosophizing boiled it all down into a single sentence, quoting him as having said "Some people prefer to remain in Unemployment Insurance rather than work, and that is their right. We won't force anyone to work if they do not want to."

Between 75 and 80 percent of those polled on it disagreed and in effect said that if a man can, but will not work, then he does not have to eat.

Simple as that.

The letter writers — and there have been plenty of them, more in fact, than on any other recent issue — put it just as bluntly.

Let us take three examples.

From P.O. Box 223 Wellington Ontario, W. E. Bennett writes:

"Just where does the Prime Minister think Canada is heading with more and more people accepting the idea that the taxpayers owe them a living?

"The Prime Minister should know that if enough people take more water out of the bucket than they put in it, then the bucket soon will be empty.

"It occurred to me when I met several individuals attending university that there is an increasing element unable or unwilling to aspire to anything more demanding than a social welfare work, and of course governments feels compelled to encourage the non-work ethic of state welfarism to accommodate them."

From R. R. No. 1 Kakabeka Falls, Ontario, Mrs. A. M. Thatcher writes:

"If, as the Prime Minister says, people have the sacred right to realize their full potential and suffer no stigma if they prefer not to work, then I suggest that the taxpayers to realize their full potential should suffer no stigma if they prefer not to pay taxes."

And from New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, Morrison Macdonald writes:

"If there is no stigma attached to those who prefer, as the Prime Minister phrases it, not to work, then there should be a stigma attached to them going hungry as long as they are enjoying their full potential."

But perhaps all the public anger in these past four months over the Prime Minister's indulgent "you do not have to work if you don't want" remarks could be signalling a change in direction of state welfarism.

The Prime Minister now concedes, publicly in Brockville, that some people are on welfare because they get more in handouts than they could get by hustling.

"It certainly must happen," said the Prime Minister, "that some believe they are better off on welfare than working — and if they refuse jobs offered them they should be struck from the welfare rolls."

But, he adds, he is not sure "how best it could be done.

Move to Provide MPs with More Space Will Create Problems for Party Whips

By FARMER TISSINGTON
From The Intelligencer's
Ottawa Bureau

Members of Parliament have been under fire in recent years for poor attendance in the House of Commons and in committees in the opinion of one qualified observer here, that record may get worse in the Parliaments to come.

Tom Bell, the whip of the progressive Conservative party, is concerned about the plans of the government to move a number of MPs out of their present centre- and west-block offices into the Confederation building.

This large building used to house several government departments which have moved in recent years to newer accommodation elsewhere in the city. Now it is being renovated with the plan of transferring a number of members to the larger space available.

The chief purpose of this move is to eliminate the present overcrowding in many members' offices. There are still a considerable number of MPs who must share an office the size of a large clothes closet with two secretaries and several desks and filing cabinets. If an MP wants to talk privately with another MP or, with a visiting constituent he has to send his secretaries off to the cafeteria for a cup of coffee while he has his personal chat. Use of some of the space in the Confederation building would give each MP a double office—one for his private use and an adjoining one for his secretaries or special assistant.

The Confederation building is adjacent to Parliament Hill but Mr. Bell still feels there will be a tendency for MPs to work in their offices and resist making the walk back and forth to the Commons' chamber or to committee rooms, especially in inclement weather. Moreover the centre block to the Confederation building or even linking the building with Parliament Hill by tunnel, as was done between the centre and west blocks a number of years ago, but nothing is firm on these proposals.

Party whips already have enough difficulty keeping track of their MPs when they need them in a hurry for votes in House or committee or to make up a quorum. They also have some aids in this connection.

Few members of the public are aware that each whip has a buzzer system which enables him to push a button on his desk in the Commons and alert his office staff to the fact that an important party speaker is about to enter the debate, or that there are not enough members of the party on hand in the House. Once this buzzer sounds in the whip's office his staff get on the phones and check around with the offices of their members to suggest they drop what they are doing and head for the chamber.

But this system is far from fool-proof and Mr. Bell hopes that some day more sophisticated method can be devised to alert MPs to matters of special importance and direct them to attend the chamber or a committee meeting in a hurry.

Members vary widely in how much trouble they give their whips in terms of attendance. Mr. Bell feels it is largely a question of how well an MP realizes his time each day and he is convinced that those MPs who normally live in Ottawa most of a session can organize themselves much better. For one thing, they can be at their offices early on Monday mornings and get set for the coming week. Those MPs who belong to the not-so-far-away Tuesday-to-Thursday Club are obviously not in as good a position to make the best use of each week's available time.

It is estimated that not quite one-half of all MPs have established their residence in Ottawa which means they are in Ottawa probably three weekends out of four. The MPs who live nearer to the capital usually make it home every weekend.

Will Allan Lawrence Enter Federal Politics?

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's
Queen's Park Bureau

A steady topic of speculation here is whether Provincial Secretary for Justice Allan Lawrence will throw in his hand when the federal election comes along and give up his cabinet post to run federally.

This is a rumor that has been rife now for months and perhaps the most significant aspect of it is that Mr. Lawrence has been more or less letting it live.

He hasn't confirmed it, of course, but also he hasn't killed it which he could quite easily have done with a strong statement.

Beyond this there are other reasons to believe that Lawrence is at least seriously considering making the change.

Foremost among these would be that after hauling out by only 61 votes to Premier Davis for the party leadership he can't be really all that comfortable as a mere member of the government.

Some men in politics can even feel leadership and if defeated settle back as members of a team. But others can't, and the 46-year-old Toronto lawyer is probably one of them.

He is a man who has a great deal of faith in himself and temperamentally does not have an abundance of patience.

In fact, there are some strong resemblances in him to Robert Macaulay and Leslie Blackwell two other defeated leadership candidates, and, notably, both of these retired from the provincial after their loss.

One other with Mr. Lawrence is that he undoubtedly doesn't want to retire from politics and that therefore he has a distinct problem.

This problem is that if he tried to contest federally the riding of Toronto-St. George which he has represented since 1958, he well might go down to defeat.

This riding is held federally by Liberal Cabinet Minister Donald Macdonald and Donald Macdonald, it is expected, has a strong hold on the seat.

It would be quite a gamble for Lawrence to take him on.

Because of this there has been a suggestion he might run in another Ontario riding outside of Toronto.

This could perhaps happen providing the St. George member can feel sure the seat being opened up is a safe one.

Twenty members of the Belleville unit of the Ontario Volunteer Canadian Safety and volunteer firemen, took advantage of the weekly lectures being given by the Belleville Fire Department last night. Lectures were given on ladder and hose operation by Fire Chief William Lynch and Deputy Chief Gerald Vance.

Belleville rinks advanced to the third and final round of the ladies' local bowling tournament sponsored by the Coboura-Lawn Bowling Club at Coboura. The teams of Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Ward of Belleview won the games in the first round, but lost in the third elimination. Mrs. Z. Hillard and her Coboura rink won the day's honors and cup. An Oshawa rink was second.

Canada's first census out in Paris 142 years ago today—in 1830—looked to the overthrow of Charles X, who replied to election of reforming deputies with "July Ordinances" dissolving Parliament, and increasing the electors. The House of Capet was replaced by that of Orleans and Louis Philippe ruled until the revolution of 1848.

1955—Austria regained her independence.

1953—The Korean War ended after more than three years when armistice was signed at Panmunjon.

1942—The Russian army evacuated Rostov for the second time.

1909—Orville Wright established a world record for airplanes when he and a passenger remained aloft for one hour, one minute and 40 seconds.

Farm Population Decline Observed Across Border

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder — The number living on farms in the United States has dropped from 30,000,000 to just under 10,000,000 in the past 50 years we learned recently. One out of 21 Americans lives on a farm; and these farms average 389 acres as compared with 147 acres in 1920.

It is apparent that Old MacDonald is getting off the farm in the United States as well as in Canada. And it is among rural people that the rather sad state of affairs.

Driving through the rural United Counties today one sees countless abandoned farms, fields of houses and barns are sagging and falling in on once proud homesteads, fences have been neglected in many instances and brush and weeds seem to be taking over.

We suppose neighbors are buying out estates and consolidating small operations into larger units in many cases. But there are apparently many other farms that are just being allowed to go back to nature. We noticed several of them while out for a drive on Sunday, Sunday with a Fox Sale sign on a rickety old gate. A lonesome sight somehow, particularly when one considers that laughing children once played there, that there was when they were well-tilled and prosperous, that fruit trees are around homes that are now neglected and that there was a vibrant social life in the countryside and in the villages that is now lacking.

Even the elms, now dying, seem to punctuate this scene. The unfortunate part is that people who were poor on the farms in the depression era are still poor in the cities where the changing economics of agriculture have driven them. Some of them no doubt are even on welfare.

We sometimes wonder if perhaps they would not be better off on the farm. Would they in many cases have been better to use the farm as a springboard for raising a few beef cattle or other stock as a sideline.

There are quite a number of people who now live on farms and work in cities such as Cornwall, Ottawa and Montreal. For the slight inconvenience of travel they enjoy the best of two worlds. As time goes on we expect more and more people will adapt this style of living . . . and that the old country homesteads will return to life again. . . in time.

A Director's Touch

Jennifer Ross, (centre), gives direction to Nancy Barclay, Bryan Brae in scene from comedy The Flattering Word — one of three one-act plays being presented by Theatre Aug. out next month at Belleville Playhouse. Group gives opportunity for young people working at summer jobs to indulge spare time with theatre experience.

Hard Work Lot of Fun For Young Thespians

The warmth of the environment in which Belleville's latest summer theatre venture is under way has nothing to do with the weather.

It flows from the fact the young members of Theatre August seem to be thoroughly enjoying themselves — an invaluable theatre asset when transmitted to an audience.

Jennifer Ross says: "I'm enjoying the venture very much. I think we're all having fun. You feel you're doing something worthwhile. But theatre also is for the fun of it."

In reality though what they are enjoying is hard, serious work — the challenge of interpreting and staging three one-act plays for presentation to audiences in two weeks' time.

The results of the fun - hard work combination will be seen when the young people present their performances at Pinnacle Playhouse for three nights Aug. 3-5. The playbill also is a combination geared to easy audience enjoyment, a mixture of comedy and thought - provoking drama: Sarah and the Sax, by Lewis John Carlino and George Kelly's The Flattering Word, as the lighter offerings and Pirandello's The Man with the Flower in His Mouth.

The mixed choices are deliberate.

"What we try to do is to plan an evening entertaining to the audience and fulfilling to the company," explains Steve Hunter, who along with Jennifer and Steve Gerties form the trio of directors responsible for shaping each of the three plays.

In name only, it's the first time on stage for Theatre August. But the group itself is not a footlights fledgling.

The company is actually successor to the Experimental Youth Theatre, launched three years ago with summer productions at St. Thomas' parish hall. At that time they had the usual starting problems, notably in finding rehearsal space.

Last year, they had the same difficulties, although they moved the actual staging to the Belleville Theatre Guild's Pinnacle Playhouse. This year, they also have the playhouse itself for rehearsals — and something else: Support from the Guild and the city's recreation department, says Steve Hunter.

Much of the change is due the Guild's new president, Ted Beattie.

Already a Youtheatre venture — sponsored as a provincial government grant — has been operating in the city. But this is a much more serious approach, its members working a day long, all week schedule.

This ruled out those who had to work — notably students needing summer jobs, says Mr. Hunter.

"I wanted to have some kind of alternative available for people who couldn't afford to do youth theatre," he explains.

He carried the message to his Guild and recreation authorities and the result was support from established sources for the young people wishing to give their spare time to theatre.

The help lends more cohesion to the group's work.

Staging three different productions at once means more involvement for more people, explains Steve Hunter — a formula that has worked not only for enjoyment among the group but its audiences.

At the box office the players have been fairly successful in the past two years, says Steve Hunter, so far managing to enjoy themselves at a chosen pastime without losing money — always an accomplishment amid the vagaries of non-professional theatre.

Last year alone their productions filled the playhouse to about an average 70 per cent of its 120-seat capacity in summer weather, says Steve.

This year, working the formula that has proved successful for both themselves and — apparently — their audiences, they look forward to similar results, he says.

50 Years of Progress ?

Nothing New Under the Sun

Who said the world was changing?

Granted there have been many technological changes in the past half century but from news headlines of 50 years ago it seems the world is pretty much the same old place.

At least many of the world's problems that made the news in 1922 are still with us.

Amelasburg resident George Cunningham this week brought an April 27, 1922 copy of The Daily Ontario to The Intelligencer which showed that world events have changed but little in the past five decades.

One headline screamed that Belleville's city council was fighting the railway commission over withdrawal of a crossing guard at the Bay Bridge Road crossing.

Another told that the Sinn Feiners were active in Ireland and followed with a wire story about three women bandits using revolvers to hold up a train outside Belfast.

Also it was reported in the same story that about 100 members of the rebel section of the republican army forced their way into the bonded stores of a custom house in Dublin and destroyed $10 million worth of wine and whiskey.

The liquor was believed to have been shipped from Dublin.

Other news stories also struck a familiar note.

For instance in one-paragraph article told of six persons dying in an air crash outside Paris, while another with a social problem overtone noted that $2,000 was needed for boys' work in the city.

The Doukhobor problem had already reared its head in West Canada and crime was making news headlines as was indicated by the story of a thief-making off with $6,000 in war bonds and other securities from the home of an ex-county warden at Tweed.

And foreign investment in Canadian industry and the development of Canada's natural resources was even then seeing editorial comment in the newspapers.

But the editorial in The Daily Ontario of 50 years ago was not unduly critical of foreign investment in Canada. Rather the tone was wonderment that British capital was not more interested in Canadian industrial development.

And even some merchandise prices were not so out of line with those charged today.

McIntosh Bros. were advertising women's sub-standard silk hose for $1.50. Castille soap (olive oil) sold at 25 cents a bar and Tae Ritchie Company Ltd. was offering canton crepe women's dresses at from $35 to $47.50.

Manure Handling Poses Problems

Old fashioned farm manure is running into disfavor as fertilizer.

The reason is one of economics and the fact that in some instances it lends to pollution — not because it isn't beneficial as a plant food.

Kenneth Wright, publicity director for the Prince Edward County Milk Committee, in his July report rums it up by saying that farm manure was once an asset to the farmer, but is now a liability. He writes that disposal of animal wastes without contributing to pollution has become a problem on many livestock farms.

He says that good planning for manure disposal facilities is important as many operators have been disappointed with costly systems because they were poorly planned. The ideal situation is to plan the system before the livestock facility is constructed and sound planning may be even more important when incorporating manure handling facilities into present systems.

Pollution regulations are a major consideration and government policy is to ensure a minimum of pollution from livestock sources.

For most farming operations disposal of manure on the land is the only feasible method as disposal in the air or water either cause pollution or require complex and costly waste processing systems.

Solid manure handling will continue to be used on smaller farms but even this method may require a catch basin for liquids and runoff. This is the lowest investment — highest labor method but the system is impractical where there is a high animal concentration because of handling requirements.

Lagoon handling systems are common and can be combined with other disposal systems. But for correct functioning the size of lagoon required is often quite large and odor can be a problem.

Liquid handling of manure is becoming increasingly popular as waste facilities are designed into new structures. With this method water is added to manure so that it can be handled in liquid form. An advantage of this system is that it gets manure into holding tanks or pits from where it can be pumped and applied later to the land.

Land disposal for the remainer wastes is still a requirement and planning for disposal areas should be an integral part of a manure handling system design. Holding facilities should provide for adequate storage of wastes during the winter months or for other times when they cannot be spread.

In planning the type of system to be used, several factors must be considered. These are the location of the operation, the size of the facility, the availability of water as well as pollution regulations.

Maharishi at Queen's Rebukes Long-haired

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The 1,000 young people who came to Queen's University this summer for a course on transcendental meditation have learned something else as well: The value of short hair and cleanliness.

When they enrolled at the beginning of July for the course, given by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, many had shoulder-length hair, dirty jeans and casual washing habits. But word went around that the Maharishi believes cleanliness is vital and long hair has no place in a short-hair culture like North America's.

He does not respect people who imitate another culture, even his own, He has said:

"Did your parents bring you up to have hair? I am a monk from the Himalayas and that is why I wear a white robe and have long hair. Eventually, I will go back to the Himalayas."

By the time he arrived at Queen's last week most male students had bought shirts and ties and some even wore suits through 90-degree temperatures. About 300 young men got free hair cuts from a classmate, a Montreal hairdresser.

The Maharishi-the title means teacher-first drew world attention when the Beatles went to India to study with him. His followers range from professors to entertainers to former drug addicts. Many of the 1,000 students here have used drugs, but now most do not smoke and some don't even drink tea or coffee, considering them drugs.

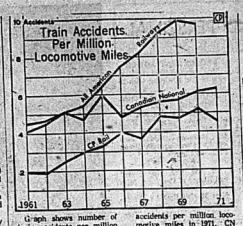
The Maharishi's technique for transcendental meditation, often called just TM, is not a religion or particular life style, and involves no exercises or concentration.

The method recommended by Canada's Le Dain commission for use in drug-abuse programs is taught in seven steps by teachers he has trained. Each person is given a meaningless syllable-OM, for example-which is called his mantra. It is sound that counts, not meaning.

It is not spoken but repeated over and over to oneself. Once they grasp the technique, students meditate 20 minutes in the morning and again late at night.

Meditators say they have a deep sense of refreshment and peace after meditation.

Many here are university students, some earning course credits. They pay $365 for the course, including room, board and stationery.



Graph shows number of train accidents per million locomotive miles for American railways, Canadian National and CP Rail. CP Rail has the better accident-free rule, recording 4.35 train accidents per million locomotive miles in 1971. CN and its three lines in the U.S. had a 6.1 rating. In 1970 the rate for American railways was 9.7.

Spassky-Fischer Draw

REYKJAVIK (AP) — Bobby Fischer and Boris Spassky went into the eighth game of the world chess championship match today with the American challenger still leading the Soviet titlist by a full game after a draw in the seventh.

The score in the 24-game match now stands at 4½ Fischer needs 8½ more points to wrest the title from Spassky, the Russian another nine to keep it.

The draw Wednesday came after Spassky's 49th move. Both players agreed to it less than an hour after the Russian resumed Tuesday's play with his sealed 41st move.

Grandmasters said had play by Fischer in the last stages of Tuesday's portion of the game cost him a win. The American agreed that he had made six or seven bad moves and that the draw was inevitable no matter how Spassky reopened the match.

However, Spassky was ready for him and set his rooks in formation. After that, Fischer took no further risks.

"The hardest fought of the series to date," said Kashdan.

International grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analysing the play for The Associated Press, said Fischer with a pawn ahead at the resumption of play Wednesday, had better winning chances, but Spassky's centrally placed rooks were a constant menace.

Kashdan said Spassky's reopening 41st move — pawn to king's rook 4—was designed to hold back Fischer's king, but Fischer at this moment got and took a pawn Spassky offered.

Marijuana May Help In Treating Glaucoma

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An accidental discovery during research into the effects of smoking marijuana suggests that pot may be effective in treating glaucoma, a major cause of blindness, researchers say.

The ultimate problem will be to develop a non-intoxicating derivative for use as regular medication in treating glaucoma, an eye disease characterized by excessive fluid pressure in the eyeball, says Dr. Ira Frank, an assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of California at Los Angeles.

"We can't have people walking the streets high because of their glaucoma medicine," explained Dr. Stephen Szara, a collaborator with Frank.

Dr. Szara, a National Institute of Mental Health researcher, addressed the International Congress of Pharmacology Wednesday.

Marijuana's effect in reducing pressure levels within the eye was discovered last November during a UCLA study on how marijuana smoking affected driving ability.

Local Rink Winners In Lawn Bowling

Lawn bowling rinks from Kingston, Trenton, Brighton, Cobourg and Belleville competed in recent tournaments held at the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club here, and in Cobourg.

In the Cobourg event a Belleville rink consisting of Eadie Elliott, Dorrie Cooper and Jessie Baker won the Winnings Cup. At a later date the Beryl VanTassel trophy was won by Helen Watts and rink from Kingston. The High 3 game winners was a rink also from Kingston headed by Kitty Owens. High 2 game winners were: Myrt Smith, Irene Trudeau and Flossie Coleman of Belleville and the high 1 game was won by a rink from Kingston led by Mrs. Thea Acton.

A number of Bridge games have also been enjoyed with recent winners being: Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Whalen; Mrs. Elvidge and Mrs. Little; Mrs. Hitchon and Mrs. Vanner, and Mrs. Train and Mrs. McElrath. At the most recent session Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Brooks and Miss Lafferty and Mrs. Winters were hostesses.

Wed 50 Years

PICTON — Mr. and Mrs. Curson Moore of RR 1, Picton, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family gathering in the Maple Inn in Bloomfield, recently.

They received congratulations from many friends. The gifts they received included floral arrangements from relatives in England.

MR. AND MRS. PETER TIMOTHY GOHEEN

Goheen – Channell

St. Peter's Church, Trenton was the scene of the July 15 wedding ceremony of Nancy Marlene Channell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Channell, Wellington and Timothy Gohеen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Goheen, Trenton. Monsignor W. Lynett officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. Rose rendered organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a demi-belle styled peau-d'ange gown which featured an Elizabethan collar, appliqued daisies and seed pearls on the bodice. Bishop sleeves were caught at the wrist with a lace and pearl trim, the same as the trim on the skirt.

The hemline was edged in guipure lace. A removable train fell from the chapel length peau de soie crown and matching lace veil which was edged in daisies. She carried a long cascade of pink trailing roses mingled with ivy and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Rosebush wore a floral pastel green gown in polyester complemented by a white flower hat trimmed with the same material as the gown. She carried a nosegay of white mums. Bridesmaids, Gwendolyn Goheen, Shirley Westerhof and Sally Vancott were dressed identically to the maid of honor in green or blue floral pastel peau gowns.

Flower girl, Lee Ann Griesbwaite wore flowers in her hair and donned a pink pastel floral gown in polyester. She carried a little basket of white mums.

Best man was Henry Westerhof. Rob Goheen, Dan Goheen, brothers of the bridegroom and Tom Jackson, cousin of the bride were ushers. Ringbearer was Tommy Channell, brother of the bride.

For the reception held at Wellington Legion Hall, the bride's mother received guests wearing a pink floral polyester sheer gown complemented with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

For the wedding trip to the Maritimes, the bride donned a white nautical look blazer and slack ensemble enhanced by a red kerchief in the pocket and a red carnation corsage to complete her outfit.

Upon their return, the couple will reside in Wellington.

JUDITH ANN EMBLETON

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Embleton of Belleville received her Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Carleton University at the recent convocation. Miss Embleton will return to Carleton for graduate work in ... suite of Moira Secondary School.

Easy to Teach Infants to Swim

HARVEY, Ill. (AP) — Geraldine Hurckes, head of the Harvey YMCA's "Tadpole Division," says it's easy to teach infants to swim.

"When they're so young, they have no fear of the water," she said. "Besides, they've just come from a similar environment, the womb; and it's natural to get them back in the water as early as possible."

The program, now in its seventh year, takes infants as young as three months in 30 member, 10-week classes. The sessions start out in the gym, where the babies' mothers learn how to exercise their infants.

The exercises are designed to develop the babies' chest muscles and their co-ordination. The mothers are taught to maintain the babies' arms, legs and feet.

After the half-hour exercise session, the mothers take their infants into the pool. From there, Mrs. Hurckes said, it's mostly a matter of teaching the mothers how to handle their children in the water. "Then we start putting the babies under water, and they start learning breath control and how to doggeddle a little."

Infants who start out in the program, Mrs. Hurckes said, are "swimming well" at the age of three or four.

CHOICE OF MUSIC

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — The Dartmouth school system is one of the first in Nova Scotia to initiate selective music ... for grade 7 pupils. Edith Rowlings, supervisor of junior high music programs, says there has been music in schools for more than 50 years but singing was the only form offered up until four years ago when instrumental courses were introduced.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM STEWART HOARD

Hoard – Kennedy

Fonboro United Church was the setting for the marriage ceremony on Saturday July 15, 1972, when Marilyn Kathleen Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kennedy, Stirling RR 1, became the bride of William Stewart Hoard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hoard, Belleville. Rev. Abel Parsons officiated and Mrs. Gordon Kennedy, Elisabeth Dausard presided at the organ and played accompaniment for soloist Robert Dafoe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length bridal gown of delustered satin enhanced with appliques of French re-embroidered lace. Her fingertip silk illusion veil extended from a band of purple flowers in her hair. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, gypsophelia, and purple violets with trailing ivy.

Mrs. Maureen Dalrymple, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a full length gown of Polynesian styling in Hawaiian purple floral with gold overlay. She carried a cascade bouquet of white fuji mums and gypsophelia. Mrs. Shirley Cranston, sister of the bride, Miss Wendy Woods and Mrs. Linda Dustin as bridesmaids were dressed identically to the matron of honor. The little flower girl Miss Michelle Dalrymple, niece of the bride wore a gown in the same material as that of the other attendants but in a different styling. She carried a basket of white fuji mums.

Donald Dalrymple, brother-in-law of the bride attended the bridegroom, while the ushers were Bruce Kennedy, brother of the bride, Garth Cranston, brother-in-law of the bride, and Peter Dudenchuk.

For the dinner and reception at Club Canara, the bride's mother wore a full length gown of mint green with chiffon overlay and sheer sleeves, complemented with a corsage of bronze daisy mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a full length gown of French blue silk knit with gold and topaz appliques at yoke and cuffs of sleeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoard will reside at the Bay View Towers, 94 Sidney Street, Belleville.

Successful Living

Reading Aloud Helps Your Children

Just as long as we have children to love; just as long as we have boys and girls at our own blessed responsibility to help grow up, to help to develop thinking and imagination, we shall need stories and storybooks.

And we shall need poems. The music and philosophy of good poetry can be exciting and delightful for children — especially if we take the trouble to read aloud to them.

All of which prompts me to ask again for two narrative poems which have been requested before.

One of them is a Christmas story, beginning:

"The night was stormy, the wind was wild, 'Twas drawing near to Christmas-tide."

For the next one I have only the title "I Was A Stranger".

Would our readers like to try again to unearth poetry with such intriguing thoughts in them? I am holding several dishes and living in hope. Do not fail me!

Dear Ducks: In your just great column you mentioned a Marjorie Major, our reclaim teacher-by-mail of creative writing.

How or where may I get in touch with her — please? All my life — (and it's been hard and cruel) I've wanted to "get it down on paper" but just don't have the right technique to do so.

Last year I entered the JODE short story contest and received first "Honorable Mention" and the advice that my story would make an excellent novel.

I never, never miss your column and have often thought of asking for your address but believe me, I need it even at this time.

I am over 65 years of age (though you'd never suspect it) and live alone. I'm lonely, bored; as a matter of fact I never seem to have enough time for all the things I want to do — crafts, college — housepants — math review — wood planes, etc. Please Continue Forever.

Dear Forever: People like you inspire me to continue for as long as I can, anyway!

That hard and cruel part of yours has not robbed you of your unconquerable spirit. Would you like to turn advisor and tell me what makes you tick?

If the Honorable Mention indicates some skill with words write a note to Marjorie and get in on some of that correspondence study. She is at 52 Dutch Village Road, Armdale Nova Scotia.

In your next letter (which I hope will be soon), please share a little more of your philosophy. One reader with a positive approach can inspire many another.

Confidential to Mrs. B.I.: Sorry, but my mental telepathy isn't working well enough to know where to send the A. & C. Estate Guide you have asked for. All you have given me is your name. We have a number of the Guides and I will be glad to send you one if you will write again enclosing 50 cents and an eight-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

As for your second question, if you want to be a sort of helper-teacher, call your department of education and ask for a personal interview about it. Personality, past record and any experience with children will be taken into account in steering you to work you will enjoy.

Bus Driver Has His Problems

Dear Ann Landers: You've said a good word for telephone operators, ne. doormen, hotel maids, teachers, elevator operators, airline stewardesses and waitresses. Now how about a little help for bus drivers?

I've been on my job for 11 years and I enjoy my work, but I will never be able to understand the hundreds of women who get on a bus and start to hunt for their money. It's as if they thought they were going to ride free or something.

The woman usually has two kids and a shopping bag. Her pocketbook is at the bottom of the bag so she holds up the line for five minutes while she hunts for it. When she finally finds her pocketbook she starts fishing around for her change purse. While she is doing this she is pushed the driver by impatient and exasperated passengers who are trying to get her to move. The driver, in the meantime, is attempting to drive, watch the traffic and let people off through the rear door.

When Mrs. Addlebrain at long last locates her change she drops it into the slot, shoves the kids ahead of her, steps on feet and snakes her way to the very back—and THEN she remembers she forgot to ask for a transfer. Back she comes through the crowd, kids dragging behind her—inconvenienting everybody.

If you will print this letter, Ann, I promise to frame the column and hang it in my bus. And I'll bet dozens of other bus drivers will do the same. Thanks, doll.—C. T. A. Charlie

Dear Charlie: Here's your letter—and if you frame this column and hang it in your bus I will know about it because my readers, bless 'em, tell me everything.

Dear Ann Landers: I read once in your column of a father who was upset when he came home and found his little girl's hands tied to the high chair because she had been sucking her thumb. You said that the child should be allowed to suck her thumb—that it represented security.

How long should this go on, Ann? I am fourteen and still need comfort in thumb-sucking. Of course if anyone knew about it I would die. But I hate myself. I feel so babyish. I even can't eat or sleep. Of course I am alone in my room, usually when I'm scared, lonely, unhappy, or excited. My thumb seems to calm me.

Please don't say I'll outgrow it, Ann. Fourteen is pretty grown up. What should I do?—Hooked In Lansing

Dear Hooked: When you are ready to give up your thumb, you will. Granted, it's an infantile habit, but it won't hurt you. If you haven't considered counselling, I recommend it. Your need for this kind of "comforting" indicates you might have some problems that need to be sorted out.

Confidential to Free At Last: Don't bet the rent, honey. It sounds to me as if HE is free but you will be paying for this decision for a long time to come. If he succeeded in talking you into a light housekeeping arrangement, write to me in two years and let me know if you still believe the decision was a good one.

Club Activities

FRANKFORD SENIOR CITIZENS

FRANKFORD — On Wednesday, July 19, the Frankford Senior Citizens attended the picnic at Zwick's Island where a total of 1500 other seniors from various clubs in Eastern Ontario were present with their study hats and parasols.

There was competition on the theme "music" which brought about fiddles, mouth organs and a step dancing contest. Mrs. Neil Martin of Frankford Senior Citizens have only had their club forms for one and a half years.

After the musical program everyone enjoyed their picnic lunches. Hot tea was supplied by the host group, Belleville.

Clubs from Oshawa to Kingston and Marmora to Prince Edward County were represented the Eastern area of Ontario. A club from Ottawa was also present.

This was the last social event until September for the senior citizens. At this time, regular meetings for business, cards and suppers will resume.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the friends and relatives of Mrs. Leah Caskey, a former member, who passed away.

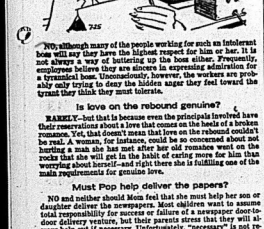
Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONWELL

Can a tyrant boss be admired?



No, although many of the people working for such an intolerant boss will say they have the highest respect for the man. It is not always a way of buttering up the boss either. Frequently, employees believe they are sincere in expressing admiration for a tyrannical boss. Unconsciously, however, the workers are probably only trying to deny the hidden anger they feel toward the tyrant they think they must tolerate.

Is love on the rebound genuine?

RARELY—but that is because even the principals involved have their reservations about a love that comes on the heels of a broken romance. Yet, that doesn't mean that love on the rebound couldn't be real. A woman, for instance, could be so concerned about not hurting a man she has met after her old romance went on the rocks that she will get in the habit of caring more for him than worrying about herself—and right there she is fulfilling one of the main requirements for genuine love.

Must Pop help deliver the papers?

NO and neither should Mom feel that she must help her son or daughter deliver the newspapers. Most children want to assume total responsibility for success or failure of a newspaper door-to-door delivery venture, but their parents stress that they will always help out if necessary. Unfortunately, "necessary" is not restricted to illness or some other bona fide "must"; Mom or Pop usually pitch in more than their children want them to.

Health Service Kept It Secret

After 40 Years, Man Learns He Has Syphilis

ATLANTA (Reuter) — Chas Pollard, a black Alabama farmer, did not know until this week that he had syphilis. The U.S. public health service has known for 40 years.

It was revealed here Tuesday that a secret government study has condoned for the last 40 years the withholding of treatment to hundreds of Negroes suffering from syphilis so that their bodies could be studied for the effects of the disease on untreated victims.

Since the study's inception in 1932, more than 128 participants have died from syphilis or its side effects as a result of not being treated, records show.

The government could have alleviated their suffering in many cases and saved some lives, officials at the public health service's Centre for Disease Control said Tuesday.

"It is simply, incredible that such a thing could have ever happened," said Dr. Don Printz, an official in the venereal disease branch of the the CDR. "I honest to God don't understand

"When I first came to the ntire and heard about the Tuskgee study I couldn't believe . It's almost like genocide. A ieral death sentence was passed on some of those people."

Of the 425 Macon County men initially selected, at least 200 were given the best treatment available at that time for syphilis. The others, along with men chosen in 1936, were given no treatment for syphilis.

Treatment at that time was almost worthless. But when penicillin was discovered during the Second World War, it was found to afford a cure if used early.

A decision was made in 1946 to withhold penicillin from the diseased group.

"There is absolutely no question that some of these men could have been saved, no question whatsoever" Printz said.

In 1969, Printz said, the CDC reviewed the study and decided that to begin giving massive doses of penicillin to the remaining participants would be "too great a risk." It was decided instead to give the best medical treatment available to the survivors for any illness they might suffer.

At least 161 deaths by that time had been reported among the participants, seven as a direct result of syphilis and ten from heart disease, a related side effect.

Elizabeth Kemsbrew, a nurse with the Macon County board of health, spends most of her time tracking down the medical histories of the survivors.

"I don't really think most of them know what is going on," she said. "As far as they're concerned, they just joined a government health program when times were hard and now is another."

One who didn't know until Tuesday was Charlie Pollard, 66, a black cotton farmer who has gotten free blood tests and a certificate for participation from the government.

In 1932, Pollard was 26. He had syphilis. His county had the highest rate of syphilis in the U.S. at that time.

He took advantage of a public health official's offer of a free blood test and was told a few days later he had "bad blood."

"They've been doctoring me off and on ever since then," Pollard said Tuesday at his home in Notasulga, Ala. "And they give me a blood tonic."

"Back in the 30s," he said "they give me a certificate saying I had been in the program 25 years, and since then they don't come around as much."

Stanfield Plans Summer of Work

PRESCOTT, Ont. (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said Wednesday he intends to keep up steady street work around the country this summer to build public acceptance of the Conservatives as a real alternative to the government.

The latest sign of ailing Liberal party fortunes to the benefit of his party, he said, was former Liberal cabinet minister Paul Hellyer's switch to the Conservatives Tuesday.

Relaxing at a scenery-side hotel here after the first day of a three-day tour of 34 eastern Ontario communities, Mr. Stanfield said he was pleased to have a man of Mr. Hellyer's talents in the party.

Hours earlier, he told a breakfast gathering of party supporters he had read that both Liberals and Conservatives were happy with Mr. Hellyer's move and that he, in turn, "was delighted to be involved in anything that caused so much happiness."

No Concession. Made by Kerr

TORONTO (CP) — The 100,000-member Ontario Federation of Students said Wednesday it is still prepared to go on strike next winter over university fee increases. Representatives of the group met Wednesday with George Kerr, Ontario minister of colleges and universities, but won no major concessions.

Eric Miglin, OFS treasurer and president of the University of Toronto student council, said, however, that Mr. Kerr promised to try to prevent fee or loan increases until the report of Ontario post-secondary education is completed. The report is due in the fall.

Interviewed following the meeting, Mr. Kerr said:

"I just said there's no way that we can roll back or cancel the fee-increases for this fiscal year. . . . It's in the budget."

He said he gave the same answer when asked that the student aid loan ceiling be lowered from this year's $800 to last year's $700.

Dockers Sued For Damages

MONTREAL (CP) — Seventeen members of the Maritime Employers Association, an organization of shipping companies here, filed an action in Quebec Superior Court Wednesday seeking damages of nearly $2 million from the International Longshoremen's Association and its officers.

The action, filed through lawyer Bernard Roy, contends the defendants were responsible for an "illegal strike" resulting in the "complete paralysation" of the port of Montreal from May 16 to May 30.

During the strike, the petition says, "approximately 60 vessels remained idle in the port of Montreal and had to be diverted to other ports,"

He said he was not worried about reports that the long-time Liberal, who recently formed a political protest party called Action Canada, would attempt to unseat him as party leader. It would be "time to get out of politics" when he started worrying about such things.

The tour is Mr. Stanfield's second this month. Earlier, he travelled through 15 small communities north of Toronto.

Next week, he plans a six-day hop around the rich southern Ontario industrial heartland, stopping at various places in the Niagara Peninsula and inland as far as Brampton.

Such pre-campaign campaigning was useful and constructive, Mr. Stanfield said. It gave him a "deepening feel for the country" without running the risk of turning people off with a high-pitched program of appearances.

Wednesday's tour also the rain-drenched St. Lawrence between Cornwall and Prescott, however, squeezed it stops into a 14-hour day. It began with breakfast and was followed by a steamy jaunt through Domtar's pulp and paper mill in Cornwall, two radio appearances, a meeting with Cornwall province people, a starch plant tour to Cardinal, a brief news conference and a party reception here.

The schedule for the remaining two days is even heavier, with stops in eight Ottawa Valley towns prior to a flight to North Bay today. The trip ends Friday in Peterborough.

Fall Fatal

TORONTO (CP) — Marc Gowland, 21-month-old Wingham boy, died Wednesday night in a Toronto hospital three days after he fell down the ramp of a Waterloo parking lot.

The child was running ahead of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Cowin, on the ground level of an underground garage. His mother just minted grabbing him as he toppled over a railing around a ramp.

Local 375 of the ILA and its officers are named as co-defendants with the international union and its vice-president, Norman Quigley.

The action says the defendants, except the international union and Mr. Quigley, had openly defied Quebec Superior Court back-to-work injunctions issued between May 9 and May 17.

The damages are for "loss of vessels, costs of extra fuel, pilotage in and out, linesmen, tugs, additional berthage charges to non-strikebound ports, etc."

The eight-week strike at the ports of Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres ended following federal passage of back-to-work legislation.

Elderly Folk to Stay In Central Park Lodge

TORONTO (CP) — About 125 elderly persons who feared they would have to move were told Wednesday they will be able to stay in one of three Toronto homes operated by Central Park Lodges.

Earlier this month, they were told they would have to find other accommodation when Central Park decided it could not set aside the necessary number of beds for persons requiring nursing care to qualify for health insurance coverage under the Nursing Home Act.

The agreement was worked out at a meeting between Health Minister Richard Potter and his staff and two Central Park officials, David Pellipott, chairman of the board, and Allen Duncan, vice-president.

The compromise will provide one home for the 125 who need nursing care. The two other homes will be ordinary retirement homes.

Teacher Wins Sick Pay Award

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Supreme Court has awarded a retired Galt teacher $7,375 plus about $370 interest in a test case over lump sum payment for sick leave credits the teacher accumulated during 40 years of teaching.

Gordon Claridge, 62, now of Toronto, was paid $900 by the Waterloo County board of education for the 202 days of sick leave he had accumulated when he retired at the end of the 1961 school year.

He claimed he was entitled to $8,275—half his final year's $16,550 salary—because of an earlier agreement with the Galt board was absorbed in 1969 into the Waterloo board.

The issue in the case was whether the agreement with the Galt board is binding on its successor. Mr. Justice J. D. Crossarty ruled last week that it is.

The Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation said it is further moves are awaiting the outcome of Mr. Clubine's case.

Chief Under Fire

MOUNT FOREST, Ont. (CP) — The acting police chief in this town of 4,000 says his dismissal is being sought by a small group of influential citizens who "think they are exempt from law enforcement."

Town council received a 127-name petition Tuesday asking that Richard Brent, 30, be dismissed because he "unreasonably arrested a number of persons and unfairly treated town residents."

Chief Brent said the petition was started by a businessman convicted of a traffic violation last week.

Defies CRTC

TORONTO (CP) — Claude Lewis, president of Community Comp Data Ltd., said Wednesday he will defy a ruling by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission and install a cable system in a large new residential development in nearby Mississauga.

No Settlement

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice Lawrence Pennell rejected Friday an application in the Ontario Supreme Court to suspend the operation of the Ontario College of Art's ruling council.

The application for a temporary injunction was presented by 16 members of the college's faculty who sought to stop the council from meeting until after a court action is heard involving the firing of the college's president, Roy Ascott, last June.

Raft Upsets

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Six employees of a firm which proposes to run raft tours on the treacherous Niagara River were thrown into the river when their raft capsized in the boiling whirlpool rapids Wednesday.

One of the men was thrown out of the 35-foot nylon raft and rescued by another raft's crew and the five others clung to the overturned raft until the water swept them to shore.

None of the men would comment on the mishap.

Bomb Kills Man

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Federal bomb experts have been called in to investigate an explosion which killed G. William Coulthard, a Las Vegas lawyer and former FBI agent and state legislator.

Coulthard, 56, was killed Tuesday as he attempted to move his car from the blank of Nevada building parking garage, authorities said.

Las Vegas police Lieut. Roy Carlisle said Wednesday that two to four sticks of dynamite were apparently placed beneath the vehicle.

Probe Adjourns

TORONTO (CP) — A provincial inquiry into the closing of the Telegram Publishing Co. Ltd. was adjourned Wednesday until Sept. 26 after evidence was heard in two test cases of former employees seeking additional separation pay.

Meet Demands

OTTAWA (CP) — A Newfoundland refinery has stayed off a federal stop-building order by agreeing to comply with all Ottawa requirements on water pollution.

But Environment Minister Jack Davis announced Wednesday that Ottawa is still going to ride herd on the project at Come-by-Chance to ensure that conditions of air pollution are minimized as well.

To Cut Ties

ORILLIA (CP) — Waterloo Lutheran University plans to end its affiliation with the Lutheran Church and seek status as a provincially-supported university, the school's president announced Wednesday.

Dr. Freda Peters told 600 Waterloo Lutheran students attending a summer extension course here that he will meet with the provincial minister of education Aug. 15 to discuss the transition.

Expensive

ROME (AP)—The Rome police say they've broken up an expensive prostitution ring and seized the madam's address book of 100 diplomats, businessmen and actors who paid as much as 500,000 lire ($850) a girl. The ring's fees were no record for Rome. That was set 11 years ago by Mary Flore, a former actress who ran a ring of girls from the film business. Their rates ran as high as a million lire, or $1,700, a night.

Trust Fund

AURORA, Ont. (CP) — A trust fund has been set up for Claudia Contois and her 10-year-old daughter, Monica, only survivors of a two-family boating accident on Georgian Bay last weekend.

Ron Wallace, editor of The Banner, weekly newspaper in this town 15 miles north of Toronto, said the trust fund will be set up with the Bank of Montreal.

Leaky Greenpeace Is Homeward Bound

RAROTONGA, Cook Islands (Reuter) — Greenpeace III, the Canadian-owned protest yacht which sailed from New Zealand into the French nuclear testing zone at Mururoa atoll, is on its return trip and leaking fuel at the rate of 120 gallons a day.

The yacht collided with a French warship near Mururoa and the resulting damage is more extensive than at first thought.

The Greenpeace Foundation charged that the yacht had been rammed by the warship.

The yacht's new skipper, Nigel Ingram of Britain, said the yacht would be making for Fiji, via Tonga, to go on 2 ship here as no such facilities existed in Rarotonga. She will sail for Tonga Friday and reach Fiji in two weeks.

As Greenpeace limped back from its protest voyage, the New Zealand protest group Te Ature reported it was 1,170 miles from Auckland, almost halfway to Mururoa.

A third protest vessel, the Magic Isle, is believed to be about 160 miles from the Tuamotu and efforts have been made to maintain radio contact between the two vessels. Nothing has been heard recently from the Boy Roel, another New Zealand protest yacht sailing for the test area.

Eagleton Issue

Fund-raisers Are Dismayed

CUSTER, S.D. (Reuter) — Senator Tom Eagleton's disclosure that he underwent psychiatric treatment and electric shock therapy in the 1960s has caused "dismay" among Democratic campaign fund - raisers.

Nevertheless, Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern ordered determined to keep Eagleton as his running mate in the November election against President Nixon and Vice-President Agnew.

Eagleton reiterated Wednesday that he is willing to withdraw from the race rather than let his disclosures keep McGovern from the presidency.

Richard Dougherty, McGovern's press secretary, said three had been reports that the Eagleton disclosures were "dismaying news for the fund-raising people."

In Los Angeles, Eagleton canceled other activities to hold a news conference Wednesday and repeat the disclosures he made Tuesday. He said he had been in hospital in 1960, 1964 and 1966 because of nervous exhaustion and depression and that he had received electric shock treatments on two of those occasions.

The Missouri senator said for the first time that he made a mistake in not telling McGovern about his problems before he was selected for the vice-presidential spot.

"I now wish I would have been a freer agent to do what I had had the opportunity to fully inform Senator McGovern," Eagleton said before he left for Hawaii on a campaign swing.

He again refused to release medical records on his three hospital stays, but said the two doctors who treated him would soon make public statements.

On his arrival in Honolulu, the senator said he had told McGovern in South Dakota that he was willing to step down from the ticket and that that statement still represented his feelings.

Fees 'Reasonable'

TORONTO (CP) — Charles MacNaughton, chairman of the Ontario government's management board, said Wednesday the fees averaging $277 a day paid to Task Force Hydro's outside consultants are "very reasonable."

"They're quite normal and certainly in line with those charged elsewhere," Mr. MacNaughton said.

This government study group investigating the operations of Ontario Hydro hired the 16 consultants to examine six aspects of the public utility.

Their salaries range from $150 to $325 a day and it is expected that by the time the $615,000 study is completed later this year the consultants will have been paid more than $350,000.

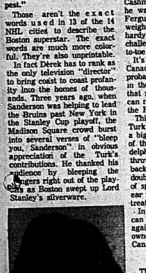
Even Enemies Should Take Turk to Heart

Eric Emerson
Staff
Sports Writer

"Derek Sanderson is a pest."

Those aren't the exact words used in 13 of the 14 NHL cities to describe the Boston superstar. The exact words are much more colorful. They're also unprintable.

In fact Derek has to rank as the only television "director" to bring cost to coast profanity into the living rooms of thousands. Three years ago, when Sanderson was helping to lead the Bruins past New York in the Stanley Cup playoff, the Madison Square crowd burst into several verses of "bleep you, Sanderson," in obvious appreciation of the Turk's contributions. He thanked his audience by bleeping the fingers right out of the playoffs as Boston swept up Lord Stanley's silverware.



DEREK SANDERSON

"Derek Sanderson upsets people. He upsets some of the greatest centres in the game with his persistent forechecking efforts and by embarrassing them time after time in the face-off circle. He upsets opposing power plays by darting in to score short-handed goals with alarming regularity. But mostly, he upsets people by the fact that he doesn't mind upsetting people.

After all, Sanderson isn't detested in opposing cities simply because of his hockey skills. Dave Keon forechecks and kills penalties well and he is a favorite throughout the NHL. Derek garners animosity by virtue of his long locks, loose lip and kick-em-when-they're-down attitude.

When the Bruins paste some Western Division patsy 6-0 Sanderson doesn't drawl, "aw shucks, we were lucky" or "the puck was really bouncing for us tonight". He's more likely to come up with some endearing endorsement like "They're a bunch of bums".

In fact he's liable to give the opposition a bum rap even when they don't deserve it, just for arguments sake. Sanderson has even been known to take a complete about face on controversial issues in order to insult the greatest number of people for the most number of times.

Another factor that doesn't endear him to male fans is his undeniable attraction of the opposite sex. Whether or not you console yourself with the fact that "he looks like King Kong getting out of a five-year vat," the fact remains that Sanderson attracts girls, and girls, and girls and girls. He's Brando on blades.

The overweight salesman in the end blues, with an overweight wife, four kids and six beers under his belt, isn't really turned on by the fact that the cute usherette he's been ogling all game has spent the same amount of time ogling that hunky Boston animal. "Sanderson, you ?s", he yells as Mr. Personality flits around the edges of a donnybrook taunting the likes of John Ferguson or Keith Magnuson.

All of this latent hate, indeed is unfortunate, because at this moment Derek Sanderson deserves to be the most popular player in the NHL. He's the only one of the league's high-priced chattels who has had guts enough to voluntarily tell the owners to stick Team Canada in Clarence Campbell's wastepaper basket or some other appropriate area.

While Bobby Hull and J.-C. Tremblay have been banned from the team because they accepted lucrative WHA contracts, Sanderson has quit on principle. At least for the time being it's principle.

You see, Derek Sanderson is nobody's fool. In a sweater pulling melee with Hodge, Cashman, Green etc. on hand he was quite willing to bait Ferguson, the NHL heavyweight champ. He wasn't foolhardy enough, however, to challenge Bad John in a toe-to-toe at centre ice.

It's the same with the Team Canada affair. Last year he probably wouldn't have flown in the face of an NHL edict that says only signed players can represent their country in the Russia series.

This season, however, the Turk knows that he's holding a big trump card in the form of the WHA. With the Philadelphia Blazers prepared to throw barrels full of green backs in his direction it's doubtful that any action short of spitting in Weston Adam's ear would cause the Bruins to break him unkindly.

In short, he knows that he can now afford to rebel against a bunch of American owners dictating terms to a Canadian team.

The question is: why haven't more all-stars been willing to take the same course of action? Would the Montreal Canadiens drive the Mahovalich brothers, Serge Savard and Yvon Cournoyer into the arms of the WHA if they refused to play in the Russia series because former teammate Tremblay has been barred?

If the players themselves refuse to go on the ice without Hull, Tremblay (and now Sanderson), the Team Canada officials would be forced to repeal the ban or scrap the series of the century?

Even mass ultimatums may not be necessary. What if Bobby Orr were to declare himself unwilling to play in the series unless WHA players are allowed. It would be an unbearable black eye for the Canadian team to be permanently minus the services of the two greatest stars in the game (Orr and Hull).

Of course, Orr-Ballard Enterprises own the TV rights to the upcoming series, but that couldn't possibly affect Orr's decis'on, could it?

Belleville bantam Eric Powell recovered from this precarious position in time to fire the ball to first for an easy out. Eric who plays third base on the Belleville Shell Combines, will be counted on to perform flawlessly come Saturday morning when the locals entertain seven other teams in this year's bantam tournament.

Meads and UIC Both on Move

Mead Johnson are on the move and UIC are coming on strong but CNR still appear in the driver's seat in division B of the Industrial Softball League.

Mead's whipped the Utilities 7-0 last night as Ken Osbourne fired a one hitter and Mead's collected 9-6 to both UIC nipped AOCO 7-6 to both move ahead of the idle CN but the Trainmen have three games in hand on both teams.

Osbourne struck out 10 men and did not issue a free pass (Orr and Hull).

7-3 lead and then hung on in the final frame to edge AOCO.

Pete Hamilton picked up the win allowing eight hits and fanning three. Brian Chase pulled a double and two singles and Ron Embury and Bernie Coughlan had a single and double each for the winners who moved one point up on the CN.

Larry Waite took the loss for the division C leaders. He gave up 11 hits. Paul Nobles triple and single were the best the losers could manage.

Harry Reid came through in the clutch for the Post Office last night producing a two run hit in the seventh inning to give the Posties a 2-1 win over Foley's.

Reid's game winning hit preserved the win for George Johnson who fired a four hitter. Gord St. Louis pounded out two doubles and John Bohan one to lead the winners nine hit attack.

Bantams Hope to Hit High Spots

tBantam Softball kh indent.

It's been one of those win-a-few - lose - a - few, up - down what's next seasons for Ken Trice and Bill Roach but beginning Saturday they hope all their frustrations will disappear and their Shell Combine bantams will finally put it all together.

The O.A.S.A. representatives have had a mediocre 9-9-2 won-lossle record but come Saturday and their own bantam softball tournament, mediocrity will hopefully become a forgotten word.

"This team has the potential to be pretty good if they can settle down and play ball," said coach Trice who took over the coaching duties this year to prevent last year's debacle of no bantam team at all. "They get pretty good in a game and then a couple of mistakes happen and it starts down hill."

Improvement has been steady however and with the O.A.S.A. play-downs starting in August Trice would like nothing better than to see his team reaching a peak this Saturday.

BYBF Swinging

B.Y.B.F. came out swinging at the bell, and kept swinging until the very end.

The Yardmen girls pummelled Belleville Broadloom 33-2 to hang on to their slim one game lead on the Cosy Grill who came from behind to defeat Bob Blaisdell-Red Barn 10-7 in a pair of Belleville and District Ladies Softball games.

B.Y.B.F. pounded out 40 hits in taking the win including a homer and three singles from Judy Johnson, a homer and four singles from Linda Empey, a homer and two singles from Penny Hughes and a homer from Cheryl Crane. Miss Empey fired the win allowing only three hits.

The Cosy were nuhit 23-16 but still came on to snatch the victory from the third place Blaind -Barn.

Verna Hill had a triple and two singles and Beth Palmer a triple and single for the winners. Pat Robson added four safeties and Judy Pulis three. Sandra Claus went the distance for Cosy.

"Our batting would have to be considered our strong point," observes Trice. "It will be up to the batting to see whether they can do anything in the tournament and against Peterboro, our first round opponents in O.A.S.A."

Brian Roach and Robert Chase lead a dozen of their team-mates over the .300 mark with .459 and .450 averages respectively. Their big bats come in aid of Peter Wilson, the stalwart of the pitching staff.

Every member of the squad will have to be at their best though when they play home team to seven other bantam teams. Picton, Napanee, Lindsay, Barrie, Carleton, Richmond Hill and Alderwood will supply the opposition in this year's tournament.

Belleville opens against Picton, a team which has edged the locals 4-3 in tournament action earlier this year. Coach Trice will be out to change that score however and hopes to fully break the pattern of win one — lose one in previous tournament play.

The Belleville-Picton contest opens the tournament at 8:30 at the Alemite with Lindsay playing Napanee at Queen Victoria at 9 a.m. Richmond Hill taking on Alderwood at the Alemite and Scarboro meeting Barrie again at Queen Victoria cop off the draw round. The B-final are at 3 p.m. and the A championship at five, both at the Alemite.

Vikings Form United Front

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Like the Three Musketeers of fiction, Gene Washington, Charlie West and Clint Jones have declared themselves to be one for all and aft for one.

Washington is a wide receiver, West a defensive back and Jones a running back who helped Minnesota Vikings win the Central Division title in the National Football Conference last season.

Now they are negotiating for new contracts in free agency and were missing Wednesday when Vikings opened camp at Mankato, Minn.

Jim Finks, general manager of the Vikings, said he had rejected their new wrinkle and had started trade talks with the other NFL clubs.

"They informed me that none of them would sign until all three were satisfied with their contracts," Finks said. "If two out of the three were satisfied and the third wasn't then none would sign. They would not negotiate on an individual basis."

"I told them I couldn't accept those terms because I felt they were not good for the Vikings and I thought it was a bad precedent to establish," Finks continued.

Another free agent, wide receiver John Henderson, also has not yet signed, but is negotiating on an individual basis.

While the Washington-West-Jones method of negotiating is new to pro football, there is a precedent for it in major league baseball. In 1966, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, ace pitchers for the Los Angeles Dodgers, agreed not to sign until both were satisfied.

Elsewhere, Tom Landry, coach of Dallas Cowboys, said the Super Bowl champions are prepared for a tough test against the College All-Stars Friday night in Chicago.

"There's been a lot of off-season talk about how the pros would defence the triple option," Landry said. "Well, our defence will have a big mental test."

Landry also said he will continue to call the plays for the Cowboys by shutting his tight ends on every play.

New York Giants, who meet Kansas City Chiefs in the Pro Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio, Saturday, disclosed that Don Herrmann "looks as if he could be the best wide receiver in the league" in the word of coach Alex Webster.

Herrmann is getting his chance because of the holdout of wide receiver Bob Grim, obtained from the Vikings at the off-season trade that sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton to Minnesota.

Steve DeLong, for years a star defensive end for San Diego, was traded by the Chargers to Chicago Bears for an undisclosed draft choice next year. In other transactions, Houston Oilers traded tackle Sam Walton to Minnesota and an undisclosed draft choice and Atlanta picked up defensive back Leroy Charleton from Dallas on waivers.

New York Jets will use rookie quarterback Mike Pecker all the way, coach Weeb Ewbank said, when the Jets played Saturday against the semi-pros Long Island Chiefs.

Bubba Smith, All-Pro defensive end with Baltimore Colts, reported to the Colts, camp, still dissatisfied as the club refusal to renegotiate his six-year contract, but ready to join the practice sessions.

Olympia Recreated

OLYMPIA, Greece (AP) — Workmen today prepared this site of the ancient Olympic Games to recreate the look it bore thousands of years ago when young Greek athletes honored the gods Zeus and Apollo.

Those early scenes will be re-enacted Friday when the Olympic Torch is kindled by the sun in Olympia's sacred altar to be carried by relay runners to Munich, Germany, for the 1972 Summer Games.

Officials of the West German Olympic Organizing Committee will join their Greek colleagues at the torch-lighting pageant. It is performed every four years for the winter and summer Olympics at this site in southern Greece.

Greek athletes will run a kilometer each with the torch through almost every corner of the country. The relay runners will have covered a total distance of 1,361 kilometres before handing over the flame to Turkish Olympic Committee members Aug. 6 on a bridge that spans the Evros River between Greece and Turkey.

Toronto 24, Montreal 15:

Argos Catch Larks Flat

MONTREAL (CP) — Quarterback Joe Theismann combined with flanker Mike Eben for two first-half touchdown passes Wednesday night to spark Toronto Argonauts to a 24-15 win over Montreal Alouettes in the final game of the Canadian Football League exhibition schedule.

The Argos took an early lead in the contest played before 11,308 fans and never fell behind.

The scores was tied 7-7 at the end of the first quarter but Toronto was ahead 15-7 by half-time.

The Argos picked off five Montreal passes while Alouette defenders intercepted three Toronto aerials.

Toronto's Marv Luster led the pass spoilers, snaring three interceptions while Montreal's Dickie Harris intercepted two Argo passes. Willie Jones and Ohio Barrett grabbed one interception each for the Argos while Ed Hayes added the third Montreal interception.

Toronto rolled up a net offence of 307 yards, 223 yards on passes, to Montreal's 264 yards.

The Argos opened the game dramatically. Theismann connecting with Eben on a 41-yard pass on the first play of the contest. Four plays later the sophomore quarterback found flanker Eben by himself in the corner of the end zone and hit him with a 24-yard touchdown pass. Ivan MacMillan's convert was good.

Later, rookie Ike Brown plunged into Toronto's end zone from the Toronto four for a touchdown with Don Sweet adding the extra point, to tie the game.

On the fourth play of the second quarter, Theismann combined with Eben for a 30-yard touchdown on a play which was virtually identical to the first Toronto touchdown.

Zenon Andrusyshyn added the convert and at the 5:10 mark of the quarter booted a 63-yard kick which turned into a single for the Argos when Jim Foley conceded the point 20 yards deep in his end zone.

The Alouettes drew first blood in the third quarter when Wally Buono booted a 44-yard single.

Quarterback Greg Barton later moved the Argos to the 25-yard line where the drive stalled and MacMillan counted a single on a wide field goal.

Sonny Wade, fighting for a place on the Alouettes, came in to quarterback Montreal and on his fifth play fumbled the ball, leaving linebacker Gene Mack a clear 40-yard pain to the end zone for a touchdown. MacMillan's convert gave the Argos a 21-8 lead.

The Argos extended their lead at the 16-second mark of the final quarter when Foley was rouged on Andrusyshyn's 54-yard single.

Montreal defence gave the home team its second touchdown of the game when Hayes intercepted a Theismann pass and ran it back 32 yards for a touchdown.

Team Canada Covered

TORONTO (CP) — A Team Canada spokesman said Wednesday that all National Hockey League players who join the team for its exhibition series against Russia will be fully insured against injuries.

The statement from Mike Cannon, Team Canada administrative co-ordinator, came in answer to reports that lawyers for brothers Phil and Tony Esposito and Brad Park had said the players might not join Team Canada because there was no guarantee of insurance.

"The players will be covered by the same insurance as they would at the training camp of their NHL teams," said Cannon "That includes the full salary provided by their contract in case they're injured."

Allan Scott, business manager for Hockey Canada, said the insurance was a major reason why Hockey Canada and the NHL agreed that all players must be signed by NHL contracts before participating in Team Canada's training camp starting here Aug. 13.

Jumping Mare Beaten with Bat, Big Dee May Miss Olympics

TORONTO (CP) — Three persons have been picked up, questioned and released as police press the hunt for whoever used a baseball bat to remove a gold-medal horse and rider from Canada's 1972 Olympic Games team.

Big Dee, a tall 11-year-old thoroughbred mare owned by stockbroker Tom Gayford, was beaten "either with a baseball bat or a pipe wrapped in cloth," July 14 and her injuries will keep her and Gayford out of Olympic competition this fall—although Gayford will go to Munich as coach of the equestrian team.

"She's coming along," Gayford said Wednesday of Big Dee. "We can't say when she'll be fit or whether she'll ever compete again. There were no bones broken, but we don't know what muscle damage was done down deep. She can have muscle adhesions we don't know about."

He said the investigation was being pressed by police headed by Det. Cliff Cain from 31 Division and neighbor.

"Three men had been picked up, questioned and released and said a source close to the detective supervising the investigation is far from over."

Gayford was out of town when someone broke into his stables at nearby Gormley and hamstrung the big horse across the windpipe, shoulders and legs.

"Whoever did it had experience with horses," Cox said at the time. "He knew what he was doing."

Big Dee had been recovering from earlier injuries when she kept her out of competition up to that time. Gayford had not technically qualified her for Olympic team but—with his experience and that of the big mare—had been considered a certainty to make the squad.

The attack came two days before the final event sending toward team selection, an event in which Gayford had been scheduled to ride Big Dee.

Gayford's medal-winning record goes back more than a dozen years, from the time he won a gold in 1958 as a member of the three-day team at the Pan-American Games.

Basketball Team To Visit China

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's national men's and women's basketball teams will be the first from the West to play in China when they make a tour there next month.

James Macdonald, recently-appointed executive director of the Canadian Basketball Association, Wednesday said the teams will play in Peking Aug. 19, 20 and 21 before touring Shanghai, Canton, Hangchow and Tientsin.

The tour is in conjunction with the Canada Trade Fair in Peking and basketball will be the only athletic event featured, taking part in both the opening ceremonies and the closing festivities Sept. 1-2.

The Canadian contingents will be Chinese national teams in each city.

Big Dee carried him to a bronze medal in the prix de nations event in the 1967 Pan-America Games in Winnipeg and to a gold in the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico.

Gayford was captain of the world championship prix de nations team in 1966 and 1970 and again Big Dee was his mount—he was the following year when he capained the gold-medal prix de nations team at the Pan-Am Games in Cali.

In Cali, Big Dee was the only horse which did not knock out a fence in either prix de nations or individual competition.

In Cali, Gayford said he had been approached with a tentative offer of $50,000 for the mare.

"But Big Dee ou', Gayford will campaign his green Dreamy Joe in regional events, picking his spots.

"The pressure is off for now," Gayford said, "but i'm definitely not retired."

Mets Can Grab Spotlight By Pressing Pittsburgh

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fresh from the all-star break, New York Mets move into the spotlight tonight as the regular major league baseball schedule resumes.

The Mets, 5½ games behind Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League East, visit Pittsburgh for a two-night double-header they badly need to win to stay within grappling distance of the Pirates.

While the chief pressure is on the injury-plagued New Yorkers, who have won three of their four games against Pittsburgh this year, the Pirates are hoping to wipe out an uncomfortable memory.

A year ago, they emerged from the mid-season holiday with a fat lead of 11½ games and proceeded to lose 23 of their next 25 games before recovering and moving on to a World Series victory over Baltimore Orioles.

"I hope the same thing doesn't happen," said Pittsburgh manager Bill Virdon. "You never know."

Whitey Lockman, who makes his debut as manager of Chicago Cubs as Leo Durocher's successor, is one man who wishes Virdon lots of luck-but not both.

Cubs are tied for third place in the division with St. Louis Cardinals, 19 games off the pace. Lockman told his inaugural press conference he did not consider 19 games an insurmountable lead. But a sizable Pittsburgh slump would make the surrounding a lot easier.

Lockman and the Cubs will be in Philadelphia for a twi-night doubleheader against the tail-end Phillies while the Cardinals are in Montreal for a single game against the Expos.

In the West, Cincinnati Reds have a six-game lead over Houston Astros and a home date with the last-place San Diego Padres. Houston entertains Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants are in Atlanta to provide the pitching for Hank Aaron, in quest of his 660th home run.

The Braves' slugger patiently pursuing Babe Ruth's career record of 714, got no credit for his two-run blast at Atlanta Stadium in the all-star game Tuesday night as far as his career record was concerned, but he wasn't complaining.

Even stars of Aaron's stature rarely have a chance to hit an all-star homer before their home fans and Hank called the experience "the greatest thing that ever happened to me, and that's no lie."

The only current pennant-race dramatics are going on in the American League East, where Baltimore trails Detroit Tigers by a single game with Boston Red Sox another four games back.

The Orioles are at home to Cleveland Indians tonight while the Tigers visit Milwaukee Brewers and New York Yankees entertain the Red Sox, all in single games.

In the West, Chicago White Sox have a twi-night date at home against Kansas City Royals in their bid to cut down the 6½-game margin of Oakland Athletics. Minnesota Twins provide the opposition for the Athletics at Oakland while California Angels have a home date with Texas Rangers.

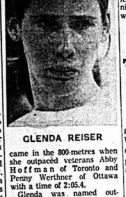
Glenda Doubles Up

OTTAWA (CP) — When asked about her running career, Glenda Reiser once replied:

"I'm just getting things to gether."

The 17-year-old Ottawa track star got things together at the 1972 Canada-U.S. track and field championships and the Olympic trials in Toronto last week.

A 1,500-metre specialist, she took the event in a strong four minutes, 16.1 seconds, only four-tenths off her Canadian record. But the big surprise came in the 800-metres when she defeated veterans Abby Hoffman of Toronto and Penny Werthner of Ottawa with a time of 2:05.4.



GLENDA REISER

Glenda was named outstanding female athlete of the meet and won the 150-metre spot on the Canadian woman's team for the Olympic Games in Munich this summer.

"She's like a piece of spring-steel . . . touch her and she will oscillate."

Glenda's running interests started about 15 months ago when she gave up a promising swimming career to "see what was going on" in the track and field world. She now holds 15 Canadian track and field records.

The five-foot-5¾-inch sprinter runs about 70 miles a week when she's not racing.

Kerrison didn't expect Glenda to be ready for the 1972 Olympics and is mildly surprised at her achievements.

"We had planned on a five-year program for Glenda, using the '76 Olympics in Montreal as a target . . . but she's doing better than expected."

Junior Tournament Tied

LONDO, Ont. (CP) — Four golfers were tied for the lead Wednesday after the first round of the Ontario Junior golf championship at Sunningdale Country Club.

All shooting three-over-par 75s were Dave Mackenzie of St. Catharines, Todd Cooke of Windsor, Don McLean of Brampton, and Tom Hodgins of Toronto.

One stroke back in the 36-hole tournament were Larry Denton of Toronto and Alan Baudner of Oshawa.

Paul Marion of Thunder Bay, last year's juvenile champion, was at 82 while Jamie Hannah of Woodbridge shot an 83.

In juvenile title play which was simultaneous with junior play, Dave Greenlaw of Peterborough and Ron Richardson of Smiths Falls were co-leaders with 77s, one stroke better than Craig Coulter of Cornwall, Bob Phillips of Jackson's Point, Ont., Jerry Anderson of Toronto and David Hanson of St. Catharines.

At stake are berths on Ontario's three junior teams.

PLACES SECOND

SKOVSHOVED, Denmark (Reuter) — Hans Claude of Toronto, a member of Canada's Olympic sailing team, placed second in the opening race of the Nordic Finn yachting championships here Wednesday. Dr. Clarke was edged out by Dutch sailor Koos Kruijer.

STARS WILL COACH

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Bart Starr, the quarterback who led Green Bay Packers to championships during their glory years of the 1960s, was named Wednesday as an assistant coach with the National Football League club. Starr, 38, announced his retirement as a player last Friday. The Packers said he would coach the team's quarterbacks.

FLIES FROM GULLS

SAN DIEGO (AP) Jim Carduff of the San Diego Gulls said Wednesday he is joining Philadelphia Blazers of the new World Hockey Association. The 28-year-old defenceman-forward said he signed a three-year contract. Earlier, the Gulls' hot goalie Jack McCartan, wingers Earl Heiskala and Bruce McDonald and defenceman Dunc McCallum to the WHA.

LAWYER HEADS ABA

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Carlson, a New York lawyer, was named commissioner of the American Basketball Association Wednesday and immediately announced that his league would add one team for the 1972-73 season and operate as a 10-team entity. Speculation on the new franchise centered on either San Diego or Minneapolis, with the California city apparently to be the stronger contender.

Palmer Changes Partner As Infection Sacks Jack

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — "I never won a tournament and never I won the defending champion," Jack Lewis grinned.

The 25-year-old Lewis, winner of only $1,423 this season, has been teamed as Arnold Palmer's partner—replacing Jack Nicklaus in the PGA's national team championship that started today on the 7,045 yard, par-71 Laurel Valley Golf Club course.

"Of course I'm a little nervous," said Lewis. "Who wouldn't be?.

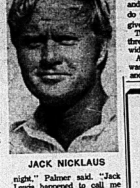
"It's a great thrill for me. It's a great chance, a chance to learn some things."

Nicklaus, who had teamed with Palmer to win the last two national team titles — in which scoring is based on the better ball of each two-man team—had to withdraw Wednesday after undergoing minor surgery on a badly infected middle finger on his right hand.

There was no definite assurance that Nicklaus—the dominant figure in the game this season—would be able to defend his title in next week's PGA national championship. He already holds the Masters and U.S. Open crown and is the year's leading money winner.

With Nicklaus out, Palmer tapped Lewis as his partner on the defending champion-ship team.

"I knew about this Tuesday night," Palmer said. "Jack Lewis happened to call me about some of the work we were working on. I asked him if he wanted to play with me and he said, 'Well, yes.'



JACK NICKLAUS

Though they are at the opposite ends of the scale in the pro game, Palmer and Lewis know each other well and have played together as partners before.

Lewis has been a pro since 1969. His best finish was a second in a satellite event last year and his career earnings are only $31,828.

"He's a fine young man," said Palmer. "He hasn't done quite as well as we expected and I thought that if we could do pretty well here it might give him a boost."

The absence of Nicklaus threw the tournament into a wide-open scramble.

Among the chief contenders were the duo of Lee Trevino and Ray Floyd.

One Month to Solve Summer Olympic Woes

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Organizers of the biggest and costliest summer Olympics have exactly one month to solve problems uncovered during five days of test competitions last week at the Games site.

Opening ceremonies will be held Aug. 26 for the 16-day Games in which 10,000 athletes from 120 nations will compete in 21 sports.

The Olympic budget is $612 million, four times that of the 1968 Mexico City Games.

The Olympic test competitors in track and field, swimming, rowing, gymnastics, cycling and fencing did piqued Leo Nikolagical and organizational problems, most of which appear easily solvable.

But complaints about scoreboard malfunctions and cramped living conditions in the Olympic village appear minor compared with that posed by the architectural focal point of the Games—the world's biggest roof, draped over the Olympic stadium and two nearly arenas.

One newspaper called the 80,000 capacity Olympic Stadium "Germany's biggest frying pan," after athletes competing in torrid heat complained about erratic air conditions appar-ently caused by the roof.

Distance star Harald Norpoth said a suffocating lack of air on the track nearly caused him to abandon the 5,000-metre race, which he won in the time of 14 minutes, 1.1 8 seconds.

Long jumpers such as Heide Rosendahl also complained of being knocked off balance by winds sweeping on to the field from the tent-like stadium roof.

Athletes and sweltering spectators—40,000 of them at Sunday's windup events—also lamented the solar magnifying power of the steel and spun-glass roof, which cost an estimated $32 million, twice as much as the stadium.

Heat trapped in the bowl-shaped stadium pushed temperatures as high as 95 degrees, causing the artificial track surface to soften and slowing the timings, sprinters said.

Another problem exposed during the trials was that of the hammer throw area. One competitor flung the 16-pound ball onto the track three times, narrowly missing a runner one occasion.

"There is nothing to do but stop running events while the hammer competition is progressing," one official commented.

Choose the value that suits you best — but choose Uniroyal Laredo because Laredo is best known as "the original rain tire" ... because of its performance on wet pavement, and dry! Now, you have a choice of LOWLY NYLON LAREDO, 2-rib design, a full 5° width and 4 full plies of tough nylon ... or the BELTED Laredo with 5-rib design, a full 6° wide 2-ply rayon belt and 2-ply nylon body. Both have improved round shoulder design for highway handling and cool driving. Belted construction adds toughness and flat road holding stability, better traction and longer mileage.

Fergy's Eyes Opened

MONTREAL (CP) — John Ferguson, Team Canada assistant coach, says his recent trip to Europe has shown him that Canadian hockey no longer sets the standards for the sport.

"Brother, have my eyes ever been opened," the former Montreal Canadien forward said following his trip. "European hockey—they're ahead of us, so far you wouldn't believe it."

Ferguson made the trip to Moscow and Scandinavia with coach Harry Sinden and other Team Canada officials in preparation for the Canada-Russia hockey series in September.

"I've been so wrapped up in the National Hockey League for so long I never had a chance to prepared him much was Stromberg's hockey school in Copenhagen.

"They've got 6,000 kids there wearing through a month-long hockey school. Kids from 12 to 18 from Poland, Czechoslovakia, everywhere.

"I've never seen anything like it. The kids spend an hour and a half watching slides of fundamental hockey, go to the ice for an hour and a half to play, then back to the classroom to look at videotapes of themselves to see their mistakes.

"The kids are four times as good as our kids at fundamentals, just as good skaters as we are. They're better at that age than our best juniors were at the same stage."

The hockey school makes use of a mechanical device to tire pucks at the goal.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Ferguson. "It fires pucks from the blueline for top corner, the lower corner ... within four seconds, race. From 30 feet, it's right on. What practice the goalies!"

He was astounded to see members of the Russian team tramming 20 miles a day for the coming series, still two months away, but still Canada should win the series.

"We'll take them in September, but in five years? I'm beginning to wonder."

Richard Will Be Quebec Coach

MONTREAL (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard, former right-wing great with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, was expected to sign a contract as coach with Quebec City Nordiques of the World Hockey Association today.

The fiery Richard had been mentioned as the new club's coach for the last month and had been negotiating with the team.

In a front page story, La Presse says the 51-year-old will be given a one-year contract and that J. C. Tremay, the defenceman from the Canadiens who signed with Les Nordiques last week, will be his assistant.

Richard retired from the NHL 13 years ago after a stormy career. Always a fierce competitor, he worked for a brief spell with the Canadiens in an executive capacity, but left the club to enter private business.

Orchards Bloom

It's not harvest time yet but the Bayview Orchards reaped an early crop in Prince Edward North Shore Softball action last night.

The fourth place Orchards raked the Junior Farmers 9-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Don Bonter. Bonter struck out 11 and did not walk a man in losing his perfect game bid in the seventh inning.

Mitch Vail had a triple and two singles and Harry Colp a triple and double to lead the winners ten hit output.

Quinte Flat

Quinte Transport were moving well in Wednesday night's Bay of Quinte Soccer game until all their tires went flat in the second half allowing Belleville United to eke out a 2-1 victory.

Mario Colleygh strengthened his league leading scoring pace by netting both United goals in the second half, leaving out a 1-0 Quinte lead.

Experts Wrong

Canal View Way proved the experts wrong in Wednesday's Frontenac Downs harness card when the "longshot" owned by Mary Bing to capture the featured ninth race.

Canal, owned by Mrs. H. Wemp of Centreville and driven by hubby Hugh, run the fastest time of the night and set a new personal records in winning the race in 2.06.3.

Hugh upped his winning record to over sixty by also replacing Willbrook May to victory in the Clark Drivers Invitational fourth race.

In the first race quinella Zeb's Boy and Barbara Patrick returned $27.40, and the tenth race exactor of $38.30 was formed by Tom Appleby and Hicland Jimmy running the top two spots.

Plane's Split

Plane's Concrete gave the Reserve a Clapp when their Softball Sunday Hastings League opponent, Jack Clapp, struck out 11 batters.

Al Maracle and Bill Clapp battled each other to a 1-1 deadlock in a lone South Hastings contest last night.

Maracle fanned 11, walked only one and fired a three-hitter in outshining Clapp's four-hitter and four killings.

Clapp had a double while Brian Coughlan and Warren Clapp had singles for Plane's with D. Green, M. Maracle, Ray Barnhart and D. Maracle each singling for the Reserve.

O'Neill Vouches for Ontario Lunkers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jack O'Neill a Belleville fireman, can vouch that Ontario lakes still hold lunker lake trout.

Jack's lake is Clearwater West, about 30 miles north of Atikokan in Northwestern Ontario and last week he hauled a 25-pound lake trout out of about 70 feet of water.

Bruce Caldwell, fisheries management officer for the Fort Frances district of the ministry of natural resources, said it took Jack one hour and 30 minutes to find the fish.

"I see in the big fish contest last year that the largest lake trout was 23 pounds," said Mr. Caldwell. "He got a real dandy."

Mr. Caldwell said the big laker was taken on a silver spoon in the lake which he describes as "about the prettiest we've got in the district.

"There's a marvelous sand beaches and the water is crystal clear."

Clearwater West Lake can be reached by road from Atikokan, site of one of the country's largest iron mines.

The ministry, in its weekly report to the Canadian Press, stated that fishing in general was not too good across the province because of the windy weather.

Reports from 16 of the ministry's 21 districts:

NORTH

Chapleau—Pike are good on red and white lures in Five-Mile Lake. Minnows good for pickerel in Big Missanabie and Florianna lakes.

Cochrane—Rainbow trout biting well in stocked lakes and speckled trout good in streams. Pike and pickerel poor.

Fort Frances—Thirty-pound lake trout caught in Clearwater West Lake and nine-pound pickerel taken in Stanjikoming Bay of Rainy Lake. Lake trout and bass generally fair in all waters, pike fair to good and pickerel good.

Kapuskasing—Speckled trout weighing 4½ pounds caught in Skunk Lake and several 11-pound pike in Reed Lake. Pickerel excellent in Saganash, Hillcrest and Opasatika lakes and fair in Remi. All other species poor.

Kenora—Muskellunge anglers continue to hold the spotlight with several in the 30- and 40-pound range being caught. Minaki, Dryden and Sioux Narrows areas all report good muskie fishing. Pike and pickerel generally good but still fish small. Lake trout are down deep and poor.

Parry Sound—Pickerel good at mouths of French River but poor elsewhere. All trout species poor with exception of speckled trout biting well in Muskoka Lakes.

Pembroke—Speckled trout and lake trout waters excellent being McNorton Lake in the Achray division where fishing was reported good. Pickerel and bass generally fair to poor. Fine-toothed muskie caught in Bonnechere River.

Sault Ste. Marie—Lake trout fair in Ranger and Sayrne lakes while trolling deep. Speckled trout good on flies. Bass good in Dunlop Lake.

Sudbury—Speckled trout good in Eli and Sandpiain lakes and Manitou area and Jay provided Rainbow good in Gengis and Falls lakes and poor elsewhere. Pickerel good in Manitou and Meteor lakes and pickerel fair in lower French River and Lake Nemeora and Gogama areas. Pike fair in fall waters. Bass good in Penage Lake and north channel of Georgian Bay. Muskie poor in all waters.

Swastika—Pike and pickerel good in Elk Lake and Gowganda area with one 10-pounder reported. Bass and speckled trout good in Englehart area. Good catches of lake trout in Watachng Lake.

Thunder Bay—Pressure light on pike and pickerel. Seventeen-pound pike caught in Harecloud Lake and five-pound three-ounce speckled trout in Nipigon River.

White river—Pickerel good to excellent in Clay Bay of White Lake and Gamhaim and Hayward lakes. Speckled trout improving and lake trout fair.

SOUTH

Lake Simcoe—Most species being fairly excellent in Lake Simcoe with large and smallmouth bass biting extremely well. Nawasaga River and all trout species generally fair in Boyne and Pine rivers.

EAST

Lindsay—All species fair to good.

Tweed—Speckled trout good in all lakes and streams of Bancroft division but only fair elsewhere. Lake trout good in Nolan Lake. Pike and bass fair in Madawaska River and Trent River system. Pike and pickerel fair to good in Sharbot, St. George and Eagle lakes and

Familiar Story

George Maletta and Elvis Leonardutti live in the same neighbourhood and their three goal performances last night gave their Billiard team a 9-0 win over Stephan License in a Belleville Minor Soccer contest.

In an slom game the Station Square Cannucks can't find anyone to play as they won their second default game in a row last night, 14-0 over the Yardmen.

Lake Erie: Perch fair and a others poor. Smallmouth bas good at Long Point Bay. Small th mouth, perch and panfish poo to fair in eastern Lake Erie cellent in western Lake Erie but other species only fair. Central

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

Aries (March 21-April 19): See for yourself before responding to a dramatic story. Much of today's action is a matter of adjusting the old rather than creating the new.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Expect relatively less demand on your energy, share, good humor with friends while retaining your momentum. Go visiting.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Your watchfulness must include intangibles as well as surface appearances. Closing out the weekly cycle is more of a change than usual.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Technical advice is needed for any serious transaction. Personal possessions may increase, perhaps not of your own initiative.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Indecision has its uses—today is not the time to begin new projects. Group financial affairs should be evaluated, probably revised.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Cooperative ventures work out better than solitary efforts. Be sociable, take advantage of any chance for travel, even brief errands.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accept a slow start and considerable investment of extra time and energy—others will join in once you have made the initial opening.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Previous plans turn out inexact. Be ready to revise where you go, to admit longer time with younger people. A "vacation" from trying is in order.

Sagittaries (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Now is the time to let life be a simple skein of events, and enjoy them. Explore the delicate nuances in your relationships.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your patience overcoming an early sense of incomplete arrangements makes for a reasonable, conservative sort of day.

Aquaries (Jan. 20 - Dec. 18): Under less pressure, you tend to relax, and so doing, intuition works more clearly. Seeing a fresh view needn't provoke an immediate reaction.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): You are free to make an early start, get clear of chores and get some extra recreation time for yourself. Quit early.

Tetanus Germs Attack Muscles

By G. C THOMPSTEON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss tetanus. I understand it attacks the voluntary muscles. Why so often the lower jaw? How long between the injury and onset of the disease? What are the symptoms? Does it come on suddenly or gradually? — B. B.

Tetanus (lockjaw) is not a common disease, which is lucky since it is a terrible disease.

The disease results from toxins (poisons) created by multiplication of the germ. The germ itself can lurk in dirty places such as a barnyard, or soil contaminated by animal excrement. Since the germ does not need oxygen, it can exist in such places for a long time.

Fear of "a rusty nail" is not because the nail is rusty, but because it causes a puncture wound. A freely bleeding wound is likely to wash the germs (if present) out before they can do harm. But if the germs are driven deeply into the tissues, whether by a nail, shard of glass, splinter or whatever that is more dangerous.

It needn't be a serious wound. A thorn prick; or other trivial wound can introduce the germ. Gunshot wounds can cause tetanus if dirty clothing or skin punched deep into the tissues.

Once the germs start multiplying, onset of the disease may be fast or slow, ranging from a few days to two months or more. The earlier the onset, the more dangerous the attack.

The toxin, as you say, attacks the voluntary muscles, the muscles we move deliberately. Spasm of the facial muscles is one of the earliest symptoms, which gives rise to the term "lockjaw." However, that is only the beginning. Muscles throughout the body stiffen, along with severe headache, fever and convulsions.

Lower occurrence of tetanus is credited in part to the shift of population away from rural areas, but more to the increase in vaccination with tetanus toxoid. A series of protective shots should start at the age of 2 years or 18 months, but of course can be given later in life if early inoculations have been missed.

Booster injections at 10-year intervals later will maintain protection.

The toxoid works too slowly to be effective if given at the time of a wound, but human tetanus immune globulin can be given at that time and be effective.

Anyone who does not have protection should be wary if working in soils fertilized by animal manure. A thorn prick, a wound from a sharp (or even blunt) wire, or other small wound can penetrate any of the germs—or they can even get into an already open sore or wound.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I went to the drug store for some sweet oil to put in my ear and the pharmacist said, "Get some olive oil. It's the same thing."

Back in Wisconsin the sweet oil I got was transparent, sweet to the taste and not like olive oil at all. Will you write out he difference so people will not make that mistake? — V. I. S.

No mistake. Sweet oil is olive oil, but the light color you remember is the result of refining in its manufacture. You'll also find that the color of olive oil varies depending on where the olives were grown—oil from Spain is quite different from that grown in California, for example.

You mentioned ears—and sweet oil or olive oil of any kind is satisfactory for softening hardened earwax.

Note to Mrs. C. S. W.: ASDH stands for arteriosclerotic heart disease—in other words, hardening of the heart arteries.

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

Blackwood is one of the best conventions ever devised, but, like all good things, it should be used in moderation or may rear up and defeat its purpose.

There are certain nuances, or fine points, connected with Blackwood that must be utilized for the convention to have its greatest salutary effect. Here is a case that demonstrates how a rigid application of Blackwood can do more harm than good.

Let's assume that; North responds two clubs to the spade bid and that South goes directly to four spades. At this point North has the values for a direct six spade bid, in view of South's leap to four, but — in order not to hurry matters and to allow for the possibility of a grand slam — he should first employ Blackwood.

He does not do so to find out whether South has an ace — that is a wrong thing — but because he plans later to bid or suggest a grand slam.

South responds five diamonds and North bids five notrump, ostensibly asking for kings. This bid, by logic as well as universal agreement, guarantees that the partnership has all four aces.

Actually, South has the wherewithal for a direct response of seven spades at this point. He should not woodenly respond six hearts to show two kings.

He should direct his attention much more to the question of how many tricks can be made than to telling partner how many kings he has.

From the standpoint of tricks, South can count seven spades, three clubs and two red aces, and he should have no doubt whatever that North will provide a thirteenth trick — beyond the aces — in one form or another. He should therefore bid the grand slam forthwith.

Tomorrow: Bidding quiz.

Trade Talks Held

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada and the United States agreed Wednesday to two new series of discussions on world trade and on customs procedures, but decided to leave untouched their deadlocked bilateral trade negotiations in the hope that the climate for them will improve.

Trade minister Jean-Luc Pepin made the report after spending nearly five hours alone with Treasury Secretary George Shultz for what he said was a complete review of trade matters affecting the two highborn.

Of the thorny question of Canada-U.S. trade negotiations, stalled since the U.S. rejected Canada's recent list of proposals last February, Pepin told a news conference:

"I came with no great illusions that we could change in one afternoon a situation that now has been going on for a year. However, I have in the coming months, as the atmosphere improves, it will be possible to tackle other items on a progressive basis."

Among circumstances the minister mentioned that could contribute to a better atmosphere were improved economic conditions in both countries, a decrease in the U.S. trade deficit with Canada, and an end to the "frantic" pace of world negotiations after last August's change in U.S. policies.

He denied that bilateral talks will necessarily be postponed until after both countries have had elections, however. The U.S. votes in November while Canadian elections are due before next summer.

Pepin said teams from Canada and the U.S. will meet, possibly in September, to review a broad range of international developments which will affect both countries in the near future. He mentioned the expansion of the European Common Market and proposed changes in world tariff and trade regulations and monetary controls.

As usual in the case of ministerial meetings here, a public report on the discussions was left entirely to the Canadians. Pepin read a short statement signed by both ministers, which described the talks as "informative and fruitful", but there was no further comment from Shultz about the talks.

Shultz took over the treasury job in May from John Conally, who had been criticized by Pepin and other Canadians because of his tough manner of handling negotiations.

But Pepin acknowledged Wednesday that he "didn't witness any major change" in the U.S. position now that the soft-spoken Shultz has replaced Connally. There was a "difference in style," he said.

The minister said the subject of the Canada-U.S. automotive agreement, one of the main stumbling blocks, had arisen but there is "not much that can be done at this time" toward settling their differences on it.

Son Says Wrong Constable Accused of Beating Father

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Robin Quilt, 20-year-old adopted son of Chilcotin Indian Fred Quilt, testified Wednesday at a second inquest in Mr. Quilt's death that it was RCMP Constable Peter Eakins who threw his father out of a stalled truck.

Robin a mother and aunt, who were also in the vehicle at the time, testified earlier that Constable Daryl Bakewell threw Quilt "clear of the road" man out and "jumped up and down on him."

The RCMP were answering a complaint about a truck blocking one lane of the Chilcotin Highway near Alexis Creek, B.C., when the incident happened Nov. 28.

Fred Quilt died Nov. 30 in hospital at Williams Lake, B.C., and a first inquest returned a verdict of accidental and unnatural death. However, the second inquest was ordered because two of the original jurors were associated with the RCMP.

Robin Quilt was the second witness Wednesday to say he had been told of the beating, although he was at the scene when it is alleged to have occurred.

He told the inquest the uniformed officer opened the door on the driver's side of the truck and "grabbed my father by the shoulders and threw him out."

Robin Quilt said he went to the police vehicle and "didn't see what happened" to his father.

Robin testified he did not hear of the alleged beating until the next day from his Uncle Wilfred Quilt, who had been told by someone else.

He also told the inquest however, that Fred Quilt had complained of pains in his right side and said "the police hurt me." After being let out of the police truck on the Anahim Indian reserve.

Dr. Han Lee, who performed the autopsy on Fred Quilt, said Wednesday he would completely ignore and discredit the statements of two pathologists who testified at the inquest.

Dr. Glen Martin of Kamloops and Dr. John Sturdy of Vancouver told the inquest that in their opinion a severing of the man's small bowel reported by Dr. Lee may have been done accidentally as he performed the autopsy.

"It is impossible to make a midline incision to sever the small bowel in that position, even inadvertently," Dr. Lee said.

"Even if it was, then it would not be a rotten abcess filling the whole abdominal cavity."

Dr. Lee, chief of staff at Cariboo Memorial Hospital; said two pathologists "knew nothing" about the case; they completely ignored the autopsy."

Drug Masked Man's Illness

TORONTO (CP) — A young man who had been using the hallucinogenic drug MDA died of pneumonia apparently without realizing how sick he was, a coroner's inquest was told Wednesday.

Dr. Richard Hutson, a pathologist, testified that although the drug could not be established as the cause of the death of Kenneth Kenzi Tanaka, 23, it masked the symptoms of pneumonia.

Mr. Tanaka was found dead in a friend's house March 8.

Dr. Hutson told the five-member coroner's jury that "MDA makes one feel so good one might be on the verge of death and not care if he were sick or not."

However, under questioning by Malcolm Montgomery, lawyer for the Tanaka family, Dr. Hutson said the drug factor was irrevelant to the actual cause of death.

George Cimbura, head of toxicology at the Centre of Forensic Sciences, testified that MDA overdose has been responsible for the deaths of seven young people in the last two years in Ontario.

MDA is a restricted drug in Canada and possession of it is a criminal offence.

The inquest continues.

Premiers' Agenda Is Heavy

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada's premiers will be faced with a heavy and wide-ranging agenda when they meet here next week for their 13th annual conference.

Premier Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia, host for the two-day conference, released an agenda Wednesday which includes topics ranging from federal-municipal relations and collective bargaining for public employees to non-resident land ownership, health care costs and telecommunications.

The 10 premiers meet here next Thursday and Friday following a one-day meeting of the five eastern premiers Wednesday. The eastern premiers will discuss off-shore mineral rights, a continuation of talks begun in June.

The main conference will hear reaction from premiers on the federal government's recently-announced legislation on foreign takeovers of Canadian enterprises. They are also expected to consider what restrictions could effectively be placed on the purchase of land by non-residents.

Fallout Noted In New Zealand

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (Reuter) — Radioactive fallout from the recent French nuclear test at Mururoa atoll in the South Pacific has been detected in New Zealand, a scientist said today.

H. J. Yeabsley, director of the National Radiation Laboratory, said iodine-131 just above the level of detection has been found in samples of milk taken in Greymouth, on the west coast of the South Island.

Passengers Stranded

Air Charter Firms Pleased Ticket Sellers in Trouble

TORONTO (CP) — Three air charter ticket companies in Toronto filed bankruptcy papers in court Wednesday, owing an estimated $60,000 to about 120 customers.

The companies are: Supertramp Travel Inc., Air Fair Inc., and Atlantic Air Services, a wholesaler of charter tickets.

They were owned by Paul Street and Gregg Grossman, neither of whom could be reached for comment Wednesday night.

They represented the largest group in the air charter ticket business in Metropolitan Toronto.

The three companies suspended operations Tuesday when a bank refused to cash a $765 refund cheque issued by one of the companies to a Toronto customer.

In London, England, a spokesman for the Canadian high commission said about 40 stranded charter passengers had approached the commission recently but they had been referred to Panocean Travel, the local affiliate with the three Toronto companies.

Walter Lamb of Panocean said his firm honored $15,000 worth of return ticket vouchers, but could not say how many passengers were involved.

Spokesmen for two large charter airlines said Wednesday they are hoping to see the companies out of business.

Clifford Wenzel, Toronto general manager for British-based Lakey Airways, said the ticket companies, most of which operate on limited funds, buy charter flight seats from tour operators who have not been able to fill all seats they have booked.

He said tickets are sold to customers at about $100 for one-way trips across the Atlantic, or $200 return. Customers find out at the last moment they have been given back-dated memberships in clubs they never heard of to make the charter legitimate.

Mr. Wenzel said unscrupulous ticket sellers promise to fly any person whenever he wants, hoping they will be able to buy seats from a wholesaler or organizer by that time. If they cannot, they tell the customer the flight was cancelled by the airline.

Robert Devonshire, Toronto-based manager for Donaldson International Airways, said his firm never had dealings with the three ticket companies and has never heard of them.

"I am pleased to see them out of the business."

Metro police fraud squad members were studying the companies' papers Wednesday.

Giant Bauxite Mine Is Operating Outback

NHULUNBUY, Australia (Reuter) — A North Australian wilderness that for thousands of years has heard only the thrumming of kangaroos now resounds to excavators and trucks at a giant bauxite mine.

A $362.5-million Swiss-Australian aluminum project is tapping a proven reserve of 200 million tons of the rich red mineral.

Located on the Gove peninsula, 400 miles east of Darwin, the project was conceived after mineral leases were granted seven years ago.

Last year, Aborigines from the nearby Yirrakala mission claimed ownership of all the land covered by the mineral lease. The Northern Territory Supreme Court ruled they had no claim, but said the evidence showed "clans belong to the land."

Despite the loss of the court case, the Aborigines from the mission will receive royalties from the Gove project.

The partners—a group of Australian companies and Swiss Aluminum of Zurich — have estimated that within a few years they will be paying more than $1 billion annually.

In recent weeks, the Aborigines in the area have indicated that they will seek a mining lease to cover all the Gove peninsula, except the 400 square miles held by the Gove partners.

The 250 million tons of bauxite can supply the aluminum plant for the next 80 years.

When the feasibility study was presented to the Australian government in 1968, the partners agreed to construct a cargo wharves, power station, bauxite treatment plant, crushing plant, and conveyor system carrying the bauxite 12 miles to the stockpiles.

In addition, they were to build a fully air-conditioned town for more than 5,000 people, including a 64-bed hospital and schools.

Today Nhulunbuy, Aboriginal for "dreamtime," is a thriving modern town, although the project was only officially opened July 1.

The plant is already capable of producing 500,000 tons of alumina annually and within 12 months will be producing the scheduled million tons a year.

Oil Royalties Talks Possible

HALIFAX (CP) — The sticky question of how the royalties will be split if any other minerals are produced off the Canadian East Coast may soon bring Prime Minister Trudeau and the five eastern provincial premiers together for talks.

Premier Gerald A. Regan of Nova Scotia said Wednesday the prime minister had offered to meet with himself and premiers Campbell of Prince Edward Island, Moores of Newfoundland, Hatfield of New Brunswick and Robichaud of Quebec. No date has been set for the talks.

The five eastern premiers met here Tuesday to discuss the off-shore question.

A letter from Mr. Trudeau to Mr. Regan, which restated the prime minister's view that the off-shore mineral rights belong to Ottawa and which contained the offer to meet with the premiers, is to be discussed at the premiers' meeting.

Ottawa has proposed a 50-50 sharing formula for any revenue realized as royalties from off-shore mineral production. The provinces have rejected this, but have not yet publicly stated what percentage they have in mind.

PRESCOTT, ONT. (CP) — Five eastern provincial premiers have gained the support of national Conservative leader Robert Stanfield in their campaign for maximum benefit from royalties earned from off-shore resources.

Mr. Stanfield, touring southeastern Ontario Wednesday, vowed that he would make the off-shore mineral rights question an issue in the next federal election campaign.

$2-billion Contract Let for Space Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) — North American Rockwell Corp. has captured the $2.6-billion contract to build the space shuttle orbiter vehicle that will jet into orbit like a rocket and land on earth like an airplane.

North American's space division, at Downey, Calif., won over three rival bidders Wednesday to get the contract. Aeronautics and Space Administration contract to build five vehicles over a 10-year period.

The delta-winger craft that will carry men and material between earth and orbiting satellites are expected to be a boon to the aerospace industry in California. Estimates range up to 60,000 more jobs during the next 10 years.

Under the initial payment of $255 million in two-year funds, North American will build the first two orbiters—one to be used for ground tests and others for horizontal test flights starting in 1976.

Three operational vehicles are to be built for manned space missions, with test flights beginning in 1978.

The 120-foot-long craft with a 79-foot wing span are to be reusable 100 times. They are to be used over and over again to carry men, satellites and equipment into earth orbit and to bring personnel and materials back to earth.

The cargo compartment of the orbiter will be able to carry up to 65,000 pounds into an orbit 115 miles above the earth. The compartment may be used on some missions to carry as many as a dozen scientists and technicians.

For launching, the orbiter will be mounted piggyback on a large, expendable propellant tank and two recoverable and reusable solid-propellant rockets.

Shuttles used for civilian purposes will be launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla. Those on military missions will rocket off from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

James Fletcher, NASA administrator, said 30 to 50 missions will be launched each year throughout the 1980s.

Lawrence Reporta

Crime Dangers Not Great Here

TORONTO (CP) Most of the dangers of internationally syndicated crime existing in other parts of North America are not present in Ontario, Justice Minister Allan Lawrence said Wednesday night.

He told the Federation of Italian-Canadian Associations and Clubs this is due to "a number of factors" including the "general incorrigibility of people in the law-enforcement agencies, in the government and on the bench."

Mr. Lawrence said there was a danger some people might suspect there already is in Toronto a strong, monopolistic, criminal organization based on United States models.

"I want to assure you that there is no such monopolistic criminal group here in Metro, that, on the 'Godfather' pattern, controls an area of criminal activity, either by subject matter or type of crime, or controls crime in any geographic area."

The real danger may be that such a fear exists, Mr. Lawrence said.

"If we get carried away and start believing that some type of organization exists then we become intimidated by it and the fiction can easily be replaced by the fact," Mr. Lawrence said.

The justice minister referred to a story in The Star earlier this month that a "Mafia 'am ily" from the Calabrian area of southern Italy was operating in Toronto.

He called the group "a minor extortion ring."

But, he said people soon may be afraid to communicate with police because they fear a big criminal organization exists.

Meanwhile, Dilo Macinia, president of the Federation of Italian-Canadian Associations and Clubs, said Toronto's Italian community has decided to set up a rights committee to combat defamation of Italians in the media.

In a debate with Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Macinia said the Italian community had been seriously defamed by recent newspaper stories about an extortion ring known to police as the Sacagno group.

Mr. Macinia said the federation will ask the Ontario government to create a commission to hear complaints concerning derogatory reports and comments relating to ethno-cultural groups by the media.

Mr. Lawrence also said he was "concerned about the obvious divisions and the schisms which exist in our Italian-Canadian community, especially . . . in Toronto. There has been no group or single entity to which government could go to obtain a responsible, responsive and representative viewpoint of the Italian community in Metro Toronto."

But Italian Canadians are being "unfairly maligned" by loose language involving such terms as Mafia, Honored Society and La Cosa Nostra, the cabinet minister said.

"I would emphasize again that in the field of internationally syndicated crime to imply that only people of Italian origin are involved is simply untrue," he said.

There is no greater degree of lawlessness or criminal conspiracy within the Italian community than there is in any other racial, religious or economic group, he said.

Small Farms Plan Opposed

HALIFAX (CP) Federal Agriculture Minister T. A. Olson faced some opposition to his government's small farms development plan during days long talks with provincial agriculture ministers Wednesday.

A joint statement from the provincial ministers following the closed-door sessions said it was clearly indicated that some provinces were not prepared to accept the program."

Only Alberta has signed an agreement with Ottawa on the plan, under which provinces acquire lands and make them available to farmers at low-interest rates and through incentive programs.

Following the talks, which ended the three-day 23rd annual conference of provincial agriculture ministers and their deputies, Mr. Olson told reporters most provinces agreed in principle with the farm-development plan, but there was debate on responsibility.

At least three provinces had indicated that they were ready to sign agreements, but were still studying the matter of responsibility.

Dr. William Gillis, Nova Scotia's minister, said his province was negotiating with the federal government, but he wondered if ment in the development scheme.

The ministers did reach agreement on the establishment of a joint federal-provincial committee to look into methods of increasing markets for Canadian farm products. It will consist of the deputy agriculture ministers from Alberta, Quebec and Nova Scotia and the federal assistant deputy minister.

The ministers also reached close accord on national market sharing in eggs and poultry products. Dr. Gillis said he doubted this would mean an end to the "chicken and egg war", but at least they had made a start. He termed the talks "productive."

The statement said Mr. Olson assured the provinces that with the provision of a national marketing agency, Canadian producers could be protected from unfair commodities within the terms of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade."

Big Drive on IRA May Be in Offing

4,000 More Troops Sent

BELFAST (CP) — Another 4,000 British troops are being sent to Northern Ireland amid speculation that a big offensive against the outlawed Irish Republican Army may be launched soon. The extra units include three infantry battalions from West Germany.

The reinforcements, the largest since the army began operations in the province three years ago, started arriving Thursday and will raise British military strength in Ulster to 21 000, a record.

In addition, the locally recruited Ulster Defence Regiment, a part-time force, has been 8,000 and 9,000 men.

Announcing the extra troops, the defence ministry in London, said that following the Bloody Friday IRA bomb attacks on Belfast a week ago, British administrator William Whitelaw had declared "nobody could be in any doubt that very resolute and determined action must be taken against those responsible."

The Bloody Friday blitz killed nine persons and injured 130.

During the last week, British troops have been carrying out search-and-arrest operations, seizing large quantities of arms and explosives and rounding up almost 150 IRA suspects.

The army is known to have concentrated armor near Londonderry, provoking speculation that an assault may be conducted on the barricaded IRA strongholds in the Bogside and Creggan quarters of the city.

In the past, Whitelaw has ruled out an invasion of the Bogside or Creggan because it would endanger women and children.

As the troops arrived, incendiary a series of bomb explosions across the province—three in Belfast, two in the Londonderry area and one Newry, close to the Irish republic border. Nobody was killed but the explosions caused extensive damage.

Police said arsonists were responsible for a fire that heavily damaged a department store in the Royal Avenue area.

Assassination squads have claimed the lives of 12 more men in Belfast in the last 21 hours, raising the known fatality toll in three years of sectarian violence in the north to 174.

The army reported 46 shooting incidents in Belfast—29 involving soldiers-and eight in Londonderry overnight. Two soldiers were slightly hurt and troops said they hit three gunmen.

In East Belfast, rival mobs of Catholics and Protestants stoned each other and set fire to a tavern just before midnight.

The militant Protestant Ulster Defence Association drew back from its announced intention to cut off power supplies of fuel oil and electricity to Catholic areas of Londonderry, concealed by the IRA. The UDA said it had cancelled the blockade because of hardships that might be done to Protestants living in the areas.

Sadat Rejects Peace Bid

CAIRO (CP) — President Anwar Sadat has accused Israeli Premier Golda Meir's appeal.

It was Egypt's first official reaction to Mrs. Meir's speech Wednesday in which she called on Sadat to sit down with her and negotiate a peace agreement.

Sadat said direct talks would not be held while Israel occupies Egyptian territories.

Sadat again criticized U.S. Middle East policy and denied that Washington's attitude had been prompted by the Soviet presence in Egypt.

"The United States has been hostile to us since the early days of building the Aswan High Dam in 1956," he said. "They refused to sell us arms unless we came under their influence, something we rejected."

Workmen are down approximately 30 feet, working on installation of an east-west Fahey Street - Moira River storm sewer. The project, under way for the past several weeks, has interrupted traffic on North Park Street. Next week the detour path cuts past the Belleville livestock sales barns will arrive at North Front Street. Traffic on this main artery is expected to be disrupted for the next two weeks, while it is reduced to a two-lane throughfare as workmen extend the storm sewer main.

Nixon Declares Critics Are Deceived by Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counter-attacking in the war of words over U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, President Nixon says his critics have been duped by Hanoi's propaganda and should recognize that he has held in check "the great power that could finish off North Vietnam in an afternoon."

He also told a news conference Thursday that congressmen who vote for end-the-war resolutions are signalling the Communists to stall in peace talks at a time when "the chance for a negotiated settlement is better . . . than it has ever been."

The president stopped short of denying that any U.S. bombs had damaged North Vietnam's dikes and dams, but singled out United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for seizing "upon this enemy-inspired propaganda which has taken in many well-intentioned and naive people."

Waldheim said this week he had received information that the dikes had been damaged by U.S. planes and appealed for a halt in the bombing.

In New York, a spokesman at UN. headquarters said Waldheim had been informed of Nixon's remarks and "he stands by his original statements."

The state department said Wednesday there had been slight and unintentional damage to the dikes, and Nixon said Thursday "if damage did occur . . . we are making every possible effort to see that it will not occur again."

Nixon made a spirited defence of his Vietnam policies, setting the stage for continuing debate in the presidential election campaign which he predicted would be "close . . . a hard-fought . . . right down to the wire."

He declined to discuss the disclosure of Democratic vice-presidential candidate Thomas Eagleton's past psychiatric treatment. He would not campaign on personalities.

The issues which divide the opposite side and this administration are so wide-ly fact, the clearest choice in this century-that we must campaign on the issues."

One major campaign issue is Vietnam, and Nixon indirectly took Democratic candidate George McGovern to task for saying he would halt the bomb ing immidiately and bring all U.S. troops and prisoners of war home within 20 days—proposals which Republicans say hurt U.S. peace efforts.

"The fastest way to end the war and the best way to end it is through negotiation," the president said. "We would hope that public figures in their comments will not do anything to undercut the negotiations."

Men Reject Settlement Plan

Dock Strike Imperils British Economy

LONDON (CP) — A national dock strike thrust Britain into a new bout of labor turmoil today.

Prime Minister Edward Heath, beleaguered by union bitterness over his anti-strike law, was expected to be forced to declare within a few days the second state of emergency this year to keep the country's life going.

The strike is in effect a continuation—with official union approval—of the dockers' wildcat walkout last Friday to protest the jailing of five picketing comrades. Representatives of the 42,000 longshoremen ordered the men to stay out after rejecting a union-management plan to compensate and relocate dock workers displaced by the increasing use of containers.

Labor party leader Harold Wilson and the chiefs of the dock workers' union urged acceptance of the plan. The rejection was attributed to the anger generated by the imprisonment of the five longshoremen and determination to make the Conservative government's new labor-relations law unworkable.

The jailing of the five provoked a chain of sympathy strikes and the threat of a one-day general strike next Monday. The longshoremen were released Wednesday, and the workers went back to their jobs everywhere but on the docks.

The government could ask the labor court to order the dockers back to the docks for a cooling-off period of up to 60 days, but it is expected to await the outcome of conciliation efforts. It was thought that the angry dock workers would defy any cooling-off order, and this would result in either a humiliating retreat for the government or another showdown and a repetition of the strike wave this week.

Longshore delegates rejected Wednesday by 38 votes to 28 with 18 abstentions peace proposals drawn up by Jack Jones, general secretary of the giant Transport and General Workers' Union, port employer Lord Aldington and two rank-and-file dockers.

The proposals called for substantially increased severance pay for men leaving port work voluntarily and for more container work to go to dockers.

Lord Aldington and Jones planned to meet today to see if they can find a way to satisfy the men.

Striking Workers Fired

Head Nurse Asks Davis to Prevent Harassing of Hospital

TORONTO (CP) — Pickets marched around Toronto Western Hospital today after the firing of 330 non-medical workers who did not heed a warning to end a 16-day illegal walkout.

They chanted "scabs out" Thursday night after a meeting of about 400 strikers and supporters in a hall across from the hospital.

The chants and other activities of the striking Canadian Union of General Employees caused head nurse Aileen Hall, in a letter to Premier William Davis, to complain of what she called disruption of key hospital services—including food delivery—and harassment of patients. She said she and her patients are "tired of government inaction" and told Mr. Davis to do something "promptly."

In a news conference Bud McAulay, executive director of the hospital, said the remaining 332 workers have either returned to work or are on holidays or sick leave.

He said recruitment of replacements for the others would begin immediately but strikers would have a chance to reapply for employment "one things cool off."

Lights came on in patients' rooms Thursday night as the pickets marched. Lines of policemen stood along the sidewalk and the workers booted and booed at the occasional white-clad figures watching at doors and stairwells

In the hall Patrick Murphy, the CUGE president, complained of what he termed the hospital's disdain for the strikers and the apparent disregard of other labor unions which he repeatedly said, have failed to lend support in money or manpower.

Nevertheless, he read the strikers a telegram from Quebec labor leader Marcel Pepin, president of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, urging Mr. Murpay to "tell your members and brothers that I am with you and say my name. . . .

Quebec province hospitals were among institutions affected by an 11-day strike of 200,000 public service workers which was ended in April by emergency back-to-work legislation. Talks are still in progress.

Union leaders here and in Quebec said low wages are a basic cause of the strikes.

The firings here hit about half of the bargaining unit which includes ward aides, housekeeping staff, kitchen help, porters, nursing assistants and tradesmen.

In announcing the dismissals, effective at noon Thursday, the hospital administration cited the facts that the Ontario Labor Relations Board had declared the strike in breach of the Hospital Disputes Labor Arbitration Act which prohibits strikes; and that workers were informed of the possible consequences of a strike.

Mr. McAulay said no steps are planned to seek an injunction to prohibit picketing, although patients, including those in the cardiac wing, have complained that the noise from the strikers is disturbing them.

Head nurse Hall, in her letter to the premier, said strikers were trying to dislocate the hospital telephone switchboard with nuisance calls, preventing patients from receiving meals and keeping some patients awake at night by the chanting on the picket lines.

On one occasion, she said, a hospital administrator had to throw food over the heads of pickets to get it into a ward.

The strike began in a contract dispute that centred on such issues as wages, scheduling of the work week, application of seniority, sick leave, definition of job classifications, a demand for a reduction in the work week to 37½ hours from 40 and equal pay for men and women for similar work.

Steelworkers Vote

HAMILTON (CP) — Employees of the Steel Co. of Canada are voting today on a new three-year pay package negotiated by the union leadership but rejected by plant stewards. Despite the turndown by the stewards' body Thursday, officers of the United Steelworkers of Canada expressed confidence that the 12,000 Steleo workers in Hamilton will accept the agreement.

New Mall Opened

TORONTO (CP) — Another portion of downtown Yonge Street was cloped to traffic Thursday and turned into a pedestrian mall to the delight of tourists, shopowners, strollers and even beggars. The mall, running from Dundas north to Gerrard Streets, complements one opened June 18 on Yonge Street from Adelaide to Albert streets.

Nine Missing in Fire

ARNOLD'S COVE, Nfld. (CP) — Nine persons are missing and six others are in hospital following the destruction by fire of a longliner in Newfoundland's Placentia Bay Thursday night. Ray Burkshire of this community, 55 miles west of St. John's,said he was cruising the area in another longliner around 11 p.m. Thursday when he found the Del Roy in flames and picked up three women and three men who were clinging to the bottom of an overturned dory. Mr. Burkshire said it was difficult to search for the others in the dark.

Free Channel for CJOH

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC announced Thursday it plans to switch transmission of its English-language television station in Toronto, CBLT, to channel six Sept. 4. The corporation said the move was requested by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission. The Toronto station, re-broadcasting the programs of CJOH,Ottawa will go into operation as soon as possible after CBLT vacates channel six," said the CJFC statement.

New Lows Are Set

TORONTO (CP) — Windbreaker weather prevailed overnight in Ontario as temperatures dropped to the record 40s in some areas and the weatherman predicted more of the same tonight, with a warming trend by Sunday.

The forecaster said campers will need blankets and warm clothes for the weekend nights. Record lows were set overnight at Toronto International Airport with a 48, compared with 49 in 1968, at Wiarton with a 47, compared with 50 in 1953 and in Muskoka with 46, which had a previous low of 48 in 1946.

It was cold throughout the province, with a 46 also in Mount Forest in southwestern Ontario. Temperatures of 45 to 50 were forecast overnight Saturday.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Following record overnight lows in Alliston, Muskoka and Toronto, bright sunny weather will prevail over much of the province both today and Saturday. A few widely scattered showers are probable in the North. Temperatures in the low 70s will remain on the cool side of normal. Another cool night is in store tonight.

Times Have Changed For Mike Harrison

By KENNETH SMITH
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Yesterday wasn't just another day for Mike Harrison . . . but then again maybe it was. He was still waiting on, the public.

Mike has been in the hardware business here for 64 years as of yesterday and his employer Thomas MacMillan decided it was about time his prized employee got a bit of recognition.

The MacMillans moved a table and chairs into a corner at the front of the store and invited the town to drop in, sit down, have some of the decorated cake that Mrs. Mike's long years of service, a cup of coffee and a chat with Mike.

From morning until night a steady stream of people dropped by MacMillan Pro Hardware to pass the time of day with the grand old man of Trenton retailing while Dundas West outside burned with the activity of a sidewalk sale.

Mike, now 78, served coffee and cake himself when not giving advice to customers on hardware and reminiscing about the old days.

He has this alert and active man stayed so long in one trade?

Says Mike, "I started in the hardware business when I was just a kid and it is really the only business I know."

And the MacMillans, having taken over the store at 18 Dundas West four years ago, attest to the fact Mr. Harrison knows the business. In fact, they say they would find it hard to do without him.

Mike only works the mornings now as a rule but the MacMillans explain their employee has lived with them the wisdom of his years in the trade.

"The hardware business has changed a lot over the years," says Mike. "Now it's about 90 percent self-serve now — nearly everything comes in packages."

He is in fairly from the times when McClung's Hardware, predecessor of MacMillan, used to buy nails and Belgian glass by the boxcar load.

We used to get nails in hundred pound kegs . . . now they usually come in 25 pound barrels," Mike explains.

Mike's boss operated elsewhere on Dundas moved to what is now the MacMillan store in the winter of 1913-14 and Mike came with them.

He went off to war," the elderly shopkeeper recalls, "in the Great War. I was discharged in 1919 on a Saturday and came back here to the store the following Monday."

Those were the days when the retail trade was conducted by coal oil lamps and the only refrigeration was the open eavestroughs and "milk cans by the hundreds," were making cookware for the kitchens of the Deseronto School for the Deaf in Belleville.

He says hardware is a good business to be in. Men are less hit than other businesses by depressions. This partly because, he says, they had a heavy trade with farmers, also accounting for Mike "never not hit as bad by the depressions as the town people around here."

The hardware has changed a lot. "We used to sell ceramic, plaster, lime, silos, galvanized," he recalls, and that stuff has all gone to the modern supply stores now," he stated.

Mike told of the 1920s, times when the farmers used to have a Bowser gas pump at the King St. corner. Before that, he said, he used to have to carry gas out to cars in five-gallon cans. McClung's were the first in Trenton to sell gas).

Mike recalled yesterday that it once took him about two hours to fill the massive gas tanks of a Pierce Arrow before the store got its gas pump. The buckets of gas were brought up from the basement by hand.

There was the time Mike recollects when "an old chap we had working here — he was almost blind — was filling a gas tank in a car and he lit a match to get some light to see if it was full. . . the car caught fire and it burned up."

The gas business was a problem for McClung's. Mike remembers once people complained that their cars were stalling after they had come in to fill up with gas. The storeowner found his underground gas storage tank was leaking and was filling up with rainwater that diluted the gas.

"You know we used to do deliveries with those horses before we got our first truck," Mike recalls. And when the truck went into use here, there were still many horses on the road.

Mr. Harrison tells of the time when one man drove up to the side doors with a horse and buggy, tied it to the truck then went into shop.

Minutes later, an employee had to make a delivery, hopped in the truck and took off pulling the bridle of the horse with it through town.

Mike's funniest experience in the business occurred early in his career and with a horse.

He said one of his duties as a boy was to groom and hold horses when their owners wanted to come in and shop. Once he did try and by the time the owner - patron returned the horse had dropped dead in front of the store.

"The horse must have been half-dead anyway when he came in to shop," he states.

Yesterday Mike paused to think and talk about the past.

Couple Assaulted

STIRLING (Special) — Local restaurant operator John Koutsoumbis and his wife, Anna were injured on Sunday during an early - morning brawl on Mill St. in the village. The attack may result in charges against one or more local youths.

Mr. and Mrs. Koutsoumbis returned from work in the early Sunday morning, and noticed a Kontsomboris got out of the car and his wife locked the doors then tried to drive the car to their parking spot off North St. The bouncing effort continued and Mr. Koutsoumbis tried to pull the people off the car, but more took their places faster than he could remove them.

After the car was parked, a scuffle ensued with three youths attacking Mr. Koutsoumbis. Mr. Koutsoumbis received a bloodied shirt, a cut on his nose and a kick in the groin. His wife was also kicked in the stomach.

Mr. Koutsoumbis freed himself and called the Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville. An officer arrived about 15 minutes later. The officer spent about an hour and a half talking with Mr. and Mrs. Koutsoumbis and the youths in were still around.

Mr. and Mrs. Koutsoumbis both went to Belleville General Hospital where their injuries and were later released.

Provincial Police said earlier this week that charges were still pending.

UIC Overflow to Move

The Unemployment Insurance Commission will transfer a number of employees to the department of agriculture's Research Station in an attempt to alleviate their accommodation problems.

All but one house in the row on the vacant complex will be turned over to UIC by mid-September until October 31, 1972.

No details are available as to the number of employees to be shifted, but the staff at the Dundas St. East facility are relieved UIC is clear the question once the current lease expires July 31.

R. Bickford, an official with property and buildings management in the Department of agriculture, said yesterday the department of public works and Government Services for maintenance of the Research Institute complex

NOTICE
OF INTEREST TO SENIOR CITIZENS
The Belleville Utilities Commission is aware that many senior citizens on fixed incomes find it difficult to avoid the penalty for late payment of their utilities' account when the account's due date is prior to the date on which their Old Age Security Pension cheque arrives.
In an attempt to reduce this hardship and in its continuing endeavour to be of service to its customers the Belleville Utilities Commission is pleased to introduce a budget billing system under which a customer who is a senior citizen, may pay his utility account on an Equal Monthly Payment Plan. The payment will be due on the first day of each month.
The Equal Monthly Payment Plan is available to any customer in possession of a "Senior Citizen's Identification Card" on application to our office. "Senior Citizen's Identification Cards" may be obtained from the City Clerk's office in the City Hall.
If you have any questions concerning the plan or any other phase of our operation, please do not hesitate to inquire at our office or telephone 962-3421.
The Equal Monthly Payment Plan will be available commencing September 1, 1972 and Senior Citizens wishing to take advantage of it are asked to apply at our office, 277 Front Street.

Moira Is Hive of Summer Activity

About 200 East Hill youngsters are returning to school for the summer to participate in a recreational program run by Moira Secondary School students.

This is the second year that Moira students have been successfully run the program to provide summer fun for elementary school children in their neighborhood.

Moira is open from 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 5 p.m. for classes and gym activities for children. The two leaders, Wally Swain and Stewart Arnott and their 13 instructors return at night from 7 to 9 p.m., when the gym is open for senior high school students and adults.

The project is completely student-run and extends from July 4 to Aug. 24.

The classes offered, for 1½ hours in the morning and afternoon, were chosen following a poll of the neighborhood.

For a registration fee of $1 ($1.50 if two or more classes are selected), a youngster can learn to: play a musical instrument, cook, sew, perform in plays, operate a camera and darkroom or putter about in the art room. There are organized games in the gym for half the day, and instruction in gymnastics and football one day each week.

In the music room Leo Stratton and three instructors have formed a 17-piece orchestra of youngsters, most of whom had never touched an instrument before the beginning of this month.

Nine to 11 year olds are turning out cakes in the home economics room and developing pictures in the darkroom.

About 420 gym bags have been sold by the student organizers for the summer. Use age was given at $1.000. No charges were laid.

The gym for two months costs 50 cents.

This is the second year the summer program has operated at Moira. Last year the project was turned down for an Opportunities for Youth grant. This year the organizers didn't try, but instead got a $1,500 grant from youth in action, a division of the Ontario department of community and social services. This money is used to pay the salaries of the 15 students running the program. They make $15.75 for a 40-hour week.

Equipment and supplies are purchased from registration fees, canteen receipts and donations. The students have given three donations: $100 from the Argyll Chapter of the IODE, $50 from the UCW of Eastminster Church and $25 from the Y's Men's Club.

Despite the success of the program, it won't operate at Moira next year. The school and its grounds will be torn up with the construction of a new addition and the summer project will have to find a new home.

"I'd like to see it taken to a different part of the city, perhaps Centennial," says Wally Swain.

Rockhound Gemboree Tuesday

Termed the biggest show of its kind in Eastern Ontario, the 9th annual Bancroft Rockhound Gemboree will be held next week from Tuesday Aug. 1 to Saturday Aug. 5.

The Gemboree, which is expected to attract up to 25,000 rockhound enthusiasts, will again be held at the grounds on Baptiste Lake Road, west of Bird's Creek.

Featured in the five - day event will be rock and mineral collecting, jewellery making displays and demonstrations, rock swapping as well as commercial displays and specimen sale.

On opening day there will be a rock auction with the program highlighting arts and crafts of all kinds, together with evening entertainment and other special features. For the kiddies there will be midway rides the last three days of the show.

Each day conducted field trips will leave the grounds at 9 a.m.

Mineral tents for the Gemboree have been booked solid since early May and one of the best displays of rocks and mineral specimens is assured. In addition to the displays there will be demonstrations of tumbling, cutting and polishing rock jewellery faceting, and jewellery mounting.

A new Gemboree feature this year will be a craft marquee being sponsored by Loyalist College under Ivor McLeod, college extension official at Bancroft.

Included in the feature will be ceramics, leathercraft, metal working, driftwood rock sculpture and other crafts. Dr. G. H. Gorman, University of Toronto will be on hand to identify mineral specimens.

The commercial tents give merchants the opportunity to display such popular items as snowmobiles, outboard motors. Organizations such as the Girlettes, Canadian Bible Society and retarded children will have interesting displays. For the satisfaction of the inner man, local church groups will have food stands. Each evening there will be a corn roast.

Each person paying admission to the Gemboree will be entitled to guesses in a rock weight guessing contest and a number guessing contest on a jar of tumbled stones. The weight guessing contest offers prizes of $50 and $10, and the numbers contest prizes of $25 and $10.

Friday is Children's Day with midway rides at half price during the afternoon. And some children will win the lucky admission draws for a bicycle, a walkie talkie set, fishing rod and reel.

Friday and Saturday evenings will be the entertainment highlight of the show provided by Cross Country Jamboree artists specializing in country and western music.

The Singing Post Family, singer Sheila Schriver, Gene Grills and his Road Ranger, Joey Nicholson and Terry Jackson and his Echo Valley Boys will all be on hand.

Topping off this talented cast will be Donald Poitier, international step dancing champion.

For those who want to see the rugged Bancroft scenery from the air, daily airplane rides will be offered.

Admission for the Gemboree is $1 for adults on Thursday and Wednesday and $1.50 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Children under 12 are admitted free. Young people 12 - 16 will be admitted for .50 cents on Tuesday and Wednesday and for 75 cents on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Tickets are good for the entire day and free parking is available on the grounds.

Salary Figures Don't Apply Here

Belleville members of Local 1000, Canadian Union of Public Employees, say salary figures being quoted in reports of the union's strike with Ontario Hydro do not apply to this region.

Jim Wiseman, rescue steward at the Dundas Street regional office, said yesterday only seven of the office's 100 CUPE workers make more than $200 a week, while the remainder earn between $100 and $140.

Newspaper reports have placed the current salary range at $163.20 - $234.40.

Mr. Wiseman said each job classification has its own range with most jobs at the Belleville office falling into relatively minor categories.

City Comparisons

It is easy — as Zdenek Kvarda does — to say that the quality of life in Belleville is far superior than it is in Toronto, the former chairman of the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board having lived in both places. But then is there really any comparison between our community of some 34,000 and Toronto with its vast area and two million people? The point could be argued until Lake Ontario becomes entirely free of pollution and particularly when you have a Toronto resident, Gillian Barber, saying she lives in that city because she likes it.

Miss Barber is a research economist with the Ministry of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs and she is the official who wrote Design for Development, Prospects for the Lake Ontario Region which came up for discussion at a public meeting in Belleville recently.

Toronto is one of those places we enjoy visiting but would not like to live there. As a city it is one of the fastest growing on this continent and, many would say, one of the cleanest and safest. Also one of the most interestiig, especially with the increasing cosmopolitanism of recent years.

But more and more too it is suffering from big city growing pains: Industrial and auto exhaust pollution, noise, the concrete jungle that is downtown, a sharp rise in the incidence of crime (including more murders than last year) — these are some of the debit factors in Toronto, as in other cities of its size. For the newcomer it can be a harsh environment, for it is not easy to make friends in the city, let alone the suburbs. Getting to and from work is also an exhausting experience. Probably a lot depends on temperament. If Toronto offers more attractions — we could do with some of its entertainment facilities for example — the very availability of these, as well as the variety of experiences of a city can be distracting. There is so much to choose from and as Montaigne said, "To be everywhere is to be nowhere."

Without going into detail about the merits of Belleville we might conclude that we are here because we are here — and yes, because we like it. For a smaller city Belleville offers a good deal. We have many of the attractions and facilities of the big city with few of its less desirable elements. And we have advantages of location, atmosphere and environment that the big city cannot match.

Bridge Tournament

From the results of the third day of the seven-day international Bridge tournament at the Deauville Casino in France we note that an American pair were in the lead with 24 points, followed by Omar Sharif and Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela, only one point behind. In eighth and last place were Egypt's Omar Sharif. He was in Winnipeg a year or so ago, with several other touring bridge aces. As of now though the suave Hollywood star seems to be having a lean time at the card table.

Holidays at Home

Well that might be all right, but consider for a moment all the exotic places that may be seen relatively close to home: within easy reach of car, train or bus. Here is a sampling from our Coming Events column of trips offered by a local bus company: Historic and scenic trip to Quebec; bus trip to Montreal for doubleheader baseball game; Moosonee excursion and Polar Bear express (train); bus to Stratford Festival; bus trip to Upper Canada Village.

We see other schedules from time to time, offering trips to points farther afield on this continent, but if you want something near at hand these are hard to beat.

The Middle East
With Soviets Gone Will Egypt and Israel Talk Peace?

By JOHN HARRISON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Egypt has been heard in the strange demand for the return of Soviet military specialists from that country. President Anwer Sadat has gone further and said he wants to fire a peaceful, rather than a military solution to the long crisis with Israel.

Now, what of Israel? Such an unanticipated turn of events should not swerve that country from its long-announced promise of meeting the Arab countries face-to-face.

Abba Eban, Israel's articulate foreign minister, has said this is the way to start, in speeches at the United Nations and in the Israeli Knesset (Parliament).

So has Golda Meir. So have many Israelis in government and business.

If Sadat is not engaged in some further mysterious form of manoeuvring, then we might be viewing the preliminaries to the first major break in the Arab-Israeli conflict. And if Sadat means what he says, a peaceful solution to the whole military affairs fighting Israel if war comes again, then the ball is in Israel's court.

The Egyptians will undoubtedly want to talk about lost lands, especially the Sinai peninsula which is a legitimate Egyptian territory. The Israelis will be faced with some severe problems in the area of returning conquered Arab lands. Jerusalem will never be split again between Jordan and Israel.

The Golan Heights will never be returned to Syria and rightly so. From here, Syrian howitzers mercilessly pounded harmless Kibbutzim for years.

The Syrians, not the Egyptians will be the heartless, ruthless bargainers in any future efforts for Arabs and Israelis to sit down at a peace table.

Nor is opinion monolithic in Israel about what to do with the conquered territories.

Other Israelis in the Knesset and the press have also admitted their country must face up to the problem of the Arab refugees, whose plight has been largely responsible for the long Arab-Israeli hatred.

And yet other Israeli voices remind their fellow citizens their country is also Arab.

The Arab lands conquered in the 1967 Six-Day War have added a big Arab population to Israel. Today one out of every four citizens under Israeli rule is Arab.

President Sadat's moves in Egypt, more than Israel's repeated offer to bargain at a peace table (but with all kinds of strings attached), looks like the sort of opener which might lead to joint discussions.

The dramatic irony of Sadat's apparent intentions is that they were planned and executed for the same reason Egypt is at war with Israel — to assuage stirring nationalistic feelings. The Russians were beginning to act like a colonial power in Egypt.

Is President Sadat trying to harness this often-unbridled Egyptian emotionalism in an effort to sit down with Israel and start talking about a peaceful Middle East?

This is the year of the big surprises at the summit — leading off with President Nixon's visit to China, and the de-facto recognition between Arab countries and Israel, the United States does not recognize Communist China. Like the sworn unity between Arab and Israeli neighbors, Nixon had been a Communist-baiter since his days as a junior California politician.

Stranger things than Arab-Israeli peace talks have been in place in 1972. If Egypt's Sadat next says, let's talk peace, will Israel's Golda Meir say yes?

Government Productivity Body's Report Is Criticized

By DON O'HEARN
From The Intelligencer's Queen's Park Bureau

There are a few good things in the most recent report of the committee on government productivity.

COGP is the group which has spent $1.5 million to date (it is still at work) giving government a face-lift.

This report is on "communications and information."

One of the recommendations is that there should be a means for the public to get information quickly from the government. It surveys (?s) for a start there should be a free telephone service from anywhere in the province to Queen's Park.

Another recommendation is that before new publications or information programs (such as television or movies) are given a go-ahead it should be known just what they are supposed to accomplish.

These are good proposals. The telephone services might at first glance seem like an exorbitant expenditure but really it wouldn't cost so much.

The criticism of publications etc. has been needed. There is little apparent value to much of the stuff being put out now, and the total cost is massive.

Some other worthwhile proposals can be dug out of the report. But as a key document on government communications and information it is hopeless. It has neither depth or breadth. There is no discussion at all of what should be communicated and how it should be communicated. There is no apparent appreciation of such problems as the juvenile writing in most government productions and how this might be overcome.

There is evidence throughout of ignorance of the workings of the government.

Item: A few years ago as of lack of Queen's Printer was started. One purpose among others was to get some uniformity in government publications. Many government publications are documents of record. This means they have to be filed on shelves. They refused in size. Try and file them!

It seemed this office was one of the better equipped government had taken. The report recommended it be abolished. The only reason given was it didn't see any need for it.

But the most atrocious short coming was that it didn't discuss the press at all. It had nothing to say.

The daily and weekly press must be the main line of communication of any government. In fact there probably couldn't even be any government per se without it.

The press gallery here reports daily to all except a finite number of the eight million people of the province.

It is really the one channel through which you even know the government is alive. And it is by one article and through which the government can let the public at large know it is alive.

The COGP might have felt not conscious of the press (it wasn't a press news man on the committee). Or it might have been afraid and taken the position that you can't be criticized for what you don't talk about.

Whatever the cause it was an amazing commission and leaves the committee with little credibility.

"Handyman" Course for Girls

From The Stirling News-Argus

Little girls can learn to do anything little boys can do and seven students from Trent University in Peterborough intend to prove it.

Under an $8,000 grant from the federal government's Opportunities for Youth Program, Centre City Girls' Camp is teaching self-sufficiency to 8- to 12-year-old girls in Peterborough's downtown section.

Before the end of the summer the girls will know how to do minor repairs on lamps, toasters and kettles, how to splice plugs, change washers on a leaking tap and unplug stopped-up drains.

They are also learning how to use hammers, wrenches, clamps and safety equipment. Older girls also learn the use of electric drills and lathes as part of an instruction program in carpentry, plumbing and electrical work.

Highlight of the first month long camping session are go-cart races and a fishing derby with the girls making their own rod rods, fishing poles and flies.

The camp is not a complete invasion of male stronghold, however. The kids also participate in more conventional day camp activities including arts, crafts and sports.

Project workers — five girls and two boys — will alternate instruction in shop and home economics.

"Men learn how to fix taps and unplug drains, so why can't women?" says Alix Young, one of the organizers. "We want to show that women can learn to plumb just as well as men."

The kids were really enthusiastic, she says. "For most of them this is the first opportunity they've had to find out what goes on in the shop classes."

Although the concept behind the Centre City program originated with a group of women's liberationists, project workers refute any suggestion they are looking for potential converts.

"We're not going to pound women's lib into their heads," says Alix. "We just want to show them how easy it is to do things for themselves."

Today In History

July 28, 1972 . . .

Austria declared war on Serbia 28 years ago today — in 1914—and the house of cards of European diplomacy collapsed into general war within a few days. The revival of Serbia as a Balkan power was feared by the Austro-Hungarian empire, since many of its subjects were Slavs, as were Serbs, and resented imperial fore on rule. Serbia was backed by Russia, traditional protector of small Slav states, and Austria was backed by the German empire. Although Germany had an army and planned to attack France, the French declared war first because of a treaty obligation to Russia.

1945—The Italian Fascist party was dissolved.

1821—Peru proclaimed its independence.

1750—German composer Johann Sebastian Bach died.

Hitchhiking
OPP Official Thinks It Should Be Prohibited

Cornwall Standard - Freeholder

Communique, the monthly bulletin distributed by the Canadian Automobile Association, warns drivers in its June issue against picking up hitchhikers. And of further interest in this area the man quoted throughout the article is Cpl. A. L. Crego of the Ottawa District 11 detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The article notes that law enforcement officers do not see any merit in hitchhiking, either from the standpoint of the passenger or the driver. And it states that a full accident record meeting the CAA called upon all provincial governments to enact and enforce legislation prohibiting the soliciting of rides while on the travelled portion of a roadway from any driver of a motor vehicle other than a public passenger conveyance.

What is wrong with hitch-hiking?

The obvious answers include the danger of robbery, and of course the danger both ways; the danger of assault and this is particularly true where young girls are concerned; and the danger of accidents (the driver who stops suddenly to pick up a hitch-hiker can cause a chain reaction, rear-end collision unless he is careful, particularly on high-speed routes such as Highway 401.)

In cases where hitchhikers are killed it is often difficult to identify. Few carry identification. Police have referred to records few have been fingerprinted, and dental X-ray plates are rare. And the older source of information.

Despite these shortcomings the number of hitchhikers grows annually. Fortunately the majority of these hitchhikers are of reasonably good character, but for each bad apple there is an increase in the public outcry to stop this practice.

One can only wonder how long it will be before the governments of this country legislate the practice out of existence; or motorists stop it themselves by refusing to heed the call of the thumb.

J. A. Kennedy and the OMB

Ottawa Journal

The most frequent and the most compelling criticism of the Ontario Municipal Board has been that this is an appointed body sitting in judgement upon the decisions of democratically elected council, and often overriding those decisions.

Chairman J.A. Kennedy has given a clear and persuasive reply to that criticism in a committee of the Ontario Legislature on the municipal board.

Mr. Kennedy said this:

"Free democracy is the rule of the majority but the object of democracy is justice. Consequently it must have built-in mechanisms to protect individuals and minorities."

By carring out this philosophy with courage and with wisdom Mr. Kennedy has helped to raise the board from a mere administrative appendage to a kind of court or last resort which enjoys widespread public support and credibility.

The OMB has been the place where decisions of city councils — some hasty; some short-sighted; some unwise — are given sober second thought.

However the checks and procedures which allow the board to assist citizens also apply to routine decisions. These are often delayed unnecessarily at the board level after they have the initial committee on the municipal board — one of three appointed in June — should make recommendations to the government. Simpler methods should be found to deal with budgets and zoning changes where there are no objections. The board should be allowed to concentrate on its arbitrating role.

Japan Plans Weekend Cities

Japan Times Weekly

The construction minister is said to have begun planning work for the development of more than 20 "weekend cities" throughout the country by the year 1985. To be located within easy reach of the cities we live and work in, these would supposedly be ideally planned recreation centres for the 2-days-week, urban workers to retreat to with their families. If all the facilities mentioned are constructed, they would indeed be cities. And what would be the point in trekking to them for an escape from "the" city? That question, we realize, would not have occurred to most of today's determined vacationers, who seek only to get away from where they are. By 1985, the average expectation may be somewhat better, or worse, or it is the environmental deterioration and overcrowding of the present pace — a great deal worse. Anyway, the "weekend cities" look like the faintest of hopeful dream schemes that is not apt to be heard of again.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

July 28, 1952

Jennie Hotson and Mrs. Ridley of St. Mary's have been spending a few days with the Rev. H. Gill Steers and Mrs. Steers, Catherine Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas with Grand and Patsy, of Montreal, spent the weekend with Mr. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Woodman Thomas, Albert St.

Charlotte McGrath has returned to work at the Northern electric after spending a nine-day vacation at one of New England's finest resorts, Kennebank Beach, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinsear Cross of Nassau, the Bahamas, are the guests of Mr. Cross' aunt, Mrs. T. J. Wilson, George St.

30 YEARS AGO

July 28, 1942

Betty Burgess of Pontiac, Mich., is spending a vacation at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. M. Oliphant, Holloway St.

Catherine Callaghan, nurse-in-training at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto, is spending her vacation at her home on Albert St.

Mrs. Clifford Argue, lead, Mrs. Harold Cross, second, Mrs. J. Scott, vice-skip and Mrs. R. M. Ward, skip, composed a rink from Belleville competing in the tournament of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club. This rink was successful in winning the three games, high. Competition was keen and the hospitality of the Kingston hostesses was much appreciated.

Mrs. Harold Kelleher of Gordon St. has returned to her home after spending the past week visiting friends in Ottawa and Hull.

40 YEARS AGO

July 28, 1932

Introduction of telephones in Belleville. Here is an interesting item from the files at this time in July 1932 — 70 years ago. The speaker had written and printed at the last meeting of the city council to confer with the Bell Telephone Co. with regard to obtaining from the company a bonus for the privilege of supplying telephones to citizens of Belleville, met last night. Mr. C. A. Bogart was present to represent the company. It was decided that the company should pay the city $250 per annum for the privilege of supplying telephones here.

Peter McLaren of Tyendinaga township was selected as the delegate to attend the contest Free Hearings in the elections for the Provincial House, at a meeting held at the Orange Hall. The Liberal leader, Mitchell F. Hepburn, was present.

50 YEARS AGO

July 28, 1922

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Day of Montreal are visiting the parents of the latter at their home on Highland Ave.

Mrs. James Malyea of Windsor is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Lee of Cedar St.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Strachan of Michigan are visiting the brother of the latter, Mr. George St. after an absence of 32 years.

Arthur Northrup was in town today.

9-year-old Drowns In Napanee River

NAPANEE — The swiftly flowing waters of the Napanee River at Springside Park claimed the life of a Kingston child Wednesday.

Sylvia Marie Sagriff, 9, last seen playing while playing with an inner tube at the base of the falls in the town park. Her 13-year-old sister, Dianne screamed for help, but the child was carried into the eddies at the foot of the falls and then about 100 yards down the river.

The girls' father, Elwood Sagriff of 3 Chatham St., Kingston, and his wife, Joyce attempted to save the child, but could not swim against the strong current.

Napanee police and firemen were called to the scene and recovered the body after it was spotted by workmen standing on the roof of Gilbard's Furniture Store beside the river.

Sylvia Marie is survived by her parents, Mr. Sagriff and his first wife, Gertrude, four brothers, Larry, Glenn, Keith and Bryan of Kingston and two sisters, Dianne of Kingston and Karen of Madoc.

Holstein Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Hastings County Holstein Club and the Hastings County Milk Producers are invited to their annual Twilight Meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 1 at the farm of Kenneth S. Thompson and Sons, RR2 Roslin.

The evening's program will include a Holstein judging class and an Ayrshire exhibit both to be under way at 7 p.m.

County dairy princess Susan Rae will be in attendance while speakers will include Jerry Nelson, Holstein fieldman and W. Douglas Tupper, county agricultural representative.

five park reserve areas in the Tweed area according to the 1972 established report released this month.

More than 21,000 acres are held in reserve for development within the next 25 years.

J. W. Fairbairn, director of the parks and recreation branch of the department of natural resources, said development of the parks will occur as the need presents itself.

He told the Toronto Bureau of The Intelligencer some of the reserve areas throughout the province may close in the future as new and better areas become available.

The province has 81 park reserve areas in Ontario. The areas involve a total of 1.2 million acres.

Areas held in reserve in the Tweed area are Frontenac 8,509 acres: McKenzie Lake 3,408 acres: Casey Point 81 acres: Wolfe Island 709 acres and Black Donald 9,841 acres.

Off to See the Swedes

It was an exciting day for Chief Petty Officer Fred Keegan of 6 Holden Street, as he said goodbye to his commanding officer, Cdr. Barry Bergan at the CFB Station Thursday. As a member of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, Quinte Fred was selected one of five Canadian sea cadets to visit Sweden as a guest of that country's navy for two weeks. This summer, 125 cadets exchanged visits with counterparts in the U.S., Great Britain, Belgium, Holland, and West Germany. For the local corps' most senior cadet, Fred joined RCSCC Quinte in 1968, this is his first trip out of Canada.

McGovern Will Stick With Eagleton As V-P

CUSTER, S.D. (Reuter) — Senator George McGovern has decided to ride out the storm surrounding his vice-presidential running mate, Senator Thomas Eagleton, despite mounting pressures to drop a man now admitted to have had three spells in the hospital for nervous exhaustion, sources close to McGovern said today.

The decision followed a fresh accusation—that Eagleton's record included an arrest for driving while under the influence of alcohol—which the senator himself branded a "damnable lie."

McGovern "has confidence in Senator Eagleton," his press secretary Richard Dougherty said Thursday night, asserting "there has been no change in Senator McGovern's position."

McGovern went on to ban all his staff from commenting on the controversy.

The New York Times today joined other newspapers in urging Eagleton to pull out of the Democratic ticket.

The Times said in an editorial: "The only way the campaign can be turned back into a true test of the programs and leadership qualifications of President Nixon and his Democratic rival, Senator McGovern, is through the voluntary withdrawal of Senator Eagleton from the McGovern ticket."

Eagleton's disclosure that he had been in hospital three times for nervous exhaustion and depression raised questions about whether he could withstand the fearful pressures of the presidency," the Times says.

Other newspapers that have called on Eagleton to withdraw include the Washington Post, Baltimore Sun and New York Post. A number of others have praised him for his candor in disclosing the medical history.

The controversy also was reported to have spread dismay among campaign fund-raisers.

Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson alleged Thursday that Eagleton, as he had been arrested in Missouri for drunken driving. The senator, campaigning Hawaii, promptly denied it and said the accusation "reeks of politics."

Eagleton said he was fined $25 for speeding 5 years ago. Alcohol was not involved and he

MCGovern cancelled a news conference on the Eagleton matter. He felt it would be pointless, Dougherty said.

Many McGovern backers feel the burden of explaining Eagleton's health problems could jeopardize the ticket in November.

But on his return to San Francisco today from Honolulu, Eagleton said:

"If people think I am going to drop out of the race they have a big think coming.

"I am not going to quit, and I am going to go be the next vice-president."

In Washington, meanwhile President Nixon told an informal news conference that the question of Eagleton's health would not be raised by him and that he had issued orders that there was to be no comment by his backers, including Vice-President Spiro Agnew.

Housing Survey Begins Today

STIRLING (Special) — The Ontario Housing Corporation will conduct a survey to determine the need and demand for senior citizen housing in the village of Stirling, and the townships of Rawdon, Sidney and Huntingdon.

A research team from the OHC will estimate the number of senior citizens living in the village and townships whose housing is inadequate or beyond their financial capabilities.

The demand in the area for housing on a rent - geared - to - income basis will be determined from information gathered through advertising, direct mail questionnaires and personal interviews.

The study, which begins today, was requested by the councils of Stirling, Rawdon, Sidney and Huntingdon.

It will include an assessment of economic trends, growth factors, and current and future housing needs in the municipality. Interviews will be conducted with such community representatives as municipal officials, businessmen, social and welfare workers and the clergy.

Senior citizens in the village of Stirling and the three townships, Rawdon, Sidney, Huntingdon, will receive letters outlining the government's housing program and asking them if they wish to participate.

Those persons interested in the program but who do not receive the questionnaire may obtain one from the municipal offices.

If the survey shows a need for senior citizens' housing, it will likely be an apartment project. Although consideration is given to one-storey units which do not require stairways. Apartments for couples have a living room, bedroom, bathroom and kitchen. All apartments are equipped with stove and refrigerator. Rent is geared to income and the minimum is $37 a month, including services.

After considering the survey report, Council can initiate the program it outlines by adopting a resolution requesting OHC to go ahead. Capital costs are shared by the Provincial and Federal Governments.

Medical Centre Start Questioned

MADOC (Special) — With five thousand dollars already collected and cheques starting to come in from local organizations, the directors of the Centre Hastings Medical Centre were asking when building would begin at Monday night's meeting.

September first seemed to be a desirable date, but the directors are not making a definite commitment at this time, as tenders have yet to be called and working plans have not been received from the draftsmen. Canvassing is progressing throughout Madoc and the townships; while canvassers are finding some householders on vacation, others are favorably receiving them.

Mixed reaction in the part of the public is being encountered, with some members of the public still feeling that the project should be undertaken by the doctors themselves. The directors, however, are convinced that they are looking ahead and that the benefits to be derived from the Medical Centre far outweigh the adverse reaction that is being encountered.

This week's meeting also worked on the first draft of the charter application and dealt with other legal building and financial matters.

Lightning Strikes Again in Madoc

Damages of undetermined extent resulted to the house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cot Edwards, on Highway 62 south, during Sunday afternoon's thunder storm which hit the area.

The bolt of lightning first struck the tall maple tree at the northwest corner of the house, ripping off a strip of bark about 12 feet long and five inches wide. It then jumped to the house where it ran along the eaves and set fire in the insulation under the roof on the southwest corner of the building.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Edwards and their daughter, Joy, were home at the time. The lightning blew out the electricity and the telephone, so help summoned at a neighbor's home and the local Madoc volunteer fire brigade was called.

With the help of neighbors, the blaze was extinguished before firemen arrived.

Besides a hole in the roof, there was smoke and water damage to the tiled ceilings and walls in two rooms.

This is the third house in the district to be struck during a storm in the past two weeks.

Several trees were also reported to have begn hit during Sunday afternoon's storm.

"RICHARD DAVID BOYD son of Mr. and Mrs. Dawson C. Boyd, RR1 Carrying Place, received his Bachelor of Arts degree, history major, from York University, Toronto. Mr. Boyd is a teacher at Centennial Secondary School.

Family Reunions

HUBBLE CLAN

The annual Hubble clan reunion was held Sunday, July 23 at Zwick's Island with an attendance of 51 members. Relatives were in attendance from Norwood, Marmora, Stirling, Belleville, Frankford, Stockdale, and Foxboro, representing 15 families.

President, Cecil Hubble welcomed the group and Mrs. Percy MacMullin gave the invocation. During the business portion of the gathering, a memorium service was conducted by Mrs. Percy MacMullen was given for all deceased members during the past year. The financial statement and record of last year was given by Mrs. Percy Hubble and Sid Demorest of Marmora gathered the offering.

Prizes were awarded by Mrs. Clifford Hubble. Winners of prizes were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hubble of Belleville, the most recent married couple; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fisher Norwood, who travelled the farthest; Peter Fairman, Campbellford, youngest; Mrs. Everett Hubble, the oldest woman and Percy MacMullen, the oldest man; and Clifford and Mabel Hubble of Frankford with their family of 35 for the largest family present.

Everett Hubble conducted the election of officers as follows: pres. Ormel MacMullen, Belleville: past pres., Cecil Hubble, Foxboro vice-pres., Sid Demorest, Marmora; sec. treas., Mrs. Percy Hubble, Stockdale; asst. sec., Mrs. Harold Johnston, Stirling and prize sec., Mrs. Clifford Hubble, Frankford.

The next annual reunion will be held at Zwick's Island, on the fourth Sunday in July, 1973.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the retired president, Cecil Hubble and the retiring corresponding secretary, Mrs. Arthur Pryor for their assistance during the years. Messages will be sent to Harry Harrington, Frankford and and Douglas Montgomery of Tottenham who are ill.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, the historian reported two deaths two births and four marriages. She also told of the 1971 centennial church service at the Mount Pleasant church cemetery where the Hubble Hill pioneer U.E.L. were honored.

There were three anniversaries celebrated: Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carman, Marmora and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bateman, Stirling.

A tribute was made to the late Lorne and Tuella Hubble of Frankford who sponsored the first reunion in 1950. Tribute was also made to the late Nehemiah Hubble and his wife Lucinda Welton who settled at Hubble Hill in 1784.

Mrs. MacMullen closed with a poem of tribute to the pioneers and displayed several clippings and pictures of events in the past years. Mrs. Percy Hubble voiced a special thanks to the historian. The balance of the afternoon was spent in various activities at the park and reminiscing.

WEDDINGS

PALMATEER — ARMSTRONG

MADOC—St. John's Church Tweed, Ontario, was the scene of the double-ring wedding ceremony Saturday, July 22, 1972, at 2 p.m., when Ena Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Armstrong of Balmoorhen became the bride of George Arthur Palmateer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Palmateer of RR1 Tweed, with Rev. Ian Munroe officiating. Fred Porter provided traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white lace over taffeta, accepted with bell sleeves and scalloped edging. She carried a bouquet of red and white carnations.

Maid of honor, Miss Joan Mofina, wore a floor-length gown of yellow taffeta with white lace and carried yellow and white mums. Senior bridesmaid was Mrs. Betty Allore, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a floor-length gown of blue taffeta under white lace and carried blue and white 'mums. A niece of the bridegroom, Miss Sylvia Anne Allore was junior bridesmaid. She wore a floor-length gown of mauve taffeta covered with white lace, and carried white tinted 'mums.

Miss Gail Armstrong, sister of the bride, as flower girl, wore a floor length gown of white lace over pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink 'mums.

Best man was James Palmateer of Tweed and ushers were Clayton Palmateer and William Palmateer. Ring bearer was Bruce Palmateer, cousin of the bridegroom.

For the reception held at the home of bridegroom's parents in Tweed, the bride and groom received the guests wearing a yellow floor-length gown featuring an empire waistline in white lace and carrying a white clutch purse. A corsage of red roses complemented her ensemble. Assisting the bridegroom's mother wore a pink ruffled dress and carried a white clutch purse with a corsage of deep pink roses.

For the wedding trip to the East Coast and Newfoundland the bride donned a beige dress trimmed with orange buttons and a large bow. A white straw purse and shoes were tinted with orange completed her outfit.

Upon their return the couple will reside at Tweed.

MR. AND MRS. TIMOTHY DORAN

Doran — Byman

Saint Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough was the scene of the July 22 wedding ceremony of Elizabeth Carol Byman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Byman, Peterborough and Timothy Michael Doran, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Doran, Belleville. Rev. Father G. Leahy officiated while Terry Finn was the organist.

The bride given in marriage by her father chose a floor length white suede satin A-line gown with a hooded French chantilly lace coat. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white baby 'mums and baby's breath completed by yellow ribbons.

Bridesmaids, Miss Susan Reid of Fenelon Falls and Mrs. Sharon Woermke of Oshawa were identical gowns to the matron of honor. Their hats and bouquets were also the same.

John Doran of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom was best man. The ushers were Pat Carroll and Pat Kielty both of Toronto, and John Cassidy of Islington.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a long sleeved floor length gown of green floral polyester crepe with yellow accessories. Her dress was complemented by a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses with baby's breath and was trimmed with yellow ribbons.

For the wedding trip to Eastern Ontario, the bride donned a navy ankle length knit skirt with a yellow checked long sleeved knit top with navy and white accessories. A corsage of white baby 'mums completed her outfit.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Doran will reside at 380 Brock St., Peterborough.

Couple Mark 50th Anniversary

STIRLING — Ivanhoe's musical community leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Haggerty, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday with a reception in the Ivanhoe Town Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty were married on January 1, 1922 at the Brighton United Church parsonage. Mrs. Haggerty is the former Molly Tanner. They have resided at Ivanhoe for the past 50 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty have three daughters and a son, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie (Betty) Moore, Fayetteville, Arkansas; Mr. and Mrs. Carl (Jeanne) Blakely, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Russ (Colleen) Langdine, Barrie; and Mrs. Glen Haggerty, Georgetown. All were present for the afternoon and evening reception. Mr. Haggerty's sister, Mrs. Alice Murray, New Westminister, B.C. was also present for the celebration.

White Lake United Church Women's Auxiliary convened the tea with Mrs. Goldie McInroy, hostess.

During the afternoon reception, Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty were presented with a color television by their family. The Ivanhoe community presented them with a gold bed spread and a pair of drapes. White Lake United Church WA presented Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty with wall plaques.

A short program was presented during the evening with family and community members presenting a number of songs. Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty on their 50th wedding anniversary by Harry Lovebond on behalf of the Ivanhoe community members.

Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty spoke briefly and concluded with a couple of songs with Mrs. Haggerty at the piano.

Mrs. Haggerty has played the organ at White Lake United Church for 45 years. She started playing in churches at an early age. At one of her first church organs, she was so small she couldn't touch the pedals. It ended with her playing and someone else pumping the organ. She played the piano with the Charlie Kammer Band from Belleville for four or five years.

The bride of 50 years plays the piano and organ at many, if not all community events, including showers, weddings, and other socials. Mr. Haggerty, a World War I veteran, is a member of the Madoc Legion and a member of the Huntingdon Veterans Club. Retired for a number of years, he still loves to linger with old cars and engines.

Guests present at the afternoon and evening reception were from Peterborough, Arkansas, Minnesing, Barrie, Port Hope, Georgetown, Stirling, Harold and Madoc.

Ann Landers

Shoplifter Needs Counselling

Dear Ann Landers: I am a teen-age shoplifter, I am neither proud nor ashamed of it. I shoplift because I can't afford to buy the things I need.

I always carry money with me so, if I'm caught, I can swear I forgot to pay. I stick to what story and nobody can prove otherwise.

I've done a lot of shoplifting but I only work the stores that leave merchandise out on tables, racks, in open display cases or, worst of all, right by the exits. I also enjoy working the stores where the salespeople are dull or lazy or don't like to wait on teen-agers.

Once in a while, just for kicks, I like to steal from stores with sophisticated security systems, loads of mirrors, house detectives and electronic devices. It's fun to outsmart them, and I've done it often.

I do not steal from stores where the help is pleasant and the people act like they trust you. There is no fun in it. In fact, it would make me ashamed of myself, as if I had betrayed a friend.

I hope the store owners who read this will see what I am getting at. I'm not trying to justify my stealing. I'm just trying to show them how they are cut down on their shoplifting losses. Thanks for your time. — Ann — Petty Larceni in Marion, Ohio

Dear Petty: You start out by saying you shoplift because you can't afford to buy the things you need. In the next sentence you say you carry enough money to pay for the merchandise in case you get caught — which is evidence that you CAN afford to buy it, so stop kidding yourself, Bub.

You shoplift because you are an emotionally disturbed kid who is trying to get even with somebody for something. The store represents the unloving parent or teacher or an unresponsive friend. You are stealing because you feel that somebody, somewhere has withheld something from you. The proof that this theory is correct is the fact that you don't steal from stores where the salespeople are trusting and friendly.

You realize, of course, that one of these days you're going to get caught, and your alibi won't work. Suddenly your whole life will be different. You'll have a police record that will dog you to your dying day. My advice is to quit while luck is still with you and get some counselling. You're sick in the head, kid, even though you write a good letter.

Dear Ann: During the fourteen months I've been married I have always called my in-laws Mr. and Mrs. Smith. I finally decided that since they call me by my first name that I should be able to call them by their first names.

The other day, I made the leap and called my mother-in-law "Mary." She was visibly annoyed and said, "Why don't you call me Mother?" I replied, "I call my mother Mother and it would be hard for me to call anyone else Mother." She shot back, "Fine. Then please call me Mrs. Smith."

I replied, "In that case, please call ME Mrs. Smith also."

Now she is upset and so is my husband. I think this is unfair. I, since we are all over 21. What are your feelings about it, Ann?

— Fair Is Fair

Dear Fair: Never mind MY feelings. It's how your mother-in-law feels that counts and obviously she does not want you to call her by her first name. So, go back to calling her Mrs. Smith, and hopefully she will go back to YOUR first name, or the relationship is in trouble.

Successful Living

Ten Commandments for Volunteers

By DORIS CLARK

This guide for volunteers, formulated by Dr. Daniel Thursz, University of Maryland's School of Social Work, has been inserted into the U.S. Congressional record of by Representative Keith G. Sebelius, who noted that the volunteer worker "is the backbone of most organizations."

1. Understand the job you undertake.

2. Accept training appreciatively, and contribute your own experience.

3. Match your interests to the needs about you and the job.

4. Serve faithfully, and report new insights about your work.

5. Discover its meaning to the total program of which it is a part.

6. Open yourself to opportunities for growth in skill, sympathy, self-confidence and responsibility.

7. Value your special two-way role as community interpreter.

8. Contribute to supervision by self-evaluation and a willingness to ask.

9. Give loyalty to your institution and its program.

10. Take pride in the volunteer's career. It pays handsomely in treasures of the spirit. — John Milton Magazine.

Dear Doris: I am 45, my husband 57. He has to be placed in a home since he is partly mental and cannot be helped. I am lonesome and would like other male friends but refuse invitations because think it is wrong while he is still here.

If he is placed in a home would I be declared free after a certain length of time? The whole situation is getting on my nerves. We have had no relationships for three years as he is just not a man any more. I feel very left out and disappointed. — Any Hope?

Dear Any: While a marriage still cannot be dissolved because of mental illness, marriage breakdown constitutes adequate grounds after a separation of five years. But no one is going to declare you free; you do have to take steps towards a legal divorce.

There is provision for divorce after a three-year separation, but not in your case, because both parties must agree to the divorce; and a mentally incompetent partner cannot form intention to separation and divorce.

Dear Doris: I'd like to get even one of the Children's Story books that the lady was offering in your column; they were 40 to 50 years old. — E. E. S.

Dear J. E. S.: I'm getting to feel worse and worse. The lady who wrote in first, is doubtless receiving the books by now. She had grandsons and daughters and I believe they would be very well used.

But since then I have had a shower of requests for the books and I just wish I could fill every one. I'd like to suggest that all of you start a trend by getting to your favorite bookstore and laying in a stock of children's stories. Children need to be read to. This is the way to start book lovers on the path to a lifetime of reading.

I've told you about my niece Lynnie, who used to sit completely immersed in a book, with the television going full tilt in front of her and the other children avidly following Wild West Willy or reasonable facsimile.

Mirror of Your Mind

by JOHN CONNELL

Do good drivers ignore close calls?

NO; they say a little prayer of thanks as they vow to be a little more alert. In addition, a good driver, when he has a near accident, will review the case to see if he was at fault, of course. But more than that, he will go back over his recent experience to see if he has had any other close calls. Perhaps there is a pattern of near-accidents that indicates he is not the driver he thinks he is.

Is a child mean to mistreat a pet?

NO; at least he was not born that way. Nor should a parent let the child continue to mistreat a dog, cat or other pet. The first thing parent should do is keep the pet away from the child. Next, find out why the child is acting that way. He could be trying to tell them he feels deprived of love or he may believe he needs to dominate a creature more helpless than he because he himself feels so powerless.

Can a couple enjoy 'co-existence'?

IF that means can a husband and wife be happily married though each of them has his and her own separate worlds, the answer must be no. Independence is one thing that no husband or wife need give up; but if a husband, say, revels in the feeling that he could enjoy whatever he is doing—with no thought of the love that should "tie it all together"—he is obviously married for some reason other than to make a life with his wife.

Rock Group Is PM's Favorite

Crowbar to Perform Here

A rock group that causes vibrations at Ottawa's 24 Sussex Drive must have more going for it than mere musicianship. It needs such essentials as a shag carpeted tour bus, Captain Canada T-shirts and a million dollar album.

A six-man ensemble from Hamilton known as Crowbar presented these credentials to the prime minister's household and was eagerly accepted. Margaret Trudeau has called them her favorite group and the prime minister made the official presentation of Crowbar's first gold record.

With such illustrious support the group's Belleville debut on Sunday, Aug. 6, should be a resounding success, political affiliations notwithstanding.

Crowbar is another product of the musical genius of Rompin' Ronnie Hawkins, the Toronto rock and roller who moulded, among others, The Band into one of pop music's most respected sounds.

A few years ago Crowbar decided to go it alone, and they haven't looked back since. Their last album, Larger Than Life, was recorded live at Massey Hall and has grossed more than $1 million, qualifying it for gold record status.

But Crowbar is better appreciated in person than on record. How else could an audience experience subtleties of artists with names like Ghetto, Kelly Jay and Rheal?

"We've always having a party," says Kelly Jay Fordham, the group's lead singer and spokesman. "We're spontaneous whether we're rehearsing or jamming because we know about one another."

The party aspect applies to more than just the group's stage life. The entire band, along with families and friends, live together in a 150-year-old residence called Bad Manors.

On the road, they travel aboard a $20,000 bus crammed to the roof with roadmen, sound equipment, Tiffany lamps and a red-pink shag carpet.

Crowbar began its two-month tour in Nanaimo, B.C., and will hit centres across Canada en route to Halifax. Accompanying them at Belleville Memorial Arena will be a Toronto band, Leigh Ashford. The show begins at 8:30 p.m.

Rumors had been floating around that The Guess Who from Winnipeg would appear here August 6 but necessary arrangements failed to materialize.

Crowbar plans to hold an autograph session the same day between 3-4 p.m. at the Muntz Centre on Front St. to promote their latest album, Heavy Duty. With a federal election in the offing, maybe they want to secure another Ottawa invitation while their fans are still in office.

Portnoy A Film Loser

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When the sex-dominated best-seller Portnoy's Complaint was bought for filming, many people asked: "How on earth can they make a movie out of it?"

Badly, replied many reviewers who have seen the finished product.

Although explicit sex is avoided, the film contains so many dirty words and so little cleverness that the critics panned it.

Portnoy's Complaint demonstrates the perils of trying to make hit movies out of best-selling novels. One producer, who preferred to remain anonymous, remarked:

"If such a book is so difficult to adapt, then why do film makers persist?

"It's simple," the producer said. "Portnoy's Complaint was a famous, even notorious book. You don't have to sell the idea to the public; they know about it already. Audiences no longer go to see stars, they're drawn by the film subject and how it is treated. When you've got a pre-sold property, half your battle is won.

"The other, most important half is making a good picture. The combination of perfectly fitting halves was demonstrated with The Godfather. It was a pre-sold property, having been read by millions of persons. It also was turned into a superlative film, and thus is on its way to becoming the top money-making movie of all time.

Paramount also tried to make millions from Catch 22. Joseph Heller's anti-war best seller. The film failed. Why?

"It was a brave effor," says novelist and screen writer William Peter Blatty. "But the trouble is that much of Catch 22 is imagined in the mind of the reader. That's extremely difficult to capture on the screen."

Another producer, screen writer and novelist, Hal Kanter, agrees that converting a best seller to the screen is perilous:

"Novels are much like the old days of radio, which was the theatre of the mind. Readers imagine the events of the novel and they cast the roles in their own minds. They are often upset when the events and the roles turn out differently in the movie."

There have been successes from best sellers: Gone with the Wind, Giant, To Kill a Mockingbird, Grapes of Wrath, Rebecca, True Grit, Dr. Zhivago, From Here to Eternity, The Asphalt Jungle, Far Whom the Bell Tolls, Exodus.

But recent film history is littered with failures from best-selling novels The Old Man and the Sea, A Death in the Family, The Adventurers, The Group, The Arrangement, The American Dream, The Fixer, Youngblood Hawke, Hurry Sundown and The Love Machine.

A Lot Of Eggs

LONDON (Reuter) — London's Comedy Theatre has used a lot of eggs during the last six years.

The gallivanting gourmet who stars in There's a Girl in My Soup has made 2,500 omelettes on stage during the play's record-breaking run.

Tonight, the curtain falls for the last time on the production which enters the record books as the longest-running comedy in the history of British theatre.

It was seen by 1,750,000 persons and earned its backers $1 million in profits.

On the fashion front, it also established a couple of records —two of its girl stars were the first to wear the mini-skirt and hotpants on the London stage.

There's a Girl in My Soup's fame has not been confined to London. The comedy, which tells the tale of a middle-aged cookery writer whose sophisticated Casanova veneer is stripped away by a young girl, has been seen in 19 other countries.

A film, which starred Peter Sellers and Goldie Hawn, was at one stage being shown at a London cinema next door to the theatre. But the play's publicity agents said business continued to boom.

Now, after a surprising 2,547 performances and six years later the run ends.

Rocket, Cheevers Add Names to WHA Team Roster

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The World Hockey Association has landed its second 500-goal man.

After 12 years away from the game, Maurice Richard will confine his activities to the role of Quebec Nordiques to the bench, until the three-coach, Bobby Hull, who will continue to play his regular shifts on left wing for Winnipeg Jets.

Thursday's announcement that the Rocket will make his coaching debut with Les Nordiques gives the fledgling WHA two of the highest goal-scorers in Hull, who has 507 in National Hockey League and Richard, with—544. Only Gordie Howe, now a vice-president with Detroit Red Wings of the NHL, is ahead of them with 786.

Thursday was a big day for the new league. Eastbound Crusaders announced the signing of goaltender Gerry Cheevers, of the Stanley Cup champion Boston Bruins and Gary Young, general manager of the NHL's California Golden Seals said the Crusaders also had grabbed Paul Shmyr, one of his defencemen.

Meanwhile Boston defence-man Ted Green signed with New England Whalers. Philadelphia Blazers announced the signing of no less than 19 players from minor pro and amateur ranks and Winnipeg added two minor-leaguers to its roster.

A third Bruin, centre Derek Sanderson, was given until next Wednesday to consider a $2.5 million offer from the Blazers.

The departure of Cheevers to the Whalers created a third vacancy on the 35-man roster of Team Canada, the all-star NHL team which will play an eight-game series against Russia in September.

Automatically barred by a requirement that all team members sign an NHL contract before reporting to the Canadian training camp, Cheevers joined Hull and Montreal Canadiens defenceman J. C. Tremblay, who has signed with Les Nordiques, on the ineligible list. If Sanderson signs with the Blazers, he will make a fourth.

Hull's former employer, Bill Wirtz of Chicago Black Hawks, said he is confident that Team Canada will find competent replacements.

Cheevers, a 31-year-old native of St. Catharines, Ont., who had been with the Boston organization since 1955, had said earlier he planned to stay with the Bruins. But he told a news conference Thursday he accepted the Cleveland offer "for the security of my family."

Green joins a solid New England defence corps that includes Brad Selwood and Rick Ley from Toronto Maple Leafs and Jim Dorey from New York Rangers.

The hard-rock Winnipeg native, who came back last year from a head injury that had apparently ended his career, was originally chosen by the Jets in the WHA draft but negotiated his release to join the Whalers.

The loss of Shmyr, who played for the Seals last winter from Chicago, was conceded by Young although the Canadien's have not yet announced his signing. The California general manager said Cleveland offered the 25-year-old defenceman $150,000 for two years as against a counter-offer of $81,000 a year from Seals owner Charles O. Finley.

The return of Richard to the game he dominated for most of his 18 years with the Canadiens was widely expected after he appeared at a news conference last week to announce Tremblay's signing with Les Nordiques.

A tempestuous right winger in his playing days, his recent hockey had been confined to old-timers' games and occasional refereeing assignments in exhibition games.

Les Nordiques also announced that the Rocket will coach an all-star WHA team which is expected to play an exhibition game against the Canadian all-star squad, current world amateur champions, next January.

Centre Cal Swenson, a 26-goal man with Tulsa Oilers of the Central League last season, and defencemen Larry Caddis, a two-year pro from Cincinnati Swords of the American Hockey League, were the two new Winnipeg recruits.

The Blazers, while awaiting Sanderson's decision, scooped up their 19 players from the American and Western leagues and amateur ranks.

Sanderson's lawyer, Bob Woolf, described their offer as distinctly fantastic" and former Bruin Johnny McKenzie, the team's newly-signed player-coach, said his old team-mate would be "insane" to turn it down.

Cowboys Favored Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Nebraska's Bob Devaney will try to conquer his Cornhusker coaching magic, which produced two straight national collegiate titles, against the heavily-favored Dallas Cowboys in the 39th All-Star Football Game tonight.

The National Football League champion Cowboys, making their first start since their 24-3 Super Bowl conquest of the Miami Dolphins, are rated almost a three-touchdown favorite in the Soldier Field contest, which will be televised nationally ABC-TV at 8 p.m. EDT.

Devaney, first college head coach to direct the All-Stars since 1954, has a spirited collegiate squad, bulwarked with his entire Cornhusker coaching staff and a flock of 1971 Nebraska stars, headed by quarterback Jerry Tagge.

For the last three weeks, Devaney has conducted a no-non-sense camp at Northwestern and directed his hand-picked squad to impressive game-type scrimmage victories over the Chicago Bears and St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach Tom Landry of the Roger Staubach-led Cowboys is wary about the fact that Devaney has not only one, but two of his own Cornhusker quarterbacks—including the former star as Tagge's backup—to run his Nebraska I formation.

The pros should be favorites, but this should be an interesting game," said Landry, whose attack will bombard the All-Stars with Staubach's passing to such skilled receivers as Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth, and the running of Duane Thomas, Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison.

Nicklaus Injured

Jack Nicklaus displays a heavily bandaged infected forefinger as he talks on the telephone Wednesday with his wife, from his Columbus, Ohio hospital room. Nicklaus is uncertain whether the infection will be cured in time for him to enter the PGA Team Championship at Ligonier, Pa., Thursday. The infection came from a manic ure. (AP Wirephoto)

Vets Happy in Two Ball Tourney

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Veterans Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody had the lead, Arnold Palmer had a satisfied look and Bert Yancey a warning going into today's second round in the $200,000 Professional Golfers Association National Team Golf Championship.

"If we played that good with a double bogey, I think we're going to Hip it up," Yancey said after he and partner Tom Weiskopf posted an eight-under-par 63-despite a double bogey 6-in Thursday's first round.

"We're going to be tough," said Yancey, winner of the American Golf Classic, last stop on the tour.

Aaron, a drawling veteran of 12 years on the pro tour, and Coody, a former Masters champion now in his 10th season, blended their talents almost perfectly for a leading 62 in the opening round of this 72-hole competition in which scoring is based on the better ball of each two-man team.

Palmer, meanwhile, got help on at least four holes from youthful partner Jack Lewis who was rung in at the last minute for Jack Nicklaus, who had combined with Palmer to win the last two team titles on the 7,045-yard, par 71 Laurel Valley Golf Club course. He had to withdraw after undergoing minor surgery on his infected right index finger Tuesday.

"He did fine, just fine," Palmer said of his partner after he and Lewis, an obscure 23-year-old who went to Wake Forest on an Arnold Palmer scholarship, had posted a 66, five under par. They were among the 10 teams tied for fifth and the last of 36 qualifiers.

Among the big bunch tied with Palmer and Lewis at 66 were brothers Dave and Mike Hill and the uncle-nephew team of Sam and J. C. Snead. Pro Masters champions Bobby Nichols and George Archer, along with South African Gary Player and Bob Rosburg were in another large group at 67.

But British Open champ Lee Trevino and former PGA titleholder Ray Floyd, among the favorites when Nicklaus had to pull out, had their problems. They could do no better than match par 71 and must improve if they are to survive the cut for the final two rounds.

Basketball Leagues Planning Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Committees of the National and American basketball associations strongly supported Thursday a bill to permit their merger as a means of shoring up the financially-ailing ABA clubs.

A House judiciary subcommittee was urged to approve a bill exempting the merger from monopoly prevention laws.

The proposed merger was opposed by a spokesman for NBA players.

ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph said "ABA clubs since 1967 had aggregate cash losses exceeding $20 million, losses he said, he said, to teams folding in Miami and Pittsburgh.

Dolph said that inter-league meetings for players "is destroying professional basketball and disrupting college basketball."

Commissioner Walter Kennedy agreed saying: "The two leagues are destroying each other by the competition for graduating college players."

Thomas H. Kuchel, attorney for the two leagues, and Rep. Jack Brooks, D.-Tex., a sponsor of the bill, told the subcommittee that ABA players favor the merger.

Lawrence Fleisher, lawyer for the NBA Players Association said it would only cut salaries of players in order to make more money for management.

CFL Negotiations Reach Impasse

Montreal (CP) — Negotiations between the Canadian Football League and the players Thursday, but Gerry Patterson, executive director of the association, said the players "aren't talking about a strike."

"With the kind of association we have we talk would be legally dangerous," Patterson said in an interview after the negotiations were suspended.

"But we have several drastic items of action. And the membership has endorsed this.

"For now we just have to wait and see what happens."

No future negotiations were scheduled and CFL commissioner Jake Gaudaur refused to speculate on how the impasse, over financial benefits to the players, could affect the league opener in Hamilton Monday, where the Tiger-Cats are scheduled to welcome Saskatchewan Roughriders.

"My position has been to get the two parties meeting," Gaudaur said. "All I'm empowered to say is that the league is adjourned—there is an impasse.

"I am hoping we can get back to talking soon, but—"

Sam Berger, owner of Montreal Alouettes, said he met with his players for about a half hour Thursday.

"I told them we don't really want to hear about strikes and retirements, and I don't think they do either," Berger said.

"They listened to what I had to say and told me they would have to get together with Patterson and see what the other teams were doing before they could make a decision."

In Toronto, three members of the Argonauts, who asked their identity be withheld said team owner John Bassett told his players any of them who go on voluntary retirement lose the scheduled opening of the CFL season and will never play for the club again.

The players reported on a secret meeting called by Bassett after the club returned from an exhibition game in Montreal. The meeting was held the same two clubs are scheduled to meet in their first game of the season, schedule in Toronto next Thursday.

Patterson said the additional financial inducements sought by the players would work out to about $800 a man, a 37 per cent average CFL salaries. He estimated that meeting the demands would cost each club an extra $25,000 in annual operating costs.

The owners would have you think we are asking for the moon but stop and think about that for a minute," he said.

"We have had 2,156,000 tickets, an all-time record. This year most teams have been sold out for pre-season games. And ticket prices are up in most parks."

He said players in the CFL get $3 a day in training camp, compared with $13 a day plus room and board in the National Football League and $12 a day plus room and board in the National Hockey League.

Patterson said CFL players get nothing for exhibition games, compared with a maximum $1,600 for eight games for players in the NHL.

He said the average salaries last year were $50,000 in the National Basketball Association, $32,000 in the NHL, $11,000 in major league baseball, $18,000 in the NFL, and $14,000 in the CFL.

He said the players association would be willing to settle for a two-year contract and that players asked for $4,000 for the members of the winning Grey Cup team, up from the current $2,000, and $2,000 for the losers up from $1,500.

These figures have been considerably reduced since we started negotiating. We started looking for $1,300 over-all per man increase in benefits and we've cut that down to our present 2000 figure.

Neither Patterson nor Gaudaur disclosed how far from the $800 figure the two sides were, although one source estimated the owners had offered $450.

Smooth Sailing

KENT, Conn. (AP) — The Yale Boat Club four-man crew will be after an Olympic berth when it leads a long list of oarsmen on to Lake Waramaug Aug. 3-5, for the second half of its Olympic rowing trials.

Vesper will be one of 16 four — man shells without coxswain expected to enter the meeting according to Olympic Trials Committee member Hart Perry of Kent School.

Clarke Sails To Lead

SKOVSHOVED, Denmark (CP-Reuter) — John Clarke of Toronto, a member of Canada's Olympic team, took the over-all lead in the Nordic Five class speed skating championships here Thursday when he won the second race of the series.

The third race was abandoned for fog and Thursday's results will not count.

Dr. Clarke now has accumulated only three penalty points, compared with 13½ points against his closest rival, Lennart Gustafson of Sweden.

Green Gaels Still Moving

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa Green Gaels maintained momentum in their Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A quarter-final series Thursday night, defeating Brampton Excelsiors 13-5.

The Green Gaels now lead the best-of-seven series 2-0.

The star of Thursday's game was Oshawa goalkeeper Tom Christie who permitted only one goal in the first two periods and more than redressed the 42-31 shots-on-goal imbalance Oshawa suffered.

The Green Gaels led 4-0 at the end of the first period and 8-1 at the end of the second.

For Brampton Gehenge Connor and Mark Evans had two each. Chuck Williams and Mark McCauley had singles.

The third game of the series will be played tonight in Brampton.

Two Canadian Pitchers Share NL Spotlight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fergie Jenkins and Reggie Cleveland, a couple of Canadian-born pitchers, shared the National League spotlight Thursday night but a Montreal crowd greeted Cleveland's achievements with something less than patriotic fervor.

Jenkins celebrated Whitey Lockman's debut as manager of Chicago Cubs by firing a one-hitter at Philadelphia Phillies for a 4-0 victory in the first game of a doubleheader which the Phils salvaged with a 3-2 decision in the nightcap.

Cleveland, however, picked on Montreal's beloved Expos as he scattered eight hits and gave plenty of support from his Dodgers' three unearned runs, scored on singles by Bill Buckner, Willie Davis and Frank Robinson.

Stamps Just Thankful

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders are thankful the Canadian Football League exhibition schedule just completed doesn't count for points while Toronto Argonauts are just as thankful it counts for season revenue.

The Stampeders, defending Grey Cup champions, emerged from the pre-game pre-season schedule with one of the worst records of the nine CFL teams with only one victory.

The Argos finished fourth best among the nine with two wins, a loss and a tie, but they were leaders at the box office.

A crowd of 32,912 saw Argos in their first home game July 13 and the second game July 19 was a sell-out 33,135, the first-ever sellout for a CFL pre-season contest.

Ottawa Rough Riders, who finished the 1971 season with six wins against eight losses for third place in the Eastern Conference, were the surprise leaders in the exhibition schedule.

The Riders scored three victories, including a 51-7 trouncing of the Argos.

The teams' won-lost-tied and points for and against records:

Alberta Open Tricky

EDMONTON (CP) — A six-under par 207 should be enough to take top prize money of $1,500 in the Alberta open golf championship, says Henry Mac tell, resident pro at the host Highlands Golf Club.

Martell, at Highlands 25 years, says the 6,400-yard, par 71 course is deceiving and plays tougher than it looks.

The three-day, 54-hole tournament opens today with 145 golfers participating.

Martell says Highlands' small greens, usually fast and tricky, should prevent exceptionally low scores.

However, the golfers, blessed by plenty of rain which has softened and slowed the greens this summer, could prove him wrong.

On Wednesday, Dave Shuter of June Beach, Fla., fired a sizzling six-under 65 in practice—only one stroke off the record set by Martell. Three other golfers bowled in 66s during practice.

The 17th hole, a 435-yard par [illegible] left, is expected to be the key to [illegible] ers' areas on both sides of the fairway, and [illegible] each side of the green.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Dave Mackenzie of St. Catharines won the Ontario Junior golf championship Thursday, beating Gerry Getty of Corunna, Ont., in a sudden-death playoff after both finished the regulation 36 holes with 151 totals.

Mackenzie, 18, parred the 337-yard par-four playoff hole while Getty missed a 30-foot putt for a bogey.

Murray McLaren of Woodbridge, Ont., reigning Canadian Juvenile champion, rebounded from an opening 79 to shoot a 74 for a 153 and third place.

Todd Cooke of Windsor, Ont., Alex James of Brougham, Ont., a juvenile, and Glenn Crozier of Weston also qualified for the final.

Don McLean of Brampton, one of the four co-leaders after Wednesday's 72-hole event, was slipped to an 81 to tie with Craig Paterson of Hamilton and Larry Denton of Woodbridge, each with 156.

While James was in contention for the junior title, his worst score was best of the juveniles who were playing simultaneously with the juniors, giving him the juvenile crown.

Ted Pease of London was runner-up in the juvenile division, two strokes back of James but one stroke ahead of Mike Holland of Base Borden.

Jay Evelyn, 13, of Toronto, was the upstart title at nearby Highland Country Club, shooting a 78 for 18 holes. Ed Brown of Chippawa, Ont., was three strokes back and Bill Kuzmich of Sarnia, with 80, was third.

Macenzie, who held a share of the lead after the first 18 holes of junior play Wednesday, shot a one-over-par 72 Thursday despite a front nine 37.

Today, eight golfers who finished behind Mackenzie and Getty for the three remaining spots on the Ontario interprovincials team. Mackenzie, as Ontario champion, is automatically on the team.

Players who qualified for the Ontario team that will play against a similar Quebec team here next month were chosen Thursday. The top five from each age group, are Peter Day of London and Bill Orr of Dundee Bay, both 18; Tom Hodgins of Toronto and Paul Marson of Thunder Bay, both 17; Mike Holland of Base Borden and Dave Hanson of St. Catharines, both 16; John Emerson of Leamington and Pat Pearson of Guelph, both 15, and Bob Phillips of Jackson's Point and Brian Jurnicki of Sudbury, both 14.

Makeup of the Williamson Cup squad that will compete against several United States teams in August at Alexandria, Va., is Dave Walker of Donalda, Richard Soja of Lookout Point, Al Baudour of Oshawa and Sandy Billyard, also of Lookout Point.

Players for the Williamson team and the Ontario team meeting Quebec were chosen from the ranks of players competing in the Ontario championship who did not qualify for the Ontario interprovincial team.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nikki Pilic defeated Rod Laver in straight sets Thursday to gain the quarter-finals of the $50,000 Pro Classic at Louisville.

The Yugoslav overcame back from a 5-3 deficit to win the first set 7-6, and pocketed three straight games in the second set to a final 6-3 win.

Pilic will meet Britain's Mark Cox in a quarter-final match today.

FERGUSON JENKINS

team-mates in an easy 8-2 verdict for St. Louis Cardinals.

Jenkins, who fanned 11, was in a bind with Pittsburgh, winning 1-0 in 10 innings and losing 7-5, to remain 3½ games behind the Pirates in the East Division. Jenkinson of the Reds edged San Diego Padres 8-2 and Los Angeles Dodgers downed Houston Astros 6-3 while Atlanta Braves and San Francisco Giants were rained out.

A soft liner by Willie Montanez that fell into short centre field in the fourth inning for a double was the only safety off Jenkinson as the tall right-hander from Chatham, Ont., picked up his 13th victory against nine defeats.

"When they drop in, they're flat," Jenkins shrugged. "They made a good effort, to catch it. I'm dismayed that Jenkins. "If I knew then what I know now, what Keister, who replaced into centre, vainly chasing Montanez' hit, "I would have dived."

Lockman's fortunes as Leo Durocher's successor didn't last long. In the second contest, Greg Luzinski hit a two-run, game-tying triple in the 10th inning and John Bateman singled home the winner in the ninth for the Phils.

Cleveland had few problems limiting his record to 12-5 against the Expos.

The native of Swift Current, Sask., was breezing after the Cardinals erupted for five runs in the third inning to hand rookie Balor Moore his fifth loss in seven decisions. Cleveland struck out four and walked two.

Jenkinson struck out four in the fourth and eighth innings.

Jon Matlack blanked the Pirates with a four-hitter and finally got the run he needed on Wayne Garrett's sacrifice fly in the 10th for the Mets' opening-game victory. But Willie Stargell and Jackie Serrandell drove in two runs apiece as Pittsburgh recovered its collective batting eye in the finale.

Cincinnati, reeling off its 11th victory in 13 games, erupted for four runs in the first inning on two-run doubles by Johnny Bench and Tony Perez and Darrel Chaney added a two-run homer in his first of the season. In the seventh inning against the Padres as the Reds widened their West Division lead over Houston to eleven games.

The Astros, dropping their eighth game in 11, helped defeat themselves with a pair of miscues in the 24th inning-errors that gave the Dodgers their victory.

New York Rejects Still Throwing Smoke

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nolan Ryan and Stan Bahnsen, two pitchers sent packing by New York teams last winter, came within four outs of baseball immortality Thursday night but had to settle for one victory and one defeat.

Ryan, California's smoke-throwing fast-baller, lost his no-hit bid on Larry Biittner's two-out double in the eighth inning and finished with a two-hit, 14-strikeout 5-0 triumph over Texas Rangers.

Bahnsen was locked in a scoreless struggle with Kansas City's Roger Nelson until the eighth, when a walk and two-out singles by Nelson, Cookie Rojas and Steve Hovley sparked the Royals to a 3-0 decision over Chicago in the second game of a doubleheader. After the White Sox took the opener 7-3.

Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers took two from Milwaukee Brewers 8-3 and 8-5, Cleveland Indians edged Baltimore Orioles 4-2, Oakland A's nipped Minnesota Twins 4-3 and New York Yankees downed Boston White Sox 6-2.

"It was the first time in my life I felt I had a shot at a no-hitter," said Ryan. "It was the longest I've ever gone without a hit. Biittner hit an outside fast ball. I can't second-guess myself. I threw what I wanted to and where I wanted to. He just beat me."

Ryan, provided all the offense Ryan needed in the first inning when Billy Parker, just recalled from the minors, tagged loser Mike Paul for a two-run single. Ryan doubled across the final run in the seventh.

Dick Allen smashed his 22nd and 24th home runs in Chicago's first-game triumph over Kansas City, tying Cincinnati's Johnny Bench for the major league lead and helping White Sox to his 16th victory despite a two-run homer by Hovley in the first inning.

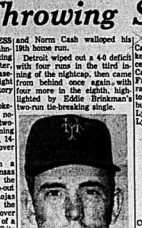
While ex-Yankee Bahnsen was blanking the Royals hitless for seven innings in the nightcap, both teammates drove home single run in the seventh.

Dick Allen smashed his 22nd and 24th home runs in Chicago's first-game triumph over Kansas City, tying Cincinnati's Johnny Bench for the major league lead and helping White Sox to his 16th victory despite a two-run homer by Hovley in the first inning.

While ex-Yankee Bahnsen was blanking the Royals hitless for seven innings in the nightcap, both teammates drove home single run in the seventh.

Detroit wiped out a 4-0 deficit with four runs in the third inning of the nightcap, then came from behind once again with four more in the eighth, highlighted by Eddie Brinkman's two-run tie-breaking single.

Bobby Murcer and Johnny Callison homered for the Yankees against Boston, with Murcer driving in three runs and Callison two. Winning pitcher Fritz Peterson started a two-run rally that put New York in front to stay with a fifth-inning single but needed help from Sparky Lyle in the seventh. It was Lyle's 20th save.



NOLAN RYAN

Cleveland took a 2-0 lead against Baltimore's Pat Dobson in the first inning on John Lowenstein's bases-loaded single but trailed 3-2 in the sixth. With one out, though, Frank Duffy singled and pinch hitter Tom McCraw slammed a two-run homer.

Oakland's Vida Blue displayed his 1971 form for eight innings before Rollie Fingers needed help from Rollie Fingers in the ninth after Cesar Tovar doubled, Steve Braun singled and Harmon Killebrew homered.

Scenery Isn't Pretty

The Corbyville tykes might be trying a change of scenery next after their change of names failed to get them a win in Belleville Minor Baseball action last night.

Now the A and B Precast Tykes, they fell to Hastings Caretaking Services 19-14 in the only tyke game of the night.

In a bantam game Golden Mile equalled CJBQ in hits but fell well short in runs dropping a 14-4 decision.

The Mile managed 14 hits but could only push across the four runs while CJBQ managed their run total on an identical 14 hit count. Mark Soule had two doubles and a single and Rick Culkin a double and single for the winners. Brian Turner blasted a homer and two singles in a losing cause.

Two heads were better than three for Plane's Concrete tadpoles when they stopped Crawford Metals 5-1.

Pull Van Lanteren and Brian Conkright combined for 20 strikeouts on the Plane's mound to outduel Rory MacLeod, Steve Molaski and Chris Radway, Alma Crawford moundsmen.

In another tadpole contest the Kinsmen used triples from T. Powell and M. O'Neill to double the score on Cablevue 6-3.

In a pair of peewee division games Foster's edged Motorland Chrysler 14-12 and the Legion chipped Gagne Masonry 13-5.

Juniors Score, But Fall Short

Ken DeMille finally gave up some earned runs, but that was all he was giving away as he hurled Rollins Construction to a 5-3 Commercial Softball League win over the Ellis Juniors Thursday.

The former Picton ace checked the Juniors on three hits to record the Rollins' 10th consecutive win of the season. Their opponents have now dropped all 20 of their Commercial league starts.

Wayne Andrews, John Romano and Bob Kerr combined to produce three runs in an eight frame with consecutive singles. They were the only hits of the game off DeMille and the first earned runs that he has given up this year. He struck out seven batters and did not walk a man.

Ron Hill went the distance for the losers, giving up four runs in the opening frame on an error, singles by Ralph Plane and Paul Goodfellow and a fielder's choice.

Ralph Boomhower led the seven-hit attack against Hill with a triple and single while the other Rollins safeties went to Plane (2), Carl Boomhower, Goodfellow and Steve Ling. The Ellis hurler fanned two batters and walked the same number.

Ellis Jrs.	000 003 0	3	2
Rollins	400 010 x	5	6

In the other half of a double-header, Globe Hotel sprang a 3-1 surprise on Devolin Motors.

Bill Harrison scattered nine hits throughout the Devolin lineup to lead the fifth-place Hotelmen to their win. He lost his shutout bid in the seventh when Doug Olsen's single drove in the lone Devolin run.

Two runs in the fifth pinned the loss on Jamie Hunter as singles by Ted Walkworth and Gary Johnson keyed the Globe rally.

Harrison struck out six batters and issued one walk, while Hunter fanned five batsmen than his opponent and had the same walk total.

Walkworth and Johnson had two hits each for the winners with Bill Dewey adding a double. For Devolin it was Jim Horwood, Marv Stacey, Olsen and Rick Rosebush with two hits each and Vern Whalen with a single.

DeMille Builds Win

Ken Demille was doing a little construction of his own in Commercial Softball action Thursday night moulding his tenth win of the season for Rollins Construction. His 5-3 verdict over the Juniors marked the first time he has allowed an earned run this season but he still came up with the Construction's 19th straight victory.

Lacrosse Teams Two-for-Two

Belleville was two for two in a pair of exhibition lacrosse games last night and while the novices were battling to the wire the peewees were having an enjoyable time.

Robert Soule fired two goals and Jamie Forester one as the novices recorded a hard earned 3-2 win over Picton.

B. Bruce had both tallies for the losers.

Dan Duffy had four goals for the winners with Doug Rainbolt, Steve Ling, Gerry Healy and Jeff Runciman scored single markers for the home team.

No Resting!

Turcotte Heating are learning there is no resting on past laurels when the play-offs roll around — and learning the hard way.

The second place Heaters dropped a 22 - 17 game to Quinte Feed in one half of last night's Girls Minor Softball junior playdowns.

WIN YOUR REAL THING
Trips! Trinkets! Cash! COKE!
Trade Mark Reg.
CONTEST WINNERS
of Trips, Trinkets, Cash and COKE continue to pour in (Over 16,500 Winners to Date)

- The excitement continues to mount as thousands across Canada win prizes in the "Win Your Real Thing" contest. Bottlers of Coca-Cola are reporting more and more winners of Trinkets, Cash, and COKE . . . and many big trip winners.

To date, 13 lucky people have won these exciting trips for two:

NAME	ADDRESS	TRIP
Mr. Elmer Lastiuka	Calgary, Alberta	San Francisco
Mr. Barry Stuart	Toronto, Ontario	Madrid
Mrs. Phyllis Turner	Winnipeg, Manitoba	San Francisco
Mr. Wyclitte Rideout	Toronto, Ontario	Miami
Mr. Rene Beaulieu	Toronto, Ontario	Mexico
Mrs. Gladys Kazuk	Toronto, Ontario	London
Mr. Germain Lemoine	Sorel, Quebec	Mexico
Miss Des Neges Morin	St. Jerome, Quebec	Mexico
Mr. Gordon P. Skoumose	Medicine Hat, Alberta	Vienna
Mr. A. Bertrand	Hamilton, Ontario	Madrid
Dr. Frank Bromstead	Chapleau, Ontario	Tokyo
Mr. Marc Dufour	Sillery, Quebec	Barbados
Mrs. Alma Bergeron	St. Catharines, Ontario	Hawaii

Across Canada some 2,500 trinkets have been won so far, ranging from footballs to Hibachi grills to radio/record players, transistor radios, and beach pants.

Over 2,000 have won cash prizes from $10 to $100.

More than 12,000 people have each won a case of Coke. So look for bottles of Coca-Cola with "Win Your Real Thing" marked on the top of the cap.

Contest closes July 31, 1972

Contest entries must be received by August 31, 1972.

It's the real thing. Coke.

Both Coca-Cola and Coke are registered trade marks which identify only the product of Coca-Cola Ltd.

INDIAN HUNTING GROUNDS AND GOLD MINE COUNTRY

Shawano is a Canadian Heritage. One of the few unspoiled places remaining in Southern Ontario it offers year-round vacation living in a truly unique setting. The 1,200 acre tract encompasses four lovely lakes and lush hardwood forests where wildlife range freely. Centuries before the arrival of European settlers, Ojibway tribes hunted and fished the area, which was acquired for its beauty. A century later, nothing has changed except plumbing and wiring. Shawano is only 75 miles northeast of Peterborough in the Highlands of Hastings. If you've a sense of history, Shawano is your kind of place. Bringing TV to the Arctic

Bringing TV to North

When the Canadian telecommunications satellite Anik 1 goes into operation January 1 after six months of testing in orbit, communities in the Arctic will be able to see live television for the first time. Map shows northern communities which will receive television via Anik 1 and the locations of the satellite's control centres and television network receivers.

Anik, to be launched from Cape Kennedy in November on a Thor-Delta three-stage rocket, will also provide telephone and radio communications across Canada. (CP Newsmap)

Release Is Puzzle To Bales

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Dalton Bales said he will review the circumstances under which three suspected drug traffickers were freed by a judge who claimed the new federal bail law gave him no grounds for ordering them held.

Mr. Bales said Thursday night in an interview that the seven-month-old Bail Reform Act did not remove the discretion Judges always have had in dealing with applications from people wanting to go free pending their trials.

For that reason, he said, he was puzzled by press reports of Provincial Judge Michael Corsyn's action in releasing the three women suspects, one of whom had been arrested in bail.

He said he was not criticizing Judge Corsyn because he had not yet fully understand what had gone on.

At the bail hearing Wednesday Judge Corsyn said it was "pitiful to go again and again on bail" but the new level set gave him no authority to hold Catherine Hallowes, 35, Barbara Craig, 20, and Wendy Powers, 26. It was Catherine Hollaway's fifth release.

All are facing trial on several charges of trafficking in marijuana, amphetamine, the Speed drug, and possession of stolen goods.

Meanwhile, Judge C. O. Bick, Metropolitan Toronto police commission chairman, said Thursday the new bail act is being abused and should be redesigned to plug loopholes which allow people to be released again and again.

He said the bill may be good in principle, but it was not designed to allow people to get out eight or nine times.

The new act prevents a court from remanding someone in custody unless the judge feels the person will not appear in court hearing or he feels the person is dangerous to society.

Expulsion from Egypt Major Russian Setback

CAIRO (Reuter) — Egypt's decision to end the massive Soviet military presence here ranked as a major diplomatic setback for the Russians.

Although the Egyptian government has taken pains to emphasize that its 15-year friendship treaty with the Soviet Union continues, the move is bound to have long standing implications for Moscow's entire foreign policy.

The Russians have poured arms, men and know-how into Egypt on a scale never before accorded to a non-Communist country.

They built the $750 million Aswan high dam to regulate the Nile. The 11-year prestige project was personally dedicated by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, in the presence of Soviet head of state Nikolai Podgorny a year ago January.

Soviet technicians now are working on the construction of a giant iron and steel development at Helwan, near Cairo.

It is not yet clear how much Soviet aid will continue to flow to Egypt, but projects like Helwan are expected to go on, despite Sadat's shock announcement on July 18.

Mohammed Zayyat, Egypt's minister of state for information, has said that Egypt hopes Soviet arms supplies will continue, as well as deliveries of spare parts for existing Soviet-built Mirage planes.

The Egyptian-Soviet rift is reported to have come to a head in June as a result of a meeting between Sadat, President Muammar Kaddafi of Libya and President Hafez el Assad of Syria at the Egyptian coastal town of Mersa Matruh.

Kaddafi, who has adopted an anti-Soviet stance in the past, is said to have expressed interest in looking around the Soviet naval installations at Mersa Matruh.

The Russians are reported to have declined, and even when Sadat wanted to visit the installations it was apparently suggested to him that a fancy visit could be arranged.

Sadat, it is reported, angrily insisted and was finally allowed in.

Although the Egyptian leadership has denied that there have been any secret negotiations with the U.S., persistent reports overseas have suggested such an initiative is under way.

After the Gulf state of Kuwait was visited recently by U.S. State Secretary William Rogers, authoritative sources there said that contacts were going on between Washington and Cairo and that a possible Middle East solution was closer.

The Beirut weekly magazine Usbuat Al Arabi reported that a meeting last month in Washington between President Nixon and the Saudi Arabian defence minister had helped pave the way for the Egyptian decision to oust the Russians.

The White House said there was no substance in the report, which suggested Nixon had told Sadat the minister that, if the Soviet advisers left Egypt, the U.S. would be ready to sell the Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

SELECT COMMITTEE ON LAND DRAINAGE

By resolution of the Legislature of Ontario a select committee was appointed on June 29, 1972 to examine, study and inquire into the following matters regarding land drainage in Ontario:

(1) The objectives of land drainage as an agricultural practice and the benefits to be derived from such practice.

(2) The associated problems of competing land use in the main fringe and in wetlands, as influenced by land drainage projects.

(3) The problem of public interest in land use over the drainage of private lands by individuals.

(4) The prior evaluation of the benefits and costs of a drainage project.

(5) An evaluation of the petition procedure for initiating a drainage project.

(6) A review of the construction improvement and maintenance procedures under "The Drainage Act" in achieving the objectives.

(7) A review of the appeal procedures under "The Drainage Act".

(8) A review of the financial procedures and assistance under "The Drainage Act" and other drainage programs.

(9) A study of the costs of land drainage and what influences such costs and how they may be reduced, i.e. engineering costs, etc.

(10) An evaluation of construction practices in general and erosion and weed control in drainage ditches in details.

(11) A review of the administrative practices and methods in carrying out responsibility under "The Drainage Act".

After due study and consideration to recommend such changes in the laws, procedures and practices as in the opinion of the committee may be necessary and desirable.

The Committee has the intention of visiting all areas in the Province and to hold public hearings on the questions associated with the above terms of reference.

This therefore, is to invite all interested parties, individuals or otherwise, to indicate to the Committee, by August 15, 1972 their intention to submit written briefs or their desire to attend the hearings and make oral representations.

The response to this invitation will determine the times and places of hearings. A written notice setting out the time and place of the public hearings will be given as soon as possible to all persons who have filed notice of intention to make written or oral submissions.

Food Reserves Are Not Large

LONDON (CP) — Britain's limited economy, nearly strangled by shipping disruptions in two world wars, again faces the threat of gradual industrial paralysis and food shortages this time caused by a national dock strike."

But, for the moment, say industrial leaders and government officials, life will continue fairly normally for the country's 55 million consumers.

Much depends on imports for just over 50 per cent of its food. The strike today means that the bulk of these imports cannot be unloaded at British ports.

Officials in the agriculture department are rapidly trying to determine the size of the existing food stocks and the length of time these will last.

Figures are scarce so far. But there now are 90,000 tons of butter in stock, for example. This is consumed at a rate of well over 10,000 tons a week.

Thus, even allowing for the 18 per cent of this stock which is produced in British Isles, it could conceivably be depleted in a little over four months. Some sorts of rationing would likely be introduced before the stocks ran out.

"There's just no question that a strike like this raises enormous problems in the area of food, we're all right for the moment but things may get worse relatively quickly," said an agriculture department spokesman.

With beef and veal, there are only 17,500 tons in stock and the average weekly consumption is 14,000 tons.

The offsetting factor here is that the British produce almost 70 per cent of their own beef. "But even so, you can see how long our stock will last," said the spokesman.

The department of trade and industry has not yet been able to determine how soon industry may be forced to reduce production because of its inability to obtain needed imports.

One source said it was likely that large automotive firms such as British Leyland or Ford, for example, have built some stocks in case of a strike.

But a spokesman for the Confederation of British Industry said it is "surprising how many of our members simply didn't prepare for this emergency."

"Make no mistake about it," he added, "there will most certainly be a gradual and general slowdown in production unless the strike is settled within, say, a month."

A new way to really get your mail moving: Postal Codes.

If you haven't already received it, in the next few days you'll be getting your new Postal Code in the mail. It's not very exciting to look at. But it is very necessary. And it's really not as complicated as it looks.

After two years of studying the systems of most of the countries of the world, here's how we developed Postal Codes for Canada.

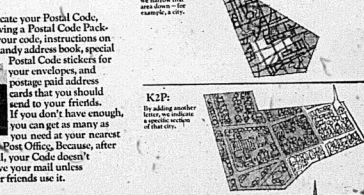
To uncomplicate your Postal Code, you will be receiving a Postal Code Package. It contains your code, instructions on how to use it, a handy address book, special

Postal Code stickers for your envelopes, and postage paid address cards that you should send to your friends. If you don't have enough, you can get as many as you need at your nearest Post Office. Because, after all, your Code doesn't move your mail unless your friends use it.

And if you haven't received your Code by July 31st, please call your local Post Office. We will mail it to you immediately. It is possible however, that you are not in the EASTERN ONTARIO POSTAL DISTRICT, in which case your area may not have been coded yet.

Get the habit.



K:
Canada was first divided into 18 large areas, each designated by a letter.

K2:
By adding a number, we narrow that area down — for example, a city.

K2P:
By adding another letter, we identify a specific section of that city.

K2P 0P4:
And by adding three more characters that sections of the city is further narrowed to one side of a street between two intersections.

Codes can also represent: — an office building with 10 or more companies. — or a company that receives large volumes of mail. — or an apartment building with over 50 units.
Only in less densely populated areas, a code will represent the whole town.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

Saturday, July 29

Aries (March 21-April 19): Those you care about seem determined not to go along with your ideas. Avoid pulling fishing touches on neglected projects.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Go gently on your way amongst your own. Being sensitive is the prevailing tendency of all for the moment. Taking sides doesn't help.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Expecting sympathy gets you nowhere. Others are full of their plans and are resistant to progress. Think for yourself.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Response may not be as demonstrative as you'd like, but it's there for you if you will let your loved ones know how you feel.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Exact accounting and a tighter budget are in order, as emotional distract you somewhat from plans. Get your weekend chores done.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Letting well enough alone is a fine art, particularly in working out personal collaboration. Failure of agreement must run its course.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be willing to carry a little more than your end of group movements, or to let them rest while you take care of yourself for a while.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Impose on yourself a bit of personal austerity to preserve resources and energy for a better future. Outside co-operation is useful.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): People's sensitivity may be in part a response to your own doings—have a look, see how you appear to others. Arguments run in circles.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Getting your homework done and done well brings more and ultimately better results than any other course of action taken now.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Avoid speculation. Compromise between your plans and those of others shouldn't include participation in anything you don't believe in.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 29): Quiet self-possession prevails, the sounder individual guiding the confused or side-tracked through a time of stress.

Humidifier Dust Helps Pollute Air

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter urged me to buy a humidifier type humidifier for use in my bedroom. She has one in each of her children's rooms (age 1 and 3).

The instructions state: "In highly mineralized water areas a white dust may form on furniture. This can be wiped away with a cloth. To avoid this, use distilled water."

We are in a hard-water area, and the powder that forms from just one night's use is really amazing, and purchasing distilled water would be prohibitive.

I am constantly worrying what this white dust might do to our health. We use the humidifier only at night.—Mrs. R. R. J.

The "white dust," since it comes from ordinary drinking water, cannot be called poisonous. All the same, it is dust, and with all our air pollution, there certainly is no point in adding any more dust to it. It's thus much more pollution to irritate the respiratory system.

One question: Is the cost of distilled water a real "prohibitive" as you think? If I were you, I'd do some investigating. So far as that goes, it wouldn't be difficult to rig up a simple apparatus so you could make your own distilled water at home.

An alternative might be to rig some sort of a cloth drapecheese cloth, perhaps—to see whether that wouldn't trap the dust but let the water vapor get through.

You didn't explain why you need a humidifier except that your daughter urged you to get one. If you don't have a real humidity problem, I wouldn't run the risk of breaking any excess dust.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please give a simple yes or no to a question: Can a person develop a sinus condition in a period of months? —B. B.

Can? Yes.

Infection in the sinuses related to obstruction from a crooked septum, polyp, concussion from allergy or other irritants (fumes or dust) can cause gradual development of sinusitis.

But acute sinus infection may develop rapidly, as from a severe cold.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have stretch marks that aren't very big but are very visible. I'm not sure what caused them, but I think it is from gaining weight and then losing it fast. I gained about 30 pounds and then went on a crash diet and lost 25 pounds quickly.

Most of the marks are on my hips and thighs. Is there any way I can get rid of them? I haven't been pregnant, so it isn't that.—D. BI

It's the gaining, not the losing, that causes stretch marks. Some folks have skin that is subject to stretch marks; others have skins that will stand much more stretching without damaging the fibres below the surface. That's what stretch marks are—the places where fibres have been put under too much strain. It happened before you lost that 25 pounds, but you didn't notice it promptly.

The marks usually are highly colored at first, but the color fades. The bad news is that I know of nothing that will get rid of the marks, but when the color has faded, they aren't as noticeable as the possessor usually thinks.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is salmonella in any way related to venereal disease?—Mrs. L. M.

No. Decidedly not.

Bidding Quiz

Partner bids Three Notrump. Each player passes. Neither side vulnerable. What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ AQJ962 ♥ QJ84 ♦ 2 ♣ QJ74
2. ♠ AQJ9 ♥ J ♦ AQJ ♣ AKJ83
3. ♠ AK ♥ KQ4 ♦ KQJ3 ♣ AK54
4. ♠ AK ♥ KQ4 ♦ KQJ3 ♣ AK54

1. Six spades. There is no way to counter this aboid scientifically; the best you can do is take a shot at what you think you can make. Three notrump normally indicates a balanced hand containing 25 to 27 honbard points. Consequently, a spade slam is almost a certainty. Even a grand slam could be done if partner lied exactly the right cards, but it would be foolish to take a blind shot at it. Partner could not possibly bother from holding seven over six, but in practice he almost invariably passes.

2. Pass. Here there is little prospect of game and the only real problem is whether to pass or bid four spades. Four spades, properly conceived, would require a genius to play at that spot rather than three notrump and would not succeed a show.

A pass would probably work out best in the long run, since the combined high-card holding is likely to be from 29 to 30 points and it is hard to conceive of partner's going down at three notrump with that many points. In spades, there is a chance of running into a foul trump division. There is furthermore the practical consideration that partner may incorrectly bid again over four spades, which could lead to a troublesome contract. Finally, there is a good chance partner has four aces, and 150 points for honors are not to be sneezed at.

3. Six notrump. This hand is surely unimpressive standing by itself, but opposite a three notrump opening it assumes high stature. The probable combined point count comes to 33 to 35, and a small slam is far nractical purposes certain. Hands of this type illustrate the great value of point count in assessing the value of the responding hand.

4. Four notrump. This is simply a raise in notrump and has nothing to do with Blackwood. You are not in position to judge how many tricks can be made, and you therefore invite partner to go on with more than 25 points and to pass if he is at the bottom of the notrump range for a three notrump bid.

Tomorrow: Tactics.

Stanfield Spends Busy Day Non-campaigning in North

NORTH BAY (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield ended a lengthy day of low-key non-campaign campaigning in this Ontario city of 48,000 Thursday, refuting techniques he'll use on similar tours this summer and later in the expected federal election.

His seven-hour stop here was crammed with television appearances, a reception and a leisurely walk down Main Street.

Earlier, he hopped by helicop-

Man Complained Policemen Injured Him

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Three persons told a coroner's jury Thursday they saw Chilcotin Indian Fred Quilt in pain the night of Nov. 28, the date members of his family allege Mr. Quilt was jumped on by an RCMP officer.

Percy Jeff, his wife Joana and daughter Mary Billy, 13, testified they heard Mr. Quilt say police were responsible for his injury. They said Mr. Quilt was taken to their home on the Anahim Reserve, near Alexis Creek, B.C., on Nov. 28 and remained there until the following evening.

Mary Billy said she found Mr. Quilt standing near her house, looking ill and groaning. "He said the police jumped up and down on him."

She said Mr. Quilt walked to the house, where her mother took him by the arm and helped him inside.

Mrs. Billy said Mr. Quilt could hardly walk when he arrived. She quoted him as saying, "It really hurts; why didn't they kill me in the first place?"

Mr. Jeff said Mr. Quilt looked pale, was complaining about pain and "kept saying that the policeman hurt him." He said Mr. Quilt normally wasn't the type for complaining.

New Skin Disease

OTTAWA (CP) — Twelve cases of a new and unusual skin infection have been identified in Manitoba and the federal health department has approved an $18,200 public health grant to find out more about the problem.

The grant has been made to Dr. Chun-yang Hsu and Dr. Emanuel Snell of the Manitoba health department and Dr. E. S. Hershfield of the D. A. Stewart Centre in Winnipeg.

The department, in a news release Thursday, said the cases "may represent a new disease entity" and referred to the condition as a "leprosy-like skin infection."

Dr. Hsu, in a telephone interview from Winnipeg, said the disease definitely is not leprosy but "an atypical mycobacterial skin infection."

When the first case was discovered, it was wrongly believed to be leprosy.

Speed Payment

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government is changing its system of Ontario Health Insurance Plan payments to doctors to provide speedier remuneration, E. Fetherston, executive director of OHIP, said Thursday.

The slow payment system has resulted in hardship for several clinics which say they have had to borrow money to keep operating.

Lead in Bridge

DEUVILLE, France (Reuter) — Eric Murray and Samuel Kehella of Toronto tightened their grip on the bridge Tournament of Champions, Thursday, leading the field with 40 points when they beat Peter Leventis and Harold August of the United States 9-1, Terence Reese and Jeremy Flint of Britain moved into second place.

Oops!

The police department's safety van blushingly failed a department of transport safety test.

A department official said an emergency-brake defect will be repaired immediately.

The two-year-old vehicle is used to transport equipment used in teaching traffic safety to city children.

End Credit

TORONTO (CP) — The $100-a-year tax credit the city extends to elderly homeowners will be halved next year by provincial legislation, Provincial Treasurer Darcy McKeough said Thursday.

In a letter received by the city's committee on urban renewal, housing, fire and legislation, Mr. McKeough said the government will introduce a bill to repeal the legislation that permits municipalities to extend tax credits. The repeal will be expected to become effective Jan. 1, 1973.

ter into seven farming communities down the Ottawa Valley, greeting about 1,200 people with similar speeches stressing the values of rural life.

"We tend to get hypnotized by big cities and urban development," he told friendly groups of about 150 each, in Pakenham, White Lake, Douglas, Cobden, Forester's Falls, Beachburg and Westmeath.

But governments "must not forget the small communities."

It was the second day of a three-day swing through rain-soaked Eastern Ontario and the format changed only slightly from a trip through farm communities north of Toronto earlier this month.

Next week, he will continue his efforts to get a "better feel" of the country in a six-day swing through southern Ontario.

He repeatedly reminded audiences that his trips through Ontario do not mean he regards it as the sole place worth a little get-campaign work.

He made his way along North Bay's sidewalks chatting with whoever came along, politely asking if he could "say hello," as he approached them with an outstretched hand.

Canada's Airlines In Good Shape

OTTAWA (CP) — The air transport industry is in better shape in Canada than it is in the U.S., says John R. Belcher, a member of the Canadian transport commission.

Mr. Belcher, retiring as chairman of the commission's air transport committee at 69, suggested that careful regulation in Canada may be one reason for this.

He said in a recent interview that despite the ills of the air transport business throughout the world, Canadian carriers are managing to get ahead.

Over-capacity—too many carriers and too many aircraft—is hurting the U.S. industry, he said. This had happened for a variety of reasons but Canadian regulators had attempted to ensure the Canadian market was not over-burdened.

He will be succeeded as chairman by Jacques Guilbault, transport commissioner since 1968.

Bombed Snakes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A man who said he made fire bombs to kill snakes was given a four-year suspended jail sentence and fined $1,500 Thursday by a federal judge who said using the bombs on the reptiles "would be like shooting rabbits with a cannon." Charles Lee Chosewood III of Melbourne was arrested June 2, after firemen who extinguished a blaze at his home found several bombs made fire bombs in the house.

Merit Pay Out

TORONTO (CP) — Secondary school teachers in Toronto have turned down, by a vote of 1,652 to 365, an offer from the board of education for a system of merit pay.

The plan would have given 75 per cent of applicants with five years' experience payments of $250 to $300 a year. Instead, the bonuses of $100 a year. The option was set out in their last contract.

Toll Break

OTTAWA (CP) — Big container shippers using the St. Lawrence seaway got a break in new toll regulations effective Thursday on the inland waterway.

The weight of containers 640 cubic feet or larger will no longer be counted in assessing cargo weight for toll purposes, the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority announced Thursday.

Man Killed

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — James Ralph Dorey, 51, of Kingston, father of Jim Dorey, newly-assigned World Hockey Association player, was killed in a two-car accident 15 miles east of Kingston. Police said Mr. Dorey's car went out of control on a curve on Highway 2, struck guardrails, and hit an eastbound car.

Resume Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiators for 11,700 Ontario Hydro employees accepted an invitation Thursday from the utility's bargaining committee to resume talks Tuesday.

The two sides have not bargained since June 20 when the employees, members of Local 1000, Canadian Union of Public Employees, were legally able to strike.

More Canadians

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian citizens made up 37 per cent of all teachers appointed to the full-time staffs of Canadian universities and colleges in 1971-72, an increase of two per cent from the previous year, Statistics Canada reported Thursday.

Woman Caught

KINGSTON (CP) — A female convict from Kingston's federal Prison for Women who escaped about noon Thursday was captured early today in a local bedroom and returned to the institution.

Sandra Ogdeana, 24, of Vancouver was recognized by a person who telephoned police. She offered no resistance.

Lin Piao Died Last Fall

PARIS (Reuter) — A Chinese embassy spokesman said here today that Lin Piao, former Peking defence minister, was killed in a plane crash in Mongolia last September.

The spokesman was asked about newspaper reports to this effect. He replied: "Yes, I confirm these reports."

He declined to give any further details.

There have been persistent reports that Lin Piao, 64, successor-designate to Chairman Mao Tse-tung, had been killed in an air crash Sept. 13 while fleeing the country in the wake of an attempted coup.

Pictures 'Fantastic'

OTTAWA (CP) — A top Canadian scientist Thursday described as "fantastic" the first pictures of Canada taken by the U.S. seven-ton earth resources technology satellite.

Dr. Lawrence Morley, director of the Canada centre for remote sensing, said the pictures snapped over Labrador and the Sept.-Iles, Que., on Wednesday were better in quality and "in every possible way" than Canada or NASA (the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration) had expected. He was commenting on the phonyreplys after presenting copies to Communications Minister Robert Stanbury here.

Bail-jumper Now Refugee

MONTREAL (CP) — Richard Bizier, who jumped bail here in 1968 while facing charges stemming from a riot, has refugee status in France, but the Montreal police department and the Canadian government disagree on whether he is a fugitive from Canadian justice.

The Canadian embassy in Paris and a spokesman for the external affairs department at Ottawa say there are no charges pending against Bizier, 27.

But police here say a warrant for his arrest is outstanding. It was issued when he jumped bail in 1968 while awaiting trial on charges of disturbing the peace and participating in a riot.

The embassy said Wednesday all charges against Bizier have been dropped and the granting of refugee status is "strange" and unnecessary.

Kidnapped

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The socially-prominent wife of H. C. Piper, millionaire head of a brokerage and investment firm, has been kidnapped from her home, the FBI says.

Authorities said two men wearing masks and gloves entered the Piper home in suburban Orono shortly after noon Thursday, handcuffed Mrs. Piper and tied up two housekeepers.

It took the servants about an hour to get free and notify authorities.

New Border Building

Newly completed Canadian customs and immigration plaza on Hill Island, Ontario, enroute across the 1000 Islands Bridge, was built by the Bridge Authority at a cost of $800,000. The complex replaces the original building erected in 1938, planned to accommodate a maximum of 400,000 vehicles. In the fiscal year ending March 1, 1972 traffic across the bridge totalled 1,277,156 vehicles.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Gold issues led advances, as prices in most major sectors of the Toronto stock market moved higher in moderate mid-morning trading today.

The industrial index rose .46 to 204.56, golds 6.13 to 222.08, base metals .04 to 62.61 and western oils .22 to 236.34.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 538,000 shares, compared with 619,000 at the same time Thursday.

Advances held a moderate margin over declines 126 to 98, with 189 issues unchanged.

Beverage, communication, general manufacturing and pipeline issues headed advances while merchandising, industrial mining and utility stocks moved lower.

Ford of Canada gained 2½ to $26, Falconbridge 1¼ to $59½, Dome Mines 2 to $78½, Moore 1¼ to $47¾, Baker-Gooderham ¾ to $44½, and Westcoast Transmission ¾ to $27¼.

Dominion climbed ¾ to $15¼, Famour Porcupine 25 cents to $3.65, Dickenson 15 cents to $3.00, Upper Canada Mines 15 cents to $2.80 and Pan Ocean to $13¾.

Great Lakes Power dropped ⅛ to $19, Shell Canada to $45¾, Naylar ¼ to 25¼ and Bardec Farms five cents to $1.20.

A six-day rally had ended Thursday as prices in most sectors closed lower in moderate trade.

Fischer Impressive In His Fourth Win

REYKJAVIK (AP) — Bobby Fischer's chances of winning the world chess crown looked better and better today after Soviet champion Boris Spassky conceded the eighth game in 37 moves. The score now is 5-3 in Fischer's favor, and he needs only 7½ more points to clinch the title. Spassky needs another nine to retain it.

"Fischer is again showing the tremendous force that ruthlessly swept aside Mark Taimanov, Bent Larsen and Tigran Petrosian in previous matches," international grandmaster Isaac Kashdan said in an analysis of the match.

"Based on this game Spassky seems demoralized and unable to cope with the incisive accuracy of his opponent. Barring a complete reversal of form, Fischer's lead is likely to increase."

The ninth game is set for Sunday.

Thursday's game was Spassky's fourth loss in the series, while Fischer has lost only one game and forfeited one.

Some expert said Spassky played like a child Thursday, and one, grandmaster Miguel Najdorf of Argentina, commented: "This is not champion chess."

Fischer's rooks pursued Spassky's king relentlessly. When the game ended after nearly four hours, the Russian's pawns were scattered hopelessly.

Britain's Housewives Stockpiling Food

Food Costs Climb

MONTREAL (CP) — An increase in coffee prices announced Thursday is just the beginning of a pattern which will raise the cost of food to "disturbing high levels" in September, a chain store spokesman says.

General Foods Ltd. announced the price of its ground coffee will increase immediately by 12 to 18 cents a pound, while soluble coffee will cost 1% to two cents an ounce more. Increases were blamed on recent frost damage to coffee bushes in Brazil.

Jack Levine, executive vice-president of retailing for Steinberg's Ltd., said his chain is awaiting word from the Canadian Manufacturers Association before announcing price changes.

Meanwhile, "we are getting a lot of increases. All Kellogg's cereals and tomato ketchup went up this week. Tinned tomatoes and tomato juice will follow.

"This is the first indication of what is to come.

Louis Paulini, vice-president of National House Coffee Ltd., which supplies coffee to major hotels and restaurants, said his firm has informed customers coffee will cost seven cents more a pound effective Monday. Current price is $1.13 a pound.

Other increases will result in an over-all jump of 22 cents by December, he added.

Dock Strike Blamed

LONDON (CP) — Britain's housewives went on a food-buying spree today, stocking larders to cushion against the effects of the national dock strike that has paralysed the country's ports.

Thousands of families ignored government assurances that adequate food supplies will be available for the foreseeable future.

The rush on food followed the strike by 42,000 dockers Friday in support of demands for more job security and higher severance pay. A long strike would quickly halt imports as well as other essential maritime freight movements.

Cautioning against panic buying, Agriculture Minister James Prior said Friday: "There is plenty of food in the shops and a lot more in reserve. With very few exceptions, like imported fruit, there is no reason anyone should not be able to buy their usual food at the usual prices."

Prices already were reported edging upward, however, in some parts of the country.

Britain's major ports were idle today with no end in sight to the complex dispute between dock workers and harbor employers.

Union-management talks resumed Friday but observers could see no solution emerging until late next week at the earliest.

The ports have been idle since July 21, when men walked out in sympathy with five longshoremen jailed for disregarding an industrial court ruling to stop picketing container depots.

The unofficial strikes spread to other ports and at one time perhaps as many as 100,000 men were off work. The five dockers were released on Wednesday and for a few hours it looked as though the labor crisis might be ending.

But on Thursday wharfside delegates voted for an official strike), rejecting a new deal for longshoremen recommended by their union.

With emergency talks on the crisis set for Monday between dock employers and union representatives, the government was quietly making plans to introduce a state of emergency to cope with a protracted stoppage.

Dockland militancy also has focused on the government's controversial new anti-strike law which resulted in the five longshoremen being jailed for five days.

About 200 ships lined up outside ports waiting to unload cargoes.

There's No Beef

There's no need to beef about the corner grocery being a vanishing enterprise. Its staying power is guaranteed by a unique feature — personalized consumer attention, says butcher-storekeeper Tom Irvin. Now ready to retire, he speaks from long experience. For details, see Page 3.

Up From The Ashes

Tyendinaga Mohawks have sound reasons for feeling winners like Jim Lofft. A year ago their community hall burned down. Now, spanking new structure has been raised from the ashes with federal help—and cash raised by Mohawks themselves, led by fund committee headed by Mr. Loft. For story, see Page 2.

Enclaves Ordered Down

BELFAST (AP) — The prospects of a British Army invasion of Protestant and Roman Catholic "no-go" areas in Londonderry and Belfast were heightened today after a warning from British administrator William Whitelaw that all barricades in the cities must be torn down.

Whitelaw said on Irish television Friday night: "I hope people will take these barricades down themselves, but if they do not, the security forces will have to do so to stop the killing and maiming of innocent women and children."

The British minister provided the firmest indication yet that he is no longer prepared to tolerate either Protestant or Catholic "no-go" enclaves where troops are unable to patrol.

Speculation that one of the first barricade-smashing operations would be directed at the Irish Republican Army "no-go" strongholds in Londonderry's Bogside and Creggan quarters has been spurred by a sudden upsurge in the army's strength in the north.

Another 4,000 troops, many of them veterans in Northern Ireland guerrilla fighting were brought into Ulster Friday to boost troop level to a record 21,000 men.

British officials said openly the reinforcements were ordered to intensify the crackdown on the IRA in the wake of the guerrillas' bomb blitz on Belfast eight days ago. The attack took nine lives and left 130 injured.

Whitelaw said on television that the army required access to all parts of Northern Ireland to stop these inhuman killings" and that barricades no longer could be allowed.

Western Union Drops Singing

NEW YORK (Reuters) — Thirty-one years ago Friday, a Western Union operator named Lucille Lipps called Rudy Vallee on his 22nd birthday and sang Happy Birthday to him over the telephone.

Sometime in December another operator will sing the same refrain and a quaint, although somewhat silly, bit of Americana will vanish into the past.

"People aren't asking for the service anymore," said Kenneth Mau, a spokesman for W u n Union. "And we're having trouble getting operators to do the singing."

Ransom Sought

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The millionaire husband of a kidnap victim is appealing to her abductors to contact him and promises to co-operate with their demands.

Authorities declined to reveal the exact amount sought in the ransom note left by the two men who took Virginia Piper, 49, from her home Thursday and tied up two female housekeepers. An FBI agent said the figure was "about $1 million" and a Hennipen County official said it was "close to a million."

TV Censorship Said 'Insane'

MADISON, Me. (AP) — Actor Robert Stack, who once starred in a violent television series, says modern television censorship is "insane" in its attitude toward violence and is driving the American public from its living rooms to even worse films at corner movie theatres.

"The tighter TV becomes, the looser motion pictures will be," Stack said in an interview here. Stack said he believes as anti-violence forces push against television, "the more Godfathers we're going to get."

"The Godfather is a very dangerous show," Stack said. "There's an implied empathy—people root for the criminal."

"You can't tell any kind of a story on commercial TV except Alice in Wonderland," he said. "It's insanity."

Stelco Dispute Settled

HAMILTON (CP) — Employees of the giant Steel Co. of Canada ignored plant stewards Friday and cast a 65-per-cent vote in favor of a new three-year contract with the company.

Although the leadership of the United Steelworkers of America, Local 1005, urged the 12,000 union members to accept management's offer, Hamilton plant stewards had turned down the agreement at a pre-vote meeting Thursday.

Option Offered

TORONTO (CP) — Ivor McGowan, labor relations adviser for Toronto Western Hospital, said Friday if pickets "cost it" negotiations may reopen with employees, despite dismissal of 350 striking workers.

Mr. McGowan made the statement after meeting with William Dickie, assistant deputy minister of labor, and George Miller, counsel for the Canadian Union of General Employees, which represents non-medical workers at the hospital.

News Briefs

Dike Damage Minor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. intelligence report says bombs have hit 12 places in North Vietnam's dike network but "the damage is minor."

The state department released the eight-page Intelligence finding Friday in a follow-up to President Nixon's denial of Hanoi's charges that the United States is deliberately trying to knock out the vital water-control system in the Red River Delta.

Eagleton Future In Doubt

CUSTER, S.D. (CP) — Senator Thomas Eagleton's future as the Democratic candidate for vice-president appeared to be in serious doubt today, but presidential nominee George McGovern said any decision would be made by the two candidates together.

The South Dakota senator, meanwhile, prepared to leave his vacation spot near here today to fly from Rapid City to Mitchell, his boyhood home, and Aberdeen, for a speech to the state Democratic convention. He then planned to return to Washington.

McGovern said in an interview Friday night that both he and Eagleton are deliberating "over the proper course." Earlier, McGovern had expressed "1,000 per cent" support for his running mate, who has disclosed that on three occasions between 1960 and 1966 he was in hospital for nervous exhaustion."

Any decision about Eagleton's future, McGovern said outside his cabin at his nearby Sylvan Lake retreat, won't be made "without his concurrence."

Aides said the phrase "without his concurrence" was designed to make clear that McGovern wasn't leaving the issue solely up to Eagleton, who has made increasingly strong statements about his intention to remain on the ticket.

The general impression among observers in Custer—although no one would say so directly—was that McGovern was trying to send a message to Eagleton after mounting pressure for the vice-presidential nominee to withdraw.

Stanfield Swings Through Rural Ontario on Campaign Tour

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Conservative leader Robert Stanfield ended three days of friendly back-to-the-land campaigning Friday evening with a full-blown political welcome in this rural city of 12,000.

Perched on the back of a convertible behind a local band, Mr. Stanfield and Conservative MP Bill Scott waved under a warm summer sky to about 600 residents.

Later, they and former Ontario premier Leslie Frost, 76, a native of Lindsay, greeted people on the steps of city hall and in a nearby park.

Mr. Frost, in high good spirits, beckoned the crowd to "come and meet the boss man" and introduced most of the mixed gathering to Mr. Stanfield by name.

The evening visit into the Victoria-Haliburton riding was Mr. Stanfield's first venture into a Conservative-held riding during the three-day swing through 14 eastern Ontario communities.

The feeling throughout the trip was one of quiet preparation for an expected gene al election and Mr. Stanfield expressed confidence in h's party's ability to cope with the issues and fighting" when the is called.

He repeated referred to Prime Minister Trudeau as "that other guy" and made speaking references to the p ime minister's "lack of courage" for not calling an election earlier this year.

This trip took him to 14 communities, many like tiny Dunmore near here earlier Friday and others like Forresters Falls, Westport and Packenham in an Ottawa Valley helicopter hop Thursday.

His repeated themes: the benefits of rural living and the Conservatives as an alternative to the governing Liberals.

At Omemee, where he was met by a cautious crowd of about 200 and a scarlet-clad citizen's band, Mr. Stanfield said as he had at nearly every stop that his visit had "nothing to do with politics" but that "one of these days there'll be an election and we'll be in it to win."

In the crowd later, an orange marigold wilting in his lapel and a fresh red rose stuffed into his grey jacket pocket, Mr. Stanfield was advised by a middle-aged woman to "put God first and you'll be first yourself."

Though the first of a religious nature, the comment was similar to a number of personal ones made by the Ontario country folk who hung back shyly at various small public gatherings and sympathized with the fast pace of political life when Mr. Stanfield moved in to greet them. He himself greeted people with reserve and a healthy measure of dry humor.

"No flies on you,' eh' he asked one shy brush-cutted boy at a pregnant dairy farm near Omemee.

"It's getting so as it's not safe to walk in the streets," he grinned earlier to an elderly lady who had been hurried by Conservative MPP John Turner as the two greeted passersby during a stroll down a busy Peterborough street.

At the Fairhaven Home for the Aged in that city, inhabited largely by women, he asked an elderly gentleman in a mixed group of about 20 whether he was able to "hold your own with all these women around."

And in a crammed Peterborough hospital elevator after meeting with patient Aileen Holt, leader of the party's women's association, he looked up at a tall, ragged young doctor and cracked: "I'll bet you don't have any trouble getting your patients to do what you want them to."

Friday was hot and sunny and Mr. Stanfield began the morning with a photographic chat with reporters on a bright hotel balcony beside Peterborough's Little Lake.

Asked about bilingualism, less an issue in that city of 56,000 than it is in Cornwall and North Bay where he stopped earlier, Mr. Stanfield said he believes "policies appropriate across the country will also be appropriate in Quebec."

But he put things back on another level later in a boat trip through the Trent Canal and the 65-foot lift locks when he told a boat-full of party supporters that Prime Minister Trudeau "didn't know what he was doing" when he did not call an election earlier this year.

"And now he's scared to death."

Mr. Stanfield ends this trip with a private television taping in Toronto today. Next week, he will spend six days touring southern Ontario before leaving for a one-day visit to Dieppe, baker Lake in south Saskatchewan.

Students Protest Pay System

Students at the Canada Manpower academic courses being conducted at Loyalist College are unhappy with their wage payment schedule and are asking the same kind of treatment received by people taking the skilled trades courses.

The claim is that the skilled trades students at the college receive their pay on Friday morning at the college while those taking the academic course have to wait until mid-afternoon and go to the manpower retaining office on Wallbridge Crescent to pick up their cheques.

Feelings over the alleged unfairness boiled to a head yesterday and nearly 200 students demonstrated in front of the Wallbridge Crescent office.

Traffic along the street was blocked by the students' parked cars and police cars were called in.

Deputy Police Chief Harold Reid said one of the student's cars was towed away following which other cars were moved voluntarily.

Deputy Chief Reid said there were no other incidents arising out of the demonstration.

He said there would have been no police objectors to a peaceful demonstration in front of the Manpower office but there was "no way" that the street could be allowed to be blocked.

E. J. Buckley director of manpower retraining, confirmed that students in the skilled trade courses receive their pay cheques Friday morning at the college.

But he said there are only about 30 such students and this posed no problem.

However there were between 175 and 200 students in the academic upgrading courses and this presented more difficulty.

Mr. Buckley said the cheques don't arrive until Thursday afternoon and they all have to be checked over before they can be handed out to the students.

The retraining students receive weekly allowances while on course with pay ranging between $30 and $83 depending on marital status and the number of dependents.

Mr. Buckley said a new schedule was now in effect under which the student week ended just before noon Friday. Pay cheques are handed out at the Wallbridge Crescent office between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Friday afternoon.

But demonstrating students claimed this was an inconvenience as most of the students lived out of town and they had to wait around until the afternoon to receive their pay.

Vanderwater Park Popularity Grows

Camping at the Col. Ross Vanderwater conservation area east of Thomasburg is seeing increased popularity this year with overflow crowds already being experienced on some weekends.

In the words of John Wurie, Moira River Conservation Area Fieldman, campsite usage at the park has been "wonderful."

Mr. Wulte said that as early as the May 24 weekend 170 campsites at the park were rented.

But authority officials are working toward increasing the number of campsites at the park and during the summer and fall another 20 will be added in readiness for next year. The campsite roadway will be extended for about ½ mile and another well will be drilled for water supply purposes.

While camping is generally on the increase, with provincial parks also reporting overflow crowds, the lower daily admission rate at the Vanderwater park may be partially responsible for the Vanderwater park's increased popularity this year.

Haligonians Gird for Garbage

HALIFAX (CP) — Members of the Halifax area Ecology Action Centre plan to present an active voice when the time comes for Halifax civic officials to decide whether to reassess or expand its present system of garbage disposal. The city's garbage now is burned.

Brian Gifford, 22, and Tim Sullivan, 23, both of Halifax, who form the nucleus of the newly-opened centre, say the time is fast approaching when civic officials will have to make a decision.

Ecology Action, a small group of people concerned with ecological and environmental matters, believes it has the answer to the city's dilemma. The members call it a "total recycling system" which is feasible in both the economic and environmental sense.

However, Halifax's director of engineering and works, M. J. Power, says he is not quite as optimistic as members of Ecology Action. At the same time he hadn't ruled out the possibility of a practical recycling system for the city.

He said in an interview it is great to talk about recycling but one thing that must be kept in mind is the need for markets for the waste materials once it is collected.

The director said the city will have to make a decision on a waste disposal system within three to five years, if not sooner. A task force now was gathering information in an attempt to find some course the city can follow.

Ecology Action is also gathering information and data pertaining to recycling and is attempting to find suitable markets for the waste materials.

Mr. Gifford said the centre has dispatched letters to every pulp and paper company in the Maritimes.

"If these letters don't produce markets," Mr. Sullivan said, "then we'll write to all the major pulp companies on the eastern seaboard of the United States."

Paper recycling is a unique one of the centre's plan of action. Once the markets are found, they hope to start paper recycling for the recycling of glass and then metal.

Some members of the centre are already experienced in the recycling of paper. Mr. Gifford said it meant purchasing a truck and picking up more than five tons of paper weekly in the Halifax-Dartmouth metropolitan area.

The paper was sold to a Halifax salvaging firm which in turn sold it to a Nova Scotia pulp company. However, Mr. Sheflin said the amount of paper used by the pulp company could be supplied by only one day's production in Halifax within a year. "What then?" he asked.

At present, he said, it doesn't appear feasible to speak of total recycling but the idea can't be dismissed entirely.

Ecology Action is the outcome of an experimental course undertaken at Dalhousie University in Halifax last winter and its Opportunities for Youth program here last summer.

Mr. Gifford said the purpose of the centre is to demonstrate to the public, civic and government officials the need for a better method of garbage disposal than the present system of burning the city's waste material.

Britons Are Learning Truth About Indians

LONDON (CP) — Britons are getting the message that the Canadian Indian is a different person from the Indian portrayed in western movies. A Cree schoolteacher from Saskatchewan's Red Pheasant reserve is on a lecture tour of Britain to put the record straight.

Elsie Wuttenee Bourgaize, 36, is spending a year here lecturing to schoolchildren on Canadian history under the partnership of the Commonwealth Institute. A former guidances counsellor who worked in London, Ont., Edmonton and Hull, Que., integrating Indian children into the Canadian school system, Mrs. Bourgaize is one of two teachers chosen by the Canadian Teachers Federation to lecture in Britain under the scheme—and the first Canadian Indian to do so.

In a recent interview broadcast on Radio London, a BBC local station, Mrs. Bourgaize said her father, now 80, remembers seeing the first white settlers arrive in their part of Saskatchewan. The first reaction of one of her aunts to the newcomers, she recalled, was that she all looked alike and "smelled like cattle."

Mrs. Bourgaize herself spoke only Cree until she was eight and during her childhood the ultimate threat used by parents when children misbehaved was "the white man will get you." On her first visit to North Battleford, Sask., the nearest town to her reserve, she was frightened of all the whites she saw.

Later, when she attended the full Western way of life, even working nights as a bunny girl in London, Ont., for "survival" and to earn money to train as a teacher.

Nevertheless, she feels that white Canadian culture misses out on many aspects more richly fulfilled by the Indian way of life, which she sees as more extended family oriented where everybody means a lot to you."

The reserve system she sees as "a protective culture" which cuts Indians off from other Canadians. Reserves also were "usually the bits of land the white man wanted."

The Indians were the ones who had to learn about the white man and not the other way round, she said, because "the white man was not concerned about the Indian, only in how much land and gold and keeping it, so Indian people have adapted themselves in order to survive to a great extent."

But she also said that a few years ago Indian leaders wanted to integrate at a time when the whites wouldn't have it. Now integration is government policy, backed up by many special training programs, but the Indians have decided they want to retain their own distinctive culture even if it means a brand of apartheid.

Asked on Radio London how she sees the future of the Canadian Indian, Mrs. Bourgaize said she hopes "he will regain his pride in being himself, and that he will be able to go where he likes in the world and be able to make a go of it."

The idea would be for Indians to be dependent on the reserves, to live wherever they "and still remain Indian in their outlook."

Myles Tillotson and Young Friends

His Day Off Was for the Kids

For many a youngster in West Park Village Joe is the best neighbor a kid could have.

Especially after Thursday. That's when Joe turned on at the northwest suburb's neighborhood park with free pony rides and potato chips and bubble gum.

Any youngster questioned at the park agreed Joe — who lives nearby — is a great neighbor. The only thing they have wrong about him is his name.

Joe admits to being Myles Tillotson, head of federal immigration services in the Belleville area, who lives in West Park Village's Asbury Heights.

He also admits to a love of kids. And since he moved into the suburb three years on transfer from Ottawa he's been sharing his spare time with neighborhood youngsters, organizing sports events and such in the park — after the city's regular recreation program ends for the day.

Recently, he wanted to organize something more ambitious.

"I remembered how ponies are a big kid's attraction at fairs. So I thought it'd be a good thing to have some rides for a day here," said Mr. Tillotson.

He contacted an area stable and asked for "two of their quietest ponies" for a day. The only time they were available, he was told, would be during the week, not weekends.

So, Mr. Tillotson took a day off work, and turned up yesterday at the park with the ponies. More than 70 youngsters flocked to the scene — enough to keep the ponies busy through the afternoon. And when the animals took a break for oats, Mr. Tillotson and his wife, Joyce, passed out treats among the small fry.

"You get a lot of satisfaction out of things like this with kids," explained a beaming Mr. Tillotson, trying to fill a wave of demanding palms with gum and chips.

"And the funny thing is, I guess most of the kids know me but they don't know my first or last name."

"How about the garbage?" he suggested in a tad who had just dropped a bubble gum wrapper.

The obedient response: "Okay — Joe."

Swimming Ability Saves Boys

Strong swimming ability and presence of mind was credited Friday afternoon with saving the lives of two Dobawa youths who were caught in the undertow below the Latta dam.

Richard Langstaff, 16, and his 13 year-old brother Curtis were canoeing in the Moira River below the dam when their craft was sucked beneath water spilling over the mill dam.

The canoe was battered on the rocks but the boys were able to swim to safety using a life jacket and one of the paddles for support.

"Only the fact that the boys are both good swimmers saved their lives," says the boys' father, Ray Langstaff.

The Langstaffs were holidaying in the Latta - Plainfield area when the two boys decided to go fishing and for a canoe ride on the river.

The accident occurred when they paddled too near the base of the dam and their canoe was caught in the undertow.

The father related helpfully from the river bank until the two boys fought their way out from under the falling water.

The sport model canoe the boys were using had its ribs smashed and bottom torn out.

Mr. Langstaff said the accident pointed out the fact that while canoeing is a fine sport, everyone should become a strong swimmer.

After Twenty Years He's Going Fishing

The neighborhood grocery store is no vanishing enterprise because it has an original commodity to offer — the personal touch.

So says Tom Irvin, who has been operating one of Belleville's busiest local stores for more than 20 years.

The opinion comes at a time when reflection is in order.

Tonight, Mr. Irvin, personally known to hundreds of residents in the Bridge East — Charles St. area where he has operated his store, retires from business.

It's an enterprise that's been growing despite all the changes in consumer marketing which have taken place since 1951 when he first purchased the store, believed one of the longest - established in the city.

But such changes — including the spread of chain stores, the arrival of plazas — made no dent in the growth of business. It's still growing — and there's no reason why such smaller, localized operations should become a thing of the past, he says.

"The neighborhood store will never go, because it offers personal service. Get to know your customers. That's the important thing," says Mr. Irvin.

"We called everybody by their first names," he adds.

So personal can the contact become, one woman customer came to tears when told earlier this week Mr. Irvin and his wife, Madeline, no longer would be running the store.

He can't estimate how many customers he has accrued but "new ones are coming all the time." Another social change over the years — apartment dwelling — has added to the constant increase.

But such an operation can also make heavy personal demands. Long hours are the norm and if help is hard to find it can mean little time off for the owner of the corner grocery, he adds.

Government demands also have been increasing, and more statistics — including taxes, consumer patterns — must be filed.

Mr. Irvin is one of the few neighborhood storekeepers who also is his own butcher — a one-traditional combination that's fast disappearing.

A native of Perth, he operated a store for awhile in his home town, before moving to Sudbury and later to London, Ont., where he worked for one of that city's largest meat marketers.

In 1951, the Irvins came to Belleville and purchased the Bridge St. store which Mr. Irvin figures has been in business under various owners for maybe 75 years. He has now sold to city businessmen George and Peter Zegouras.

He hangs up his butcher's apron to take down sporting equipment.

Range Robbed

OUTLET PARK — Police today are seeking two men who last night robbed the gas centre at a golf-driving range here after overpowering the attendant.

Raymond Honeywood, 16, RR 1 Cherry Valley, was grabbed by one of the men and held down while a companion took $70 in cash from the till.

The two men, believed to be in their late teens, escaped in a blue car, described by witnesses as a 1964-model Valiant. The men were not masked and were apparently unarmed at the time of the robbery, said police.

The incident is being investigated by Cpl. Kenneth Shell of the Picton OPP detachment.

Authority Receives Century-old Canoe

A hand - made birch bark canoe fashioned more than a century ago will soon be an added attraction at the Moira Conservation Authority's o O'Hara Mill northwest of Madoc.

The old canoe, which had lain unused in a barn for the past 50 years, has been presented to the authority by Mrs. Arthur Clarke of Madoc.

Mrs. Clarke said today that the old canoe was the property of her grandfather, Charles Conley, who at one time owned the farm where the Madoc Talc Mines are now situated. The canoe was given to her grandfather more than 75 years ago by an Everett Ray of North Hastings.

Mrs. Clarke said she had no knowledge of who built the canoe or whether it was built by an Indian.

Despite its long period of years the old canoe has only one crack in its birch bark cover and all the ribs and framework are intact.

When it was decided to raise the old barn, Mrs. Clarke said she didn't want to throw the canoe out so she called the Moira Conservation Authority to see if they were interested.

They were delighted to get the canoe," said Mrs. Clarke.

John Waite, fieldman for the Moira Authority, said the crack in the birch bark would be repaired and the canoe would be hung in the mill building at O'Hara's.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING

THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE UTILIZATION OF EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario has established a Select Committee of its Members, drawn from all political parties, to "enquire into the Utilization of Educational Facilities." The Committee is guided by the following terms of Reference:

1. The Committee should enquire into the potentialities and possibilities for the increased use of educational facilities throughout Ontario at all levels including post-secondary facilities.
2. Specifically the Committee should examine such matters as:
   (i) The wider community use of its educational facilities
   (ii) The year-round use of such facilities for educational and/or community programs.
   (iii) Ways and means by which the above-mentioned activities could be brought about and emphasized

In order that the Committee be made aware of the thoughts of the public in this regard, interested individuals and groups are invited to attend the Public Meeting that the Committee will hold as follows:

BELLEVILLE: Centennial Secondary School, Palmer Road, Tuesday, August 1, 1972, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

To enable all interested parties to participate, such persons or groups are requested to contact the Clerk of the Committee at the following address so that they may be entered on the agenda of the meeting:

Education Committee
Queen's Park,
Toronto 182, Ontario

(This registration is for convenience only. Everyone wishing to speak will be heard after the agenda is exhausted.) Please note that the Committee is pleased to accept written briefs at all times; consequently, should you or your organization not complete your submission in time for the Public Meeting, mail it to the Clerk of the Committee at the above address.

There is no time limit to submit the brief, or formal structure to follow, as long as the brief relates itself to the Terms of Reference.

Chairman: Charles McIlveep, M.P.P.
Clerk: Guy F. L. Sulkie

TRENTON (Staff) — A beauty contest had to be called off in Trenton Thursday because not enough contestants turned up for the event.

While a crowd of 600 waited patiently for the show to open, notice was given there would not be a Miss Teen Contest. Only four girls in the 13-19 age bracket had signed up at the registration desk and some of these, say organizers, were improperly dressed.

Despite the pleadings of relatives of the participating foursome, organizers stuck to their decision to call off the contest, one of several slated for Trenton's downtown-shopping mall that finishes Saturday evening.

Three trophies were packed away for another try at a beauty pageant next year and the crowd dispersed.

Earlier, visitors to the mall congregated near the Bank of Montreal to watch a square-dancing demonstration by the Trenton Pairs and Squares while others played bingo in the street at Tripp's corner.

Children were buying helium-filled balloons by the dozen — those that got away and sailed off across the bay proved to be among the biggest attractions of the evening, aside from the bargains at some of the stores.

Tonight a baby contest is scheduled for 7 p.m. and a cow milking contest follows at 8 p.m.

Trenton's main shopping area Dundas West, a portion of Front Street from Dundas north to Elgin St., King St. from Dundas to the market square and Murphy St. from Dundas north to Elgin St. have all been closed for the downtown mall.

Opening Success

MADOC (Special) — More than 200 area people came out to take part in the lucky draws, contests, give-aways and refreshments at the grand opening of the Madoc Farm and Garden Centre, last Saturday afternoon.

The first 100 women to attend received a corsage and a gift was presented to the first 200 men to arrive.

Two guessing contests were held, the winners of which were as follows: pig's weigh, 270 pounds, closest weight guessed was 271 pounds, by Dan Ash, Madoc; the calf's age, 198 days, was guessed by Stanley Stein of Eldorado.

The five winners of the free hatch of feed mixed on the farm by the mobile mill were: Harry Gawley, Eldopado James Lahey, RR 4, Madoc; Joe Foley, RR 1, Madoc; Allan Thompson, Queensborough, and Mike Haley, RR 1, Madoc.

General Manager John Ross Hodgins reported that the day was very successful and that he felt the mobile mill weather prevented a number of farmers from attending.

Instant Scaffolding

Workmen checking the stonework on the tower at Bridge Street United Church this week didn't bother with the erection of scaffolding. They simply hired Finkle's crane and had themselves hoisted to the various areas to be checked.

Two accounts are better than one, particularly if one is our Royal Bank Bonus Savings, and the other our Personal Chequing Account.

Our Bonus Savings Account pays high interest because you're not tempted to write cheques against it. You can't! But you can draw from it if need be. Even transfer funds when necessary.

As for our Personal Chequing Account (PCA, for short), it's such a simple way to keep organized. You list all your cheques in your Cheque Book Register, as you write them. And we list them, too, in the monthly statement we mail to you — with all your cancelled cheques. Makes double-checking a cinch. You know exactly how you're doing.

And, with a Personal Chequing Account your name and address can be printed on all your cheques. You can even have them beautifully monogrammed with your family initial for a small charge.

Who do you talk this over with? You decide. (Or flip a coin!) Bruce Curtis is our manager at 241 Front Street (telephone 962-9164) and Phil Snyder manages our branch at North Front and Valleyview (telephone 968-4553).

An Imperfect World

When part of Toronto's freeway system was closed to traffic recently and cars were backed up for miles in the hot sun, inching along on those sections that were advanced — some failing victim to overheated radiators — the travelling public was displeased. And especially as there is no reason to advance warning. City officials got an earful from irate drivers, one of the former describing the language as "uncouth."

In New York meanwhile power failures have also caused problems. Supermarkets for instance were obliged to throw out food supplies ruined when freezers went out of action. With this in mind we wonder how our pampered modern society would react if breakdowns were the norm — say every other day. We are so accustomed to our mechanical aids functioning smoothly and our material needs being instantly available that we become understandably upset when things go wrong.

Yet we are so dependent on our gadgets and materialist crutches that boredom with it all is one of the prevailing neuroses of our day. There is a lack of challenge and a sense of wonderment has long since disappeared as an element in adult psyche.

The very young still retain their natural joy, but when the teenage years arrive it dissipates quickly. A classic example has been provided by Mrs. Margaret Garnett, an Ottawa housewife who went back to high school to study art. She had good things to say about her young classmates — notably their capacity for sympathy and compassion for real friendship — but she thinks they could work harder as well as derive more fun out of school.

"In class," she wrote recently in Weekend Magazine, "I have found it impossible not to react to things that interest me. My own teenagers, who fortunately attend a different high school, constantly have warned me to, 'Cool it, Mom.' Apparently one just doesn't admit she is alive.

You see it in their faces, this boredom, indifference, call it what you will. Mrs. Garrett quotes a Pakistani teacher who was at the school during her first year and found the students' attitude unbearable. "From her background she knew how much was being offered and yet was so little appreciated. One day she flared up and said, 'You are the most spoiled bunch of individuals I have ever seen.'"

Harsh words, but maybe we are need to wake up a little and stop taking things for granted. With all its stress, drudgery and broken dreams, as the now celebrated quotation from Desiderata puts it, it is still a beautiful world." We just need to show our appreciation more.

Tidying Up

David McBride, senior supervisor for Project SWEEP (Students Working in an Environmental Enhancement Program) is a handsome young man with a rare sense of enthusiasm and an intelligent attitude toward some of the so-called "generation gap" problems of our day.

A University of Toronto student from Campbellford, Mr. McBride was telling the Rotary Club here about the clean-up and park development operations being performed in the Moira and Lower Trent conservation areas by students.

Having outlined the specifics of the work being done by the 21 students involved, Mr. McBride noted: "All of our jobs, one must think, have a lot of value in terms of experience."

Then came an observation which we thought displayed enviable insight and wisdom: "Perhaps one of the heaviest criticisms levelled at students these days is that they are too idealistic and that when it comes down to the real guts of practising what you preach, most of us cannot produce the goods. Many students are very disillusioned with the disgracefully polluted world we live in, and I understand their feelings. Many join protest groups and demonstrations around the universities and community in efforts to discredit the older generation, blaming them for their lack of responsibility and their greedy interest in the 'almighty dollar' alone. Some older folk react by saying that students are long-winded, lazy, and not willing to co-operate with the 'establishment,' but this is obviously not the answer. It does not make any sense to ramble on in hypothetical fantasies trying to determine who is to blame. It makes more sense to accept the situation as it is, and from there try to plan zome concrete action to correct it."

Project SWEEP, he believed, was achieving this end. This is a large extent we are sure it is too. But we need the co-operation of every citizen, to ensure pollution is eliminated as far as possible.

Bilingualism Issue

Government Passes Buck to Commons Committee

By RICHARD JACKSON
from The Intelligencer's
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — No matter how long Parliament is in battle dress — and this particular Parliament, Canada's Twenty-Eighth, opened shop more than four years ago — it invariably falls for the time-worn prime ministerial ploy of a "special" committee.

The Prime Minister himself, or a member of his cabinet, or indeed the whole government, suddenly may be in a jam, and Parliament in an uproar.

Not to worry, though.

There is always — and it seldom if ever fails — the quick and painless way out.

Just back it to a Commons committee.

Any committee will do, and because it has the assignment of "investigating" the urgent matter of the political moment it becomes a "special" committee.

And nothing happens.

Latest illustration of how Parliament can be suckered by a prime minister with the committee con game was the John Carson affair.

You must remember how, only scant weeks ago, the uproar in Parliament about Public Service "Commission Chairman John Carson and the way he was hoeing around the largely English-speaking Public Service" in the name of bilingualism.

There was really nothing new in John Carson's treatment of them.

He has been giving them the rough back of his hand across their "English only" noodles for some years.

Only he had been doing it sort of privately within the confines of the Public Service Commission.

This time, though, he had gone a step further and in a report to Parliament spelled at the "merit principle" in government employment as "a sacred cowism."

Job by merit in the federal service has meant to civil servants the appointment goes to the best qualified.

Not only was this old fashioned nonsense to John Carson, it was, he announced publicly, the ridiculous "Haralin Alger concept of middle aged bureaucrats.

And these old fogeys would have to "put their heads out of the sand before they get their rear ends kicked," he went on, or the federal Civil Service would forever remain the almost exclusive preserve of the "white, male, middle - aged English - speaking public servant."

And if that nonsense sounded John Carson, well, young people working for the government would become so disillusioned by the intellectual dishonesty of it all that "only the corruptible stuff" would remain in the Civil Service.

Ripely controversial stuff, that, especially when parliamentarians already were burned up enough about Carson's policies had made it increasingly difficult for English-speaking girls to get jobs as government secretaries and impossible for them to climb on as Air Canada hostesses.

They were all on their feet, Conservative, Liberal, and New Democrat, clamoring in the demanding for an emergency debate for John Carson's head.

They were even willing to sidetrack all other business.

But Prime Minister Trudeau shushed them with the old soother that a special committee" would sort it all out.

That was only weeks ago.

Well, the committee met and John Carson, waltzing it around in a headspinning whirl of statistics, managed to do a one-giddy it still had not cleared its head sufficiently to check out a report, much less recommendations before the Commons recessed.

And so John Carson went smiling all the way back to the Public Service Commission without so much as a gentle tap on the wrist.

What did it all accomplish?

Nothing.

Perhaps even worse than nothing for, according to Liberal MP Gordon Blair, fear and suspicion has been spawned in the public service.

The "typical government employee," related Mr. Blair, who represents the Liberals in Grenville-Carleton, "is afraid that English - speaking and fearful of what the bilingual program is doing to his job and his life."

Then oddly, Gordon Blair, a former president of the Ontario Liberal Association and a well-regarded and highly - respected MP who sits surrounded by Liberals in the Commons, confessed he felt "alone and very isolated" in his apparently losing fight for nothing more than fair play for the government's thousands of English - speaking employees.

Jamaica Is Faced With Many Problems

Last spring, the apparently firmly-entrenched Jamaican Labor Party led by former prime minister Hugh Shearer was swept out of office by Mr. Michael Manley's People's National Party. Mr. Shearer's majority of 33 seats dwindled to 16 and the son of the former colonial politician Norman Manley, now is to Jamaica's many problems.

The tourist to the fairest of the former British Caribbean territories will detect only a portion of the problems facing modern Jamaica. He will see them in terms of race and economic imbalance — but not in terms distinctly Jamaican.

New Heights of Violence

There is a blackout on in the face of Irish Republicanism today that will never be completely broken now in the face of the Irish nation.

If we wish to restore the honor of our people, now is the time to act. We must break the pact with death that keeps the evil men of the fifth people in bonds of unscrupulous men.

Of course, there are those who will say that it is not our business, that we should leave it to the people of Northern Ireland to settle their own affairs. But Belfast is not Dublin, and world is another 120 miles away. We are neighbors.

It is no longer possible for us to remain aloof from the violence that is gripping Northern Ireland. It is our responsibility to do all we can to help bring it to an end. We must do this for the sake of the people of Northern Ireland, for the sake of the people of Ireland and for the sake of the people of Europe.

Peace by Unity

The only way to end the violence is by unity. The evil men responsible and their political allies must be isolated from the decent people of Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

Only then will it be possible to end the violence and bring peace to Northern Ireland.

City Parks Win Praise

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

May I give a well deserved word of praise and thanks to the dedicated gardeners of our local Parks Dept. who are doing their bit to make our city slogan a reality, "Belleville, the Beautiful."

It is only in recent years that we have been able to point with pride to our local parks, in other days they were often neglected.

Corby Rose Gardens, the Waterfront overlooking the Bay, are hillside overlooking the Bay, are all ample testimony to the dedicated men in this department. Also, the floral displays at the fresh visitors to the city.

Corby Park is a fairy land with its profusion of blooms, the heady perfume in the air, and the refreshing shade of the trees in the lower park, it is a natural lasting place and an oasis of peace and quiet in the ever growing sea of concrete, and I am sure I speak for many other citizens who pause there briefly to enjoy the fruits of their labors, when I say "Thank you for a job well done, and keep up the good work".

A GRATEFUL CITIZEN,

City Council Under Fire

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

After having read the decision of the City Council of Belleville on the issue of the Mayor's alleged "conflict of interest", I can't help but feel embarrassed as a Bellevillian for voting those Council members into office. Any interested citizen would feel the same way.

The decision does not have the courage or the attitude of responsible councilmen toward their city.

While the city council defends the position of the Mayor of Belleville, it fails to realize and emphasize with equal importance the obligations which the City Council must assume toward the citizens of Belleville of which they are an integral part.

What kind of people have we elected to City Council?

They see fit to please the Mayor and disregard the electorate. People of Belleville what is happening?

Must we wait for another "Belleville Hockey Team 1958-59" died to awaken us. Had someone said something then as Alderman Sandy and Jeffrey are saying now, we would not have been ripped off in tax money.

The need to clook the Valleyview golf course situation in particular and the "conflict of interest" in general with a respectability enabling City Council themselves to be used without reproach, in part, and part of the way our City Council operates.

Then, it was decided that evidence was lacking and the effort made by Ald. Soutter and Jeffrey was squashed.

A mysterious cloud has settled on the issue because of the Mayor's refusal to comment, and clear these charges made against him and the office of mayor.

It would appear that the more mistreatment Bellevillians receive the more they are willing to accept. Let's change this. Let us listen to Ald. Soutter and Jeffrey. Do something don't just sit there and take another flogging.

People of Belleville what is your response?

'Charismatic Revival' Spreads Bringing 'Breath of Holy Spirit'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the wind, the spirit moves where it will, Jesus observed, and you can't calculate the source, dimensions or destination. But the statistics suggest that a current of it is whipping up a considerable modern gale.

At the start of its new outburst six years ago in 1967, only about 50 people showed up at a meeting about it at Notre Dame University. In 1968, the number rose to 150; in 1969, to 400; in 1970, to 1,400, in 1971, to 5,000.

Recently, at the 1972 International Conference on Charismatic Renewal, 11,500 persons were on hand to attend to one of the fastest-swelling movements in the churches of the United States.

"We've come to count on it as a yearly event," says Sister Marie Catherine, press co-ordinator for the affair. She says the rising turnout provides a clue to the over-all growth in participation.

From the small, sporadic beginnings in Roman Catholic circles six years ago, an estimated 60,000 to 100,000 Catholics across the country now are involved.

The "charismatic revival," it's sometimes called.

It is bringing a "breath of the Holy Spirit to enliven the church once more," Rev. Edward O'Connor, a Notre Dame Catholic theologian, says in a recent issue of St. Anthony Messenger.

The phenomenon breaks out in many the Protestant churches about 10 years earlier, involving Episcopalians (Anglicans), Lutherans, Presbyterians, Baptists and Methodists, and estimates put the total involved at more than 500,000.

"Pentecost in the Spirit," is a key aspect of it, an experience which participants say occurs in group prayer and gives people a deepened sense of closeness to God and to each other.

Although attendant manifestations of it are broadly ecumenical, the Notre Dame gathering was largely Roman Catholic, with a sprinkling of Protestants.

All of them brought stories of new groups springing up around the country in communities, churches and borrowed halls.

As the movement has expanded, it has come under changing emphasis.

Kevin Kerrigan, co-author of Catholic Pentecostals, published by Paulist Press, told the Notre Dame meeting that participants most awed attributes recognized are a "renewed 'in group' or reject feel who have the whole truth."

Besides the characteristics of intense prayer, spontaneous singing, reported healings and heightened sense of moral concern, one of the movement's most mystifying aspects is praising God in an "unknown tongue," an outpouring of syllables called glossolalia.

Dr. John P. Kildahl, a New York psychologist who has studied the phenomenon, says persons experiencing it report a super-speaking usually have gone through an anxiety crisis and feel relief from it.

In a book published by Harper and Row, The Psychology of Speaking in Tongues, he says the new confidence results from affectionate expressions to all sense of a person's love, resolves his conflicts in business and personal relationships.

However, he concludes that "to speak-speaking in a learned glossolalic" is required in a supportive atmosphere of similarly baptized people exists. William Samarin of the University of Toronto, in a recent book, Tongues of Men and Angels, is used by Mormons, that "to speak-speaking is a kind of "ecstatic-nonsense," like becoming drunk."

It is mainly, says Father O'Connor, a "grace of prayer."

Solitude Is Essential At Moments of Choice

By The Rev. Gordon C. Smyth

There are times when it is essential to be alone. A deeper self in each person requires attention. This is especially true when important choices confront us. We cannot be at our best if the environment is likely to alter our channel of thought.

The temptation story (Matthew 4:1-11) was to be authenticated in our Lord's ministry. The alluring voice which he heard would speak to his disciples just as it speaks to us. So he told what had happened, in a parable. This was his method of teaching.

It is not surprising that Jesus withdrew to the desert when the exalting experience in baptism took possession of him. He had yielded his life to his Father. Perfect surrender meant perfect trust. It ruled out any place of selfvation. It made following the will of God, whatever it might be, wherever it might lead. And yet if Jesus was to be tested by others to justify himself, to disclose his fitness, to provide proof that he was the Messiah, it is any wonder that he was immediately faced by the allure-ment. If not count, within him-

The tempter said, "You believe in God. Prove the reality. One. You are convinced that you are to right wrongs. But what is it for you? Give has to live. 'If you are the Son of God, command these stones to become loaves of bread.'"

The record intimates that our Lord spent 40 days and nights struggling with the temptations. But this period is simply the biblical way of stressing a considerable length of time. However, we need not emphasize the time span we have to come to grips with temptation or it will come to grips with us. Jesus at length was confirmed in the fact that it was better living on little serving God than existing on a lot by denying him. He said. "Man does not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God."

The tempter tried a different approach. "You say spirituality is better than materialism. You say belief is sufficient. Well then, take your logic to its conclusion. Picture yourself jumping from the pinnacle of the temple in Jerusalem. The scriptures assert that no harm can come to the Son of God."

Our Lord at last answered. "So the devil quotes scripture? Let me give you another text. 'You shall not tempt the Lord your God'. Trust in him is compatible with common sense My vocation is to declare and live God's love, at whatever cost to myself. You endeavored to get me to close my ear to use my methods. Let Herod Antipas and Pontius Pilate think you are just a dreamer. Take advantage of the animosity between the Pharisees and the Sadducees. Religious clichees will appeal to the crowds. I will shew you how to handle the Zealots. Strike when I give the signal. Accept worldly power, you can do no evil or good and that will cause people to conclude you must have been heaven-sent."

The tempter fell short shrift. "The end does not justify the means. Jesus' life is a patient call to the depths of personality. It is the witness of inspiration, not isolation of revelation, not revolution. "Begone, Satan! for it is written, 'You shall worship the Lord your God and Him only shall you serve'."

Many a youth has felt the Holy Spirit leading him into a career of service, only to abandon it for social status and success. This is the first temptation. Many an older person has discovered of his manity's potential, leaving the future to a miracle. This is the second temptation. Many an individual has compromised his idealism in politics, to the point that he no longer has anything distinctively moral or spiritual to give where it is sorely needed. This is the third temptation.

Let us turn a deaf ear to allurement's voices! Let us, desert, scene never be forgotten! It provokes plagiarism, where individual and corporate redemption comes from. Learn from the desert of how them. Then angels will also minister to our exhausted state We will see the path of duty. We will rejoice in what the Apostle said. The old order of the Roman Kingdom was doing. A new order is coming and in the lives of men was coming. He exclaimed, "This is the victory that overcomes the world, even our faith."

Bach's Church Still Creative

By HUBERT J. ERB

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Bach's Church of St. Thomas in Leipzig has survived rule by Napoleon Bonaparte, Adolf Hitler and Communist leader Walter Ulbricht and remains a center of quiet creativity for the world.

In its 769 years, it has been surrounded by war and pestilence and by opposing forces of armies. Yet it is bound forever to the worlds of religion and great music.

Martin Luther proclaimed his Protestant reformation from the pulpit of St. Thomas in 1539. Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart came here in 1789 to play the organ on which Bach composed. Richard Wagner was baptized in the church.

But it was prolific Johann Sebastian Bach, choirmaster from 1723 until his death in 1750, whose genius gave St. Thomas a lasting place in history.

It was at St. Thomas that Bach wrote most of his cantatas. There, on Good Friday in 1729, he presented for the first time his greatest work, the St. Matthew Passion. And it is in St. Thomas that he is buried.

The present choirmaster, Pastor Herbert Stiehl, was interviewed recently in his study. An eastern era lighted a crucifix, an ecumenical symbol in a church that was Roman Catholic, became Lutheran Protestant and remains a Christian sanctuary in a hostile environment.

Stiehl was born in 1926 in Frankenstein, in adjoining Thuringia. Pastor Stiehl, reported of Bach's life, has had 20 children who lived. By his own account, he has had his fingers was explorable. He worked at St. Thomas and at St. Nikolai church, a steering stipends for such things as funerals and weddings and other services. His attempts to also work at the university failed. And what he left for St. Thomas for Sundays and other religious holidays. It turned out, that is

How did Bach go about writing all that music per contract?

"You must remember," Stiehl replied, "a kantor, as we say in German, in Bach's day was supposed to compose. Only later was creating music separated from providence it. And Bach lived by the hereque era, a time when ornament and artistic creativity that he wrote precisely was expected of him. Others did the same. No one thought much of it."

In a reverse twist, the 1951-64 renovation restored an early Gothic interior from baroque. Catholic times, since the ornate baroque of Bach's century was considered beyond repair by wartime bombing.

As for Bach, it took a long time for him to gain a memorial, something not common when not dead at age 65. Late in the last century his remains, in an unusual oaken casket, were dug up and reinterred in the Church of St. John, which was destroyed by bombs.

Stiehl said identification of Bach's skeleton was aided by establishing malformation of his pelvic bones, "from sitting at the organ," and from the form of his skull. In 1949, Bach finally returned to St. Thomas. His remains composing site between the fire accounts is at still retains.

Gnostic Codices Uncovered

UNITED NATIONS (Reuter) — It was not Christ who died on the cross, Christ was borne aloft on a cloud and it was Simon of Cyrene who died.

The serpent in the Garden of Eden was a "good guy" and it was a jealous God who chased Adam and Eve out of Paradise.

These, at least, are versions of the origins of Christianity found in 13 papyrus books or codices of an atheist religious sect dating back to the 4th century AD.

They were found by Arab workmen in a cemetery near the Egyptian town of Nag Hammadi and their translation was completed recently. Cyril Aldred, a team of international scholars.

The Gnostics practised a deep — and eighteen religion which competed with Christianity. It lost out to Christianity because it was practised principally by monks, who were child less.

One aspect of the religion was anti-sex, on the ground that to have a sex was a ruse to imprison man's divine spark while sexual desire was a device of the demonic creator.

The religion was the reverse of the Christian belief. The serpent in the story of the Garden of Eden was portrayed as "a good guy" and it was a jealous God who chased Adam and Eve out of the garden, says the Nag Hammadi books.

The God of the Old Testament was believed by the Gnostics to be the evil inferior of a god known good "supergod" at whose behest Christ was sent to save mankind.

Their belief was that Christ was not Christ who died on the cross but Simon of Cyrene, while Christ was borne aloft on a cloud.

A Dutch publishing company is putting out facsimiles of the codices under an agreement between UNESCO and the Egyptian government, which purchased the books in 1951 after their appearance on the Cairo antiquities market.

Eleven of the books were attack

Old West Fertile Ground for Women

DALLAS (AP) — If there ever was a time and place for a woman's personality to burst into full bloom, it was in the Old West.

And bloom some women did, often to the aggravation of men, particularly sheriffs.

The truly free spirits were the young women who headed west to find adventure, a husband and wealth—all three in one package if possible.

A short list of the more noted of these women would include Flora Quick, Ann Bassett Willis, Belle Starr, Dona Tules, Calamity Jane, Poker Alice Tubbs, Lola Montes, Mal. Pauline Cushman, and, in a somewhat different subculture, Molly Brown.

Those women are discussed in a new book, Wily Women of the West, by Grace E. Ray of Oklahoma.

Perhaps the best known of the bodywomen of the West wwz Myra Belle Shirley who books as Belle Starr.

Some of her more noted associates were the Younger Brothers gang and the James Crowd.

Belle was accused of many crimes, including murder ,but the only thing that can be authenticated even hazily is horse stealing. She was assassinated as she rode homeward—killed by a blast of buckshot in the back.

Friends insisted her with her pearl-handled pistol in one hand. Her three husbands of record died by gunfire, too, at different times.

Poker Alice Tubbs, like many other wild characters in the West, came from the British Isles and turned professional gambler in Texas mining camps and the mining regions.

Some of her contemporaries were Kitty the Schemer, Dollship Annie, China Mary, Hallyershanks Eva, Farm Nell, Prairie Rose and Iowa Bull. Only Poker Alice was successful in gambling. The others were too emotional for that profession. Poker Alice once remarked.

Prairie Rose is noted for a famous stroll. She made a bet that she would walk down the main street of a Kansas town naked.

No one gave her any trouble. For she carried a pistol in each hand on her walk.

Outside the ranching culture was a red-haired girl named Maggie Tobin. She went west as a hash slinger and married Leadville Johnny Brown, who became a multi-millionaire when he discovered gold.

They moved to Denver and built a mansion amid the homes of what was called the "Sacred Thirty-Six" of Denver society and wealth.

She was not accepted for a number of reasons, one being that she was uneducated and unmannered.

Maggie set out to rectify that. She studied hard and soon was a member of the Denver society.

The rough edges worn off, she settled in Newport, was listed in the Social Index and associated with the Astors, Whitney and Vanderbilts. They unfailingly liked to shy she could tell a story.

Yet she would have been a stunning addition to any social function although she rode sidesaddle.

Maggie—young, strong and sometimes domineering—went about the deck, shoving women and kids off decks, screaming at them, and generally made herself a heroine.

When the rescue liner, the Carpathia, arrived in New York Maggie, who had a lusty way with words, told a reporter airily, "I'm unsinkable."

So now you know how she has become in legend, fact.

She was "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL JAMES PALMER

Palmer – Patrick

Christ Church, Glen Miller was the setting for the marriage ceremony on Saturday July 22, 1972, when Carol Irene Patrick, daughter of Mrs. Vera Patrick, Trenton RR 3 and the late Mr. Carl Patrick, became the bride of Michael James Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Palmer, Bayside. Father Lowery during music was rendered by Miss Veronica Wickens, with Father Donald Davidson officiated.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edward "Ted" Patrick, the bride wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie with the bodice featuring a high neckline and full sleeves with fitted cuffs. The princess styled gown was highlighted with lace trim and enhanced with a chapel train.

Maid of honor Miss Mary-Ellen York of Glen Miller and bridesmaids Miss Mary Palmer and Miss Terri Lown of Patrick and the flower girl Miss Kelly Patrick were gowned alike in floor length gowns of carnation pink styled with scoop neckline and long full sleeves with the bodice trimmed with Swiss lace and a band of matching ribbon which fastened to a pert bow at back. Mohair picture Lola completed their attire.

A reception was held at the Dutch Mill inn, Trenton where the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a deep violet crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Assisting the bridegroom's mother chose a pale blue and white pant suit with a corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to points north, the bride chose a multicolor crepe set with white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

The couple will reside at RR 3 Trenton (Glen Miller).

Women's Institutes

PINE GROVE WI

The July meeting of the Pine Grove Women's Institute was held in the home of Mrs. Dave Hallinger. Mrs. Harry Coulter and Mrs. Dave Hallinger were conveners for the program: Agriculture and Canadian Industries — Taking a Look, Backward and Forward. Readings were given about country schools, farmers, a farmer's wife and elm trees.

During the roll call members gave answers to the countercast pollution. Suggestions such as: recycling glass containers, using classpaint for paving roads which is on trial now near Brampton, purchasing only returnable containers and using car pools, and buses for transportation.

Following the meeting, a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Russell Reid and Mrs. Farley Lindenfield.

McGraths Celebrate Fortieth Anniversary

TWEED — The immediate family, brothers and sisters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McGrath, gathered at their home in Erinsville, Ontario, recently to honor them on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary. They were married in Erinsville by the late Reverend Father Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. McGrath have lived in Erinsville for their entire life with they have devoted themselves these past years to the welfare of their family and the community.

Rev. Father Feeney, Napanee, attended as well as the present pastor, Reverend J. J. Collins who offered the mass of thanksgiving for the couple on Saturday evening. The family, six sons, Donald of Oshawa, LaVern of Belleville, Leonard of Rochester, N.Y., Austin of Kingston, Ronald of Goderich, Gerald of Smiths Falls and four daughters, Mr. Eddy (Leila) Dunn, of Peterborough, Mrs. Raymond (Reta) Dillon of Kingston, Mrs. Pat (Eleanor) Doyle of London, Ontario, Kathryn of Edmonton, Alberta, as well as 16 grandchildren attended.

Many useful gifts, as well as a sum of money was presented by the family.

All joined in wishing Jack and Bernice many more happy years in the future.

A PRETTY HARD HAT — Germaine Spring Smith is the only female construction engineer working for the Alberta highways department. She says basically her work is a public relations job and "that's why I think girls can do it, too."

Female Engineer Designs Highways

EDMOTON (CP) — The only female construction engineer working for the Alberta highways department says basically her work is a public relations job and "that's why I think girls can do it, too."

Germaine Spring Smith, 24, the first woman to invade Alberta's all-male road camps, says that, for example, she deals with the contractors building the road, people living along the highway route and the whole road crew from inspector to laborers.

"Being a girl helped in my schooling," she said in an interview. "I got special treatment, and got along well with the boys."

Her first encounter with discrimination was in seeking summer jobs.

"I was humiliated." Mrs. Smith said. "At Manpower I wasn't allowed to put my name down for an interview for civil engineering jobs and at highways they wouldn't give me an application."

But after personal letters to the department, she was hired in the testing lab. Now she's readily accepted by the other staff.

Her only problem now is living in northern Alberta. Her husband of a year and a half, a structural engineer, lives in Calgary.

"We commute on weekends or meet at Red Deer. Red Deer is approximately halfway between Calgary and Edmonton.

"It keeps an air of honeymoon in the marriage. I'm hoping later to be stationed at Red Deer or even the Calgary office. My husband's understanding. I want the field experience—it's hard for a woman to get and I've got a great chance."

As a resident engineer, she goes wherever they're building the road to which she is assigned—living on the construction site during the summer months. (CP Photo)

Lib Movement Not Political

By JEAN SHARP
CP Women's Editor

Whether women's rights are a practical political issue remains to be seen.

Truly radical feminists don't test it because they consider the political system corrupt. In Canada the feminist movement is not politically active to any great extent.

Some less extreme women's rights activists say it's up to women to make the issue practical because the traditional, male-dominated political parties won't do it. A handful of them are planning to run as independents.

A few more want to run under party banners as women's rights candidates.

A Cross Canada Survey by the Canadian Press indicates women already elected to public office consider them all dreamers.

Those who have gone the traditional route agree it is the only route to political power. They say women are not elected on other women's votes and don't stand a chance of being elected on women's rights platforms. Some of them resist any efforts to lay claims on them to be half of women.

Most add, however, that the stir over women's rights is affecting the political scene by changing public opinion about women, their abilities and their chances as candidates.

They also maintain there have been too few women willing to work to get elected and stay that way.

There are a total of 75 women in seven provincial legislatures, one in the House of Commons and seven in the Senate. Six of the legislature members are in provincial cabinets.

Inez Trueman of Windsor comments on a Canadian: "Once a constituency elects a woman, it takes a certain amount of pride in that, and feels it is progressive."

Mrs. Trueman is a Progressive Conservative member of the Manitoba house.

The feminist movement in Canada has taken little political action. One reason, according to members, is that they have no faith in established parties.

Jacqui Good of Women's Liberation in Fredericton, says: "People are alienated from the political process. Organized political parties here haven't much to offer women."

Ruth Taillon of Women's Liberation in Halifax says most women in politics now built their careers before the feminist movement was a factor.

"I think most people now involved in extra-parliamentary activity are not likely to go into a major political party."

Irene MacGregor, director of the Alberta women's bureau says that feminists are often too far left to fit comfortably into any party, even the NDP Waffle group.

However, there is a general feeling that the movement is having an indirect effect.

Una Maclean Evans, an Edmonton alderman, says: "There is a greater willingness on the part of women that they are qualified for political life, that they are not barred by anything but their own inaction.

Family Conferences Called To Compare Notes

By DORIS CLARK

When I was knee-high to a grasshopper we used to talk my father about the times when he would call a family conference. These were autumn, sober times, at a period when the flour of us youngsters were coasting money and needing decisions in many directions.

Father took the bidding in stride — and proceeded to call a conference any time there was a matter to be dealt with which he saw as a family affair. And we all chipped in with our ideas.

I thought of this when I heard a professor of sociology say that we don't have the family get-togethers over dinner that we used to.

Said professor is deliberately shaping a weekly conference - time - in his own home. Right now the charter members are father (him), mother (his wife) and one boy of three.

Wednesday nights are sacred. All three know this is family night, when they will compare notes, air grevances make group decisions about current dilemmas.

He plans to make Family Night into an institution of the last fledgling leaves the nest. Beyond that, he and his wife doubtless keep it up.

Then the topics will relate to how best to use their newly found leisure time.

Dear Doris: My 21-year-old daughter has just decided to live with her boyfriend who is 32. We don't believe in this kind of living.

Our 18-year-old granddaughter decided to live with her boy friend; and her mother (my stepdaughter) left her husband two years ago to live with a hippie.

My husband tells me they are none of my business and that our only concern is our own daughter.

What kind of life is in store for my husband and me, with that kind of thinking? Am I supposed to keep quiet? Am I stupid after being married 28 years, and at 52 years of age?

— Shocked and Bewildered

Dear Shocked: Some parents react by refusing to have anything to do with offspring who do this sort of thing. Others state their disapproval but keep contact.

Meanwhile the young people have trouble trying to decide what the difference is between living with somebody you care about without marriage, and living with somebody you care about within marriage.

Research seems to indicate that this casual living is not all it is cracked up to be. The theory is that if you stick with somebody you are not married to, you are saying it because you want to. In practice the absence of any permanent commitment often has the effect of a kind of detachment which means "I'll stay with you rather than so make it grow."

But then there are couples who, after a year or two, discover they want to give the ultimate in, and the end would prize the right to be called "wife" or "husband." And they want children. So they make the whole thing legal after all.

I'd say we are in a period of great moral change. Now it will sort itself out heaven only knows but my guess is that the family will go, as a way of life, will survive.

ASIA THROUGH A BUS WINDOW

"Here in Kabul, had real toast for breakfast! First since England! Talk about a thrill!" — Phyllis Walsh.

The autoban from London with its 29 passengers, which includes Phyllis Walsh of 259 Bridge East, of Belleville, found the all night drive to Kandahar Afghanistan to Kabul, Afghanistan, a difficult one, and Phyllis notes in her diary: "we were very worried we wouldn't make it but instead be stranded in the dessert."—but the bus finally arrived safely in Kabul, where "real toast for breakfast!" was in store, on a Wednesday morning of September 8, 1971.

"We walked through the Chatta Bazaar. That's where natives do their shopping. Crowded! Most of the merchants are Indians. Lovely textiles; a lot of them polyester. No camel-hair material in sight. Afghan coats start about $12. These people don't like to barter . . .

The next morning. "Five of us in a taxi, left at 8 A.M. for a 75 hour trip to Bamiyan Valley. One hour on paved highway, rest of time on bumpiest gravel road ever, with teen pot-holes. Scenery breathtaking: a desolate kind of Afghanistan — so glad we came.

We went through all kinds of villages. Colorful clothing on the girls, who wear silver bangles and beads around neck and forehead. Some leave studs in nose. Lovely bead dresses. Some small farm settlements built inside mud forts. Straw circular huts. Lots of fields of what look like sweet clover, mixed hard. Buddhas in the valley built remarkably distigured by Moslems, being reconstructed by Indians. Trip back in the dark — and scary!"

"September 11, we left Kabul via a tree-lined avenue. Drove through the Kyber Gorge. Hard Rock. Very dramatic, but not so impressive as yesterday. . . Finally reached the Pakistan border at 2:30 P.M. Kyber Pass is in Pakistan! Not nearly as dramatic as I expected. The road narrow, on edge of mountain. Most exciting. Stopped at the top of the Pass.

On the way to Lahore, Pakistan, "the road was tree-lined almost the whole way. Great variety of costumes worn by men and women; chandra, chandra, well, shawl, or just a water-buffalo pulling loads.' Phyllis also noted many joint enterprises in agriculture, schools, and fabulous research and social service. Consulting engineers of all types in Lahore.

"Here, we stayed at Hotel Taletis; luxury plus, big rooms, sumptuous, dinner-music, . . . discovered mango juice. . . supper and floor show. Absolutely delightful'. Also, "took tour of the city amid almost contifual horn honking. Visited the Badshahi Mosque, built in 1628 of sandstone and white marble, . . . visited Shalimar gardens built by Shah Jahan in 1641. Lots of trees, grass and fountains."

The bus went to Kashmir, where "we will stay as we could become snowbound", well a couple more days here. . .Really lovely scenery, with tall pine forests and covered with flowers in summer. Enroute to Jammu, "army camps everywhere and troops on the move. Note the conservation areas. Fall colors; yellow browny, Pretty — but North Bay, Ontario, is better. . . . We guests stay on houseboat-hotels, where tops of the Himilaya Mountains are mirrored in the depths of the water, and horses are provided to explore mountain slopes. "sure glad we didn't have to walk!"

Next week to be concluded.

Women's Institutes

WALLBRIDGE WI

Mrs. Robert Barlow was hostess for the July meeting of Wallbridge Women's Institute which was conducted by the president Mrs. Gordon Garrison.

Following the opening routine, the secretary Mrs. Everett Phillips read the minutes of the June meeting along with the treasurer's report and correspondence.

The topic was on food products and led by Mrs. Walter Johnson, and the program was presented by the 4-H girls, which had been arranged by Mrs. Don Shorey. The girls displayed their well kept note books and concluded by modeling of fashions which they had made. Mrs. Ethel Nicholson won the draw.

The president expressed thanks to all who had contributed to a successful meeting.

Lunch was served at the close.

The Experts Say

Canadian Consumption Of Cheese Doubles

By ANN LAUGHLIN

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadians are quickly catching up to Europeans in adventurous tastes for cheese, says Joe Ditkofsky, president of the Crescent Cheese Co. of Montreal.

"Canadian consumption of cheese has almost doubled in the last 10 years and people are taking a far greater interest in learning about different types rather than relying on old standbys," he said in an interview.

Cheddar is still "the Canadian dish cheese," but in major centres such as Montreal more than 135 varieties of cheese are stocked to meet demands of increasingly sophisticated palates.

Mr. Ditkofsky said that while relatively mild Dutch Gouda is the best-selling import, shoppers are tending to reach for stronger Camembert and exotic goat cheeses.

His company supplies the country with about 15 million pounds of cheese a year, both natural and processed types produced in the Montreal plant, and imports from Denmark, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

What makes a Cheddar and what makes a Tilsit depends on a series of carefully controlled factors from the fat content of the milk used and the type of timing of bacterial cultures added, to the temperature reached in "cooking" and the length of aging.

Basically, natural Cheddar begins as milk which is pasteurized in the cheese plant then pumped into a vat where cultures and rennet, an enzyme to coagulate the mixture, are added.

The mixture is heated while whey is drawn off and acid levels checked, until it is thickened to a curd-like consistency. After salting, the curds are put into moulds and pressed into 40-pound blocks.

If a block is to be sold as mild cheese, it is aged for two weeks at a 50-degree temperature, then graded, cut and packaged.

If a sharper flavor is desired, the milk is used is pasteurized as this destroys too many of the bacteria needed for developing flavor during the aging process.

The milk for stronger cheese is heated to a lower temperature sufficient to eliminate only some of the bacteria and the end product is aged for at least 90 days. During aging, the cheese is continually cut, turned and tasted to ensure it is not being spoiled by too much bacterial action.

"Natural cheese is white ranging from a pretty ameri- color in the summer when the cows are eating fodder to yellow shades in the winter when they're getting lots of grass and buttercups with additments that show up in milk products," Mr. Ditkofsky said.

Orange vegetable dyes have traditionally been added to Cheddar perhaps to provide more uniformity of color, he said.

Cutting the best from natural cheese requires proper handling, Mr. Ditkofsky said.

"Perishable cheeses like cream varieties, Camembert and Brie, should be eaten within a short time. They don't last long."

Imported cheeses of the Camembert type are canned or wrapped in protected package, ing at a prime flavor point in the year. The packaging retards further bacterial action so the cheese is still at peak flavor when it reaches the Canadian market.

Natural hard cheeses such as Cheddar, Gouda and Samsoe should be served at room temperature, Mr. Ditkofsky said.

Madoc Senior Citizens Enjoy Joint Picnic

MADOC — Forty members and friends of the Madoc and District Senior Citizens Club, No. 473, travelled by bus to Zwick's Island to attend the C.O.C.A. picnic there.

The bus left Madoc at 9 am and all enjoyed the cool breeze off the water while partaking of a picnic lunch. A lunch period was in attendance and came from as far away as Ottawa. In spite of the intense heat, a fine program of music singing and dancing provided entertainment by the different groups attending.

The next regular meeting will be held on Wednesday, August 2, and will take the form of a potluck picnic supper, to be held at the Price Memorial Rural Area near Actinolite. Members are asked to meet at the church at 2 p.m. where transportation will be arranged.

Ann Landers

VD Believed A National Crisis

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a high school teacher who is doing summer instructing. I am totally ill-equipped to answer some of the questions asked by 15- and 16-year-olds which is me, scared to death that they have VD. They refuse to go to the family doctor for fear their parents will find out, and are dying to treat themselves, which I know is a terrible mistake.

I have read in the newspapers that VD has reached epidemic levels in this country. The reason, of course, is that the pill has increased promiscuity and the old-fashioned protective devices are scoffed at. Will you please, Ann Landers, print in your column the symptoms of VD in language high school kids can understand? They need to know what to look for. Then tell these kids what to do about it. I cannot think of another writer who has anywhere near your teen-age readership. Bless you. — Newsday Reader in Long Island.

Dear Reader: I devoted an entire column to this subject a few years ago. A few newspapers refused to print it on the grounds that it was "too clinical." I hope those papers will recognize that VD is now a national crisis and even though the information will not make your agonizing breakfast reading it may be of life-saving importance to millions of young people. Here it is:

The most common form of VD is gonorrhea. In the early stages, females almost never feel pain or discomfort. It is entirely possible for a woman to infect a man and not be aware of it. In the advanced stages of gonorrhea, however, a woman experiences pain in the lower abdomen, a heavy mucous discharge, and sometimes fever.

Symptoms in the male appear about three days after contact. The most common symptom is a burning sensation during urination, and profuse discharge. Treatment for both female and male is simple and effective (large doses of penicillin) and it should be sought immediately upon appearance of symptoms. Chancres, if untreated, can cause sterility, arthritis and heart disease.

Syphilis has indeed reached epidemic proportions because the Pill has made "old-fashioned" contraceptives passé.

Early syphilis is usually manifested by a skin eruption which resembles a cold sore. The first eruption usually appears on the genitals a few weeks after contact. Several weeks later, eruptions may appear anywhere on the body, including the face. Syphilis can be treated within four or five months, can usually be cured within a matter of weeks. Untreated syphilis can result in blindness, brain damage, total incapacitation and death.

I urge every individual who suspects he may have VD to go to a doctor or to the county or city health department for an examination. VD will NOT disappear if ignored. When the first set of symptoms fades away, many people believe they "were out" of the disease, but this is not true. It has only gone underground and will erupt later in some other form.

Dear Ann Landers: A close friend has taken up painting as a hobby. For our wedding anniversary she gave us a beautiful canvas and went to the expense of having it framed. It does not fit in with our decor and is not what we would have selected for our home.

She expects us to hang it in a place of honor. We value her friendship and wouldn't offend her for the world. What should we do? — Reached

Dear B.: Hang the canvas in a "place of honor" for a couple of weeks. Move it to a less conspicuous place for another month. The following month, move it to the attic, storeroom, Mother Goodwill, or winter cabin — you get the idea.

Federal Drug Policy Emphasizes Education

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government will release policy statements after a marijuana hashish Monday but it is expected to stop short of making simple possession of the drugs legal.

Health Minister John Munro, when he makes the federal position public, is expected to emphasize education opposing drug use and announce a $3-million increase in the budget of his department's directorate on use non-medical use of drugs.

In May, the Le Dain Commission on non-medical drug use recommended abolition of penalties for simple possession of marijuana and hashish.

At the time, Mr. Munro disagreed with the recommendation and said he viewed increased education as a better approach.

Earlier this week, a justice department spokesman disclosed that Crown prosecutors have been urged to take a more lenient approach to first offenders facing first possession charges.

In the absence of exceptional circumstances, the spokesman said, prosecutors are being asked to urge that courts make use of a new Criminal Code amendment which came into effect July 15. The amendment gives judges the power to grant absolute or conditional discharges to individuals facing their first criminal charge.

This step would appear to lessen the impact of marijuana convictions but it indicates the government is not yet prepared to accept legislation.

Along with the $3 million increase in the drug directorate's budget, Mr. Munro is expected to announce departmental changes and name a new director. The chief, Dr. William Craig resigned the post in June, apparently over a dispute on finances for projects to combat drug abuse.

The directorate was alloted $4.3 million in Treasury Board estimates in February, about $400,000 less than in 1971.

Informed sources say Dr. directorate will be given a less prominent position within the department.

Mr. Munro is expected to announce it will be moved under the health protection branch and report to assistant deputy minister Dr. A. E. Richard rather than directly to deputy minister Dr. M. LaCher.

Sources indicate Dr. Craig's successor will be a non-medical person.

To Start on Monday Apartment Demolition

HULL, Que. (CP) — A battle by a group of Hull citizens against the powers behind a $12-million apartment development is to enter a crunching phase Monday.

Wreckers hired by Renee Joyal-Brossard promised residents of the Tache Gardens Property Owners Association that they hoped to begin demolition of the controversial Dasken apartment development.

But Hull alderman Rene Villeneuve has said he will be available for suggestions on stopping the demolition right up to the last minute. Demolition has been ordered by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Ald. Villeneuve's offer seemed to indicate whimper in the city's campaign to halt destruction of the unfinished, twin-tower apartment block that juts 10 stories into the air.

The demolition and restoration of the site to its former condition is expected to take months. But another opportunity remains for the city or the developers to try manoeuvres aimed at keeping the structure to a minimum.

The Tache Gardens group has only obtained a portion of the $125,000 it has raised to carry out the Supreme Court order.

Since the Supreme Court decision, Hull city council has been hit by a $5,675,348 suit by Dasken, the builder, and Aylmer Road Holdings Inc. of Montreal, owner of the apartment complex, for misleading them by granting building permit on land they were led to believe was zoned for high-rise apartments.

Ottawa Moves to Offset DISC

OTTAWA (CP) — The government took the first step Friday toward cracking down on foreign firms which ship goods to Canada while being rewarded with tax incentives back home.

Revenue Minister Herb Gray announced a new procedure under which foreign companies must declare, for customs procedures, whether they receive any corporate tax incentives or benefits in connection with their exports.

Although the Canadian move was brought on by the implementation of the American DISC program to encourage exports with tax incentives, Mr. Gray said it will apply to all countries. He said Japan, Australia, South Africa and Brazil all have tax-incentive programs to encourage exports.

The government has convinced that the DISC program violates the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, but Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin said there was no way for Canada to get an accurate list of American firms exporting under provisions of the program.

Mr. Gray told reporters Friday that if the information indicates that action should be taken against the firms, such action could be taken under laws relating to anti-dumping, countervailing duties or customs valuations.

Declarations, after Sept. 1, will have to accompany all shipments valued at $10,000 or more. Mr. Gray said this will cover some 70 per cent of all Canadian imports.

New Liskeard Speedy Grate Leader David Lewis said the government is trying to indicate it is doing something about the problem, while actually doing nothing.

The government had known for months that two automobile manufacturers were dumping cars to Canada under the provisions of DISC and has done nothing about it. Now it, merely seeking information, he said.

Mr. Gray said his department decided on the $10,000 base for such declarations because while this would cover some 500,000 shipments it would account for 70 per cent of imports, it wouldn't clutter the lists of small purchases some carried by tourists, which total about 7 million a year.

New penalties would be added if it was not effective. He said it would cover automobiles because they are shipped in groups, not individually.

Accident Victim Goes To 'Poolroom in Sky'

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP) — L. A. Bromfield has his "poolroom in the sky," something he always said he wanted.

Bromfield, 30, was buried near here this week, his coffin covered with a pool table, complete with balls and cue sticks, a pair of dice and six "gambler's dreams"—royal flush poker hands—placed in the tables pockets.

A quart of whisky, also placed on the table, is missing.

Tax Decision Jolts Write-off Claimants

OTTAWA (CP) — The finance department plans to change a court-ordered interpretation of income tax regulations that would have resulted in millions of dollars in higher taxes for industries.

The intention was revealed Friday in a department announcement of proposed changes in tax regulations flowing from Finance Minister John Turner's budget of last April 19.

Included in the proposals is some indication the finance department intends to define the "manufacturing and process" companies that will be eligible for faster tax write-offs on money paid for scientific equipment and for special rates of corporate income tax under the latest budget.

A court case for British Columbia Forest Products Ltd., hinging on whether certain items of business equipment is "manufacturing and processing facility in this case—should be classified as is equipment used in the mill or the nub of one chamber.

A department assessor who decided the B.C. Forest equipment should be classified as a structure rather than as equipment, meaning a depreciation write-off of five per cent a year for and World War souvenirs were six mortar shells.

The shells, dug with a couple of guns and other items, into the trunk of his car, intending to drop them off at a police station.

It was not until Friday that Borkowsky made it to a neighborhood police station and turned in the souvenirs. Explosives took one look at the mortar shells and sent for the bomb squad.

"All week I thought they were dead," Borkowsky said. "Now they tell me they were alive."

The government had accepted the interpretation and ruled that the equipment was making similar errors in write-off classification on such things as fuel storage tanks, which under proper interpretation of definitions in the law appeared as though they should be classified as structures rather than as productive equipment.

The 1971 decision jolted industrialists in many fields, who could see changed classifications and far slower write-offs coming for much of what they had expected would be allowed to classify as part of their production equipment.

They complained that the court interpretation amounted to implementing a change in government policy and asked for a review of the matter.

The new statement announcement Friday said such a review has been completed and it follows that the decision has been taken to allow the practice prior to the court decision to stand.

The regulations would be amended to make the interpretation applied before theB.C. Forest Products case, stand, said a spokesman for the department five, a department spokesman said, so that no company will be out of pocket as a result of the court challenged definition.

City Diamonds In the Rough

Intelligencer Sports

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1972

Eric Emerson
Staff
Sports Writer

When the score reached 13-0 Tuesday, I realized something was wrong.

It couldn't have been that Mead Johnson had a better team than The Intelligencer. No, I'd talked that over with my teammates and we all agreed that, "we've as good as any team in the Industrial Softball League" (give or take 13 runs).

And the trouble wasn't that Sonny Holoway was overpowering me at the plate. I had laced one of his deliveries at least a mile — a half-mile up and the same distance back down into the catcher's mitt. That, and a head foul ball convinced me that it couldn't be superior pitching that was causing my troubles.

Nor could it be fielding faults that were bringing me woe. Sure, I'd made six errors in six chances but nobody's perfect. I'd made some to oil my hands before the game so that my fingers barely creaked when I put on my Dick Stuart model fielders' glove. It definitely couldn't have been fielding that was giving me grief.

The reason for my inept performance was so simple that any idiot could figure it out. I did.

My problem was that I was being sabotaged by the Parks Board. They were asking a ballplayer of my calibre to play on a field of equal calibre, which is hardly fair. Tim Foli can take a few bad bounces in stride, Eric Emerson needs all of the help he can get; Hank Aaron can't help coming on most Belleville softball diamonds.

Having played baseball in the South Hastings League, I'm no stranger to terrible terrain between the foul lines. As one Alemite fan quipped while discussing that loop "... the South Hastings League. They play in cow pastures out there."

They do. In fact there have been times in the days of Shannonville when fielders were totally aware that cows had recently pastured on the ball field. However I'll take pastures-full-o'-dey to marshes, mires and perking lots which are exactly what Belleville offers in the way of field facilities.

The city has exactly two (2) ball diamonds worthy of the name. One Alemite is a fine playing field and CNRA, a very adequate one. However, the Industrial League is required to play many of its games at Prince of Wales or Prince Charles School.

The Prince of Wales diamond presents a unique softball experience, much the same as climbing artillery shells in the Mekong Delta. Its ground rule applies to the large swamp in centre field, where "a lost ball is two bases." Only a little like the impromptu rules of public school days like "dropped third strikes count" or "over the two manhole covers is a home run."

Unfortunately the rules don't cover things like lost eyeglasses. Two seasons ago one of the Intell's outfielder's managed (somehow) to pull off a diving game-saving catch in centre field. As his teammates rushed to congratulate him, Ron emerged from the mire looking much like Mr. Magoo wearing a mud pack. "Stay back! Stay back!", he sputtered, "I've lost my glasses".

Instead of jumping up and down and screaming and yelling like a winning teams are supposed to do, the Intell teams' post-game festivities consisted of crawling about on hands and knees in the centre field swamp. During the course of the search we uncovered the eyeglasses, six softballs, two frogs and one CNR outfielder. He'd been lost in there for months, poor devil.

Prince Charles present an entirely different problem. The left fielder is forced to take his position in the middle of three acres of pavement . . . pavement that's covered with glass and used as a race track by approximately 3,000 kids on bicycles. Chasing a fly ball in that area is much the same as attempting to change a flat tire on the Don Valley Expressway. It's a bit hazardous.

Of course new fields are being constructed at Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Centennial schools. They've apparently been under construction all summer. They're still under construction. Who knows, they may be under construction next summer as well.

Because of this delay, some Industrial games may have to be played at Hillcrest School which is the centre piece of the city's crown of thorns. The infield is covered with pine cones, but fortunately most of them have fallen into the holes made by horses' hoofprints. Centre field is occupied by a sloping hill, but outfielders don't have to worry about long chases in that area. They'll run into the new school's addition first.

It's rightfield at Hillcrest that really presents a problem. Medium range fly balls go out of the park and onto the road. Did you ever hear an outfielder explain that he didn't track down a fly ball because, "that guy across the road started his truck and I thought he was going to run over me!". I have.

Granted, the calibre of ball isn't always the greatest in the Industrial Softball League. It isn't meant to be. The Industrial League is a working man's league and that's just the point.

It's pretty tough to work if you've broken a leg by falling into an open sewer, or suffered dental work because of that bad-hop grounder or worse yet, been hit by a truck in the line of duty.

The people responsible for alloting and maintaining these facilities should be forced to play some games on their own diamonds, maybe in lieu of The Intelligencer pitching staff. It would serve them right.

Canucks Cash In

Station Square Canucks finally turned their season around by edging the Thurlow peewees 4-3 Friday for their initial Belleville Minor Soccer win of the season.

Three goals in the second half the Canucks' win as John Jianopoulos completed a hat trick scoring effort. George Moletta had the winners' other goal while Dale Donaldson scored twice and Jim Graham once for Thurlow.

In a mosquito bout the Steelworkers moulded an 8-2 win over Stephen License.

Tim Turner scored three times for the winners with John Clarke and Shane Beaumont getting two-feach and atom call-up Stan Wright the other. For Stephen License it was Robert Stephen and Greg Welsh getting one apiece.

Kingston Clubbed

The Kingston and Belleville minor baseball midgets decided to play a four point game instead of their scheduled double - header last night and Belleville are glad they did.

The local team stopped the Limestone crew 8-5 and grabbed up the four points. Ron McTaggart threw the win for Belleville fanning 10 and walking six.

John Masterson held the big bat for the winners connecting for a grand slam homer, triple and single. Reg Abrams and Dave Dent added a pair of singles each as Belleville came from behind to snatch the win.

Teamwork Tactics

Team work was the name of the game for the Vic Rossaltani - Prince Pullen - Mike Kelly combination who mangled the trio of Eric the Red, The Beast, and The Wildman, in the featured bout of the professional wrestling card at the Memorial Arena Friday night. Vic took the opportunity to sit down on top of the goose pile and catch his breath (top) which is more than the bottom men Eric - Beast - Wildman could do. Vic was again in the thick of things when the good guys used their pile driver tactics to take the fight out of the bad guys (bottom). Prince Pullen lends a hand from behind.

Prince Pops Villains

Prince Pullen might have a slight headache this morning but he had The Beast, The Wildman and Eric the Red holding theirs last night.

The Prince was a head above everyone else in last night's featured bout of the professional wrestling card, batting the three bad guys senseless. However all the butting went for not when the referee disqualified both teams.

Vic Rossaltanni and Mike Kelly, substituting for Beautiful Bruce Swayze who rumour has it is recovering from a broken back in Toronto, teamed up with the Prince to mop the floor with the men in the black corner. A series of drop kicks and butts had the Beast - Wildman - Eric trio reeling at the opening bell and the Prince finished it off by pinning the Beast - Wildman within the first three minutes of the match.

A pair of momentary mental lapses cost the 'Good Guys' two falls as Mike Kelly fell for the same old - bounce - off - the - ropes - kne - in - the - head - trick and was pinned twice by Eric the Red.

The double pins raised the ire of Vic and the Prince who quickly proceeded to demolish their opponents. Folly cost the crowd favorites the win and forced the disqualification of both teams. A three man pile driver assist in the corner, the rowing star, and a goose pile a centre canvas had the bad guys dazed and confused but unfortunately the means were illegal.

In the midget bout of the night Bobo Johnson and the Little Bruiser donned the boxing gloves and went at it tooth and nail. Bobo won it with a sixth round knockout.

Princess Karen beat Beverly Shaye when the women showed that wrestling wasn't solely a man's profession.

In the two opening bouts the Beast stomped on Buddy Freeman and Pat Kelly thwarted the Masked Assassin.

Wrestling holds all sorts of little surprises for referee Johnny London, and Little Bruiser had a big one. The Bruiser landed this haymaker to the jaw of London sending him spinning to the canvas. He was up at the count of five though and continued the surprise boxing feature between Bobo Johnson and Bruiser. London was a little more careful in positioning after this moment and kept his distance until Bobo scored a sixth

Wrestling Ref A Lonely Man

By RANDY DERRY
Sports Staff

Johnny London is a lonely man.

Being a professional wrestling referee, friends aren't a dime a dozen for Johnny, but after 21 years he's used to it.

"Sure it's a lonely life but it's what I want. I'm a pretty sociable guy most times but the public just won't let me; still wrestling is my profession and you get used to being alone," comments the veteran of most wrestling rings in Ontario.

Alone in front of a couple of thousand fans is hard to picture but while the fans run in sports of contempt for the wrestlers there is always a steady stream of insults, threats and profanity from the way of the referee. It's not that Johnny isn't qualified, being a licensed referee plus having 11 years of experience under his belt, but the mere fact that he is a referee is not an endearing point in the fans.

"I enjoy wrestling because it's a scientific art which makes it more of a challenge to keep on top of everything. The rules don't change that much so once you learn them that's that, but the wrestlers use every variation of a rule they can so you have to watch them every minute."

What the wrestlers try while in the ring is not new to Johnny who wrestled five years of lightweight himself in England before coming to Canada. The heavier weights in North America squelched any further aspirations of wrestling but refereeing allowed him to remain in the business.

Johnny now finds himself refereeing sometimes seven nights a week during the height of the season and is always on the move from one centre to the next along the Ontario wrestling circuit. "It gets you down sometimes and I do get tired of it but it's my life."

Johnny London is a lonely man but he is happy in the world of professional wrestling and along with his other infamous colleagues, umpires, Johnny has developed a retort to any would be critic with "just call them as I see them!"

Unfortunately fans will never admit that a referee can see.

Meads Move One Step Closer

The CNR were dealt a costly blow and Mead Johnson moved another step closer to that pennant winning trophy after a busy night in the Industrial Softball League schedule.

The CN were upset 5-3 by the Independents and watched their once big lead atop the league standings slather into obscurity, as they fell two full games behind Meads. Their rivals were 8-0 winners over the Post Office.

Wally Hull fired one-hit ball for the Independents over six innings of work before leaving for Al Campbell to clean up in the seventh. Hull finished with a two hitter. Ken Bicotrand's three hits and R. Green's two paced the upset win over the Trainmen.

Brian Plumbe and Ron Cameron saw mound duty for the third place CN.

Sonny Holoway brewed past the Post Office with a five-hitter and 10 of Meads 14 Meads became the winningest team in the league, with 10 victories. Blaine Young's fourth inning homer was enough for the win. Tim O'Connell tripled and Cliff Hinman doubled for Mevis.

Norm Lockwood allowed seven hits and fanned seven in taking the loss for the Postles.

Gary McMurray went the distance for UIC piling up 11 hits and fanning 10. Ron Finbury had a triple and two singles and Joe Clark a trio of singles in the winners 12 hit surge.

Jack Walsh smashed a homer and two singles and Dennis Genereaux a double and two singles for Brooke Bond.

In the division A race both The Intelligencer and the Lenders kept pace with each other, both pitching up convincing wins.

The Intell pounded out 16 hits in slamming Stewart Warner 17-8 while the Lenders hammered Canadian Tire 16-1 behind John Quinn's three hitter.

Ron Culloden pounded a three-run homer to back his own pitching efforts. Ron Post dealt a circuit blow and Joe Edwards connected for a pair of doubles and a pair of singles in the Printers' victory.

Jim Henri took the loss for Warner while Bill Lynch led the losers hitting attack with three singles.

Quinn struck out 14 and walked only three in shutting the door on CTC. Larry Gawley and Jim Fazackerley homered for the Lenders with Quinn helping himself by hitting a triple and single.

Andy Prudden took the loss.

Carlton Burns Chicago, Stoneman Cools Cards

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Everyone knows that Chicago weather but nobody does anything about it . . . except Philadelphia's Steve Carlton, who figured it and kept his hot streak going until Monte Irvin's Bill Stoneman, who thrived on it and cooled off Bob Gibson.

On a hot afternoon in Philadelphia, Carlton hurled a 2-0 four-hitter against Chicago Cubs and ran his winning string to a club record 10 games, erasing the old mark shared by Grover Cleveland Alexander, Robin

BILL STONEMAN

Roberts and Ken Heintzelman.

"I don't follow records and statistics," Carlton said. "I'm more concerned about the weather and I like it hot. I like to pitch during the day, especially when it's hot. I feel the batter has an advantage during the day. He sees the whole ball."

Then Stoneman went out in the cool of an early evening in Montreal and tamed St. Louis Cardinals on five hits 3-1, ending Gibson's streak at 11 straight victories.

Carlton was pretty relaxed out there, Stoneman said. "I seem to pitch better in cool weather. Today we had ideal pitching weather for me. A lot of other pitchers like it hot. I'm not that way," he said. "If you don't hit him early, you won't hit him at all. I can't explain it. I've never seen another pitcher so consistent this way."

Another consistent hurler had been New York's Tom Seaver, who had beaten Pittsburgh eight times in a row. But he yielded first-inning run on a walk, hit batter and Manny Sanguillen's single and Willie Stargell blasted his 21st home run in the fifth. Stargell then singled home an insurance run off all-star Game winner Tug McGraw in the eighth and Dock Ellis checked New York on seven hits as the Pirates pulled 6½ games ahead of the Mets in the NL East, their largest lead of the season.

"I try to be as consistent as I can be," said Seaver, 12-8, who allowed only four hits and struck out eight in seven innings but still suffered his third straight setback. "But it's been more erratic this year I guess than I have since I've been in the major leagues."

Gaylord Still Slippery, Dick Allen Makes Mark

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gaylord Perry and Dick Allen like to put their particular trademarks on baseball.

They were at it again Friday night—with predictable results.

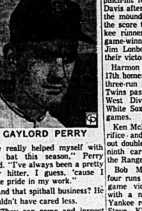
Perry's trademark, if you listen to the experts around the American League, is greaseless, petroleum jelly or good old-fashioned spit. But Gaylord, grinning as he dreads his less than-honest reputation, says it's just plain finesse.

Allen, there's hardly any deception involved. What he puts on a ball is a slight dent, the kind that comes from colliding with a bat in mid-swing just prior to rocketing over an outfield fence.

Perry, the ace of the Cleveland mound staff, was at it again, Baltimore manager Earl Weaver insisting he be hurled his way to his 17th victory of the season, tying Mickey Lolich of Detroit as the winningest pitcher in the majors.

But Perry did more than just toss a six-hitter. He also buried across the scoreboard tally, triggering a three-run rally that gave the Tribe a 4-1 edge in closing a victory over the Orioles.

Allen didn't wait very long to get his thing. He belted off one Dick Drago pitch in the first inning, a two-run homer, his third in two nights and his 25th of the year, taking over the major league home run lead and starting the Chicago White Sox on their way to a 5-0 victory over Kansas City.



GAYLORD PERRY

I've really helped myself with the bat this season," Perry said. "I've always been a pretty fair hitter, I guess, 'cause I take pride in my work."

And that spitball business? He couldn't have cared less.

"They can come and inspect me any time they want," he shrugged. "This sort of thing has been going on for eight years . . . When I was in the National League, seven or eight inspectors a game were common."

He was delighted with his pitching but even more with his bat that snapped a 1-1 tie and helped Cleveland to a demoralized game-clinching two-run single.

"That's two of those times I've really helped myself with the bat this season," Perry said. "I've always been a pretty fair hitter, I guess, because I take pride in my work."

Tommie Reynolds, sent up to pinch-hit for pinch-hitter Brock Davis after Fred Scherman took the mound for the Tigers with the score tied and two Milwaukee runners on base, belted a game-winning hit to left, to give Jim Lonborg and the Brewers their victory.

Harmon Killebrew swatted his 17th homer, a two-run shot in a three-run ninth to lead the Twins past the Athletics, whose West Division lead over the White Sox was reduced to six games.

Ken McMullen's single, a sacrifice and Leo Cardenas' run-scoring double in the bottom of the ninth carried the Angels past the Rangers.

Bob Montgomery drove in three runs with a double and a game victory, three of them with a ninth-inning homer off Yankee relief ace Sparky Lyle. Steve Kline scattered seven Boston hits to gain the split for New York.

Trevino Misses Cut

Houston Team Sets Pace

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Gibby Gilbert and rookie Lanny Wadkins shared the lead Friday as Arnold Palmer and new partner Jack Lewis were still hoping for a miracle finish in the Rolex Challenge golf tournament.

Gilbert and Wadkins were tied for the top spot with former University of Houston team-mates Ed Sneed and Jim Colbert at 63-68—131 after 36 holes of the 72-hole event in which the scoring is based on the better ball of each team.

Palmer, who teamed with Jack Nicklaus to win the last two Rolex tests on the 7,045-yard Laurel Valley Golf Club course, finished 25-yard behind Lewis as his partner when Nicklaus had to withdraw with an infected finger.

They just survived the cut at 138, a distant eight strokes off the pace, but agreed: "We're going to come back and win it."

Trevino, fresh from his British open triumph, and partner Lloyd failed to qualify for the last 36 holes. They had a best ball 70 for 141, the same that eliminated Billy Casper and Jerry Heard. Both teams were among the percentage favorites.

The Gilbert-Wadkins and Hisakey-Zerley teams held a one stroke lead over Dana Quigley and neighbors Hubert Green and Mac McLendon and Frank Beard and Deane Beman, tied at 131. Beard and Boman had a 67 and Green-McLendon 66.

Sneed and Jay Haas of Rosburg, 65, and first-round leaders Tommy Aaron and Charles Coody, 66 were next at 132. At 133 were Buddy Allin and Al Geiberger, Bob Rosburg and Dave Stockton, and Jerry McGee and Leonard Thompson.

Zerley and Hiskey matched the day's best round with a 63. Hiskey, a former Sahara International champ, scored seven of the team's nine birdies, including an incredible chip-in from about 40 yards over a trap, the ball hitting the flag-stick and dropping straight down into the hole.

Long Olympic Team Ever

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's representation at next month's Summer Olympics at Munich, West Germany, will be the biggest this country has ever sent to the Olympic Games.

Dick Pound of Montreal, assistant chef de mission for the Canadian team, estimated Friday that close to 300 people, including 228 athletes, will make the trip.

By comparison, Canadian athletes competing at the 1968 Summer Games in Mexico City numbered 146.

However, the Canadian Olympic Association still is not sure of exact numbers when it team speaks of competitors. A number of sports federations have yet to hold their trials, which will not name their teams until close to the departure date —the third week in August.

In addition to the 228 athletes, the medical team to Munich will include six doctors, six physiotherapists and one nurse. Maurice Allen of Sept-Iles, Que., will act as chef de mission, with Pound and Don Goodwin of Toronto acting as his assistants.

Ken Murray of Montreal will be the group's office manager and there will be two chaperones. 20 managers and 22 coaches accompanying the Still to be selected are the swimming team of 30 or more, eight-man wrestling team, an equestrian jumping team of five, a rowing squad of 17 men or so," waterpolo, basketball and volleyball teams.

At a news conference here Thursday night, the COA gave approval to some of the teams. One of them was the 25-athlete track and field contingent.

All told, the COA now has approved 137 athletes to 14 teams, with track and field topping the list numerically.

"There are others of course," Pound said. "Swimming is the most obvious and we are holding off on them until the last minute—August 5.

"The situation there is most difficult as we are pressed to attend school. School finishes late so they can get into full training until late."

He said the swimming standards are tough, "perhaps the toughest of all," and the COA wants to give every competitor a chance.

Decision on Hull To Be Made Wednesday

OTTAWA (CP) — Douglas Fisher, chairman of Hockey Canada, said in a television interview Thursday night that Hockey Canada will make a final decision Aug. 2 on whether Bobby Hull will be allowed to play for Canada in the scheduled Canada-Russia hockey series.

Mr. Fisher, appearing on the public affairs program Question, and some directors of Hockey Canada were urging that Hull be allowed to play on the team despite his signing a contract to play with Winnipeg Jets of the World Hockey Association.

The agreement under which National Hockey League players are allowed to play on their team calls for them to have signed contracts with their NHL teams. Hull has been joined in his situation by J. C. Tremblay and Derek Sanderson who have signed contracts to play for WHA teams.

Mr. Fisher defended NHL president Clarence Campbell, saying he had been invaluable in making arrangements for the series.

Mr. Fisher said Hockey Canada would review in the next couple of months whether it should continue as an organization. He said he did not know if Hockey Canada should become involved in international competition.

FREDERICTON (CP) — Danny Grant, a left winger for Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League, said Friday he doesn't blame Bobby Hull for signing his lucrative contract with Winnipeg Jets of the rival World Hockey Association. "Pro hockey is a business," Grant said in an interview here. With Hull having only another three or four years left to play, "who can blame him for wanting to go with the world league," whose Winnipeg entry gave Hull a contract worth about $3 million.

Glover Resigns

CLEVELAND (CP-AP) — Citing "personal reasons," Fred Glover announced Friday he has resigned as director of player personnel for the Cleveland Crusaders of the World Hockey Association.

Chuck Catto, assistant general manager of the Edmonton entry, was named to succeed him.

Glover had taken the Crusaders post just two weeks ago after coaching the previous four seasons in the National Hockey League with California Golden Seals and Los Angeles Kings.

At the same time the Crusaders announced the signing of defenceman Paul Shmyr of Golden Seals and Ron Buchanan of Denver Spurs of the Central League.

Ryun In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Ryun, holder of three world records and member of the United States Olympic team, will be a feature attraction of the annual Metro Toronto Police Games here Saturday night.

It is expected Ryun will complete in the mile, one of the special events arranged in conjunction with the games, but his opposition will mostly be local athletes, including Tom Pearson, Gran McLaren, Bob Finlay, Ergas Leps, Bill Peel, Mike McCann and Dave Quibell.

The King Quits

MONTREAL (CP) — Quarterback comptroller Jim (King) Corcoran left the Alouettes on Friday the same way he arrived —with flair.

Corcoran called his own news conference to announce his departure.

And, before he left, he threatened to return and buy the Canadian football League club.

Officially Corcoran said he quit the team to return to Washington where Jim Jim is going blind in his teletype because of a accident three years from a baseball bat two weeks ago.

Corcoran said he saw the accident on the news when he learned veteran quarterback Sonny Wade had a no-cut contract with the team at $30 000 plus, and that head coach Sam Etcheverry had designated sophomore Jim Chasey as his starting quarterback for the job.

Corcoran said he felt he could have helped the Alouettes "because I could have promoted football here." He predicted that owner Sam Berger will lose between $500,000 and $400,000 again this season and that if the club does not have a winning streak it will end up with "4,000 to 7,000 people before the end of the season."

"If Berger wants to sell the club, I'd like to buy it," Corcoran said. "I'm going to talk to some of my business friends who have the money and try to buy for next year."

Etcheverry said Corcoran had been given every opportunity; but on the strength of his last two performances, likely would have been cut anyway. The coach refused comment on Wade's no-cut contract.

Poor Response

MONTREAL (CP) — Organizers of the Canada-Russia hockey series said Friday they are puzzled by the lack of response to applications for a ticket for game tickets.

Morton Leads Cowboys To Win Over All-Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — Backup quarterback Craig Morton got in early and had time to do his thing. Backup quarterback Pat Sullivan got in late and his thing was to no royal.

That was the story of the 30th annual College All-Star game Friday night as Morton led the world champion Dallas Cowboys to a 20-7 win over an All-Star team that was better than expected on defense but lifeless on offence.

It was the ninth straight victory for the pros over the college giants.

Morton entered the game when Roger Staubach was shaken up late in the first half and tossed two touchdown passes, Sullivan, the Heisman Trophy winner, entered the game in the final quarter and led the Stars to their only touch-down of the game.

Sullivan's performance he completed eight of 15 passes for 61 yards—raised a question.

He didn't. Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney insert him earlier to replace ex-Nebraska star Jerry Tagge, who couldn't get the Stars moving in three quarters he played?

Devaney said he thought Tagge could move the team. He said he thought the key play was a fumble by Tagge early in the third quarter with the Cowboys holding a 10-0 lead.

Tagge was rolling right when the ball seemed to slip from his hand. He kicked it toward the sidelines, and Dallas' Bob Lilly fell on it at the colleguans' 41. Four plays later, Morton tossed 24 yards to Bob Hayes, who had broken clear over the middle, and it was 17-0.

Morton had entered the game with six minutes left in the half after Staubach was sandwiched among three All-Stars as he ran for a first down at the Stars' 19-yard line. He threw one incomplete pass, then hit Ron Sellers, newly acquired from the New England Patriots, in the right corner if the end zone for the score.

The other Cowboy scores came on a 37-yard first quarter field goal by Mike Clark and a 33-yarder on the first play of the fourth quarter by Austrian soccer-style kicker Toni Fritsch.

So it was 20-0 when Sullivan entered the game. He promptly moved the Stars 80 yards in 16 plays.

Tennis Rematch Looms

CLEVELAND (AP) Evonne Goolagong and Chris Evert kept everyone thinking of their rematch Sunday by scoring convincing, straight-set victories to open the Bonne Bell Cup competition Friday.

Miss Goolagong started slowly against Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif., before romping to a 6-4, 6-0 triumph to open the best-of-seven series between the Australian and United States' women's teams.

Miss Evert then trimmed Margaret Court, the former queen of the net world, 6-3, 6-2.

Wendy Overton of Chevy Chase, Md., met Kerry Melville of Australia to open today's second round play, followed by a doubles match. Makeup of the doubles teams was to be announced an hour before the match.

Miss Goolagong, 20, who defeated 17-year-old Miss Evert 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in their only other meeting this summer in the semi-finals at Wimbledon, is to meet the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., high school senior in the next-to-last match Sunday.

While Miss Goolagong's victory over Miss Ziegenfuss was expected, they were doubts whether Miss Evert could handle Mrs. Court, who dominated the women's tennis world in the 1960s with 27 major titles.

"I played her before when I was 15," recalled Chris of her 7-6, 7-6 triumph right after Mrs. Court had won all of the top prizes in women's tennis in 1970. "There were looks about the same to me, but I think I can return it easier than two years ago."

Mrs. Court, trying a comeback after a year off the tour to have a baby, was kept away from the nets by Miss Evert's lob shots and pin-point backhand placements.

Panthers Plastered

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Whitewashes were the order of the night when Burlington Braves thumped Peterborough Panthers 18-0, Scarborough Rams walloped Lakeshore Bears 34-0 and Oshawa Hawkeyes shutout Oakville Colts 12-0 in opening games of the Ontario Junior Football Conference Friday night.

The Braves, Eastern Canada junior football defending champions, took a 5-0 lead in the first half at Burlington on a 14-yard field goal by John Harrison and a safety touch.

Then in the second half Burlington quarterback Terry Wright hit Elton Kane with a 17-yard pass for a touchdown and Harrison converted.

Paul Schlichta replacing Wright at the Braves' quarterback, combined with Kane again on a 60-yard pass-and-run play for the final touchdown which was not converted.

At Toronto, Bobby Bell scored one touchdown and kicked three converts in the Rams' victory. Other touchdowns were by Peter Sisson, Gary Morris, Rich Van Loon and John Henderson. Another TD was covered by Vic Abeff.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

Sunday, July 30

Aries (March 21-April 19): Arrive bright and early for your share of community observances this weekend. Make the rounds to renew acquaintance in your own bailiwick.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Concentrating on home affairs and nearby matters of personal interest is likely the best course to follow this quiet Sunday.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Reach out for wider social contact, freshness in old friendships. Bring only a selected few long-time associates into any new situations.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): For once luck and coincidence seem to be with you. Make the most of a chance to get co-operation in abating a long-term, minor difficulty.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Distant people may be more important in the long run than some of those near you and getting into your activities this Sunday.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Whatever you take initiative to do or be change is to your credit or blame, as the case may be. Creative projects have great meaning.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Listening can be a greater pleasure than leading the discussion. Be a wilful wallflower for once and learn an unexpected truth.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Stretch out to be yourself and share the pleasures of your life with those who can reciprocate. Hobbies add to your resources.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your physical energy demands a special outlet this Sunday. Organize competitive sports or games. Share some exercise-producing pastime.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Social contact promises good experience, future expectation. Seek deeper understanding between yourself and those you care about.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Movement, whether it be actual travel or a symbolic shift of viewpoint, brings rewards. progress. Moderate habits should prevail.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Your prospects improve with fresh information, wider social encounters. Gather good friends for a party, leisurely enjoyment.

Monday, July 31

Aries (March 21-April 19): In the midst of this productive day someone balks and it's up to you to get things smoothed out without delay or lasting dissension.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Extra effort is needed fairly early, as there isn't any easy path around lucky chances. Constructive changes made now are permanent.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): What strikes you as funny may not seem so to others. Formality and self-restraint bridge the stresses nicely so that much can be achieved.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You appear to be in the middle of conflicting interests. Making it a busy day erases some concern. Leave some matters for tomorrow.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Impulsiveness is normal, but can be channeled into a long-needed corrective move. Settling and signing leases can wait for another day.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): More hastily and you may find you've upstaged yourself. Whatever looks simple isn't, so take a second look at too-smooth activities.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Find a tactful way to divert attention from your plans. There are times when people can't library simply for the sake of being so.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Misunderstanding is averted by diplomacy. Events happen quickly, sweep you and your friends of normal course for a moment.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Strong opinion crop up on all sides and it's easy to get involved in controversy. Taking the easy way out of responsibilities creates difficulties.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Friends are with you all the way, though your local situation gets in the way of broad advancement. Try for greater range of expression.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Explaining things only makes them more obscure, so let well enough alone. Slight differences can accent and settle on new plans.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Staying on the path you've laid out may seem illogical, but try it for just a little longer. Money causes much discussion.

Thumb-sucking Ended on Schedule

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In your column you discussed thumb-sucking.

I'd like to tell you how I cured my daughter. She's the youngest child of four, and the only one who sucked her thumb. A couple of months before her fourth birthday, I said to her: "Soon you'll be four years old, and you'll be a big girl, then you can't suck your thumb anymore."

We never made a fuss about her thumb-sucking, nor allowed anyone else to scold her.

Almost daily I would repeat that she would be a big girl on her birthday and couldn't suck her thumb anymore. Then she was repeating this herself (thumb out) for a month.

I wasn't really confident that this course of action would work, and I planned to try another course later on if it didn't.

Her fourth birthday arrived and she gave me the biggest hug that she always fingered while thumb-sucking. She absolutely never sucked her thumb again, and it had been an almost constant habit.

She's now a well-adjusted 13-year-old and makes straight-A grades. Don't think this would work for everyone, but it sure did for us.—Mrs. C. C.

In most cases, the approach is important as the method, and in your case you probably used an effective approach to the problem. Whether facing a child with a desire to quit, kind would always work is another question.

But I'm happy to pass along your experience to other readers.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I make a cranberry relish to serve with chicken dinners. My family has enjoyed eating this until my husband found out there were two whole oranges in this relish. He claims that the orange skins contain some very harmful ingredients and refuses to touch my relish. What is in orange skins, and is it really harmful to humans?—Mrs. R. S.

Your relish sounds as harmless as it undoubtedly is delicious. Skins contain bio-flavonoids, whose function is similar to that of vitamin C. They are not harmful.

If this doesn't convince your husband, confront him with a label from any commercial jar of orange marmalade, which contains orange skins and is being consumed by many a breakfast table. Eat on.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In the past several months I have learned of two people who lost a kidney because of tuberculosis. Please explain. They both had tuberculosis and seem to be in very good health.—Mrs. R. L.

Although tuberculosis of the lung is the most common type of TB, it is possible for the germs to be carried in the blood through other organs such as the kidneys.

Where removal of the kidney is indicated, the patients usually continue to lead healthy lives with a single kidney.

Dear Doctor: Is it harmful to a child's ear to pull on it to discipline him?—F. O.

Given the delicate mechanism of the ear, the answer is an unqualified yes. If you feel you must resort to some physical manifestation of disapproval, I'd advise you to seek out some more sturdy portion of the anatomy—such as the bottom.

Dear Doctor: If a person has a drunken hangover and feels restless, is it today to take a sleeping tablet?—F. O.

The tablet will tend to augment the effects of the alcohol, not diminish them. The alcohol serves as a sedative; hence omit the sleeping tablet.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♠	2♥	Pass	3♥
4♠	4♥

Opening lead — queen of spades.

If you don't succeed at first, try again — which is exactly what East did in the accompanying deal when he defeated four hearts in a well-played hand.

West led the queen of spades and East realized that, on the bidding, South would almost surely have just four spades and a heart against passive defense. Accordingly, he gave himself a reasonable chance to stop the contract. East overtook the queen of spades with the king and returned his singleton club.

East was planning to win declarer's first-trump lead with the ace and play a low spade back to his partner's (presumed) jack, and in that way procure the club ruff he so vitally needed to defeat the contract.

But declarer, alert to the significance of East's club return, countered with a measure of his own. He won the club with the ten, cashed the A-K of diamonds, and continued with the ten of diamonds — on which he discarded his remaining spade as East won the trick with the jack.

The communication with West in spades now severed by declarer's spade discard, East thereupon changed tactics in midstream to and the new situation that had developed.

He shifted his attack to a brand new quarter by roaming the queen of diamonds, presenting South with a useless ruff and discard. Declarer did as well as he could when he ruffed with the ten and played the king of hearts to force out the ace.

But East now delivered the telling blow when he led the fifth and final round of diamonds. South ruffed with the jack and cashed the queen of hearts, but then had to go down one when he lost the setting trick to West's almighty nine of trumps.

IRA Strongholds Smashed by Army

Heath To See Labor Chiefs

"Shall we put it in the beauty shop or under the swing?"

Derry, and Belfast Enclaves Entered

LONDONDERRY (CP) — Thousands of British troops, supported by armor, bulldozed their way into Irish Republican Army strongholds in Londonderry and Belfast today, smashing all immediate guerrilla resistance.

But within a few hours of cracking the IRA strongholds, three bomb explosions killed at least six persons including a child of eight in the village of Claudy, 14 miles from Londonderry.

Five thousand troops in London-derry tanks, converted to giant bulldozers, angry crowds taunted and spat the soldiers.

"They'll be back," an infuriated woman supporter of the IRA shouted.

Although the bulk of the IRA gunmen appeared to have gone underground, there were fears they would strike perhaps with a wave of bombing outrages similar to the massive bombing of Belfast on "Bloody Friday" 10 days ago.

Spokesman of the militant Provisional wing of the IRA predicted counter-moves. In Dublin, there was speculation that the IRA'S Marxist Official wing would call off its recent ceasefire.

In Dublin, too, there was evident concern. Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish republic met with senior ministers.

As if to herald IRA counter-moves, at least one bomb went off in Londonderry after the British action as crowds gingerly left their homes in other areas of the city and attempted to reach their places of work.

The army said that its entire force of 21,000 men in northern Ireland was directly or indirectly involved in the swoop on IRA strongholds throughout the province.

The British troops refreshed from a house-to-house search of Catholic areas. But they made some raids on homes and seized some arms, ammunition, explosives and bomb-making kits.

While army bulldozers smashed down the barricades of the Catholic "no-go" areas, all of Londonderry's Protestant barricades were shifted by a work force of Ulster Defence Association men helped by troops of the Royal Engineers.

The army predicted that all barricades in both Londonderry and Belfast would be removed by mid-August.

Of the little resistance there was, most was in Londonderry. Barricades toasted the soldiers with cries of "Pigs", "English bastards" and "Leave us alone." Women shook their fists at the troops or looked sullenly, while crowds of youths kept up a barrage of verbal obscenities.

Terror After 'Release'

Ransomed for Million, Woman Left in Chains

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Virginia Piper, whose husband paid $1 million ransom to free her from kidnappers, dug at the ground with her bare hands while trying to free herself from a tree to which she had been chained in a forest.

"I wasn't actually in fear of my life until they left me on Friday," Mrs. Piper said. "Then I thought I'm chained to a tree here and they'll find me in November."

Mrs. Piper, who discussed the kidnapping at a news conference Sunday, said she began digging in hopes of uprooting the six-inch-thick tree.

"I thought that the only way I could ever get out was to uproot the tree and lug it out to big highway. At least it kept me busy, I figured that by the end of the week, I would be able to dump that tree."

The 49-year-old victim had some degree of mobility since the chain which was strung around the tree from hand to hand, had a three-foot leeway.

FBI agents, who went to the scene after receiving an anonymous tip, unlocked her handcuffs, but could not free her from the chain. So four agents bent the small tree to the ground and she was able to slip the chain over it.

"This is terribly funny, really —four of them jumped on the tree and swung it back and forth and got it down," Mrs. Piper said.

She disclosed that she did not know how much money her millionaire husband had paid her kidnappers until after she returned home safely Saturday.

The kidnappers have not been caught.

Mrs. Piper's husband is Harry C. Piper, 54, board chairman of the investment and brokerage firm of Piper, Jaffray and Hopwood, Inc. He told reporters Sunday the $1 million ransom in $20 bills he delivered Friday night was so heavy "I could just barely lift it." The money weighed 115 pounds.

The ransom is believed to be the most ever paid in a kidnapping in the United States, surpassing the $600,000 paid in 1953 to the abductors of Robert C. Greenlease, 6, son of a Kansas City, Mo., car dealer.

Mrs. Piper's ordeal began Thursday when two men burst into her fashionable home in suburban Orono. Both wore black nylon masks over their heads and each had two pistols. Mrs. Piper said the kidnappers put tape over her eyes threw a pillow case over her head and ordered her to lie down in the back seat of a car while they drove her to wilderness area near Duluth, about 140 miles north of here.

Mrs. Piper said the two kidnappers had another man helping them although she never saw him. She said she overheard the two abductors talking about an accomplice.

Pick Jury For Bremer

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Jury selection is scheduled to begin today in the state trial of Arthur Herman Bremer, accused of wounding Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally May 15.

The 21-year-old defendant has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to each of the 17 counts to be considered in the proceedings in Prince George County circuit court.

Twelve of the counts allege Bremer used a .38-calibre pistol to assault Wallace; Secret Service agent Nicholas Zarvos; Capt. E. C. Dodhard of the Alabama State Police, and Dora Thompson, a Wallace campaign volunteer from Hyattsville, Md.

The five other charges to be considered by the jury under Judge Ralph W. Powers accuse the former busboy and school janitor from Milwaukee of violating Maryland's handgun control law.

Bremer also faces federal charges of shooting Wallace and Zarvos, but the trial in U.S. District Court in Baltimore has been postponed indefinitely.

Wallace was invited to testify but has announced he will not appear.

Charter Flight Cancelled

TORONTO (CP) — A 183-passenger charter flight to London, England, was declared illegal and cancelled at Toronto International Airport an hour before takeoff Sunday.

A station manager at the airport said the flight was halted while people were checking in their baggage before the flight. Donaldson International Airways was to carry the group, organized by a United Kingdom charter company.

Some passengers were later taken to New York City by bus for a flight to London from there. The bus was chartered by the U.K. travel agency. Others sought alternate flights.

Eagleton Takes Case to McGovern

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the new Democratic party leadership urging him to pull out, nominee Thomas Eagleton says he'll take his fight for staying on the ticket to George McGovern tonight.

The Missouri senator said Sunday that if presidential candidate McGovern should ask him to get off "I can't prejudge what I would do."

"I think that I'd perhaps want more time to think it over," he said.

Eagleton said he will present his case to McGovern without being pig-headed, but he was not sure a decision would result from the meeting.

The senator's future on the ticket has been in question since last Tuesday when he disclosed that he had undergone psychiatric treatment in 1960, 1964 and 1966 for mental depression.

Democratic national chairman Jean Westwood and vice-chairman Basil Paterson, interviewed on NBC's Meet the Press Sunday, urged Eagleton to drop out.

Canadians and Spouses Hunger-strike in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Two native-born Canadians and their Soviet spouses went to the Canadian Embassy today to hold a hunger strike there until government allows them to return to Canada.

The four are Canadian-born Eugene Jim Lenko and Nadia Demidenko, who reluctantly emigrated to the Ukraine with their parents 16 years ago, Lenko's wife Svetlana, and Mrs. Demidenko's husband Anatoly.

Both Canadian and the Soviet Union claim Lenko and Mrs. Demidenko as citizens. The spouses and the couples' children, born here, have only Soviet citizenship. But Canada has assured them of entry permits if Soviet authorities allow them to leave here.

During the last two years the couples have submitted countless letters, applications and appeals in an attempt to get exit visas.

Asked Sunday why they chose the Canadian Embassy for the protest, Lenko said:

"I think that if we did it anywhere else — say out in the street or the central telegraph — we'd just get hauled in by the cops. It's a piece of shelter for us. We'll consider ourselves on Canadian soil."

Eight Held in London Death

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Eight men were arrested during the wekend, one on a charge of non-capital murder, in connection with the slaying of Andre Tremblay, 32, of Baie St. Paul, Que., whose body was found in high grass near a park here Thursday.

Charged with non-capital murder was Jean Louis Huot, 32, of no fixed address.

Tremblay apparently was beaten to death two days before his body was found, although exact cause of death will not be known until an autopsy is completed, Police found two cents in his clothing.

Huot was picked up in Windsor, Ont., Saturday, along with four other men who are being held as material witnesses. The five were returned here Sunday and were to appear today in provincial court.

Arrested as material witnesses were Bernard Pierre Laperle, 32, Normand Joseph Lauzon, 25, Jean Paul Lacourciere, 47, and Pierre Loubier, 37, all of no fixed address.

Three other men were arrested here Saturday as material witnesses and are to appear in court Tuesday. Police withheld their names.

Frederick, a single man, arrived here by bus last Tuesday. He is employed as a cook at Camp Upperwash, 25 miles northwest of Sarnia, Ont., by Canada Catering Co. of Montreal.

IRA Strongholds Smashed by Army

Derry, and Belfast Enclaves Entered

LONDONDERRY (CP) — Thousands of British troops, supported by armor, bulldozed their way into Irish Republican Army strongholds in Londonderry and Belfast today, smashing all immediate guerrilla resistance.

But within a few hours of cracking the IRA strongholds, three bomb explosions killed at least six persons including a child of eight in the village of Claudy, 14 miles from Londonderry.

Five thousand troops in London-derry and another 5,000 in Belfast crushed IRA barricades and moved into Roman Catholic areas to impose a rule of iron and guns.

It was the British army's most massive attempt in three years of troubles to try to bring peace to Northern Ireland.

A further 2,000 face-blackened troops landed through the rain into small Ulster cities.

After three hours, Britain's minister for Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, announced the troops "now are in occupation and control throughout Northern Ireland."

The elusive IRA virtually vanished. Six gunmen were believed to have been hit by army bullets. But the main force of IRA guerrillas apparently went into hiding, or slipped across the border into southern Ireland.

Two persons—a boy of about 16 and a youth of about 22—died during the Londonderry operation, police said, but their identities were unknown.

Catholics stayed in their homes as the troops swarmed into the "Free Derry" area of Londonderry's Bogside and Creggan estates as well as Catholic areas of Belfast just after 4 a.m.

A few shots were fired by IRA marksmen apparently left to offer token resistance.

But as daylight came and the troops took up defensive position around their 30-ton Centurion tanks, converted to giant bulldozers, angry crowds taunted and spat at the soldiers.

"They'll be back," an infuriated woman supporter of the IRA shouted.

Although the bulk of the IRA gunmen appeared to have gone underground, there were fears they would strike perhaps with a wave of bombing outrages, similar to the massive bombing of Belfast on "Bloody Friday" 10 days ago.

Spokesman of the militant Provisional wing of the IRA predicted counter-moves. In Dublin, there was speculation that the IRA's Marxist Official wing would call off its recent ceasefire.

In Dublin, too, there was evident concern. Prime Minister Jack Lynch of the Irish republic met with senior ministers.

As if to herald IRA counter-moves, at least one bomb went off in Londonderry after the British action as crowds gingerly left their homes in other areas of the city and attempted to reach their places of work.

The army said that its entire force of 21,000 men in northern Ireland was directly or indirectly involved in the sweep on IRA strongholds throughout the province.

The British troops refrained from a house-to-house search of Catholic areas. But they made some raids on homes and seized some arms, ammunition, explosives and bomb-making kits.

While army bulldozers smashed down the barricades of the Catholic "no-go" areas, all of Londonderry's Protestant barricades were dismantled by a work force of Ulster Defence Association men helped by troops of the Royal Engineers.

The army predicted that all barricades in both Londonderry and Belfast would be removed by mid-day today.

Of the little resistance there was, most was in Londonderry. Children taunted the soldiers with cries of "Pigs", "English bastards" and "Leave us alone." Women shook their fists at the troops or looked sullenly, while crowds of youths kept up a barrage of verbal obscenities.

Heath To See Labor Chiefs

'Shall we put it in the beauty shop or under the swing?'

LONDON (AP)—Longshoremen streamed into London today as chief government ministers studied plans for curbing Britain's labor strife in a crisis which has closed down the country's major ports.

Prime Minister Heath has set up talks on the crisis with the Trades Union Congress, representing 10 million workers, for Tuesday.

Main topic will be snarled labor relations which last week caused Britain's worst industrial crisis in 46 years with longshoremen, miners, public transportation workers and other employees standing work.

Longshoremen assembled in London to lobby talks already begun between their leaders and representatives of the port employers. The discussions centre on proposals aimed at meeting the longshoremen's fears about job security in the face of containerization of cargoes which already has led to thousands of layoffs in British ports during the last few years.

The big stumbling block in talks between the government and the TUC is the Industrial Relations Act which the TUC refuses to recognize. The act, aimed at ending wildcat strikes, can impose cooling-off periods and compulsory ballots amongst workers planning stoppages. It also has legal powers to fine unions defying it.

Major Quake Rocks Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A major earthquake struck south east Alaska Sunday, and authorities said it was fortunate that no tsunami, or tidal wave, was generated.

A spokesman for the seismological observatory in Palmer, Alaska, said a sea wave from the quake, centered about 30 miles off the coast, would have inundated the town of Sitka before an alarm could be sounded.

Eagleton Takes Case to McGovern

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the new Democratic party leadership urging him to pull out, nominee Thomas Eagleton says he'll take his fight for staying on the ticket to George McGovern tonight.

The Missouri senator said Sunday that if presidential candidate McGovern should ask him to get off "I can't prejudge what I would do."

"I think that I'd perhaps want more time to think it over," he said.

Eagleton said he will present his case to McGovern without being pig-headed, but he was not sure a decision would result from the meeting.

The senator's future on the ticket has been in question since last Tuesday when he disclosed that he had undergone psychiatric treatment in 1960, 1964 and 1966 for mental depression.

Democratic national chairman Jean Westwood and vice-chairman Basil Paterson, interviewed on NBC's Meet the Press Sunday, urged Eagleton to drop out.

PEKING (Reuter) — China may be on the brink of naming former marshal Yeh Chien-ying, an old guard revolutionary, as defence minister to succeed Lin Piao, whose death while fleeing the country was confirmed here last Friday. Yeh, who is 71, is close to Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Prime Minister Chou En-lai.

B-52 Bomber Crashes

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. B-52 bomber crashed Sunday night during a thunderstorm in northeast Thailand, and two air force F-4 Phantoms went down off the coast of North Vietnam after running out of fuel, the U.S. command announced today. The U.S. embassy in Bangkok said five of the six B-52 crew members were killed. It said the sixth man was picked up by a rescue helicopter today. The command in Saigon said the four Phantom crew members also were rescued.

Stanfield Sees Gains

ALLISTON, Ont. (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party has made great strides in the last year and now is "breathing down the necks" of the Liberal government, Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield said today. "There is more and more movement towards us," he told about 200 of the party faithful here.

Canadians and Spouses Hunger-strike in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Two native-born Canadians and their Soviet spouses went to the Canadian Embassy today to hold a hunger strike there until government allows them to return to Canada.

The four are Canadian-born Eugene Jim Lenko and Nadia Demidenko, who reluctantly emigrated to the Ukraine with their parents 16 years ago, Lenko's wife Svetlana, and Mrs. Demidenko's husband Anatoly.

Both Canadian and the Soviet Union claim Lenko and Mrs. Demidenko as citizens. The spouses and their couples' children, born here, have only Soviet citizenship. But Canada has assured them of entry papers if Soviet authorities allow them to leave here.

During the last two years the couples have submitted countless letters, applications and appeals in an attempt to get exit visas.

Asked Sunday why they chose the Canadian Embassy for the protest, Lenko said:

"I think that if we did it anywhere else — say out in the street or the central telegraph — we'd just get hauled in by the cops. It's a place of shelter for us. We'll consider ourselves on Canadian soil."

Terror After 'Release'

Ransomed for Million, Woman Left in Chains

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Virginia Piper, whose husband paid $1 million ransom to free her from kidnappers, dug at the ground with her bare hands while trying to free herself from a tree to which she had been chained in a forest.

"I wasn't actually in fear of my life until they left me on Friday," Mrs. Piper said. "Then I thought 'I'm chained to a tree here and they'll find me in November.'"

Mrs. Piper, who discussed the kidnapping at a news conference Sunday, said she began digging in hopes of uprooting the six-inch-thick tree.

"I thought that the only way I could ever get out was to uproot the tree and lug it out to the highway. At least it kept me busy, I figured that by the end of the week I would be able to dump that tree."

The 49-year-old victim had some degree of mobility since the chain which was strung around the tree from hand to hand, had a three-foot leeway.

FBI agents, who went to the scene after receiving an anonymous tip, unlocked her handcuffs, but could not free her from the chain. So four agents bent the small tree to the ground and she was able to slip the chain over it.

"This is terribly funny, really —four of them jumped on the tree and swung it back and forth and got it down," Mrs. Piper said.

She disclosed that she did not know how much money her millionaire husband had paid her kidnappers until after she returned home safely Saturday.

The kidnappers have not been caught.

Mrs. Piper's husband is Harry C. Piper, 54, board chairman of the investment firm Piperarge firm of Piper, Jaffray and Hopwood, Inc. He told reporters Sunday the $1 million ransom in $20 bills he delivered Friday night was so heavy "I could just barely lift it." The money weighed 115 pounds.

The ransom is believed to be the most ever paid in a kidnapping in the United States, surpassing the $600,000 paid in 1953 to the abductors of Robert C. Greenleaf, Jr. son of a Kansas City, Mo., car dealer.

Mrs. Piper's ordeal began Thursday when two men burst into her fashionable home in suburban Orono. Both wore black nylon masks over their heads and each had two pistols. Mrs. Piper said the kidnappers put tape over her eyes three or four times over her head and ordered her to lie down in the back seat of a car while they drove her to wilderness area near Duluth, about 150 miles north of here.

Mrs. Piper said the two kidnappers had another man helping them although she never saw him. She said she overheard the two abductors talking about an accomplice.

Pick Jury For Bremer

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Jury selection is scheduled to begin today in the state trial of Arthur Herman Bremer, accused of wounding Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons at a political rally May 15.

The 21-year-old defendant has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to each of the 17 counts to be considered in the proceedings in Prince George County circuit court.

Twelve of the counts allege Bremer used a .38-calibre pistol to assault Wallace; Secret Service agent Nicholas Zarvos; Capt. E. C. Doihard of the Alabama State Police, and Dora Thompson, a Wallace campaign volunteer from Hyattsville, Md.

The five other charges to be considered by the jury under Judge Ralph W. Powers accuse the former busboy and school janitor from Milwaukee of violating Maryland's handgun control law.

Bremer also faces federal charges of shooting Wallace and Zarvos, but the trial in U.S. District Court in Baltimore has been postponed indefinitely.

Wallace was invited to testify but has announced he will not appear.

Charter Flight Cancelled

TORONTO (CP) — A 183-passenger charter flight to London, England, was declared illegal and cancelled at Toronto International Airport an hour before takeoff Saturday.

A station manager at the airport said the flight was halted while people were checking in their baggage before the flight. Donaldson International A.I.R. ways was to carry the group, organized by a United Kingdom charter company.

Some passengers were later taken to New York City by bus for a flight to London from there. The bus was chartered by the U.K. travel agency. Others sought alternate flights.

Eight Held in London Death

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Eight men were arrested during the weekend, one on a charge of non-capital murder, in connection with the slaying of Andre Tremblay, 33, of Back St. Paul, Que., whose body was found in high grass near a park here Thursday.

Charged with non-capital murder was Jean Louis Huot, 32, of no fixed address.

Tremblay apparently was beaten to death two days before his body was found, although exact cause of death will not be known until an autopsy is completed. Police found two cents in his clothing.

Huot was picked up in Windsor, Ont., Saturday, along with four other men who are being held as material witnesses. The five were returned here Sunday and were to appear today in provincial court.

Arrested as material witnesses were Bernard Pierre-Laperle, 32, Normand Joseph Lauzon, 28, Jean Paul Lacoursiere, 47, and Pierre Loubier, 37, all of no fixed address.

Three other men were arrested here Saturday as material witnesses and are to appear in court Tuesday. Police withheld their names.

Tuesday, a single man, arrived here by bus last Tuesday. He had been hired as a cook at Camp Lyperwash, 25 miles northeast of Sarnia, Ont., by Canada Catering Co. of Montreal.

Provincial Record Is Set by Soarer

Francis Lenk had a premonition when he arrived at the Belleville Flying Club Saturday morning. Under the codename for the Czech-made Blanik sailplane where three or four flyers would normally sign in for outings that day, Francis wrote "Forget it," indicating his fellow aviators had better find something else to which to sail.

The two-year veteran of the skies sensed Saturday was going to be an ideal day for gliding. At 7:29 p.m., after eight hours and 15 minutes aloft, the Belleville youth touched down to establish a new provincial record.

Francis, 17, added nearly three hours to his own club record of five hours, 21 minutes, set June 19 in the same craft. Walter Simpson, president of the Ontario Soaring Society, verified the Ontario mark this morning.

Appearing somewhat struck by the celebration on the ground, particularly after his day of serenity, Francis explained that he didn't set out to break the record.

"I just had a good day so I decided to do a little thermalling (soaring). I just kept going."

He said cloud formations indicating pockets of rising warm air stretched as far as Gananoque. His maximum height was 6,000 feet, considered excellent for this area.

Due to his lack of preparation, Francis went without anything to eat or drink the whole time he was aloft.

"I fly better on an empty stomach, though," he said, dismissing the idea.

Another problem which might have hindered less dedicated aviators was the lack of washroom facilities aboard the sailplane's craft. "You get used to it," he explained stoically.

Francis said he could have gone up an hour earlier and place the improve on his new record in the coming weeks.

Diabetics Endangered By Foot Problems

Infected corns, calluses, problem ingrown toenails, thickened toenails with ulcers at shoe pressure points, fungus and bacterial infections are the most common foot problems associated with diabetes.

To help overcome the lesser healing powers of most diabetics, strict cleanliness is a must. Strong antiseptics, and the usual patent corn and callous remedies should be used only with the approval of a physician or podiatrist. Ulcers and infections require immediate attention by a physician.

Harold and Norma Auger Watch as Highway 2 Draws Nearer Their Home

Township Bylaw Stymies Plans

By BRIAN 'AMARON
Staff Reporter

Most Quinte residents have no complaints about the widening of Highway 2. There may be if temporary inconvenience while construction is carried out but the benefits of the straight through, four-lane route more than compensate.

One Sidney Township couple will not be celebrating when expansion is completed this spring. Because of the road widening and a municipal technicality, they feel their 18-year-old home may turn into a raucous, disaster - prone encumbrance.

The problem for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Auger stems from the fact that their front door will be less than 10 feet from the highway shoulder. The corner of the wooden - frame house is only four feet from the road line, in fact.

"There have been several accidents in the past already," said Norma Auger, noting that 40 feet of front lawn had been expropriated for the roadway. "Now we're that much closer. Can you imagine a big transport truck smashing into the house?"

But this hazard is only one deterrent to the middle-aged couple. Another is noise.

"Especially in the summer," adds Mrs. Auger, "with the windows open, it sounds like everything is coming right through."

A solution seemed simple, one which would not only alleviate the new problem but would be the fulfilment of the Augers' dream when they purchased the house.

They thought they would build a cottage overlooking the Bay of Quinte at site opposite end of their three and a half acre lot, located just west of Permanent Concrete Ltd. For years the bay was inaccessible because of trees and brush but now a gravel lane traverses most of the property, built at a cost of $1,000.

"We'd like to live in the cottage during the summer, then come back to the house for the winter," said Mrs. Auger. "That way, there would be less snow to clear."

But it was when Mrs. Auger presented her plan to Sidney council that the major obstacle appeared. A township bylaw stipulates that each residence built on a lot must have at least 80 feet of road frontage. Since the Auger's property has only 100 feet of frontage on Highway 2, they would need another 60 feet before work on a cottage could proceed.

"The bylaw exists to prevent too many residential units on the same lot," says Sidney Reeve Jack Bush. "Without it you get all kinds of problems."

He was speaking primarily of situations in which the landowner rents or sells houses situated away from the road behind the main residence.

"Without a road there's no way to get out," he said. "You would be dependent on land easements. Also there's the question of garbage. You'd end up putting it on somebody else's front lawn."

Mr. Bush says the province recognizes the difficulty in controlling summer cottages and tries to avert tricky situations before they occur through its building regulations.

"After all, how can you kick someone out the day before Christmas," he said, pointing out that many people ignore summer residence restrictions.

He says there are two alternatives facing the Augers: build their cottage and tear the house down or attach a new residence to the old one.

Neither solution is acceptable to Mr. Auger, who receives a retirement pension, or to his wife, who is employed at the Queen's Self-Care Unit. A cottage would have to be built in stages as income permitted and to attach another building to the present one is out of the question.

Mr. Bush is sympathetic to the plight of the Augers but says many other township residents have the same problem.

Mrs. Auger commented, "I can see the law if they didn't want a bunch of little homes strung out for rental purposes. But I think they should look at each homeowner's case individually."

Meanwhile, the Augers will have to be content living beside the highway, looking at the bay 1,100 feet away from their back window.

R-C Models Snarl on Weekends

MOUNTAIN VIEW (Staff) — Snoopy of Peanuts fame assumed his Red Baron's role Sunday for a fierce duel in the sky with enemy aircraft at Mountain View.

The flying field he faced was lined with a squadron of planes including a World War II Spitfire and a Sopwith Pup, World War I vintage.

The solo flights of these aircraft were tensely viewed by members of the Bay of Quinte Aeromodellers Radio Control Club who meet regularly at the air base as "fun fliers".

Many of the other models also were equipped with miniature pilots colorfully detailed in their cockpits.

The aeromodellers flying yesterday banded together informally more than 10 years ago but did not organize their present club until 1971.

One of the group's most enthusiastic fliers, Terry Scott of Picton, recounted the earlier days of radio control flying in the Quinte area and observed an increasing interest in this hobby.

Mr. Scott, an employee at the Glenora fisheries research station, said he built his first radio control plane in 1962 and later flew aircraft from a field in Demorestville and from the Mohawk airstrip near Deseronto.

Recently the club received permission to use the flying field at Mountain View air base.

An avid "pilot" Mr. Scott said he prefers to experiment frequently with different models since each has special flying characteristics and he enjoys the challenge of variety.

In contrast, flier Jeff Calvert still pilots "The Rebel" a bright orange vezette aircraft that soars in the sky when many younger models plummet toward unscheduled stops.

Mr. Calvert, a demonstrator technician at Loyalist College noted that radio control flying is a family sport which promotes shared activity.

His 12-year-old son David enjoys piloting The Rebel while Jeff Calvert flies one of his other model planes.

Mrs. Calvert, who is not keenly interested in flying, remains a staunch assistant, however when models are under construction at home.

Mr. Calvert's enthusiasm for radio control flying was evidenced by his refusal to be grounded by winter weather last year.

With determination and frostbitten fingers he attached skies to his Piper Cub and flew it from the ice on the Bay of Quinte.

MORE

Radio control flying draws persons from all age groups who spend their spare time perfecting their flying styles with planes ranging in cost from $100 to $500. Each flight lasts an average of 10 to 15 minutes as the pilot operates his transmitter.

Licences for the transmitters are issued by the department of transport and specific frequencies are allocated to aeromodellers.

Small colored flags clipped to the transmitters denote their frequencies. The Bay of Quinte club claims eight frequencies.

Mr. Calvert explained the model aircraft can fly at speeds up to 80 miles an hour and transmitters usually have a range of one mile.

Planes are seldom allowed to soar more than 1,000 feet from the pilot and maximum altitude permitted at Mountain View is 500 feet to avoid interference with gliders.

Planes vary in size and a medium craft measures from 40 to 50 inches in wing span. Some larger models measure six feet from wingtip to wingtip.

Smaller planes are suitable for flying only in very calm skies whereas larger aircraft exhibit better resistance to turbulence.

Although radio control flying in the Quinte Club at first glance seems a man's sport, closer inquiry reveals a budding Amelia Earhart.

Mavis Deveaux, wife of model flier Donald Deveaux, is now piloting a small aircraft and has ambitions to one day fly "a full house" which if the modeller's expression for a larger series of aircraft.

Her son, 13-year-old Richard, also enjoys flying and plans to continue on a competitive basis.

Terry Scott and Jeff Calvert referred to improvements in radio controls now used and agreed that crashes have been reduced because of them.

"A crash is an exception, not the rule," asserted Mr. Scott as cries of excitement drew the observer's attention to the ruins of an aircraft flown by club president Leo Edwards of Deseronto.

Mr. Edwards' crash landing demonstrated the ups and downs of an outdoorsman's hobby that is gaining in popularity in the Quinte area.

Fortunately, the radio controls in his craft were not seriously damaged because they were packed protectively in styrofoam.

"We are just a bunch of fun fliers or Sunday fliers," explained Jeff Clavert as he surveyed the situation of planes on the air field.

Although competition is not the focal point of the Bay of Quinte club's activities, good sportsmanship is obvious as pilots discuss their latest flights, analyze crashes and perfect strategy.

Parking Bylaw Declared Invalid

PICTON (Staff) — Provincial court judge J. L. Clendenning has declared Picton parking bylaw 1419, passed in 1953 by town council, ultra vires and beyond the authority of a corporation.

In a 21-page report presented in court last week Judge Clendenning said "several hundred hours of thought and research" were needed in the preparation of his brief.

An appeal concerning his report is expected and town solicitor Jack Ward has contacted the office of the attorney general to learn how such an appeal should be registered.

Town Clerk Andrew Jarvis yesterday advised town residents should continue to deposit change in Picton parking meters until the results of the anticipated appeal are known.

The Price of Liberty

The British (in whose islands you hear some of the best and some of the worst and certainly some of the most varied English spoken anywhere in the world) have given us in jargon these days as are jargon-conscious North Americans.

Thus, when British troops began moving against IRA strongholds following the recent destruction bombing attacks in downtown Belfast, an officer said the army was raising "its "profile" a notch. Prior to that, during the short-lived ceasefire, it had adopted a "low-profile" stance".

The latter might have been considered politic in the circumstances, but history, in Ireland, as elsewhere, has shown it can be ineffective if not a policy of weakness. We hold no brief for the Russians or their methods of repression, but it might be remembered that the Hungarian revolt in 1956 was put down in about 12 days.

All over the world today there is unrest and public defiance of authority in one form or another. This trend is being encouraged by activists and advocates who are virtually one and the same thing and owe allegiance to forces of revolution everywhere. If we need any further proof of the existence of groups who seek the overthrow of established order we have only to bear in mind the threats issued by the surviving Japanese gunman who massacred civilians at the airport in Tel Aviv recently. He said other attacks were planned elsewhere.

It is interesting to note though that Palestinian anarchists in the Middle East, in whose pay the three Japanese gunmen were, have themselves been under attack recently. At least two have been killed, in retaliation, it is believed, for the airport massacre.

Remembering those 12 days in Budapest in 1956 and the mounting trouble in Belfast over the past four years, a recent observation of Toronto columnist, Richard Needham comes to mind. He said in effect that terrorism requires an even more intensive and ruthless retaliation if it is to be ended. But the British ,he said, are "too civilized" for this. True — they have been waiting, sightseer, trying to negotiate that which is almost impossible to negotiate, while, at the same time single-minded and evil men plot death and destruction.

Throughout society at large we see a diminution in authority, a lack of respect for authority, an unwillingness to exercise authority, to the detriment of all. Perhaps this observation from a book we have been reading: "Destruction of respect for authority and order is a deliberate policy on the part of those who wish to destroy the present pattern of society. . . The philosophy of every frontier tells us that absence of order gives control to the bullies, to corrupt and ruthless opportunists, and to men more beast than man. Only the strong survive in such circumstances, and the issue is simply who applies it and with what eventual end in mind. For order will always be established in society — in the long run — as anarchy is to destroy all human values that men will turn to any solution rather than accept it for long. . ."

The writer goes on to remind us that order is the first requirement, even allowing for democratic freedoms . . . "order then is more important than liberty because in society you can have liberty with order but no liberty without order, simply because the strong take advantage of the weak. . ."

The above passage is from the book "And Now New Zealand" by Henry Albert Morton, a Canadian from Manitoba who is senior lecturer in History at the University of Otago in Dunedin. He was referring to the fact that New Zealand police, like the British, do not carry guns but it was the fashion these days to criticize the police when they uphold the law.

His words have singular relevance to what is happening today — in Quebec of late, in Canada at large (consider the slackening of parole regulations) in British right now and in one country or another in recent years. We see there even in Australia here is evidence of unrest among the aboriginal population and police in Canberra were called upon twice recently to deal with aboriginies who wanted to establish an "aboriginal embassy" in a tent on the lawns of Parliament House. Here may be evidence of legitimate aboriginal grievances, but the possibility also that the native people are being manipulated by others who are in the business of stirring up trouble anywhere they can. We must be aware of these trends, for if we do not understand their implications we could one day to a world fully in the hands of the forces of anarchy and of universal chaos.

History of Mental Illness

Senator Eagleton's Predicament Big Talking Point in U.S.

By PETER BUCKLEY

WASHINGTON (CP) — The American public may decide it doesn't care whether Senator Thomas Eagleton had mental problems in the past, thus allowing Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern to keep him as vice-presidential candidate, but other questions about the Eagleton disclosures are likely to remain.

The most persistent question being asked here is this: Does Eagleton's initial decision not to reveal the mental breakdowns, even to McGovern, demonstrate his credibility and cast doubt on his judgment?

The answer seems certain to be that it does, although the extent of the damage is less easy to gauge.

McGovern and Eagleton left the implication Tuesday that they were volunteering the information of their own accord, in the hope that their candor would help to end unfavorable public reaction to the news that Eagleton had undergone psychiatric treatment, and electroshock therapy in the past.

However, subsequent revelations and analyses appear to have undermined their position.

Most damaging was the admission that Eagleton had been asked before the nomination whether there was anything embarrassing in his record that McGovern should know about and he had said there wasn't.

Yet Eagleton and his wife discussed his mental history as a potential liability days before he was offered the vice-presidential role, as he admits in having lived for years in fear that it would be revealed.

And the McGovern-Eagleton announcement was apparently made only after several reporters had already gathered evidence about the mental treatment and the news seemed on the verge of being published.

Eagleton's colleagues in the Senate, both Republican and Democratic, have been generous in their praise of him since the revelation and seemingly unanimous that his mental treatment should not weigh against him as a potential vice-president. A man who, the documents are fond of saying, stands a heart-beat away from the presidency.

But almost none has addressed the problem of Eagleton's credibility and those politicians who have discussed it tend to echo the young senator from Missouri to step down.

Another question which follows from the Eagleton story goes to the heart of the process for picking a vice-presidential candidate.

At present, his selection is entirely up to the presidential nominee and the choice is often made after hasty calculations of "balance" and availability.

Thus, while the presidential nominees undergo a scrutiny that would be thought unnecessarily meddlesome in countries less obsessively curious than the United States, the vice-presidential nomination may fall on someone virtually unknown to either public or politicians.

The choice of Eagleton was no more impetuous that in that respect than Richard Nixon's decision to pluck Spiro Agnew from the Maryland governor's mansion in 1968.

The American voter's attitude toward mental disability has probably matured substantially in recent decades, but few analysts would assume that Eagleton's history will make no difference at all to voters. On the contrary, the consensus is that it inevitably damages the McGovern campaign.

However, Senator McGovern may in the end be under pressure to drop Eagleton less in fear of a hostile voter reaction than because of a painful reassessment of the other issues raised by the timing of Eagleton's disclosures.

The Queen to Visit Canada

The Globe and Mail

It has been a long time — too long. It was in 1959 that Queen Elizabeth last visited the second largest English - speaking city in her Commonwealth, Toronto, to find a city full of hearts warm for her and ticker-tape falling in clouds to give the warmth one kind of visual expression.

Her tours through the North and Manitoba in 1970, and in British Columbia last summer, proved that the years have not dimmed the magic of the Queen's presence for her Canadian subjects. It is magic. It was especially visible at Expo 67 in Montreal, when she broke from her carefully secured agenda to take her impromptu ride on Expo's skyway, to the delight of thousands who were said to have been cool to the very idea of a royal visit.

After 13 long years the magic will come again to Toronto next June. There have been constitutional disputes enough in the meantime. There have been stealthy moves by certain parts of Liberal Governments in Ottawa to eliminate from Canadian life some of the symbols of royalty.

There have been stellar defences of the monarchy put up by such as Senator Eugene Forsey, as much impressive for the logic has pointed out that no government had a mandate from the people of Canada to abandon the monarchy, and to do so would make "no sense except as a step toward a republic". And that could only make Canada intellectually poorer than vaster republic to the south; we would get rid of the old only to find that the new had been made in the U.S.A.

But all this is logic. What the Queen brings with her is emotion, something missing out of our past into our future, making it richer, more colourful and brighter, filling its citizens with more pride than they knew they had.

A well known B.C. anti-monarchist put it this last summer: "I just happened to be on a corner with my camera when she passed. I took a couple a shot. And then I found my legs running like mad to get another shot at the next corner. Embarrassing, for an anti-monarchist."

The invitations to the Queen to visit Canada next fall to visit Charlottetown and Toronto and Kingston and Ottawa was presented, of course, through the Lieutenant - Governors to the Governor - General, to His Majesty, all of whom acted on the advice of various ministers.

But it was interesting that, for Toronto at least, the invitation arose much closer to the grassroots.

Toronto City Council has never been noted for its unanimity. Can you think of any other subject on which Alderman John Sewell and Alderman Karl Jaffary were at one with Alderman Joseph Piccinnni and Alderman David Rotenberg? Oh, it is true that Alderman Sewell had to suggest that it also be a meeting of provincial premiers, and Alderman Jaffary had to see in it a test of the public's reaction to the monarchy.

But the fact remains that when the motion was put to invite the Queen and her husband to visit Toronto in 1973, Toronto City Council voted unanimously in favour. Unanimously! Hang out the flags.

Health Government's Clash with U.K. Unions

By KEVIN DOYLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Two crucial judicial decisions have shifted the battle lines in the fierce power struggle between the British government and organized labor but the eventual outcome is still uncertain.

Initially, there is nothing in the two decisions which constitutes a clear victory for either the Conservative government of Prime Minister Edward Heath or the unions.

The labor leaders, angry, embittered and militant, are not likely to concede any advantage without a lengthy fight. Heath is committed to bring the unions into line with recently-enacted industrial relations legislation.

The first of two decisions Wednesday came when the House of Lords ruled that under the legislation, unions are responsible for the actions of their shop stewards.

This was followed by a decision of the industrial relations court to comply with an appeal from the official solicitor and release five dock workers jailed last Friday for contempt.

The unions had the industrial court move as a significant gain in their campaign to have the Industrial Relations Act scrapped. They say the court backed away under union pressure from its earlier insistence that the dockers apologize for their contempt before being released.

But the issue is not that simple and in some senses, at least, can be seen as leaving both the government and the court in enhanced positions.

Court president Sir John Donaldson argued that he released the dockers primarily because of the earlier Lords' decision placing prime responsibility for misdemeanors on the unions rather than the individual members.

The ruling by the Lords—final appeal in this area in effect upholds an industrial court decision earlier this year to fine the powerful transport workers union about $140,000 for disobeying a court order.

The courts ability to act against the unions themselves with heavy fines for misdemeanors now has been legally established. This seems to provide a firm alternative to moving against individuals and so intentionally creating "martyrs" as happened with the dockers.

The action of placing individual workers in jail for refusing to comply with legislation they disagree with places the court and the government which established it, in a highly unfavorable public position.

But the imposition of heavy fines against powerful, aid rich trade unions is not likely to be nearly as offensive in the eyes of most voters.

Provincial Broadcasting Rights

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau

The federal government, it seems, is finally going to agree that the provinces get into broadcasting.

Reports are that it has told the CRCT to grant licenses for television and radio stations directly to the provinces, with the only condition being that the licences be held by a semi-independent group and not directly by the provincial governments themselves.

It is something that Ontario, Quebec and Alberta have been seeking for some time. The main reason being that all three are now quite heavily into educational television. But there also has been at least the suspicion that the three also wanted to get into more general programming, all being quite group agenda conscious.

The federal government has jurisdiction over communications under the BNA Act and until the present has not been willing to cede any part of this to the provinces.

Now, apparently, it has decided that it really doesn't care that much.

One or a decade or so ago this development would have been cause for alarm. The thought of provincial governments having broadcast networks under their control would have been repulsive. To some people it probably is, or will be.

But really now there is likely little reason on the business point of concern that with communications in its hands, a government or a political party can control the public.

One of our provincial governments may one day go so far as to try and sway the public through use of TV and radio stations it controls.

It would be easy to slowly move into propagandizing or worse. Already some of the "educational" programming in Ontario is pretty remote from education.

But even if one did there shouldn't be any disaster, for the fact is that any government doing this would almost surely disappear as it was playing Don Quixote.

To produce propaganda is one thing, but to get people to watch it or listen to it is another. And in the wealth of television and radio available today (and in all areas of the country), government stations simply aren't going to get an audience of any substance.

If the government had any control over the news press, yes, this would be malevolent. But TV and radio? In government hands the only real cause for concern is that they are expensive toys.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 31, 1972

An American doctor, sought for one of the most grisly murders in the history of Eastern England, was arrested 62 years ago today—July 31—at the pilot station at Father Point, near Rimouski, Que. The arrest of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen and his paramour, Ethel Le Neve, marked the first use of radio for tracking criminal. Crippen was hanged in Pentonville prison, London, on Nov. 23, 1910, for the murder and mutilation of his wife.

1946—The Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service was retired from active duty.

1915—Viscount Alexander was named Governor General of Canada.

1896—Edmonton discovered the island of Trinidad which earlier announced Canada would not replace its worn-out British tanks, has changed its mind. We are getting the 900 British built Scorpion tanks which will cost the Canadian taxpayer $40 million.

And not to forget the United States whose multimillion dollar arms to some countries have exceeded its foreign aid. Clear examples over the years come to mind, like Nationalist China, South Vietnam, Cuba (before Castro).

But rising congressional opposition to all kinds of foreign aid has cut into U.S. arms sales, especially to poor, Third World countries. The French, who now add about $3 billion in weapons each year, have rushed in to fill the vacuum.

One wonders how many of the wars fought in the world since 1945 would have been impossible without the international arms business. For example, the current Biafran civil war, the three Israel-Arab conflicts and many others.

Canada Has Only Small Role as Arms Exporter

By JOHN HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Two kinds of international trade — drugs and arms — have a stigma attached to them. Drugs understandably so. But weapons? Every major industrial nation, (except perhaps Japan), is in the international arms business, including Canada.

And in spite of protestations from professionals from the military groups, professional moralists and left-wing publicists, the business of selling someone guns, aircraft and warships is more profitable than ever.

In Canada, where euphemistic expressions for unpleasant activities are commonplace, a good deal of our arms exports comes under the heading of "defence sharing."

About $300 million annually in Canadian exports can be categorized this way.

To be fair, however, not all our "defence sharing" can be called weapons in the proper sense. One example is Canada's an-made STOL (Short Take-Off Landing Aircraft) like the cargo-carrying Caribou becomes a military asset if it is bought by the U.S. armed forces and used in Vietnam.

A few years ago, the photo of a Canadian built Caribou dropping in mid-air over Vietnam from Viet Cong anti-aircraft fire, aroused storms of protest. Yet the same aircraft, sold to a private or state airline in a country not at war, cannot be classified as military equipment.

Recently the sold several of our controversial CL3 tactical fighter-trainer jets to Venezuela. This was an export of military equipment, pure and simple.

Nevertheless in the international arms lineup, Canada is truly small potatoes.

Look at the massive display of weapons which Egypt has received from the Soviet Union since the mid-1950s. No one knows the exact value, but estimates have been as high as $3 billion.

The British, and especially the French, who will refit to anyone, are major arms exporters. Various versions of the superb French Mirage jets serve in air forces fighting each other. The Israelis have a lot of them. Strike-jet fighters, smaller, like Lebanon, Libya and Algeria, have Gnats.

The French missile called Exocet was destined under embargo from South Africa. Lebanon requested an order for them from France, which in turn requested approval from the South African government. It. They approved. Several Latin American air forces, cut off from traditional U.S. sources of arms, rely on the Mirage for their jet fighter strength.

Britain is currently selling hundreds of her tanks around the world. Iraq will buy 700 Chieftains. Both are the garment of national defence.

Fathers Bitter

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP) — Two embittered fathers talked to reporters Sunday about their sons, one a young policeman and the other, a 16-year-old boy shot dead Friday night by the constable.

Andre Vassard, shot in the head after a chase, was one of the first patients in Quebec to undergo open heart surgery successfully.

With tear-filled eyes, the boy's father, Hartley Vassard, shook his head in disbelief as he said:

"What modern science has saved, the law has destroyed.

"He was never the athletic type . . . never could run much . . . because he was born with a heart defect."

Mr. Vassard heard of his son's death while on a trip to the Gaspe Peninsula with his wife.

"If I had had that policeman in front of me at 10 o'clock Saturday night, I'm sure I would have . . ." he said, his voice trailing off.

Aware that his son was suspected of having hashish in his possession when police started chasing him Friday night, Mr. Vassard said police had not yet mentioned whether any was found on his son's body.

As far as the tennis, his son didn't use, or have, any drugs.

"But then again . . . he's a father would be the last person to know about it," he said.

"But even if he did have hashish, marijuana or what have you, I still don't think that was a reason for him to be killed . . . accidentally or not . . . by a policeman shooting him with gun in hand. . . ."

"They don't know whether or not he committed a crime, they knew he was only a boy—they knew he carried no weapons in his hands . . . they knew his back was turned to them at all times. What in heaven's name were those policemen doing with their guns?" the distraught father asked.

A little later, Elie Goulet, was answering reporters' questions in his two-storey home across town.

"My son has been branded evil as a policeman and you can mark my words, he will never go back to police work," Mr. Goulet said.

Mr. Goulet said his son had been in seclusion since Saturday when an angry mob went looking for him.

Recently, the young constable had received letters from two Ste. Therese aldermen who had taken him to task for not using his revolver in a family incident, his father said.

Several weeks ago, the young constable was attacked and brutally beaten by 12 members of a motorcycle gang.

"They jumped him, then reached and kicked him repeatedly as he lay on the ground," Mr. Goulet said.

Studying Lake Ontario

A string of water current meters are hauled onto the Canadian research vessel Limnos during a mid-July cruise of Lake Ontario. The meters automatically record current speed and direction for up to three months. The ship is one of five participating in the International Field Year for the Great Lakes, the most serious scientific attempt ever made to understand the lake's deterioration and find what can be done to stop it. (CP Photo)

$15-million Lake Study Planned

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Deterioration of Lake Ontario is a complex problem, not fully understood by even the most astute scientist, and the solutions lie in even murkier depths.

"It's only by developing an understanding that action can be taken," says Joseph MacDowall, Canadian co-ordinator of the International Field Year for the Great Lakes.

The $15-million field-year program is the most serious scientific attempt ever made to understand the lake's deterioration and find what can be done to stop it.

The aim of the field year, according to one of its publicists, "is to find solutions to problems, rather than to increase scientific knowledge for its own sake."

In order to find those solutions, 600 scientists, engineers surveyors and technicians and more than 1,000 support staff on both sides of the lake will have to amass the most comprehensive data ever assembled about a body of water.

"We're putting the whole bloody lake . . . on a computer," says Cornelius J. Callahan, United States co-ordinator of the field year.

The data in those computers at the Canada Centre for Inland Waters at Burlington, Ont., and in environmental agencies in Washington, D.C., will tell scientists what they need to know about the lake's ill health.

The scientists will be able to suggest possible cures.

In recent years other scientists have suggested other cures based on knowledge they had at the time.

"But all our knowledge previously has been of a very primitive sort," says Mr. MacDowall. "We took action without having an understanding. Now that's not intelligent."

Now "common sense" is being applied and that means charting all the variables which affect a lake's health—variables such as direction and speed of currents, sources of pollution, the lake's chemical and biological makeup, inputs of heat and meteorological influences.

This is expensive and "it's about time the taxpayers on both sides found out where their money is going," says Mr. Callahan.

It is going for nearly 200 scientific projects, co-ordinated by Mr. MacDowall and Mr. Callahan, which will cover every conceivable aspect of the lake.

The projects are not being carried out in "a hole-in-the-corner way," says Mr. MacDowall, but in the "free environment" of the lake.

Scientists conducting them will use three Canadian and five U.S. ships; 19 Canadian and 20 U.S. deep-water buoys and towers; three Canadian and 11 U.S. aircraft; one Canadian and three A.S. meteorological radar stations; weather balloons; stations which measure stream inflows into the lake; and data-computer centres in Burlington and Washington.

In addition to studies of the lake's water, intensive investigations are being made of the land which surrounds it. Six land areas, representative of nearly all the land in the basin, have been singled out for detailed study.

Projects conducted on land and water will show, by next year, the rate of nutrient input from sewage, surface water, land erosion and precipitation.

These nutrients, such as phosphates, are responsible for much of the lake's deterioration. They cause the masses of green algae which are evident from Toronto to Hamilton which in turn can choke off the lake's supply of oxygen.

One program will "show the extent to which phosphates have increased or decreased since the International Joint Commission study made five years ago and the rate at which additional control measures are needed to preserve water quality. . . ."

Meteorological studies will show Mr. MacDowall. "We depend on a healthy lake. We're interested in weather forecasts for the lake and an improved understanding of how lake."

Tomorrow: Studying lake is costly.

The impact of heat inputs into the lake will be charted. Hot water discharged from power-generating stations and industry could affect algae growth and fish life. By next year, scientists will know for sure.

The quantity and quality of water available in Lake Ontario will be measured to determine how shortages and quality problems in some areas can be combatted.

Studies of the lake's biological-chemical make-up, its currents and temperatures, will help determine how best to manage and develop the allied Lake Ontario fishing industry.

When all the information is compiled, analyzed and interpreted next year, scientists will begin to have an understanding of the lake's complex problems. The action can follow.

"We depend on the lake."

EXTENSION COURSES

For the 1972-1973 winter session, 30 degree-credit correspondence courses will be offered in 15 departments or disciplines. Night classes will be given in Kingston, Brockville, Belleville and Madoc.

Admission: by August 15th for students who have never taken courses in the Faculty of Arts and Science at Queen's University. Admission is open to graduates of grade 13 or the equivalent or to people 21 years of age or over who may be eligible under the mature-student regulation.

Registration: after acceptance by August 15th, a student must register for a course by September 15th.

Fees: correspondence, $105.00 per course; night and tutorial, $135.00 per course.

For additional information or a list of courses to be offered, please contact: Department of Extension, Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario. (Telephone 613-547-3253).

Policeman Shoots Youth
Town Erupts in Riots

STE. THERESE, Que. (CP) — Calm was restored early today to this riot-torn community, a few hours after Mayor Rene Robert read the riot act to about 2,000 persons roaming the streets and smashing windows in protest over the fatal shooting Friday night of a 16-year-old boy by a policeman.

Sunday marked the second night in a row that hordes of youths pelted the police station and several store windows with empty beer and soft drink bottles, bricks and stones.

Andre Vassard was shot and killed after being chased by two policemen.

Police said the youth was standing with a group of friends in a small park next to the police station before the incident occurred.

One young man walked into the station and told Sgt. Robert Arnaud that someone was selling hashish to other teen-agers.

Sgt. Arnaud walked out of the station with the young man and pointed to Vassard saying, "that's him."

The sergeant, standing in the station doorway, hollered to the youth and Vassard started walking towards him, Sgt. Arnaud said in his report.

But, when the boy was a few feet from the sergeant, he turned and ran away with the sergeant in pursuit.

Constable Andre Goulet, less than two years on the force, joined in the chase.

The constable, who had suspended duties the force until an inquiry has been completed, was temporarily off duty, not having completed his dinner break. He had taken off his tie and was not wearing his gun.

The chase led to a dead-end laneway. When constable Goulet reached it he stepped, fired a warning shot in the air and said:

"Stop, or we'll shoot."

After the warning, Const. Goulet, service revolver in hand, jumped over a three-foot wire fence separating the laneway and a parking lot.

The official police report states that as the officer landed on the other side of the fence, his knees buckled.

As he rose from the crouch position to continue the chase his "muscles tightened up" and his gun went off unintentionally.

Sgt. Arnaud reported he had heard and almost felt the bullet go past his throat.

Both policemen then ran into the darkened laneway where they found the boy lying face down, bleeding from the back of the head.

The word of the shooting spread quickly and early Saturday a group of 20 youths went to the police station to complain about the incident.

The crowd soon started chanting, "we want Goulet." The group then marched a few blocks away to the house of Const. Goulet's parents and began pelting it with stones and bottles.

Trouble spread quickly after that, a larger group assembled and began marching through the downtown area, shattering store windows and overturning refuse baskets in the streets. Thirteen were arrested.

More trouble broke out Sunday night and 30 people were arrested, including the mayor's son.

Several people were picked up after Mayor Robert read the riot act but no one was actually charged under the act. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment for any person who cannot give a legitimate reason as to why he was on the streets after the riot act was read.

However, six people were arrested and charged and are to appear in court today.

Members of the Quebec Provincial Police riot squad used tear gas to disperse the crowd and only two people were injured in the incidents, a girl with a cut hand received when a store window was shattered and a policeman suffered bruised legs incurred while struggling with a protester.

Both were released from hospital after treatment.

Youth Project Said A Success

PICTON (Staff) — Participants in Project Elan, an Opportunities for Youth program with headquarters in the Army Mall yesterday agreed they have enjoyed "a very good chance to learn and to help others" this summer.

Project organizers Linda Gentile, Steven Manlow and Steven Campbell stated that an OPY program in Kingston recently earned adverse publicity through hiding "a four letter word" in a mural painted to disguise boards surrounding a construction site.

The three observed that this type of activity is unfortunate since it could create an unfavorable impression among the public toward all OPYY projects.

In Prince Edward, Project Elan, which focuses on arts and crafts, has attracted local residents from six to 60.

Steven Manlow commented with surprise that one man who arrived to copy an old photograph was "about 65".

Initially Elan drew many youngsters but as the summer progressed more participants from other age groups joined the project.

"It's great for your personal portfolio," declared Steven Manlow as he discussed his summer with the OPY program here.

Linda Gentile termed Elan "fantastic" since it has helped her to understand the teaching profession which she will eventually enter.

All Elan members said the project has encouraged them to continue with their hobbies of pastography and sketching and an interchange of ideas and skills has resulted at Elan headquarters.

Field trips to photograph scenic areas in the county have alerted Elan participants to many new beauty spots in Prince Edward.

These excursions are open to all persons interested in discovering the county's many attractions.

Project Elan organizers plan to construct a totem pole on the lawn at the Armory Mall and will invite the public to assist in its creation. At completion it is hoped that work of art can remain on Main Street at the mall.

Linda Gentile noted Elan facilities have been utilized this summer by North Marysburg school principal David Lockwood and his students who have constructed a 6 - by 12- foot map of the county. Photographs of all county schools will border this exercise in cartography slated for exhibition at the county fair in September.

Project Elan was praised by its organizers as a valued learning experience and all agreed it has operated successfully this summer.

City Playgrounders Tops in Track Meet

TRENTON (Staff) — Young athletes from Belleville playgrounds emerged overall winners from a day-long track and field meet Friday competing with contestants from here and Picton.

Trenton had won the annual event for the past four years.

More than 200 youngsters from playgrounds supervised by recreation departments in the three communities participated in the competition — 50 of them from Belleville.

At the noon break midway in the meet, Belleville was leading Picton 108 100 points but added to its lead in the afternoon dash racing.

Total points posted at the events conclusion showed these totals: Belleville, 574, Picton, 290 and Trenton 122.

Woman Directs Quebec Art

QUEBEC (CP) — With a budget of $30 million to subsidize all arts in the province, Cultural Affairs Minister Claire Kirkland-Casgrain must have some clear-cut ideas on the role of art in Quebec.

She does, and in her first four months in the post she has made clear her position on English theatre in Quebec, French influence on the arts here, big and small theatre companies and the French language.

A practising lawyer for nine years, Mrs. Casgrain was the first woman elected to Quebec's national assembly. She admits that being a woman in such a post brings its own difficulties, "not among ministers and members, but with civil servants in general who are unable to accept my role. I have one strike against me as a woman. It's a terrible fight."

Turning to some of the battles that are embroiling her ministry, she said in an interview:

"Of course there is a role for the English here, now . . . and in the future. They continue to make great contributions in all the arts and they are the chief supporters of so many artistic activities."

She added, however, "English artists should perform in an anglophone area since it wouldn't do them any good to operate in a predominantly French-speaking region. They should be conscious of their position as a minority and be willing to function in the context of this understanding."

As for setting up artistic guidelines for her department:

"I think we have to stop looking to France. We have a great duel to learn from the United States, for instance, though we must be careful to adapt what is useful to our own conditions.

"We also hope much to gain by closer relations with Mexico. The Mexicans are doing very good work in archeology and have a marvellous national museum. They are interested in our Eskimo art and handicrafts and so, perhaps, we can arrange for some exciting exchanges."

Preservation of the French language is high on the department's priority list. Francophones outside Quebec are receiving subsidies and there is technical aid to French-speaking groups as far away as Louisiana.

That brings up the contentious issue of joual—a slang French often heard in Quebec. Mrs. Casgrain explained her department's recent refusal to finance a showing in Paris of Michel Tremblay's play, Les Belles-Soeurs, done in the joual.

"First, we weren't budgeted for such an unforeseen expense. Second, I have advocated for a long time that our writers should get away from the use of joual. It's all right to use this inside our borders . . . but we cannot employ this language in other countries where it will not be intelligible."

She praises the theatre companies which try to attract a wide cross-section of the population.

She is less tolerant of some large companies which seem to choose plays based more on management's personal political views than on the prime consideration of satisfying the community's needs for which they are subsidized.

She has little sympathy either for "some large companies which are doing the kind of experimental plays that small companies should do, and as a result accumulating large deficits."

If a theatre wants to be totally committed to cre political viewpoint, it should not expect government financing, she said.

She is concerned at the centralization of cultural activities in the large cities and among certain classes. An example of her approach to the problem is the Ladies Morning Music Club in Quebec, a closed social group with a $2,500 deficit owed to Le Grand Theatre.

Brother Makes Sister's Gown

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — Paul Bunn, a hospital lab technician, has spent two months designing, cutting and hand-sewing his twin sister's wedding gown.

Mr. Bunn says he did it because he enjoys the work. He has taught millinery at night school and at a local millinery store, but he says he has no intention of making designing or sewing his profession. He says he also likes his job as a lab technician.

Working at night and on weekends, Mr. Bunn not only made the dress, he designed the turban-style veil and hand-appliqued roses on it. He did the bead-work on his mother's costume and designed the bridesmaids' turbans.

At the end of all the effort, he says he vowed "never again."

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN STEIN

Stein – Lane

Westminster United Church, RR3, Belleville, was the scene of the July 15 wedding ceremony of Carol Lynn Lane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lane, RR5, Belleville, and Norman Frederick Stein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stein, Eldorado. Rev. J. Bumer was the officiating clergyman and organist was Miss Linda Johnston.

The bride given in marriage by her father chose a peau de soie gown with harvigue lace on the bodice front and back as well as the rolled neckline. The tiers on the skirt were encircled with lace and the long sleeves featured baroque lace cuffs. A long silk illusion veil trimmed with self leaf fell from a pillbox headdress complemented by lace also. She carried a bouquet of red gardenias and a lily of the valley with long streamers of lace over satin ribbon.

Matron of honor, Miss Linda Rupert, wore an ice orange crepe long hot pant dress with pearl buttons and featuring short puffed sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of shrimp colored roses and rose buds interspersed with lily of the valley. She also wore shrimp colored baby garденias in her hair.

Bridesmaids, Miss Linda West and Miss Karen Bird matron of honor only in light green. They carried bouquets of green tinted roses and fern.

Flower girl, Miss Margie Stein, sister of the bridegroom wore an identical gown to the matron of honor and she carried a small basket of mixed shrimp colored flowers and white lily of the valley with white streamers. She also wore flowers in her hair.

Dale Graham was best man, Keith Stein, brother of the bridegroom and Calvin Lane, brother of the bride were the ushers.

For the reception held at Westminster United Church, the mother of the bride greeted guests wearing a mauve cadena street length dress. The neckline and three - quarter sleeves were trimmed with glass beads with silver accessories. She also wore a corsage of tinted snowballs and rosebuds tied with white ribbon.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a lime green crimplene street length dress with white accessories. A corsage of yellow roses and rose buds with a white bow completed her dress.

For the honeymoon trip to points east, the bride donned a light mauve crimplene short sleeved hot pants outfit with a silver braid trim and accessories. Her ensemble was completmented by a corsage of tinted mauve rosebuds with a silver bow.

Upon their return, the couple will reside at 1 Albany Heights, Apt. 1, Belleville.

Canadian Adoptions Fewer

OTTAWA (CP) — Adoption of children from other countries often is prompted by a lack of Canadian offspring for that purpose, says Phyliss Harrison, executive director of International Social Service. There are serious drawbacks, she hastened in an interview.

The birth-control pill, a change of attitude to unwed mothers and increasing number of day-care centres are cited as contributing to a decline in the availability of Canadian children for adoptions. Ironically, these developments coincide with a new awareness among young people of world population problems and their willingness to adopt needy children rather than bear their own, says Miss Harrison, who prefers to be desegnated as Ms.

Inter-country adoption was introduced to alleviate the surge of post war illegitimate babies in Europe and Asia, and is most suitable when the child's country of birth is hostile to the children of mixed parentage, she said.

International social Service is an agency of the Canadian Council on Social Development, formerly the Canadian Welfare Council, financed half by federal funds and half from private money.

The service, which has 20 branch offices throughout the world to handle inter-country adoption and other immigration problems, provides a liaison between children's aid and welfare services here and in other countries.

In 1972, the service received more than 40 inter-country adoption requests and sent home-studies and complete descriptions of prospective parents to those countries, respondents, said Ms. Harrison.

"But I still have many reservations about it and feel we may just be complicating the lives of the children."

It was becoming more and more obvious that cultural and social needs are as important as material needs and until society rids itself of intolerance, these needs could usually be better met in the child's native country.

The children — at least 18 months old by the time they enter their North American homes and since the adopting parents are not required to have any knowledge of the children's language and culture, the onus to adapt falls on the youngsters, she said.

"There is a desperate need for research grants to assess inter-country adoptions that have already taken place."

Health is a major concern. In Korea, for example, a stiff medical examination is made and Canadian immigration authorities must examine the children before giving entry visas, she said.

But some countries, including Vietnam, insist on completing the adoption here by proxy so that the parents have no chance to refuse the children with some physical handicap—eye infection, skin rashes, hair-lip—that they are unprepared to cope with, Mrs. Harrison said.

MR. AND MRS. DAVE MURRAY

Murray – Deming

College Hill United Church was the scene of the recent wedding ceremony of Dale Merle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Deming of Belleville and David Harvey Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Murray, also of Belleville. Rev. Roy Vessey officiated for the ceremony. Soloist was Mrs. Beth Phillips while Marlene Bailey provided the accompanying organ music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore an imported chapel length gown of white French lace over taffeta with tapered cuffs. A satin sash with streamers and a gored skirt with a butterfly train enhanced her gown. Her jewelled shoulder-length illusion veil was held in place by a band of white satin and satin ribbon. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of trailing red roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Jane Dennison wore a high waisted floor length lime green gown of chiffon over taffeta with a matching trim and an attached scarf of the same material formed the overhead veil. She carried a basket of tinted gardenias and lily of the valley.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Bonnie Stables, sister of the bridegroom and Kathie Deming, sister of the bride were dressed identically to the maid of honor in yellow and mauve pastel gowns. They carried matching baskets.

Flower girl Susan Vance wore a floor length gown of floral muslin and lace. She carried a matching basket also.

Best man was Dale Caul, friend of the bridegroom, Dave Johnston and Paul Murray brother of the bridegroom were the ushers. Ringbearer was Craig Leahi, cousin of the bride.

For the dinner reception held at the Elks Lodge, the bride's mother wore a two-piece ensemble of mauve chiffon with matching accessories. Her outfit was complemented by a pink rose corsage.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a dress of lime green chiffon with a jewelled neckline. A matching corsage completed her outfit.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and USA, the bride donned a white and red nautical look slack ensemble which was enhanced by a red rose corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Murray will reside at Cloverleaf Drive, Belleville.

Apple Register Completed

LONDON (CP) — Miss Muriel Smith, who likes botany and has a flair for languages, has completed her major work after 18 years. It's The National Apple Register of the United Kingdom.

It is a volume of 652 pages with pictures of all apple cultivars or varieties known to have been grown in Britain since 1853. It sets out the accepted names, synonyms and alternative names, and gives references, descriptions and characteristics.

There are some 6,000 distinct varieties, which, together with synonyms, make up about 22,000 entries.

No comparable body of detailed information on the subject exists anywhere else. It is being used as a model for other countries' registers, and as the basis for the International Apple Register now being compiled by the National Fruit Trials at the request of the International Society for Horticultural Science.

The National Fruit Trials, under whose auspices Miss Smith has carried out her mammoth task, is an experimental centre run by Britain's ministry of agriculture.

It is an record that in 1533 Richard Harris, fruiterer to Henry VIII, planted an orchard of 146 acres on the king's land at Teynham, using imported grafts. Seventy years later in a book called The Fruiterer's Secrets, it is claimed that "this orchard is . . . the chief mother of all other orchards for those kinds of fruits in Kent and divers other places."

It was clearly also the forerunner of the National Fruit Trials in Kent.

The primary object of the trials is to assess the commercial merit of new cultivars. But, says Miss Smith, it is almost as important to know their fruit's cold susceptibilities. Not only must one record size, shape, appearance, quality and so on, but vulnerability to pests and diseases and how they stand up to transport. Extra notes must be made only by means of the most detailed records and comparisons.

Miss Smith had always been interested in the study of plants, and at James Allen's girls' school in Dulwich, London, botany was one of her favorite subjects and she had a natural flair for languages.

After school, she took a job in the offices of the Royal Horticultural Society.

When the Apple register was started in 1943 she was asked to take charge of it.

The range of cultivars grown in British orchards has long been highly cosmopolitan, and in compiling the register books, journals and other publications in many languages had to be consulted.

The names of apple cultivars had fallen into a state of confusion, with many different synonyms and a bewildering number of variations on spelling. During the 129 years of existence, for example, the well-known Cox's Orange Pippin has collected 42 other names.

Asked if she likes apples, Miss Smith replied:

"Yes, very much, and it's a good thing I do because part of my job is tasting them."

Female Elected As President

NEW YORK (CP) — Dorothy Uttan of Ottawa, a federal civil servant, has been elected president of Quota International, a women's service organization with 14,000 members in Canada, Australia and the United States.

Miss Milligan, a senior personnel administrator with the Public Service Commission, is the first Canadian president of the organization in about 20 years.

The civil servant, now working for the Secretariat on the Equal Opportunities for Women branch, said in a telephone interview from Ottawa Wednesday she considered her election "amazing" because the Canadian branch of the organization has only 600 members.

The election was held during Quota's annual meeting last week in New York.

Quota International is involved in programs to aid the hearing and speech handicapped. It also sponsors community programs for the young and the elderly.

PAINTING PORCELAIN — Girls paint pattern plates at the Royal Copenhagen Porcelain Manufactory in Copenhagen. It was founded in 1775, came into the hands of the royal family but wasn't a financial success and in 1868 was turned over to a private company. (CP Photo)

Porcelain Display Given

COPENHAGEN (CP) — One of the world's most priceless porcelain service sets is on exhibition in Rosenborg Palace in Copenhagen. The special occasion: it is being borrowed by the royal family.

It's in the Flora Danica pattern, in exact copies of botanical engravings which appeared in 1761.

This particular dinner service has a fascinating beginning. It was really a show-off set. In 1789 the Russian royal family wanted to impress on the Russians how much superior was Danish porcelain than the Russian.

The latter had stolen the secret of making china from the Danes who, in turn, had stolen it from the Germans who, only 200 years ago, had smuggled through spies to learn the closely guarded secret from the Chinese. Incidentally, porcelain and china are the same.

So the Danish king ordered a service of 2,600 pieces as a gift to Catharine II of Russia. Twelve years passed and then the work was stopped. Both Catharine and the artist who was handpainting the set had died. Only some 1,300 pieces had been finished. Most of these now belong to the Danish royal family.

However 36 plates are to be found as wall ornaments at the Bernstorff mansion house, near Falster in Denmark. It's a breathtaking sight.

A second Flora Danica was made some 60 years after the first as a wedding present to the Danish Princess Alexandrina. She married the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII. Among later Flora Danica services was a packet of peasoaster for another Danish princess, Anne-Marie, when in 1954 she married King Constantin of Greece.

The pattern isn't exclusive to royalty, of course. Anyone can order any number of pieces but they're extremely expensive. Incidentally, the Flora Danica pattern set got to Russia finally. The Danish government presented a plate of this pattern to the Russian astronaut Gagarin on his visit to Denmark.

This famous pattern is produced, as well as many others, by the Royal Copenhagen Porcelain Manufactory. It was founded in 1775, came into the hands of the royal family but wasn't a financial success and in 1868 was turned over to a private company.

Mirror of Your Mind
by JOHN CONWELL

Do people dream in color?

YES, but the color fades very quickly. That's why it is so hard to convince people they dream in color. Dr. Ann Faraday, an eminent psychotherapist and author of "Dream Power" (Coward, McCann & Geoghegan), says, "Experiments have shown that if subjects are questioned about color immediately on waking from an R. E. M. (rapid eye movement that indicates a dream period), they report dreams in color on over 80 per cent of occasions."

Can an ex-loner enjoy marriage?

THAT depends on the person. If he or she sought a lonely life and actually warded off attempts to be more communicable, then that individual might have a problem that must be faced before he or she will have a chance at happiness in married life. A person who simply needed love to develop confidence and resolve the question of whether or not to become "involved" enough to marry could be just as happy as any other husband or wife.

Are teenagers afraid to be gracious?

OF COURSE NOT; and it is ignorant for anyone to make sweeping statements that castigate a whole generation. Teenagers may appear to be something less than gracious to older people, but that is because the grownups let a few instances of boorish behavior condemn all young people. Today's teenagers, extremely conscious of the many inequities they face, are perhaps more gracious than their detractors were when they were adolescents.

Ann Landers

'Gay' Wardrobe Is No Tipoff

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from "Fish With Feathers" was a lot of garbage. He said the "built-in radar" between two gay boys is a fairy tale, and if the guy is a Tulsch number he can't be figured. Let me tell you that any guy who has to wait until some queen throws him a kiss is pretty dumb or he hasn't been around much.

And what's this about a "chartered dress code?" The gays all along the coast—starting up here in Vancouver, down to Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, show up in every thing from white satin to black leather. Wardrobe is no tipoff. Most gays dress perfectly straight guys are wearing ruffled shirts, wild ties, long bobs, tight pants, earrings and neck jewelry.

Among those guys who claim they've made the switch, he's wrong about them, too. They are not bisexual. When they are in a position to choose, invariably they prefer members of their own sex. Too bad some of these AC/DC types don't realize they like "fellas better until after they've married a nice girl and had a couple of kids.

You'd be doing a lot of people a favor, Ann, if you'd repeat your advice: "If you're not sure, don't get married to find out. It could be a disaster." I know because—I'm One And It Was.

Dear I. O.: You sound like a person who knows what he's talking about. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: What do your medical consultants say about candy-flavored vitamins? Please answer in the column. Nobody listens to me in this house.—Voice In the Wilderness.

Dear Voice: My medical consultants say candy-flavored vitamins are just dandy—for the companies that manufacture them. They do very little for the kids, however. The best way to get vitamins is to eat nourishing food.

There have been several cases of vitamin poisoning since the candy-flavored pills came out. Very young children have mistaken them for candy. And of course there are always a few dumbbells around who figure that if one is good, 10 must be 10 times better, so they allow a child to help himself.

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me why some people think they have the right to pull their cars up outside a farmer's house and honk their horns for someone to come out and give them directions?

For the 100th time in two years, I have been disturbed by these ignorant boors. This morning at 8:30 a car pulled up alongside our home and I was in my housecoat and hair rollers. I stood in the glass doorway for a full five minutes to see if that fool would stop leaning on his horn and get out of his car. He finally rolled down his window and yelled, "Come here a minute!"

I would never occur to these motorists to honk their horns outside a city home and expect someone to come out in any kind of weather and give them directions. Why do they feel a country dweller should be treated with less courtesy and consideration? Will you kindly explain this? I am—Bemused In Kentucky.

Dear B. in K.: The answer is found in your letter. People who honk their horns outside the home of a farmer and expect someone to come out and give them directions are ignorant boors.

Turn Over Reins Gracefully

By DORIS CLARK

"Dear Doris Girls: Count on me. I've been president for two years. And if Beth is going to step into my shoes with the little-experience she's had, it's up to me to help her make decisions."

"Joan, relax. Beth has it in her to make decisions and really do things, if the responsibility is put squarely on her shoulders. The best thing you can do is what the rest of us are doing. Make her feel that she is the boss now and that you know very well she can take the reins."

How often have we wondered about the rookie taking office? How often have we been in the position of leadership which we must surrender with anxious thought and reluctant hands? Yet each new leader, each president, each chairman has something unique to offer to his club.

I know at least one men's service club in which the outgoing president is not even considered a member of the executive committee any more. He is still on the board of directors, available if things come up about which he is the one who can answer questions.

If you have just finished term as chairman of your particular group, do not make the mistake of trying to hang onto the reins. Let go! Give a build-up to the incumbent; trust her and show her you are glad she is now in the chair.

Dear Doris: I was heartbroken when my letter was abruptly answered by the person who wanted you to keep antique collecting out of your column.

I realize most of the letters have a hard luck story but I did think your column was for everyone. My interest in the Quints was a personal one and I surely would have paid for any souvenirs. I don't know anything about the price of antiques but I look on them as keepsakes. They are too precious to term in dollars and cents. Quintuplet's Twin.

Dear Q.T.: Forget it. By now you will have received four letters with messages from private persons who are offering you souvenirs of the Quints — offered in a spirit of friendliness.

Anyway, doesn't an item have to be over 100 years old before it is considered a genuine antique? My column is for everyone, especially if the discussion has to do with human relations or human interest.

The reader who advised me to keep out of antique collections and warning the public about unsuspected values was being helpful too.

Dear Doris: I would like to work on a ship but I have no idea where to write. Could you send me some addressed — Miss S. K.

Dear Miss S. K.: If you are talking about sailing the Atlantic, most of the passenger ships have homes in Great Britain or other European countries.

This means that crews are hired in those countries and live there between trips.

There is some lake shipping, of course, during the summer months, and you could write to the steamship lines about next year. You asked me to send you some addresses, but did not give us your own. Write again, this time enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and I will give you details.

(Do you wonder why the people you care about act as they do? Let Doris shed light on your particular human problem. And remember that stamped envelope.)

Casey Observes 82nd Birthday

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — "I was born July 30, 1890, in Kansas City, Mo.," said Casey Stengel.

That date made him 82 when he observed his birthday at his home here Sunday.

It also represented one of the shortest complete, coherent sentences Charles Dillon Stengel, a baseball hall of Famer" has ever uttered.

Casey said he was aware that some record books list him as having been born in 1889, and dates other than July 30 are also listed. In typical Stengel fashion, he has an explanation.

"When I was a young man of fine looks," began Casey, "we'd hit a town for three or four days, and if my birthday was approaching, I'd see that it was observed in one of several cities.

"Once in Kansas City, they baked a big cake which was so big they had to haul it to the ballpark in a truck. Now things weren't doing so good in Kansas City so they offered everybody a piece of cake if they'd come into the ballpark."

"Then there was the time I was managing Milwaukee for Bill Veeck. He was out somewhere in the Islands during the war and I told him if I had another pitcher I could win the pennant for him.

"So there was my birthday, or thereabouts, and out comes a truck onto the playing field, this immense cake, only it wasn't a real cake because out of it steps the new pitcher, who was from, I think, Puerto Rico or someplace.

The Stengels, Casey and his bride of 47 years, Edna, have three birthday dates on their calendar; a small family party Saturday night, an honored guests at the Baseball Hall of Fame celebration at Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug. 6-7 and at an Old Timers' dinner and game in San Diego Aug. 17-18.

Plane's Cinch First Place

Melrose scored in the first and last innings in their 5-0 victory over Latta Saturday, but it was Ted Abrams' consistency that kept the winners within striking distance of Plane's Concrete in the South Hastings Baseball League.

Abrams picked up 18 strikeouts in going the full eight innings for Melrose. He allowed seven hits but was never in trouble against the cellar-dwelling Latta squad.

Larry Pascoe smashed a double and two singles. G. McMeehan a triple and Rick Vaughter a double to lead the winners at the plate.

John Hill took the loss for Latta allowing all five runs on seven hits. He fanned eight before giving way to John Masterson in the final frame. R. Allison had three singles in a losing effort.

Other weekend scores had pennant leading Plaines stopping Latta 3-1 and the Reserve nipping Shannonville 10-9.

Plane's Concrete cinched the pennant with a 7-3 Sunday win over Latta. Bob Robb turned in a four-hitter for the winners, fanning eight and not walking a batter. Damon Richardson also allowed four hits in taking the loss. The Latta pitcher struck out four batters and walked five.

Ken Abrams homered for Plane's while Wayne Hay had a double and single and Robb a single. For Latta it was Richardson with a double and single followed by John Masterson and Chris Short with one hit each.

Dreamy Chief Not Napping

Dreamy Chief wasn't dreaming of anything other than winning the fourth race during Sunday's Frontenac Downs harness meet, which he did in convincing form.

Chief ran the fastest race of the day pacing the mile in 2:07.2 shaving three seconds off his best lifetime mark.

Rideau Creed and Colleen Mahone ran one-two as the first race of the card and returned $66.90 for the Quinella.

The seventh race existed of $51.20 was returned by Dale Stanton and Jim Bricks and the fifth race victory by Hieland Jimmy and Fireman Hanover enabled the lucky ticket holders to pick up a $39.70 exacta pay-off.

Other race winners in this the fourth day of racing at Jove in the fifth, Oden Spruce in the sixth and Tester Two in the eighth.

A crowd of 1,363 pushed $30,868 through the pari-mutuel wickets.

Thurlow Baseball Suffer Lone Setback

The Thurlow tykes had Newcastle's number, over the weekend but the odds were against them when Belleville came to town.

Thurlow swamped Newcastle 19-7 and 28-7 in a pair of all-star games before dropping an 11-9 decision to Belleville.

David Blakely pitched the first win for Thurlow Plane's Concrete allowing three hits and striking out 11. Jeff Hogle smashed a double and four singles while Tom Masterson and Boyd Sullivan had a double and two singles each. Masterson and Hogle turned pitchers in Thurlow's second win combining for a six-hitter. Robbie O'Brien cranked three triples and a pair of singles and Blakely a homer and triple for the winners.

Their third game of the weekend proved too much for Thurlow as they fell to Belleville Mel Read 11-9.

Masterson had two doubles and two singles and O'Brien a double and two singles for the losers while Mike Crawford had three singles and Shawn Mulroney a triple and single for the winners.

Trainmen Chug Into Industrial Contention

CNR got untracked Sunday and moved back into second spot in the division B Industrial Softball League standings, by smashing Canadian Tire 12-6.

Perry Soule blazed a three-hitter at the short staffed Tiremen fanning three and walking two. Mark Sheridan pounded out a homer, double and two singles and Homer Thomas two triples for the winners big blasts.

Alec Belch took the loss for CTC.

AOCO kept their pace atop the division C standings in step with a 14-6 win over the Independents.

Larry Waite started for the winners lasting two and a half innings and five runs before giving way to Ron McCoy, who stopped the Independents on one hit the rest of the way. McCoy had a double and single at the plate and John Smith two singles for the winners only two-time hitters.

Doug Campbell smashed a triple and home run for the losers besides taking the loss on the pitching rubber.

In another weekend game, the Post Office stopped Morchs 16-8.

George Johnson picked up the win allowing 13 hits and fanning four. He received hitting support from Norm Lockhart with a homer, double and two singles and Gord St. Louis with a triple, single and double.

Bob Bogle had two triples and two singles behind Morchs starter Paul Sharpe.

When the bottom of divisions A and B met something was bound to go up in the air — and this time it was the ball, 65 times.

Morchs outhit Constellation 15-10 in slamming their Carpetmen 17-8.

Paul Sharpe had a homer, triple and double and Bob Bogle a homer and single to lead a fist-full of Morch hitters. Sharpe and Don Fobert shared the pitching duties.

Tom Bellis threw in defeat for Constellation.

Belleville Tracksters Make Time

Dave Simonds and Ralph Vandervoort have been doing a lot of running this summer, but the best is yet to come.

Dave and Ralph are both members of the Kinsmen Track and Field Club and both qualified for the Eastern ships later this month after Saturday's Ontario championships.

Dave picked up third places in the 400 and 800 metres and Ralph a second in the 100 metres at the Ontario meet in Kitchener. Ralph went the dash in 11.3 seconds while Dave finished in 2:06.2 in his 800 metre specialty.

Both will be competing at the Eastern finals in Brantford August 12 and 13.

Battering Battery

Batterymates Bill Thurow and Henry Arts helped Barrie to an easy 10-0 win over the home team in the finals of the Belleville Bantam Softball Tournament Saturday. Thurow (top) slides into third en route to tallying one of his team's runs in the 10-0 championship win over Belleville. Arts attempts a sacrifice bunt in one of his plate appearances, but it was on the pitching mound that he made his most significant contribution. The righthander fired a perfect game in the final against Belleville.

Barrie Pitcher Perfect Without Much Practice

By ERIC EMERSON
Sports Staff

Practice makes perfect, but not as far as the Barrie bantam softball team is concerned. They managed to attain perfection in the Belleville Bantam Softball Tournament without the advantage of a great deal of practice.

"We're the only bantam club in our area, so we don't really get as much competition as we'd like, but the boys have been doing really well," explained winning coach John McCann.

One Barrie player who certainly didn't require any more practice was pitcher Henry Arts. The righthander faced only 21 batters in the championship tilt for a perfect game pitching effort. He struck out 10 Belleville batters.

"My line is probably my best pitch and it was working pretty well today," related Henry, who was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player. It was his second no-hitter this year and his first perfect game.

His Barrie teammates, who have been runners-up in the 16-team Amethyst Tournament, as well as winning their home town tourney, provided Arts with flawless fielding support. Third baseman Doug Keans saved the perfect game with two sharp fielding efforts on Belleville bunt attempts.

Barrie slugged a total of nine hits against a trio of Belleville pitchers. They were led by shortstop Neil Parker with two singles and a double and Keans who cracked one of each. Paul Wilson, Bill Forbes and Dave Vance all saw action on the losers' mound.

In the "B" champions 8-1 win game, Picton blasted the Belleville SACO peewees 17-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Jay Bovay.

A third-inning single by Terry Pearce broke up Bovay's bid for a no-hitter as Picton righthander struck out 10 batters and issued only one walk. He helped his own cause by slamming three singles while Mouse, Reed and Gillis had two hits apiece against Danby, Vance and Randy Smith who split the Belleville pitching chores.

Picton had been relegated to "B" play by losing a 7-6 decision to Belleville's Rollins Shell stalwarts in the opening game of the tournament. Bill Parker went the distance for Belleville turning in a six-hitter while Bovay allowed five Rollins hits. Brian Roach, Gary Thompson, Eric Powell, Pat Soutter and Forbes all safely for the winners. Shortstop Mary Lowry gave an outstanding defensive performance throughout the tournament for the Belleville bantams.

The SACO peewees gained their berth in the "B" final by virtue of a 12-1 win over Cedar Hill. Vance went the route for Belleville giving up 10 hits while aiding his own cause with a homer. Eburne rapped three singles in that game for the winners.

No Relief For Meads Opponents

Pennant winning Mead Johnson squirts weren't letting up in their first round play-off opener Sunday blanking Chases Grocery 5-0.

Tim Soule fired a one-hitter for the squirts who won it through the peewee house league schedule undefeated. The big righthander fanned 13 and did not walk a man. Andy Rossis had a triple and single and Bob Hedge a double and single for the winners.

Gerry Bird was tagged with the loss for Chases who finished fourth in the regular schedule.

John Chases First Win

By RANDY DERRY
Sports Staff

John Vance is so stranger to the horses, barns, feeding, grain and all things involved in the harness racing profession but there is still one spot where he still has a lot to learn — in the sulky.

John is a relative rookie to the harness world as far as driving is concerned having just earned his license last year but with a racing family like the Vances and 12 years of learning the ropes, John is well on his way to becoming one of Belleville's regular fixtures on the half mile oval.

"I got my license last year when you had to go three races and were judged on it but it's changed to five races this year so I'm glad I made it when I did," reflects the Quinte Secondary graduate.

"I ran three races last year and two so far this year. I've had a couple of thirds but I'm still looking for that first win."

John will be getting a few more starts this season however, and that first win should not be long in coming and with it should be the next ending experience gained in actual racing.

"You've got to be driving to really learn. You can't learn anything about this sport by reading a book. What I have learned so far has been from my Dad plus what I pick up listening and looking around the track," stated John whose Dad Al has been one of the most consistent winning drivers on the Belleville track for years.

"When you stay around Dad long enough something's bound to rub off," commented the senior Vance's protege, who has begun to take over some of the reigns from Al's usual stable of mounts. "I train a couple of horses and again this is a part of harness racing where you can learn a lot."

At 20 years old John isn't making any long range plans but harness racing must surely hold a one spot in his future.

The future was of little concern Saturday night however when John found himself driving Skippy Rush in the fourth race. "I've got a tough act to follow tonight. Dad has never finished worse than third with Skippy."

John's pre-race observation held up for John who could manage only a fourth place finish.

The second race daily double returned the highest payoff in weeks at the Belleville track when Hawk and Steward's Tartan paid $228. Yankee Jet had the fastest time of the night running the mile in 2.11 and combined with Rufia Daisy to return $44.50 in the seventh race exacta.

A mutual handling of $28,692 was wagered by the crowd of 1,046.

Peter Hall Decks Peterborough Peewees

The Belleville Conductors beat Bradshaw Builders 6-5 to decked the 'Hall' with victory Sunday yesterday after Peter Hall led the local crew to a 10-4 EOBA win over Peterborough.

Hall struck out 12 and walked only two in going the distance for the winners. Mike Burke smashed a triple and double, Bruce Bell a triple and single and Bill Gow a double for Belleville.

In a peewee house league game over the weekend, the Kinsmen's Paul Martinek and Dave Bennett combined for a three-hit 11-0 win over Motorland Chrysler.

Peterborough Peewees Decks Belleville Bantams

The pair fanned 13 and followed only one extra-base hit to the Motormen, a triple by Paul Laing.

Randy Bell had a triple, double and single and Phil Tobin a single and two doubles for the Kinsmen.

SHORTSTOP RECORD

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Eddie Brinkman of Detroit Tigers set a one-season major league record for shortstops Saturday when he handled his 298th consecutive chance without an error in the fifth inning against Milwaukee Brewers. Chico Carrasquel of Chicago White Sox set the old mark of 297 consecutive errorless chances in 1951.

'Keep Turning Left'

That might have been the pre-race advice that John Vance is giving his pacer Skippy Rush before the pair journeyed into the fourth race of the Regular Saturday night meet at the Exhibition grounds. John, who was racing in only his fifth race ever after gaining his license last year, reigned Skippy to a fourth place finish.

Wood Whipped By Killebrew

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilbur Wood was having troublesome times with the Minnesota mound. But Tom Hilgendorf was delighted with the way he found the range in Cleveland.

"It took me quite a time to get adjusted to the mound," Wood, Chicago's knuckleballing veteran, said today after trying—and failing—to become one of the winningest pitchers in the American League.

One of Wood's less successful pitches dropped into the left field pavilion, 351 feet away from home plate, for a Harmon Killebrew home run in the sixth inning that powered Minnesota Twins to a 4-2 victory over the White Sox.

Hilgendorf, getting his first major league start as a new member of the Cleveland pitching staff, said he knew good times were ahead when he ambled out to the bullpen for his pregame warming up.

"I can tell just by walking out there," he said. "If the mound looks a long way away—then look out. But today it was pretty close and I knew it was okay."

It was more than just okay. Hilgendorf scattered six hits, striking out seven. Milwaukee batters struck out Wednesday's 6-1 to sweep a doubleheader. Cleveland had taken the opener 3-2.

In other American League games, Texas topped Oakland, 2-1 and 4-2; Boston split a pair with Detroit, winning 4-3 before Tigers took the second game 7-2; Baltimore blanked New York Yankees 6-0 in City 4-3 in 11 innings.

In Saturday action, Milwaukee Brewers defeated Detroit Tigers 6-3; Baltimore Orioles edged Chicago White Sox 4-3; New York Yankees routed Boston Red Sox 8-4; Oakland Athletics whipped Minnesota Twins 7-2; Chicago White Sox nipped Kansas City Royals 5-4 and California Angels knocked over Texas Rangers 8-1.

Wood, with his 11th loss instead of the 12th victory that would have tied him with Detroit's Mickey Lolich and Cleveland's Gaylord Perry as the winningest pitchers in the majors, said neither the mound nor 17 mile-an-hour gusts had any effect on the breakfast that Killebrew belted.

"Killebrew is tough every time he steps to the plate," Wood said.

Harmon's 18th homer of the year was also the 384th of his career, moving him ahead of fifth-place Jimmy Foxx on the all-time list.

Hilgendorf, who's spent 1969-70 with St. Louis, where he worked 27 innings in 23 games, all in relief, to post an 0-4 record, got his chance just three weeks after Cleveland purchased his contract from Kansas City.

Jerry Moses drove in two runs for Cleveland in the nightcap and the Brewers overwhelmed to their own downfall with four errors in the game.

In the opener, Tom McCraw homered in the bottom of the ninth inning for the only run as even more costly error, Rick Auerbach's fielding of Ted Kubiak's two-out grounder, let in the winning run.

Mike Nelson was a one-man gang for the Rangers, figuring batters as Texas' only pitcher in Oakland.

In the opener, he served a first-inning run, then delivered the tie-breaking winner with a ninth-inning double. And in the finale, he scored twice and delivered the two more runs, one of them with a run-scoring single that produced the margin of victory.

Gates Brown delivered a tie-breaking fifth-inning home run, then contributed a sacrifice fly to a four-run sixth that powered the Tigers past Boston in their nightcap.

Brown had also homered in the opener but it was John Kennedy's tie-breaking single in the sixth inning that gave the Red Sox their victory.

Mike Cuellar tamed the Yanks on just three singles and got all the help he needed from Boog Powell, who clouted a two-run homer in the first inning. Brooks Robinson also singled home a pair of runs for the Orioles, who cut Detroit's East Division lead to one game.

Bob Oliver, formerly of the Royals, gave his old teammates a shock when he led off the fifth inning for the Angels with his 13th homer, a two-run opening blast over the center field fence.

Pitzer Captures Alberta Open

EDMONTON (CP) — Greg Pitzer, a mod, long-haired 25-year-old Californian, stroked a nine-under par 204 to win the Alberta open golf championship.

The win earned Pitzer, who has been golfing professionally for only one year, $5,500 and made him the No. 1 money maker on the 1972 Canadian tour. He won the Quebec Open in June and now has more than $5,500 in earnings to take back to his home in Pacific Palisades, Calif.

Pitzer, who is 5-foot-7 inches were 25-year-old John Morgan of Victoria and Elwin Fannifer, 27, of Houston, Tex. They received $937.50 each.

Morgan hasn't had a major win yet this year, but has earned more than $3,000 on the tour. Fanning, who won the Gulf Coast Professional Golfers' Association tournament in the U.S. last year, is a newcomer to the Canadian tour.

Tied for fourth at 209 were Don Fairfield of Palm Springs, Calif., and Rafe Botts of Los Angeles. They each picked up $2525 in prize money.

Longshots Prove Top Golf Team

LIGONIER, Ln. (AP) — Great—just absolutely great," Kermit Zarley replied when asked how it felt for him and partner Babe Hisker to break Arnold Palmer-Jack Nicklaus domination of the Professional Golfers Association national team championship.

"But you know, "Zarley reflected, "they probably would have won again if they had teed up."

The longshot partners forged a better-ball score of 66, five under par, in the final round to this score an easy victory Sunday.

Their 262 total was 22 strokes better par on the 7,045-yard Loucrest Valley Golf Club, Palmer's home course where he and Nicklaus had combined to win the two previous tournaments. Nicklaus withdrew this year because of a badly infected finger. Palmer tapped obscure on Jack Lewis, 25, as a last-minute distant 13 strokes back at 274.

"I'm sure wish I could have played better," the disappointed Lewis said. "I guess I'm not just tried too hard."

Hiskey and Zarley moved into a share of the lead after 36 holes, took sole control at the end of the third round and weren't headed as they strolled on with a mostly uneventful triumph.

John ny Miller and Grier Jones, a pair of 25-year-olds, made the only major challenge in the final round that began in a drizzling rain and finished in cool and cloudy weather.

They combined for an eight-under-par 63 and took second at 265. Gibby Gilbert and Larry Watkins, one stroke off the pace going into the final 18 holes, finished with a 69 and third at 266.

Tommy Aaron and former Masters champion Charles Coody were next with a 64-267 and were followed by four teams tied at 269. Those were brothers Dave and Mike Hill, Colorado neighbor Dale Douglass and Hale Irwin, former champions Bobby Nichols and George Archer and Harry Toscano and Jim Wiesberger.

Ben Kern of Toronto and Larry Wood of Illinois shot a 67 Sunday to finish with a 272 total, good for $1,151 in prize money.

Miskey ranked 100th on the season's money list, going into this tour na ment with only $13,000.

But he combined almost perfectly with Zarley here, each picking up $20,000 from a total purse of $200,000. With 4 birdies in the four rounds, 16 by Hiskey, and a single bogey, In the team event the score is 2 strokes only on the team's better ball on each hole.

"It's kind of easy to win when your partner is always on the green, 15 or 20 feet from the hole," Hiskey said. "When he's in that position you can really go for the pin and try to make birdie."

Zarley, who once challenged Nicklaus for the U.S. Open title only to falter in the closing round, didn't fail this time. He nailed down the triumph with a pair of deuces on the home stretch, putting them out of reach of any would-be challengers. He rolled in a 70-foot putt on the 16th hole and chipped in from just eight feet short of the ring on the 17th.

Pirates Happy, Padres Pooped

The Pirates scored all their runs in the last two innings Sunday to nail Philadelphia Phillies 7-1 and maintain their National League East lead at seven games over New York Mets, who shocked Montreal Expos 2-1.

"If we continue to get the pitching, we're going to have a lot of fun in the second half," said Richie Hebner, who hit a tie-breaking three-run homer as the Pirates scored four times in the eighth inning.

Meanwhile, the Padres, who went 17 innings Saturday evening to defeat Cincinnati Reds, 4-3-11, an extra-inning doubleheader with Houston Astros, winning the opener 10-7 in 14 innings but dropping the nightcap 4-3 in 10.

Elsewhere, the Reds blanked San Francisco Giants 4-0 before losing the second game 6-1 in 10 innings, Atlanta Braves took two from Los Angeles Dodgers 14-4 and 5-4 and Philadelphia swept St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 and 5-4.

In other Saturdays games, Chicago beat St. Louis 2-1, Houston dropped Los Angeles 7-2, San Francisco defeated Atlanta 3-2, Montreal edged New York 6-3 and Philadelphia split in Pittsburgh, winning 5-1 and losing 3-2.

Pittsburgh's Bruce Kison and Philadelphia's Steve Carlton were locked in a scoreless duel until the Phillies took a 1-0 lead in the seventh on Greg Luzinski's triple and a single by Will Montanez.

But Gene Clines opened the Pirates' eighth with a infield hit and scored on Al Oliver's two-out double. Dick Allen received Lersch and promptly uncorked a wild pitch, walked Manny Sanguillen and sent Hebner belt a three-run homer into the right field seties on the first pitch to him.

The Bucs teed off on Selma Dabney for six runs in the ninth on Gene Alley's single, a sacrifice, a single by Clines, Dave Cash's triple and a single by Vic Davalillo.

The last-place padres are enjoying giving the contenders a hard time. They took two from the Reds before coming to Houston.

"I'm not say one thing," crowed Manager Don Zimmer. "I've never seen 25 men tear down and go about their business like this team. These kids are tired but they kept going. It's made me feel good the way they've battled, there 41 innings."

The Padres pushed across three runs in the 14th to win the opener. Derrel Thomas singled home the tie-breaking run as Dave Roberts, who hit a three-run homer earlier, alinged in two more. Houston won the nightcap on Jimmy Stewart's bases-loaded single in the 10th.

Cleon Jones who drove in New York's tying run with a sacrifice fly, tripled in the seventh and scored the lead run against Montreal on Duffy Dyer's single. Tommie Agee hit his first homer since May 21 in the ninth for an insurance run.

Jerry Grimsley blanked San Francisco on eight hits as the Reds won their opener with four runs in the seventh-inning Merichal but the Giants' bounced back to take the nightcap with five runs in the 10th off ace reliever Clay Carroll.

Earl Williams and Mike Lum each drove in three runs in Atlanta's opening game rout of Los Angeles and Ralph Garr greeted reliever Jim Brewer with a three-run seventh-inning homer to decide the nightcap.

Rookie Rick Reuschel restored six hits and singled in the first run in the Cub's shutout of the Cardinals. Chicago trafled by a similar 4-0 score early in the nightcap but posted away with single runs in the first, third and fourth innings and fi nally pulled it out in the 12th on Glenn Beckert's two-run single.

Atlanta Fans Hope

Atlanta Chiefs gained a maximum seven points Sunday to farm their North American Soccer League playoff hopes with a 3-0 victory over Montreal Olympics.

The Chiefs remained five points behind second-place Dallas Tornado in the Southern Division and each team has one game to play.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis Stars won the Southern Division title with a 3-0 victory over New York Cosmos, leaders of the Northern section ; the Dallas Tornado blanked Toronto Metros 2-0; and Rochester Lancers defeated Miami Gators 4-1.

Art Welch scored two goals to spice the Chiefs in Montreal. Pat McBride's first goal of the season was all the Stars needed to conquer the Cosmos. Four other St. Louis shots into the net were nullified by offsides calls and handling the ball rings.

The victory raised the Stars' record to 7-7-3 and their point total to 69, 12 ahead of Tornadoes, who scored in the first three minutes against the visitors from Toronto.

Irish hotlack Damien Ferguson got the opening goal in the first minute and the team's leading scorer, Mike Renshaw, produced the second goal 13 minutes into the second half.

ATLANTA (AP) — "It looked like my life had changed a lot about two feet," said Jan Ferraris. "My legs were shaking when I hit that one."

The daughter of a San Francisco lead leader sank the two foot putt on the 18th green to register a one-stroke victory over Judy Burfordin in the $25,000 Lady Pepsi Open golf tournament Sunday.

Miss Ferraris closed a two-ager-par 72 on the soggy, 6,345-yard Indian Hills Country Club course that had been soaked by rain throughout the 54 - hole event. It gave her a 221 total and the $3,250 first prize.

The pressure putt on the finishing hole closed the door on a dramatic comeback by Miss Burfeindt, who had started the day eight strokes behind Miss Ferraris and Gail Denenbert, who dropped to seventh place with her closing 79.

TORONTO (CP) — Aerobics, a new program of running and jogging to improve heart and lung capacity, has supplanted the world-famous Royal Canadian Air Force 5BX and 10BX exercises in the armed services.

Since last February the sit-ups' push-ups' and leg raises of the BX exercises have been replaced by aerobics, now the minimum standard that all armed forces personnel must meet.

However, because the different programs emphasize development of different parts of the body, some commands are supplementing aerobics with the original Canadian programs.

"A soldier trained with aerobics would be able to run all day, but might not be able to pull himself out of a trench because his arms are weak," Lieut. Gregory Pearson of CFB Downsview said in an interview.

Designed by a United States doctor, Kenneth Cooper, aerobics concentrates on developing oxygen into the cells instead of building muscles, as the BX exercises do.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hervey Pearce, president of the Canadian Track and Field Association, says the association's board of directors has taken up sue with the Canadian Olympic Association's decision to limit 10 members from the Canadian track and field team that will compete in the summer Olympics in Munich, West Germany.

The Olympic association last week approved a 37-member track and field team, although the track and field association had named 47 members to the team.

In an interview Saturday, Mr. Pearce said the directors, by a majority vote taken by telephone, have protested the action in a letter to Richard Pound of Montreal, secretary of the Summer Olympic committee.

Evert Avenges Wimbledon Loss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Chris Evert, 17, avenged her Wimbledon loss with a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 victory over an erratic and careless Evonne Goolagong Sunday but could not prevent an Australian triumph in the first between the United States and Australia.

The 30-year-old Miss Goolagong, who won the Wimbledon women's title in 1971, started shakily, had one brief spurt of her normal brilliance and then saw her game fall apart in the final set.

The clinching match of the international series between the top players of the United States and Australia was scored earlier by the 30-year-old Margaret Smith Court, undisputed champion of the world in the 1960s who was staging a comeback after a year's maternity leave.

The first-ranked U.S. Australian tennis queen crushed Valerie Zeregelova of San Diego 6-1, 6-1.

This result plus Chris's victory for the Americans, made the score 4-1 in favor of Australia in this best-of-seven series and rendered meaningless a final doubles match.

Marathon Tennis Match

TORONTO (CP) — A two-hour match between Duby Petrovich and Robert Erwin in which Petrovich emerged the winner highlighted play at the Ontario closed tennis championships on the weekend.

Petrovich took the under-16 championship 3-6, 7-6, 7-6 in the Saturday contest. He won the second set in a 9-2 tiebreaking game and the third on another tiebreaker, 5-3.

Petrovich credits his strength for the win. To get his legs in shape he runs two miles a day.

Petrovich, who plays out of the Don and Toronto Law clubs, says he will enter both the under-18 and under-16 divisions at the national championships at Vancouver in two weeks.

Steve Whitehead of St. Catharines 6-0, 6-4 over Mike McLaughlin of Toronto. Garth Nasmith of Toronto took the under-14 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 over Owen Parker of Toronto.

Pat Hawthorne Toronto beat Richard Levine of Toronto in the under-12 division 6-3, 6-4.

In the girl's competition, Barbara Gardner of Toronto took the under-18 title 6-2, 6-1 over Kathy Gates of Toronto. Gardner-Kate Whitehead title went to Marg Blackwood of Ottawa who defeated Sandra Matthews of Burlington 6-4, 6-4.

Sandra Post of Toronto defeated Pat Sinclair of Toronto 6-2 and 6-0 to win the under-16 division. Gardner of Toronto took the under-12 title 6-4, 6-3 over Cindy Gates of Toronto.

Many of the leading junior tennis players are playing in the Ontario Open starting today at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club. Entries are down from last year, including 10 Americans, but there are the 180 players starting in the week-long competition.

Cats Tackle Roughies

HAMILTO (CP) — Both coaches were happy to get back to football as Saskatchewan Roughriders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats prepared to open the Canadian Football League season tonight after settlement of a salary dispute that threatened to keep the players off the field.

"We tried not to let it make any difference in our preparations but the players were a little preoccupied," said Hamilton coach Jerry Williams.

"Nobody was thinking about football in our Tuesday and Friday practices when the negotiations were coming to a head," said Saskatchewan coach Dave Skrien.

Among business delayed by the dispute was determination of the final Hamilton roster. The Tiger-Cats released two players Sunday night but were due two more by today.

The condition of punter Paul McKay had a bearing on the final cuts. A doubtful starter because of an ankle injury, he has been replaced in recent games by 19-year-old Ian Sutter, a soccer-style place-kicker from the junior Burlington Braves, who has been punting for a 38-yard average.

A major change in the Hamilton lineup will be the appearance of flanker of Garney Henley, a perennial CFL all-star as a defensive back.

TORONTO (CP) — Placekicker Ivan MacMillan was one of seven players placed on waivers Sunday by Toronto Argonauts' leaving them six over strength going into today's deadline for reaching the Canadian, Football League's 32-man player limit.

MacMillan, a soccer-style kicker who scored 66 points for the Argonauts last season, lost the job to Zenon Andruyashyn who punts as well as kicking field goals.

Others released were running backs John Sirycela and Mary Kendricks, defensive linemen Ralph Holloway and Doug Walker, split-end Gary Kuzyk and defensive back Tom Chown.

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — The All for One and One for All Society dissolved peacefully today as coach Bud Grant welcomed 60 rookies to Minnesota Vikings' training camp.

Defensive back Charlie West running back Clint Jones and wide receiver Gene Washington signed terms with the National Football League club over the weekend after playing out their options last season.

Although the three had said last week that they would sign only if they could negotiate collectively, they came to terms individually with general manager Jim Finks.

CASTON, Ohio (AP) — Kansas City back up quarterback Mike Livingston ran 39 yards in for one touchdown and passed for another Saturday, rallying the sputtering Kansas City Chiefs to a 23-17 victory over New York Giants in the annual professional football Hall of Fame game, first of the regular National Football League exhibition contests.

Livingston, a fourth - year man, replaced regular Len Dawson late in the first half and sparked the Chiefs from a 10-6 halftime deficit.

Livingston picked up the Chiefs after Dawson failed to move them in the first 28 minutes.

Clarke Sails To Victory

SKOSHOVED (CP-REUTER) — Dr. John Clarke, Canadian Olympic team yachtsman from Toronto, won the Finn Nordic international sailing championships in this Danish community Sunday.

Clarke was sixth in the sixth and final race to finish the competition with 29.4 penalty points and a good margin over Allan Bertrand of Australia, who had 36.8 points.

Clarke was second in the opening race. He won the second and third races, was third in the fourth race and 31st in the fifth.

Ryun Runs Third Best Mile in Toronto Win

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Ryun ran his fastest mile in five years and the third-fastest ever recorded Saturday as he coasted to a spectacular comeback in preparation for his third Olympic Games.

Against an undistinguished field at the Metropolitan Toronto Police Games, the 25-year-old veteran from Lawrence, Kan., covered the distance in three minutes 52.8 seconds, 35 yards ahead of his nearest challenger.

"I didn't feel particularly rested before the race," he said. "I had a vague knowledge of running fast, but not that fast. When I realized it was going to be a good time, I kept pressing."

The time compared with Ryun's world record of 3:51.1, set in 1967. A year earlier, he had run the distance in 3:51.3.

Beset by physical and mental problems, Ryun finished second to Kip Keino of Kenya in the 1,500 metres at the 1968 Olympics and appeared to lose his competitive edge. In a race in California last March he ran the mile in a pathetic 4:10.2.

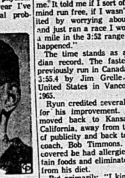
Last May things began to improve.

"That's when everything started to go well," Ryun said. "I ran a 5,000 metres in Bermuda, field, cleared the bar, previous best time by 10 seconds. Then there was that great 800 metres at the Olympic trials. I guess between that great 5,000 metres and the great 800 metres I was ready for a great mile somewhere."

With sprinter Dave Quiehl setting the pace for 400 metres, the first quarter went in 59 seconds, the half in 1:57.6 and the three-quarter in 2:57.2.

Grant McLaren of London, a distance runner, was second in 3:59.0. Third was Ken French of Vancouver in 4:03.2.

"The last Olympics and these are two different situations for me," said Ryun. "At the last Olympics I was the altitude contend with and I was trying to make a comeback from mononucleosis. I had physical problems while this year I've had only psychological problems."



JIM RYAN

He said he had not intended to run another mile this year, although he had planned to come to Toronto because "it's a nice city." He said he intended to compete in two more meets in our part of the country at this time." Most of the other members of the U.S. Olympic team are training in Europe.

"But last week a thought or a dream or something came to me. It told me if I sort of let my mind run free, it wasn't inhibited by worrying about time and just ran a race I would run a mile in the 3:52 range, and it happened."

The time stands as a Canadian record. The fastest mile previously run in Canada was a 3:55.4 by Tom Grilles of the United States in Vancouver in 1965.

Ryun credited several factors for his improvement. He has moved to Kansas from California, away from the glare of publicity and back to his old coach, Bob Timmons. He discovered he had allergies to certain foods and eliminated wheat from his diet.

But primarily, "I kind of like to think it is a faith in God that has helped me."

"It's not much belonging to a particular church. That's not it. But it is finding your personal relationship with God."

PCO's Advance

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peterborough PCOs wrapped up their Ontario Lacrosse Association quarter-final series in style Sunday, trouncing St. Catharines Legionnaires 20-7.

In contrast, Rexdale Warriors had trouble with another bunch of PCOs, squeaking past Mississauga 14-13 to tie their series at two wins apiece.

At Peterborough, Bob Wasson contributed six goals and Paul Viarei five as the PCOS won the fourth game to their seven game series and their second consecutive game without a loss.

Also scoring for Peterborough were Jim Johnston with three goals and Jim Evans and Gary Randy Bryan with two each. John Grant and Guy Legault each scored once.

Tom Patrick notched two goals for Legionnaires and singles were added by Al Thompson, Ron Lamberti, Bruce Jackson, John Grant and Tom Stockwell.

Rexdale and Mississauga meet again at Rexdale Tuesday.

Leading Rexdale scorers was Blair Campbell with five goals. Two each went to Dale Gascoigne, Dan Walker and Gwyn Barrett. Bill Bolitho, Boo Lewander and Jim Petty each added singles.

Mississauga got two goals from each of Pat Differ, John Chello, John Campbell, Paul Cieci and Layne Eagleson. Ted Gray, Tom Dougalee and Dave Moore scored singles.

Unser Ousted

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) — Joe Leonard, a 37-year-old campaigner from San Jose, Calif., was declared the official winner of the Schaefer 500 auto race Saturday an hour after the honor had gone to Al Unser.

Leonard, the 1971 driving champion of the United States Auto Club had taken the lead with 90 miles to go after rival of the early contenders had fallen by the wayside.

He crossed home about 27 seconds ahead of Johnny Rutherford of Fort Worth, Tex., who finally was credited with second place.

But up ahead, Al Unser, the leader on the track, was given the chequered flag. He and Leonard pulled their cars into victory lane together.

Rutherford drove his car to his garage. Both he and Unser said later they knew all along that Leonard was the winner, as did most of the 70,000 spectators.

Unser was credited with third place in the unofficial standings, completing 199 laps.

Hockey Player Dies in Accident

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Centre Gary Crosby, 22, who recently signed a two-year contract with Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League, was killed Saturday in a two-vehicle crash on Highway 7, seven miles east of here.

Crosby was one of three persons in a van that collided head-on with a car driven by Bruce Bell, 18, of Stratford. Bell was reported in fair condition in hospital. Jim McCrea, 24, and Jim Johnston, 23, both of the Kitchener area, were the other occupants of the van and were also reported in fair condition in hospital.

Police have not determined who was driving the van.

Crosby played with Kitchener Rangers and Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series before joining Michigan Tech Huskies for the last two seasons.

Vancouver Four Set Rowing Pace

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — A cox four crew from the Vancouver Rowing Club and an eight-oared crew from the St. Catharines Rowing Club picked up victories Sunday on the final day of the three-day Canadian Olympic Rowing trials.

In the only other final Sunday, two coxswain from Toronto and two from Ottawa combined to win the coxless four competition.

In the cox four, the Vancouver entry came from behind in the last half of the 2,000-metre trial on the Henley course, and finished with three feet to spare water over the favored St. Catharines Rowing Club entry. A University of British Columbia crew was another length back in third.

The foursome of Karel Jonker, Ian Gordon, Ed Smith, Bob Cunliff and Cox Mike Cowan finished in 6:03.13.

St. Catharines won the eights in a tie with the University of British Columbia second and the University of Western Ontario in third place.

The combination Ottawa Rowing Club-Toronto Argonauts crew led all the way in one-and-less four and finished one length ahead of the Vancouver Club. A University of British Columbia crew took third spot.

The winning crew, who had a time of 6:11 2-5, consisted of Don Curphey and Greg Rokoth of Argonauts and Jim Walker and Roger Jackson of Ottawa.

On Saturday, John McAvoy of Hamilton Leander and Peter Barr of the St. Catharines club combined to win the pairs event with a time of 6:52 3-4.

The winners finished three lengths up on Jeff Wright and Jim Ingram of the Argonauts. Earlier Saturday, Jackson and Walker combined to take the coxless pairs in 6:30. 6-5ths Ricketh and Curphey.

Barr won the singles event in 7:08 4-5, holding off a strong challenge by Tony Nowicki of Ottawa. McAvoy was third.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — British Columbia and Ontario both placed eight men on Canada's Olympic rowing team named Sunday night following four days of trials here.

From these 16 men, crews will be chosen in one four-oar, less four, cox pair and pair competition, leaving two surplus men who will be reserves. This selection will be made following a 10-day training camp in August.

The B.C. contingent consists of five members of the Vancouver Rowing Club—Karel Jonker, Ian Gordon, Ed Smith, Bob Cunliff and Mike Colway—and three from the University of British Columbia—Trevor Josephson, Mike Neary and Glen Battersby.

Three from Ontario were Rich Symyk, Guenter Quest, Rick Crooker and Mark Van Buyven of the St. Catharines Rowing Club; and Don Curphey and Greg Rokoth of Toronto Argonauts.

Kingston Crushed

KITCHENER (CP) — The Senior Inter-County Baseball League All-Stars won the Ontario amateur baseball championship Sunday with an 11-4 victory over Kingston CKLCs.

The win gives the All-Stars a place in the Canadian amateur finals which begin at Brandon, Man., Aug. 11.

The tournament at Kitchener was a four-team, double-game event. The All-Stars barged into the final after a 21-4 win over Leaside Maple Leafs Saturday and a 13-2 victory over Kingston.

Kingston made the final game with a 4-3 win over Orillia and an 11-4 decision over Leaside.

Doug Beckett, who played for Toronto Maple Leafs in the senior Inter-County League season, pitched the All-Stars to championship victories. He allowed Kingston seven hits. He struck out seven and walked four.

All Stars scored seven runs on six hits in four innings off Wayne Amyotte, who started the game and took the loss for Kingston. However, in Kingston's previous game with Leaside, Amyotte pitched five innings without surrendering a bit or a run before he was relieved.

All-Stars hitters were led by John Osborne of Toronto with three in the final game. Also of Toronto, and Bob Killop, a Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers player, each hit home runs. Layne knocked seven hits, including three homers in the 11 times he was at bat in the season tournament.

Kingston	000 200 100— 4 7 2
All-Stars	222 102 02x—11 12 1

Canadian Family Starts Long Trip

SUR, Lebanon (AP) — A Canadian businessman-adventurer and his family sailed Saturday aboard a cedarwood boat on the first leg of a trip intended to prove that ancient Phoenicians could have pioneered a 35,000-mile route to North America.

Dietrich Domhro's 30-foot vessel Phoenicia is expected to take two years on the coastal journey through the Indian Ocean and the Pacific to Canada.

Tourism Minister Michel Sasa, a number of Sher government officials and hundreds of spectators came to bid farewell to the family from Sahreata, Sask., as the boat let this southern Lebanese port.

Domhro, 46 his wife, Isabelle, 43, and their sons Dexter, 18, and Lawrence, 8—all in Phoenician costume—stood on the bow as the vessel moved out slowly toward Beirut.

The triple-keeled one-ton boat was built in Beirut. It has two cabins and is fitted with three sails, a mainsail, a jib and a genoa, as well as an outboard motor.

The vessel is to call on more than 40 ports on the way to Canada.

Dangercus?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers Union warned Saturday against using bug-killing insecticides, shelf papers and vaporizing strips.

The products, some of which are under attack from the federal government as well, were described in the latest issue of Consumer Reports magazine as containing dangerous chemicals which are released for a long time.

"We don't agree," said a spokesman for the maker of the largest-selling product taken on by the independent, non-profit product-testing organization.

The chemical used in the pest strip breaks down to a completely innocuous compound almost as soon as it enters the body," said a spokesman for Shell Oil Corp., maker of the Shell No-Pest Strip.

Smelter Closes

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — The Copper Cliff smelter was closed today in the beginning of a three-week shutdown of all International Nickel Co. operations.

Recover Body

MIDLAND, Ont. (CP) — A fifth body has been found of the 10 persons who died after a 14-foot aluminum boat capsized last Sunday night.

Two men in a boat at the mouth of the Wye River recovered a body, later identified as Richard Conten, husband of Claudia Contois who made it to shore, and father of Monica, 10, who was picked up by a passing boat after treading water for two hours.

Doctor Charged

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) — Dr. Ernest Tedley, 44, of this Niagara peninsula town has been charged with the attempted murder of his wife Ruth, 43. Police said the woman, who had a chronic illness, became ill after taking a sedative.

Drowned in B.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Leatherbee, 81, travel editor of Life magazine, died in a canoeing accident on the Campbell River in British Columbia, the publication reported Saturday. Three others were also drowned. But police declined to release their names.

Throat Cut

TORONTO (CP) — A 35-year-old man required 160 stitches to close gashes to his face, throat and chest Saturday after he was slashed by a woman in a downtown restaurant.

Jonah Elliott, from the Cape Croker Indian reserve near Wiarton, Ont., said he was sitting beside a woman when another woman attacked him with a sharp instrument. The woman escaped.

Loser!

FELIXSTOWE, England (Reuter) — The Woman Driver of the Year competition was discontinued Sunday after one of the competitors hit a brick wall.

Singer Dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Helsel, 69, powerful-voiced soprano whose career ranged from Wagnerian opera to nightclub comedy routines, is dead.

Spassky Ill

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — World champion Boris Spassky took a rest from the international chess title game Sunday, pleading a cold. The ninth game with American Bobby Fischer now is scheduled to be played Tuesday.

Reject Offer

TORONTO (CP) — An offer by the Toronto Construction Association of 75 cents-an-hour package increase for a one-year agreement was rejected Sunday by striking members of Local 506, Labourers International Union.

Won't Run

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George Wallace of Alabama said Saturday he will not run for president and could not accept a draft if the American party offered it to him.

Lose Ears

BANGUI, Central African Republic (AP) — This African nation Saturday officially invoked medieval punishments—the loss of an ear or death—for convicted robbers.

Information Minister Victor Teteya said three robbers, caught in the act, had their right ears lopped off Saturday. They also were sentenced to five years in jail with no appeal allowed.

Second offences will cost the loss of the other ear. A third offence will mean a hand amputated. A fourth offence will bring death by firing squad in public.

On Tour

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield continues his tour of southern Ontario with this week, with a program that varies from attendance at a lacrosse game to a visit to a home for the aged.

From today to Saturday, he will visit communities in central Ontario. He toured eastern Ontario last week.

Today, Mr. Stanfield visits Alliston, Barrie, Orangeville and Brampton, taking in meals with party workers and community leaders.

On Purpose

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda said Sunday that the pattern of alleged United States bombing near North Vietnam dikes indicated the attacks were "systematic and on purpose."

Exchange News

PEJING (AP) — An agreement was reached Sunday on the exchange of news and photos between The Associated Press and Hsinhua, China's news and photo agency.

Spock Candidate

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Dr. Benjamin Spock was elected the People's Party presidential candidate Saturday at the party's first national convention.

Miss Universe

SAN JUAN (Reuter) — Miss Australia is Miss Universe of 1972.

The winner in this Puerto Rican capital Saturday night was Kerry Anne Wells. 22. She was chosen over contestants from 60 other countries. Miss Brazil, Rejane Vieira Couto' 19 was the runnerup, followed by 18-y e a r-o l d Maria Antonieta Campoli of Venezuela.

Seventeen Die

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuter) — Seventeen miners died in a coal mine disaster today as they attempted to seal off a fire in a shaft.

Two powerful gas explosions rocked the Box Flat mine at Ipswich, 60 miles west of here, causing cave-ins. Nine injured miners were taken to hospital and the bodies of three men were found near the mine's pithead.

Resume Talks

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of Toronto Western Hospital and striking non-medical employees agreed Saturday to resume bargaining late today.

Hospital administrators were also scheduled to meet today to assess their position on the question of hiring replacements for the 350 striking employees fired last Thursday.

PARADISE FOUND

Some people spend years searching for their Utopia. Others just roam Shawanaga until they find it in the woods. In fact, Shawanaga is 1,200 acres of densely beautiful wooded lands including lovely lakes. There's shoreline scalloped with quaint inlets and bays. Remarkable scenic attractic headlands — and all the serenity of a natural wilderness. But you needn't be a pioneer to enjoy Utopia. Shawanaga is only 75 miles north-east of Peterborough in the fabled Highlands of Hastings. Shawanaga is the perfect place where you can buy a huge lakefront lot for $2500.00 (or $4,900.00 full price). A wide selection of architect-designed cottage plans at prices you can afford. So come and find out if whether this is your kind of Utopia. Bring the family and make it an outing. Our resident manager will make you welcome. You can get a free illustrated brochure from Bowes & Cocks Ltd. Realtor, 193 North Front Street, Belleville, Ont. 968-4571.

What the Stars Say

By JEANE DIXON

Tuesday, Aug. 1

Aries (March 21-April 19): Take advantage of an opportunity, even a small one, with increasing resistance to speculation. It's time to check property rights.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Long hours bring results and side effects as well. Something useful turns up. Bring home a token of your feelings for your loved ones.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Combinations go well early. Later in the day there may be a chance to show how you can remain calm when influential people are slow to respond.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Those working for you have suggestions, ideas. Special requests, short cuts involving large resources, are unlikely to work in present form.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Personal projects need technical advice, have potential. Commercial topics are difficult, particularly if you must persuade several people.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Family welfare thrives with any serious effort at self-improvement. Tact and courtesy are assistants as your timing of actions.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Travel, real or symbolic, is indicated. Formal negotiations with standing contacts include refreshing new ideas.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be persistent when you find resistance. Find out if it is based on misunderstanding or an actual disagreement with your goals.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Personal ventures — perceived, present and added-possible complications. It's a busy day with much to do, little time for the doing.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It is time for reflection, study of long-range plans. Group activity can get you into financial moves you may not find comfortable.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): If you can find an invitation open make use of it, give your regular associates a break. It's more of a break for you than for them.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): An added responsibility may recommend you later, but not yet. Business deals turn up lively exceptions, odd circumstances.

To Your Good Health

Few Have Straight Legs at 2 Months

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know if there is anything that can be done to correct a child from being bowlegged. Does this come from standing a child too early?

Can it be hereditary. My daughter is two months old. She looks like her legs are going to be bowed. Most of my family have this same problem. I want to answer this letter so my child won't have to go through the embarrassment we had to. — Mrs. E. M.

Two months is too early to tell if your child is going to be bowlegged. I know of few children that age with straight appearing legs.

It probably wouldn't be until the child is about five years old that you would be able to tell for sure.

Yes, it could be a hereditary trait in your family, but this doesn't mean that your child will inherit that trait.

Bowleggedness is a common result of vitamin D deficiency in early diet. It's called rickets. I would certainly be sure the baby's diet was adequate in vitamin D content and that she gets adequate exposure to the sun whose rays are helpful in the body's metabolism of calcium and phosphorus.

Defence against rickets is about the best precaution to take against possible bowleggedness, so it is certainly trait or not.

There are sufficient numbers of known symptoms of rickets for your doctor to make a diagnosis, regardless as to whether your baby has it.

Dear Doctor: I have hyperlipemia. What in the world is that? How serious is it? Is it curable: I have a terrible diet, no medication. Will you please tell me something so I won't be worried? — Mrs. R. D.

You have too much blood fat and your doctor has put you on a low-fat diet to bring it down.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it unhealthy for a little girl almost two years old to have two gerbils? She keeps them in a cage in her room when she sleeps — Her grandparents in Berlin are in the retired family, but this is no cause to knock them.

The problem is the same as it is with all pet — cleanliness. And gerbils are no exception. This means clean cages. Dung allowed to dry on the floors of cages can become powdered to mingle with the air circulating about a room. Breathing this can be dangerous.

Not too many of us are willing to maintain such pets in the near-laboratory conditions especial for complete health safety and how to observe the problem arises.

If you have an option in this matter, I'd either determine to keep the animals in their cages and clean and find other sleeping quarters—for the gerbils, of course.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor says I have a nasal allergy and terms it rhinitis. Please explain.—R. D. J.

Could be old-fashioned hay fever, which in spring is usually caused by tree pollens and as a summer by grass pollens.

Actually, though, it could be caused by any number of allergens, dust, or inhalation of domestic kitchen chemicals. Lesmeds can also bring it on and this possibility is often overlooked.

Its symptoms are irritated nasal membranes resulting in watery eyes and nasal discharge.

The only effective method of diagnosing the exact cause is through detective work or testing skin tests for possible offending items. Don't overlook feathers as your pillows. Then, of course, the treatment is to avoid the causes.

Saturday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is N O N G F E I L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

Here is one of the best bridge problems ever compiled. Its origin is unknown, but whoever the anonymous composer was, he did a fine job.

It is a double-dummy problem, which means you're expected and entitled to look at all 52 cards in attempting to make the contract. It's also only fair to add that the solution is far from easy. If you'd like to try solving the problem, stop reading, right here.

South wins the club lead with the ace, discarding a diamond from dummy, then plays a heart to the jack and discards the king of diamonds on the ace of spades.

He next ruffs, a spade, enters dummy with a trump and ruffs dummy's last spade.

By now, South has played four of his original five trumps. He used two of them to ruff spades, and the other two to cross to dummy. West and North, at this point, each have two trumps. South says:

Declarer now plays a heart to the king, then cashes the ace, discarding the ace of diamonds on it! Both tricks have been played, dummy's last five cards are all diamonds. Since South by this time has gotten rid of his A-K of diamonds, dummy automatically wins the rest of the tricks.

As anyone can plainly see the contract is easy to make — after you see how it's done. The key play comes at trick one, when a diamond is discarded from dummy instead of a spade. Declarer then deliberately reduces his trump length so he can eventually unblock the diamonds, for another easy hand tomorrow.

Tomorrow: The first step.
